Fear of lightning is far out of proportion to the grounds for it, according to the revelations of a survey made by Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, Massachusetts Commissioner of Agriculture. This survey showed that the chance of death by lightning is only one in more than a million.

In the course of a five-year period in Massachusetts only nineteen persons were killed by lightning, an average of 3.8 persons a year. This is only one ten-thousandth of 1 per cent. of the State's population. It figures but one chance in 1,013,770 of a person's being killed in the Bay State by a bolt from the clouds.

The survey indicated that the man on the farm is ten and a half times as likely to be struck by lightning as his city brother, because of the scarcity in rural communities of steel-framed buildings, trolley wires, etc., that in the city relieve much electrical tension while a thunder storm is gathering. But Dr. Gilbert assures the farmer that if he is in a house properly equipped with lightning rods, he is in no greater danger than the city man. The farmer is 20,000 times safer from harm than a man dodging motor traffic in a large city.

Dr. Gilbert's survey was made primarily to determine the extent of the damage to crops by thunder storms. He found that while these storms cause thousands of dollars' worth of damage to crops at times, they aid agriculture much more than the harm it. The rainfall they bring saves large areas of products that would otherwise perish.

CHICAGO PAYING DOLLAR A PECK FOR POTATOES

Unusual Shortage is Responsible For the High Price Asked.

MAY GO HIGHER.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. — (Canadian Press).—An unusual shortage of potatoes throughout the country has resulted in the extraordinary high Chicago prices for the product in the opinion of local commission men. They predict the price will go even higher.

Wisconsin potatoes were quoted at market prices, wholesale, yesterday, from $4.25 to $4.50 a hundred pounds, while Idaho Russet 'spuds' were one dollar higher, from $5.25 to $5.50. This means a wholesale price of about sixty cents a peck and a retail price of $1 to $1.10 a peck. Commission merchants point to the failure of farmers to plant as much of a crop as they did formerly and to the freezing weather of the past few days.

WEDDING BELLS.

JOHNSON—SISSON.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Chenleigh House, residence of the Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen, Millbrook at 11.30 a.m. Monday, when Winifred, eldest daughter of Mrs. Sisson and the late Christopher Sisson, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Cecil, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson, of Cavan. They were attended by the bride's brother and sister, Keith of Cavan, and Mrs. Oliver, of Peterborough. The happy couple left on the 12.33 C.N.R. train for St. Catharines, where they will reside.

Owing to recent bereavements in both families only the immediate relatives were present.

FLOOD WATERS SWEEP THROUGH WELSH VALLEY

Dam Breaks and Allows Stream to Carry Away Houses.

FAMILY LOST.

Hundreds of Cattle and Sheep Drowned in Swirling Tide.

LONDON, Nov. 3 (United Press) —Flood waters in Lake Lyceigiau at Dolgarrog, Northern Wales, burst through the dam there last night, pouring a great wave through the Conway valley and sweeping away numerous dwellings at Port Llwyd together with a bridge and a church.

A woman, and her nine children, are missing and are believed to have been drowned.

The dam burst with a roar that could be heard far through the valley and then came a series of terrific explosions which cut off the electric lights in many towns.

Normally, the lake held 18,000,000 gallons of water but the lake has swollen, weakening the structure. As the waters rushed through the sleeping valley, they carried with them hundreds of cattle and sheep.

VOL. LVI., No. 106 PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1925 PRICE THREE CENTS

REICHSTAG WILL NOT CONSIDER LOCARNO TREATY UNTIL ALLIES REDEEM PLEDGES ON EVACUATION

Decision Taken at Conference of Government and Party Leaders in Support.

CHANCELLOR'S TACTICS

BERLIN, Nov. 4. — (Canadian Press).—The treaties of Locarno will not be submitted to the Reichstag for ratification until the promises and concessions of the allies pledged to Chancellor Luther and Dr. Stresemann are carried out. This was decided on yesterday at a conference of the Government and the leaders of the Reichstag parties which are represented in the present Cabinet.

The decision is merely a reaffirmation of the Government's previously announced attitude that it does not propose to demand endorsement of its committments at Locarno from any party until it is able to adduce proofs of the allies' intention to carry out certain demands affecting the occupation and administration of the Rhineland and evacuation of Cologne.

This conference was the first step taken by the Chancellor to clarify the Parliamentary situation preparatory to forming a new party line-up before appealing to the Reichstag for ratification of the various treaties.

An official communique on yesterday's discussions criticizes the undue haste of the Nationalists in seceding from the Cabinet on an issue which "affects the destiny of the German nation," but the censure is cautiously worded and leaves the reactionaries an opportunity to repent. Their path to reentry to the Cabinet, however, is definitely barricaded through the hostility of the other parties, which appear inclined to assist the Chancellor and Foreign Minister in their efforts to construct a new coalition.

As all the middle parties and the Socialists are fundamentally in accord with the Government's Locarno programme, the only problem awaiting Dr. Luther is that of co-ordinating these forces into a tangible Parliamentary asset of the Government.

The Chancellor informed the party leaders that the Government is carrying on uninterrupted conversations with the Allied Governments on questions affecting Germany's demands and that the negotiations are progressing satisfactorily. Upon their definite conclusion will depend whether the Reichstag will be convoked in advance of the date fixed for signing the security pact at London, December 1.

The various political units which are supporting the Government's programme believe that its approval through Parliament should precede the London formalities, and unless an acceptable agreement is reached with the allies on the issues under discussion it is thought here that the date originally set for the signing may be postponed.

They Can't Stop the Prince He's Riding Again To-day

LONDON, Nov. 4 (United Press)—Undaunted and undamaged by his latest fall from a horse the Prince of Wales proceeded today to Leighton-Buzzard where he intended to ride again—but not to hunt.

The Prince, who took a "header" into a ditch while following the hounds yesterday, was reported from York House today to have sustained no serious after effects from his experience. He spent the night in London and went out to the country accompanied by the Duke of York this morning.

His horse slipped in the mud while participating in the Whaddon chase hunt and both rider and mount disappeared in a ditch. The Prince came up muddy but smiling, and later, with the aid of other hunters pulled the horse out and found it also uninjured.

CHICAGO POLICE TOOK PAY FROM BOOTLEG GANG

Attorney For Genna Brothers Produced List of 300 Names.

GOT $8,000 MONTHLY.

Chief Says He Has Fired 400 Officers and Would Discharge 300 More.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Producing a book with a list of 300 policemen who were in the pay of the Genna gang, the bootleggers' attorney, P. H. O'Donnell, offered it for record in the murder trial in which two of the gang are defendants. Judge Brothers requested that it be turned over to Chief Collins.

The "pay-off" amounted to $8,000 a month. It was made to protect forty stills, which the Gennas had been onerating in the Italian district. They dealt only in alcohol, with profits at $75,000 a month.

Chief Collins asked O'Donnell for this list. "I have discharged 400 moonshine policemen and 300 more will go if this list is right," said the Chief.

In Central Africa the native method of reckoning is to count up to ten, and then beginning again, arriving at the total by the number of tens counted.

ATTEMPT TO MAKE LASTING PEACE IN COAL INDUSTRY OF NOVA SCOTIA

Commission of Inquiry Meets to Conduct Investigation Into Conditions Prevailing Among Miners and to Establish Understanding Between Operators and the Government.

PITS AND HOUSES TO BE INSPECTED.

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 4 (Canadian Press)—High officials of the Nova Scotia coal industry, representative of the miners and the operators together with the commission of inquiry appointed by the Nova Scotia government met here yesterday afternoon to initiate an investigation into the coal mining conditions of the province with a view to bringing about a state of understanding between operators, miners and the government that will end the sporadic strikes that for many years have disrupted the basic industry of the proivnce, the latest of which was the four months' tie-up ended last July through adoption of a temporary agreement reached through the intervention of the Provintial government.

Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, Kt., chairman of the Advisory Commission to the Mines Department of Great Britain and chairman of the local commission, who arrived here this morning with other members, said this afternoon that the organization meeting had been held in a most harmonious atmospaere. The first steps will be an inspection of several selected pits in this district following a schedule drawn up at this afternoon's meeting. It will be several days, he said, before witnesses will be called and the formal inquiry commenced. In the meantime the officials of the local district, United Mine Workers of America, and the heads of the British Empire Steel Corporation have been asked to prepare a list of the witnesses that may be called at the instance of the members of the Commission.

Discussing the terms of reference this afternoon, Sir Andrew said he would make no comments beyond the fact that they provided wide scope for the inquiry. He could not anticipate the length of time that would be devoted to the investigation but declared that there would be no tendency to rush matters at the sacrifice of a thorough inquiry.

At the suggestion of President McLeod of the United Mine Workers, the Commission will tomorrow visit numbers 12, 10 and 4 pits as typical respectively of the most efficient, least efficient and average collieries in the mining areas south of Sydney harbor where the chief coal mining activities of the province are located. The members of the commission will make a thorough study of the conditions, going underground to see the men at work on the "face," visiting the shops and all auxiliary plants and also the homes of the workmen for a study of their living conditions. They will be accompanied by officials of both miners and operators.

Heads of the British Empire Steel Corporation and of the Miners' organization refused last night to comment upon the possibilities of the inquiry or to venture to any forecasts of its efficacy in the prevention of future labor troubles but all expressed their intention of giving it complete co-operation.

Penny Was All Right Where A Dollar Bill Was Useless

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 4 (Canadian Press)—If you are under the impression that a penny is an unimporant piece, consult Gerald Egan. Today Egan was accosted by an armed holdup man and fired upon when he attempted to escape but the bullet struck a penny in Gerald's pocket and was deflected. Gerald continued in his flight.

CABINET MEETS THIS AFTERNOON

Will Discuss Political Situation Again—Leaders Are Waiting.

RETURNS NOT ALL IN.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4. — (Canadian Press).—The Cabinet meets again this afternoon for discussion of the extraordinary situation which has arisen from the general elections. Since the last meeting of the Cabinet Council, Premier King has had an opportunity to present his views to the Governor-General.

The leaders of both parties, however, are biding their time before moking public declarations. Premier King has intimated that he will not make any official announcement till the returns are all in and the standing of the parties is finally determined. Prominent men of both parties are congregating in Ottawa for the final word.

PAINLEVE SAVED BY OPPONENTS IN FIRST FIGHT OF NEW MINISTRY

Moderates and Conservatives Rally to Premier and Offset Socialist Defection.

FINANCE SITUATION.

Government Says Will Establish Durable Peace in Morrocco and Syria.

PARIS, Nov. 3. — (Canadian Press).—The Painleve Ministry won its first fight in Parliament yesterday, thanks to the support of former political enemies, gaining at least a short lease of life by a vote of 221 to 189. This, in fact, but not in spirit, was a vote of confidence in the new Cabinet, although 121 deputies abstained from voting.

The Moderates and Conservatives, fearing the destructive influence of a further prolonged political crisis, rallied to the support of Premier Painleve in sufficient numbers to off-set the Socialists' defection. In so doing, however, they made it clear through their spokesman, M. Landry, that their vote was not an expression of confidence in the Cabinet but a vote to end the existing chaotic condition of public affairs.

The vote in favor of the Cabinet falls far short of the usual significance of such action because many deputies who refused to overthrow the Cabinet opposed the financial conceptions as outlined in the Premier's declaration. The fact that the pound sterling was at 120 and the dollar at 24.83 francs caused a great impression during the debate and exercised considerable influence on the decision of hesitating deputies.

The debate, reduced to its simplest terms by the abstention of a number of interpellators, proved featureless except for violent attacks by the Communist leader, M. Cachin, who warned the Government that it was going wrong if it counted on the three coming French generations to pay 150,000,000,000 francs debt to "Anglo-Saxon bankers."

No inflation, no loan, but a special tax on all forms of wealth was the remedy proposed by M. Painleve's declaration for the ailments from which the French treasury is suffering. Prompt settlement of the debts to England and the United States he advocated as a most important matter to be attended to in order to restore confidence and credit.

The establishment of a durable peace in Syria and Morocco and continuation of the Locarno policy were the guiding spirit of the Government's foreign policy. A one-year military service and a project for electoral reform proved subjects of internal policy which brought cheers from the House.

SAILOR TO HANG.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Harold Berentsen, a Norwegian sailor, was last night sentenced by Mr. Justice D. A. Macdonald, in the Assize Court, to be hanged on January 18 next for the murder of a ship mate, N. Evadosikoff, a Russian sailor, aboard the steamer Crofton Hall on October 28th.

HELD UP TWICE BY SAME BANDIT

Returned Soldier Speeded Up His Car and Escaped.

MANY SHOTS FIRED.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Bert Sims, returned soldier garage proprietor of this city, had an unusual experience on Saturday evening and Monday evening of being the intended victim of the same hold-up man at lonely spots on the Wellington Road, between this city and London. Both attempts were unsuccessful.

The Saturday attempt occurred near Glanworth, when a man stepped from the side of the highway and commanded Mr. Sims to stop. Instead he increased his speed, whereupon the thug fired two shots at the car. Monday evening, when near Talbotville, the bandit jumped into the road and again ordered Mr. Sims to stop, but Mr. Sims again stepped on the gas and sped by. At least ten shots were fired after him, some whistling past his ears. The bandit appeared to be about 30 years old.

Liberals Get Nipissing

TORONTO, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—In the general election returns received yesterday by the Canadian Press, the Conservatives won one and lost one, so that their total now is 117, the same as Monday night. The junior seat in Queen's, Prince Edward Island, was moved from the doubtful to the Conservative column, when the checking up by deputy returning officers gave John Messervey, Conservative, a majority of 24 over Hon. John B. Sinclair, minister without portfolio in the King Cabinet. Balancing this, however, an official count in North Bay gave E. A. Lapierre, Liberal, a majority of 53 in Nipissing, Ontario, over John Ferguson, Conservative. Unofficial counts had given this seat to Mr. Ferguson. Accordingly the day brought a gain of one to the Liberals, and brings their total up to 101. Provencher, Manitoba, which is a race between the Liberals and Progressives, is still in the doubtful column. The following is the party standing by provinces last night:

Winning World's Series No Training For Sheriff

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 4 (United Press) — J. "Hans" Wagner, captain of the Pittsburgh Pirates when they won the world's series in 1909 was defeated in his race for sheriff of Allegheny county in the Republican landslide. Robert H. Braun received 63,771 votes to Wagner's 13,399.

CANNED GOODS FEATURE CRASH IN LOCAL STREET

Wagon Containing 115 Cases of Tomatoes and Pumpkins Hit Street Car.

STORIES DIFFER.

Motorman and Teamster Disagree About Responsibility For Accident.

Canned pumpkins and tomatoes were a prominent feature of a certain section of Charlotte Street this morning at 11.00, when a westbound street car collided with a Cooney-Jopling wagon travelling eastward. According to the story told by the teamster and that of the motorman, both were to blame; more properly speaking, each thought that the other was solely responsible for the smash.

W. J. Lustic, the teamster, was hauling a load of canned goods from the Canadian National station to the Canadian Pacific Freight sheds; he saw the street car approaching, but at the time was passing a number of parked automobiles and was as near to the curb as possible. He said that the street car came on and hit the corner of his wagon, jamming it against a C.P.C. truck, which was at the curb.

The motorman, L. Redmond, declared that the driver had plenty of time to stop and avoid the crash and that he kept his gong ringing to warn him. The car was badly damaged as the post near the door was smashed in and the step was twisted.

There were 115 cases of canned goods on the wagon, many of which were thrown to the street and the boxes smashed. There were also two drums of oil on the back, but these were not injured.

DEATH OF CHILD RESULT OF FALL

Concussion of Brain Followed Drop From Couch to Floor.

2 1-2 YEAR OLD BABY.

LINDSAY, Nov. 4. — (Special to The Examiner). — A fatal accident occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Raby of Gooderham, their little daughter, Aileen, aged two and a half years, being the victim. The child, while playing on the couch, accidentally fell to the floor, striking her head with such force that concussion of the brain followed. She died within a few minutes after the accident.

Premature Middle Age Chased By New Club

LONDON, Nov. 4. — (United Press). — Reinforcements have arrived to help the women of 40 in her fight against approaching middle age.

The Professional Women's Physical Culture Club has been formed primarily with the object of providing women of 40 or more years with the means to retain her vigor and ward off weight by exercise.

"Women of 40 have lost the spring of youth and are likely to let themselves slump into middle age," said Miss Alice Michelmore, organizer of the club.

"By means of our exercises we hope to shift upward by many years the age line which divides the young from the middle-aged woman."

WORLD'S SHORTAGE OF MINERALS WILL OPEN UP CANADAS RESOURCES

OIL PRODUCTION.

Exhausted Old Countries Will Have to Get Supplies From Dominion.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 3—The world's ever increasing need of materials to meet the demand and the gradual exhaustion of old world sources of supply are factors driving toward the early opening up of Canada's unfathomed mineral deposits. Dr. Charles Camsell, Deputy Minister of Mines, Ottawa, declared in a comprehensive survey of the Canadian Mineral trade, before the opening session of the annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, here today.

Dr. John Allan, Edmonton, professor of Geology, declared that "slight as the drilling operations in Alberta coal fields have been to date, the results have been phenomenal."

Dr. John Allan presided, the president, T. J. Brown, Nova Scotia, being unavoidably absent.

After showing that Canada had sustained a deficit of $124,000,000 in the mineral trade during 1924, which year as a whole had shown a favorable trade balance, Dr. Camsell pointed out that the deficit was largely due to the fact that our exports were of the raw and partly manufactured products, whereas the imports covered the finished manufactured article in such fields as structural steel, machinery, copper wire, gasoline and chinaware.

He declared he had every confidence that future years for a considerable time to come will continue to disclose new mineral fields in various parts of Canada no less remarkable than the discoveries of the last 25 years.

"Not only am I convinced," the speaker said, "that Canada possesses great mineral wealth as yet unknown, I am equally impressed with the force of circumstances which are ceaselessly increasing the world's mineral consumption and which are compelling the older highly developed countries, through exhaustion of their own natural resources to look to the newer countries to supply their deficiencies. These circumstances will, I believe, hasten the development of Canada's resources more quickly and more thoroughly than for any other reason."

In the Alberta area, 235,000 square miles, of which approximately 80,000 square miles has petroleum possibilities, wells drilled 1925 were about 96, wells completed, about 15, and wells being drilled, August 1925, 15.

Oil production from Alberta, 1915 to 1924, was 60,000 barrels.

Present production from Royalite No. 4, Turner valley, is about 500 barrels per day, very high gravity gasoline, 73 degrees beaune.

Possible production from British Petroleum well Uo. 38, Wainwright, is about 100 barrels per day.

In 1914 there were approximately 600 oil companies in Alberta. Today, approximately 83. It is evident that most of the companies in Alberta today are inactive.

Considering the area in Alberta with Petroleum possibilities and the extremely small amount of drilling that has been carried out, there are excellent opportunities for the investment of capital in actual drilling operations in many parts of Alberta, where geological conditions are favorable for oil accumulation, said Dr. Allan in conclusion.

MAYORALTY CONTESTS IN CITIES OF U.S.A. WERE SPLIT BETWEEN REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS

New York Stays With Tammany—Boston Elects Republican.

STATE ELECTIONS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—Democrats swept to victory yesterday in the New Jersey gubernatorial race and the New York City election. In less spectacular contests the Republicans elected a Mayor of Boston for the first time since 1907; won hands down in Pennsylvania State and Municipal elections; regained control of the municipal machinery in a number of Indiana cities and apparently had elected the Mayor in Louisville, Ky.

In the only two Congressional contests, each party held its own, the Republicans retaining control of the third New Jersey district, and the Democrats remaining successful in the third Kentucky district. Virginia, the only state besides New Jersey to elect a governor, voted a straight Democratic slate into office. The K. Klux Klan was defeated in a non-partisian mayoralty election in Detroit, with Mayor John W. Smith returned victor over Charles Bowles, Klan-supported candidate. Prohibition was the out-and-out issue in the New Jersey gubernatorial race, but in the victory of A. Harry Moore, "Democrat and wet," over State Senator Arthur Whitney, who had the support of the Anti-Saloon League, the Democrats pointed to the overturning of the 370,000 plurality given President Coolidge last year.

State Senator James J. Walker defeated Frank D. Watermon by approximately 41,000 votes out of a total of slightly more than 1,000,000 cast.

With ten candidates—seven Democrats and three Republicans—running in Boston's nominally non-partisian election, Malcolm E. Nichols, a Republican, was elected mayor of that city.

'England Needs Less Hush More Push,' Lloyd George

CLECKHEATON, Eng., Nov. 4. — (United Press). — David Lloyd George has diagnosed the ills of Great Britain and has a remedy for them. "What Britain needs," the former Premier said in a speech Tuesday, "is less hush hush and more push push."

OFFICERS WILL SOON BE ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

Engineers of Melita Are Recovering From Their Wounds.

ASSAILANT ON TRIAL.

First Officer Towers Will Appear Before Court To-morrow.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—David K. Gilmour, assistant chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific liner Melita, and John Holliday, second engineer of the same ship, who were shot and wounded at the time the commander of the Melita, Captain A. H. Clewes, was shot and killed, early in October, while the vessel was at Antwerp, are recovering from their injuries. It is expected they will be well enough in a few days to leave the hospital here, where thy were brought shortly after the tragedy.

Thomas Towers, former first officer of the Melita, who is charged with the murder of Captain Clews and the wounding of Gilmour and Holliday with intent to kill them, will again tomorrow appear before the Magistrates in Southampton on the three charges. He was remanded by the Southampton magistrates on Friday last until November 5th.

LIBERALS TOOK NORTH BAY SEAT

MAJORITY 53.

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—In the late general election returns the Conservatives won one and lost one, so that their total of 117 remains the same. The junior seat in Queens, Prince Edward Island, was moved from the doubtful to the Conservative column. The official count in North Bay, announced last night, gave E. A. Lapierre, Liberal, a majority of 53 in Nipissing, Ont., over John Ferguson, Conservative. Unofficials counts had given this seat to Mr. Ferguson.

Alice and Mary and Ruth took turns standing closest to the door. All the boys naturally thought somebody was going to get something for nothing, or that there would be prizes given for the worst washed wrists and not enough to go around, or that all the odds and ends of tops and jack knives confiscated during the last ten years would be given back to anybody but their rightful owners. And so, the wonder grew and the crush at the door grew, until three bigger boys pushed their way to the door, displaced the three first girls, and stood with their backs braced against the door, to hold of all attempest of the girls to get into the class first.

Everybody was just waiting for the bell, to burst into the room and get the answer to the riddle. By this time, there were no girls near the door at all. The girls had to take a place in the rear. Nothing but jamming boys were near the door

Miss Burton saw that it was getting near nine o'clock so she prepared for school, then went to the door, thinking she would let the pupils in, now that everything was ready.

Ghebluey and ghebump! Crash!

The three big lads holding the curiosity fort, with their backs to the door, all fell in ith a bang and a yell, and half the remaining boys on top of them for good measure. The whole bag and basket of tricks landed sprawling at Miss Burton's feet with head bumps enough to knock the curiosity out of their heads for the rest of the week.

Before the legs and bump-swelled heads and tangled arms got untwisted, the bell rang. And with the coming of quiet, the girls and boys were more curious than ever, for the whole blackboard was covered with a curtain which hid everything, and a temporary blackboard, ready for business, was in the corner.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir:—Now that the election excitement has subsided may I ask you to publish the following comments on Alderman J. Mendell Green's letter which appeared in the Vox Populi column a few days ago?

In the first paragraph he writes: "Where Mr. Kenner gets the idea that I made certain quotations of cash for the year 1924, I do not know. I have never quoted any figures in connection with that year." It was quite natural that I should suppose that it was the year 1924 that was referred to. I must confess that I did not know that we had in our midst a statistical wizard who, in the month of October could give the average cost per pupil for the year 1925.

In the same paragraph he says: "Neither am I responsible for any typographical errors that may occur in passing any information on to the public." This is quite true. But at the same time I am of the opinion that one who wishes to give to the public accurate information is ethically bound to correct any typographical errors that may mislead the public.

In the second paragraph he writes as follows: "The year I referred to was 1925, and the enrolment at the Collegiate last January was 572, and the estimated operating cost for this year was $64,200, and these figures can be substantiated by the Secretary-Treas. of the Board of Education. This cost averages $112 per pupil and not $116 which was the error in the report. Surely there must be some typographical errors in that paragraph. I can hardly conceive that Mr. Greene is serious when he states that the average cost per pupil for the year 1925 is obtained by dividing the estimated operating cash for the year by the number of pupils on the roll in the month of January. That is frenzied finance to the nth power. If the estimated operating cost, which he states is $64,200.00, is not exceeded, the average cost per pupil this year will not be $112.00; it will be less than $100.00. During the present month of October there are 640 pupils in attendance at the Collegiate Institute. $64,200 divided by 640 gives $100.31, and the total enrolment for the year will of course, exceed 640.

In the next paragraph he writes: "Now that I have stated the period referred to I think in common justice he could withdraw the inference or insinuation that my statements were misleading and of a deceptive nature." Could withdraw, I imagine is a typographical error for should withdraw. No, I do not see how I could or should withdraw any statement made by me in my previous letter. Mr. Green's statements are inaccurate and therefore are misleading, and being misleading they are consequently of a deceptive nature.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I wish to say that as far as I am concerned this correspondence is ended. I thank you for allowing me space to prove to the general public that Alderman Greene is not to be taken seriously when he deals with educational statistics.

Yours very truly,
H. R. H. KENNER.

Announcing VEGOL SOAP

Palm & Olive Oil (Vegetable Oil)

A Soap that GREW

VEGOL is nature's complexion beautifier

Canada's Newest & Most Wonderful Toilet Soap

The Vegol Chemist

Here is Vegol for you—the generous size, perfect toilet soap—lowest in price, utmost in quality, and wholly pure. The soap that says "revel in my luxurious lather and enjoy natural skin beauty and cleanliness"

Let the Vegol Chemist Speak to You

ONCE more Mother Nature shows that she has everything in her possession that man needs for his comfort and well being. Sometimes her secrets are deeply hidden. Man wrests them from her slowly and with great effort.

Toilet Soaps for instance. Some good materials have been long known to man, but the care and expense needed to blend them into really good toilet soaps always made them expensive. In cheap soaps where this care is not used, the effects on the skin were harmful.

All this time Nature had in great abundance in certain trees and fruits the finest of all ingredients to make soap with. Gentle oils that are cleansing and beautifying. Thousands of such trees are on plantations owned by my employers.

For 40 years my firm have been making soaps in Canada. They have been striving ceaselessly to devise a new and more economical process of making toilet soap. They wanted a new soap that would protect the skin, give it fragrance, and keep it lovely with the bloom of youth.

Turning to these simple but lovely tree and fruit oils, a staff of the greatest soap experts in the world after years of research work has succeeded beyond their expectations. There is a new and exquisite Toilet Soap. Its name is VEGOL.

Economies were also perfected that enable a larger cake of Vegol to be sold for less money than any other toilet soap on the market.

For a few cents you can now get the purest, most wholesome of all toilet soaps, with a quick abundant lather—safest of all for your skin—Vegol. Its formula calls for only the purest ingredients—a perfect blend of fragrant fruit oils, palm, cocoanut and olive. No animal fats, no harsh chemicals are used.

Vegol—a cake one-third bigger than the ordinary size for about three cents to eighteen cents less. A startling fact!

Besides the new process, of course, had to come an economical way of getting the soap to you. So, you will find Vegol very plainly packaged. Two generous sized tablets are put in a carton, without fancy wrappers, shiny paper or expensive lithographed covers. Nothing could be plainer and simpler. But this will cause you no concern. Every non-essential which would increase the cost to you has been stripped from Vegol's package. But every last fraction of quality, quantity and value have been crowded into the soap itself.

Vegol's pure vegetable oils are the simplest and safest aids to skin health and beauty. Its quick lovely lather is a revelation in soap luxury. You will find the bracing perfume of Vegol redolent of garden and orchard. Believe me—and you may accept my assurance—no matter what you may pay for a toilet soap, it is utterly impossible for you to get a better toilet soap than Vegol.

Go to your dealer and buy Vegol to-day, the luxurious toilet soap to be used freely by everyone in your home. Two cakes, each one a third larger than usual—in a plain carton for only 15c.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 4, 1925.

THE HUNTING SEASON.

Elections may come and elections may go, business may be bad or business may be good, but there still remain the two best weeks of the year in the estimation of Peterboro's deer hunters, the two weeks beginning tomorrow.

Some of the hunters treked north yesterday, the main body followed today, and tomorrow will find the hounds baying along the trail and the eager hunter on watch on the well-remembered runway.

Not all will get venison—but then, after all, hunting does not merely consists of shooting deer.

The hunt's the thing, and the little army of Peterboro men in the north woods will get plenty of adventure and exercise in the forest or on the lake, and plenty of comradeship and sociability when the party gathers by the roaring stove as the night settles in.

There's a thrill to it all that harks back to the boyhood of every man, that boyhood filled with stories of adventure, of Indian and fur-trader, of blazed trails through the forest, the splash of the voyageur's paddle breaking the surface of a lonely lake in the brave old days when Canada was young.

To the band of good fellows who have gone into the northland the Examiner wishes a safe hunt, an enjoyable hunt and a successful hunt.

POPPY DAY.

In connection with the observance of Armistice Day in Peterboro the public is reminded that the wearing of a poppy, the flower of remembrance, as a tribute to the memory of those who gave up their lives in the Great War, will again be generally adopted throughout Canada.

Every Canadian is asked to wear a poppy on Armistice Day, and the Peterboro branch of the Great War Veterans' Association are going to make it easy for Peterboro people to do so by a street sale of poppies on Saturday.

Thousands of replicas of the scarlet flower that grows so profusely in the battle area of France and Belgium have been ordered, and they will be on sale here on Saturday.

The poppies should be in demand for three very important reasons:

(1) Because the wearing of the flower of remembrance has been adopted as one of the features of Armistice Day.

(2) Because these artificial flowers are made by disabled Canadian war veterans, and a large sale means more employment for these crippled heroes.

(3) Because the net proceeds of the sale of poppies are used in helping the G.W.V.A. look after the interests of returned soldiers.

Poppy Day under these circumstances should be marked by a record sale of poppies.

THE Y.W.C.A. APPEAL.

The annual financial campaign of the Young Women's Christian Association is being held this week, and it is gratifying to know that the response so far is indicative of the high value placed on the work of the institution by the citizens of Peterboro.

Its service as a rallying point for the girls and young women of Peterboro where physical, mental and moral development is achieved would of itself stamp the Y.W.C.A. as worthy of general support.

Its swimming pool where hundreds of girls have learned the useful art of swimming has been of invaluable service.

In addition, the Y.W.C.A. serves a most useful purpose as a safe, comfortable home for many girls who appreciate the uplifting influence and moral atmosphere of the institution as much as they do the comfortable quarters and adequate cuisine provided for their benefit.

The Y.W.C.A. is a well managed organization, doing a splendid work in the general interest in Peterboro, and the Examiner is sure that the comparatively small sum needed to balance its budget will be readily forthcoming before the end of the present campaign.

Citizens who have not already made their contributions to this most worthy cause are reminded of the appeal that is being made and of the fine service rendered to Peterboro by the Young Women's Christian Association.

THE QUESTION OF TAXATION.

The New York Times, reviewing the Canadian election results, considers that not enough attention was paid by the various parties to discussing before the electors the question of economy and tax reduction.

The Examiner believes that many Canadians will agree with this outside criticism.

As the Times points out, the success of President Coolidge in putting into effect measures of economy that have made it possible for him to materially reduce the burden of taxation in the United States has made a profound impression upon the people of this country.

Without blaming any one party more than the other, it can be said that Canada has up to the present failed to follow the example of the Republic.

Taxation is still high enough to handicap business and industry and to weigh heavily upon the shoulders of the individual taxpayers.

Our income tax is much heavier than our neighbor's, and over there another material cut is to be made in the near future, a cut that will mean $300,000,000 taxation lifted from the backs of the American people.

Yet the Federal campaign passed with only a few references to the question of taxation.

The leaders failed to discuss it at all, and it was left to individual candidates here and there to say something on this subject which the New York paper rightly thinks should have been one of the paramount issues of the election.

So far no successful candidate has offered to give up his seat to Dr. Caroline Brown.

THE WEAK POINT.

Canada has duplicated the experience of Great Britain. She has elected an inevitable minority, according to reports at the time of this writing. Mr. Meighen will have a plurality in the House, but will be in a minority when pitted against Liberals and Progressives combined. Mr. King is in a straight minority in any case.

Great Britain solved the impasse by a Labor Government, which depended on the tender mercies of crossed party lines between Liberals and Conservatives to keep it in office. If Canada were to follow the same example, we would find the Progressives forming a Government. But that is impossible now, because the Progressives, unlike labor in Great Britain, are elected practically all from one section of the country.

Either Mr. King or Mr. Meighen, therefore, is to form a Government, face Parliament at the next session, and put party strengths to the tests. If Mr. King does so, he will have the support of the Progressives in the bulk of the Government's program. If Mr. Meighen forms a Ministry, he will probably face united opposition from Liberals and Progressives first, on teh Speech from the Throne, second, on the election of a Speaker, and finally on the Budget. The last will be the big test, for it will embody the tariff proposals of the Conservative Party.

Rather than try this, it is thought at Ottawa, Mr. Meighen would merely ask for supply vote, reduce the program to essential legislation, ask for dissolution and appeal to the country.

In any case, Canada is in a sorry plight. Her voting people are so nearly evenly divided that they don't know how they want to be governed. That is nobody's fault, but the blame for such a situation rests on the political system itself. In that respect the United States' method is superior to our, for a Government in that country can function regardless of party majorities. However, the American system has other disadvantages which offset to some extent its presidential benefit.

Another election will cost Canada two million dollars in public expenses alone (the estimated cost of this one which has ended so poorly.) But costly as it is, another election might easily save many times two million dollars in giving authority of action to the Government. As things stack up at present, a second appeal looks almost inevitable. It would clear the air and very likely register the determination of an impatient people to be governed in spite of themselves. As to whether the swing would be Liberal or Conservative, that depends on many things, on the circumstances under which the appeal is made, on the conditions of business, on the season of the year and on the length of time elapsing since the present contest.

Meanwhile, we are reminded that even the highest known form of democracy has its weak spot. Perhaps this will disillusion some people who thought we had achieved a political Utopia. The science of democracy is still in its youth. This election has been one of its growing pains.—Border Cities Star.

COMPULSORY VOTING.

Australia is about to adopt a system of compulsory voting, with a penalty of $10 for failure to visit the polling booths without valid excuse. The innovation is naturally one which is arousing considerable interest in this Dominion. Had every one who was entitled to do so voted in the Federal election last week, how would it have affected the result? Would it have meant a more decided verdict and so have avoided the possibility of another election? In existing conditions, with apathy prevailing among so large a percentage of the electorate, it is not possible to get a faithful reflection of the popular will. Among the absentee voters are many who have considered the result a foregone conclusion which their individual vote would not influence one way or the other. The political party which shows the greater enterprise in getting voters to the polls also derives a deserved advantage. If electors were compelled to vote, candidates would be put on a basis of strict equality; it would diminish the risk of machine-made polities.

There are definite and obvious advantages in enforcing the exercise of the franchise; but do the advantages outweigh the disadvantages? It is repugnant to the instincts of a free people to be made to do that which is popularly regarded as a voluntary act. The vote is the gift of the state to the citizen; though it is a privilege, it involves a duty. What is the best method of bringing home to electors a greater sense of their duty? Fining seems too drastic a procedure. It is deemed "undemocratic" by some local critics, and does appear to first blush to be so. Yet Australia is one of the most democratic countries in the Empire and, for that matter, in the world, and the system which has now been made general throughout the commonwealth is no new experiment. It has been tried out in the State of Queensland for a decade, and has apparently proved satisfactory. Democracy being "government by the people," it can hardly be considered undemocratic to make it more certain that the people do actually govern. Democracy cannot afford to be burdened with a lot of deadwood citizenship, which doesn't pull its own weight.

But there is a more satisfactory way of getting out the vote than by imposing penalties on delinquents, and that is by more effective training in citizenship. The training should be begun in the elementary schools. It is not enough to put the weapon of the franchise into the hands of the people; they should be instructed in its use. It is not something to be wielded in the interests of this or that faction, but a solemn obligation of service to the state. There are electors who refrain from voting for conscientious reasons, feeling that they are not competent to make a right decision; they view their responsibilities too earnestly to make snap judgments on the issues. It would not be just to visit such people with the rigors of the law. The vote is a new thing for women, too, and it must be said that they have shown themselves alive to their new-found opportunities. As Ald. O'Heir says, also, sufficient account is not taken of errors in the voters' lists. Under the best of conditions, the figures on those lists cannot be accepted as a completely reliable indication of the number of persons entitled to vote. But when all allowances have been made, there still remains much room for improvement. Canada prefers the methods of persuasion to the methods of compulsion, however.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The New York Times says last Thursday's Canadian election was merely a rehearsal. And the Times seems to be right.

Candidates who surrendered a seat in the Legislature to run as Federal standard-bearers are most of them beginning to feel that the game was hardly worth the candle.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

FROM FRED. SULLIVAN.

Editor, The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In Thursday's issue of your valuable paper, Mr. O'Connor publishes what he calls a reply to my letter of October 21st. My friend seems to think I am very fortunate in knowing three texts of Scripture, and while I would not claim to have as much knowledge of the Scriptures as Mr. O'Connor, I have read the Bible printed in English approved by the primate of the Catholic Church of the United States extensively, and I have also seen a Bible printed in England with a letter of approval written by Pope Pius VI., in which he strongly recommends the reading of the Holy Scriptures, and as the Pope is the head of the universal Church, therefore his letter applies to all members of the Church, including the Irish. I have also investigated and have found that the Ten Commandments in my Bible and the authorized version are identically numbered. What a horrible calamity it would be if an Irishman were ever to see my Bible.

He also seems to think that most of the differences between sects are on non-essential points. I would not consider the question as to whether Christ were God or not a non-essential point, and yet this appears to be the main point of argument among the different ministers at the present time.

A well-known book of Catholic doctrine, Cardinal Gibbons' Faith of our Fathers, had been sold in all English-speaking countries between 1879 and 1895, to the extent of fifty thousand copies, and it had also been translated into six European languages to that date. Where is there room for a difference of doctrine there? To anyone interested in this question I would advise a trip to the Public Library, where they may see an English copy of the Douay version of the Bible. Anyone wanting any further information can put an inquiry in Voice of the People or by addressing me as below. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain, yours truly,

FRED SULLIVAN.

A THOUGHT.

MAKE BOTH MEMORIES PLEASANT.

Now we come into the golden melancholy of another autumn; leaving behind the violets, bluebells, daisies and golden-rod; laying aside the fish-pole, golf sticks and tennis racquet; dropping many sweet leisure hours to crouch over work again—but carrying on a complete memory of our entrancing association with summer—carrying on the lessons taught us while near to nature and far from the hectic city, where we found "tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, sermons in stones; and good in everything."

But now, having held council with nature and perhaps become better men, it is up to us to apply our better selves to our problems so that we may go back another summer with the memory of a successful winter—at least with the knowledge of having done our best. Make your spring memories just as pleasant as your autumn ones.—The Silent Partner.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—The foreign trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was again very dull, there being practically no demand from any source. There was some demand for No. 1 Northern spring wheat, and sales of 40,000 bushels were made at c.i.f. prices Montreal. The trade in oats on spot was quiet, but the undertone to the market was firm and prices were unchanged with car lots of Ontario and Quebec No. 2 white quoted at 52 1-2 cents, No. 3 white at 51 cents, and No. 4 white at 49 1-2 cents per bushel, ex-track, and Ontario malting barley at 85 cents per bushel, ex-track.

While a firmer feeling prevailed in the market for spring wheat grades of flour, there was no actual change in prices. The export trade was quiet, but the domestic movement continues fair. Prices for all grades of winter wheat flour were well maintained under a limited demand.

A fairly active business continues to be done in millfeed, there being a good steady demand from local and country buyers and a fair enquiry from the United States with the result that the production is being kept closely sold up, and prices were firmly maintained. A fair trade was done in standard grades of rolled oats, and prices were unchanged.

The trade in baled hay for local account was reported fair, and this coupled with the movement to the United States and for export account tends to hold the market steady, as supplies are kept well cleaned up daily.

A firm feeling prevailed in the local market for fresh eggs and prices were unchanged, with a steady demand for supplies to meet actual wants. The bulk of the trade continues to be done in storage eggs and as the offerings are ample to meet all requirements, prices rule about steady. The receipts were 1,014 cases, as against 1,186 for the same day last week, and 217 for the corresponding day a year ago.

There were no further developments in the market for potatoes, but the undertone was very firm at the late advance noted owing to the smaller offerings, and the continued good demand for both local and outside account. The trade was fairly active.

The receipts of butter were 290 packages as against 74 for the same day last week, and 4,394 for the corresponding day a year ago. The trade in butter was quieter owing to the fact that there was little demand from any source for supplies, but the tone of the market was about steady and prices were unchanged. The demand in a wholesale jobbing way was steady for small lots and sales of finest creamery were made at 43c per lb. in solid packages and at 44c per lb. in 1 lb. blocks.

The receipts of cheese were 10,627 boxes, as compared with 8,036 for the same day last week, and 9,844 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no improvement in the volume of business for export account, and the market was quiet.

Beans were unchanged at $2.40 per bushel.

DR. BARNARDO'S HOMES

Charges Made at Child Welfare Conference Not Substantiated

Apology by Professor MacPhee

Serious charges reflecting on the character of immigrant girls brought into this country by Dr. Barnardo's Homes, made by Professor MacPhee, Professor of Psychology in the University of Toronto, before the Child Welfare Conference held recently at Ottawa, on which occasion Mr. Percy Roberts, Chief Migration Officer of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, London, Eng., read a paper on the work of these Homes, have proved, on investigation, to be grossly exaggerated and entirely unwarranted.

The charges made by the Professor at this Conference, based on Social Service figures and as reported in the daily press, were to the effect that out of 800 unmarried mothers brought to and examined in the Psychiatric Clinic of the Toronto General Hospital between the years 1917 and 1924, 125 had been from the Barnardo Homes; they were from 18 to 21 years of age, and thus were within 3 years and less of the last supervision by Barnardo officers.

Following up charges of so serious a character, the officials of the Homes requested Professor MacPhee to produce the list of the 125 names to which he had referred. He produced, in the first place, a list which contained 110 names (though numbered up to 125), and subsequently a supplementary list of 9 names. Two of these names referred to girls who had been examined subsequent to the date of the Social Service report, and another two names, it was agreed, had been duplicated. The statement that all these were unmarried mothers between the ages of 18 and 21 was inaccurate, as, according to an analysis of the list itself, 5 were under the age of 18 years, 57 were between the ages of 18 and 21 years, 46 were between the ages of 22 and 20 years, 17 were between the ages of 30 and 43 years, and in the case of 3 no birthdays given.

That all these girls were unmarried mothers has also been proved to be incorrect, in so far as the list stated that IN THE CASE OF 38 GIRLS THERE HAD BEEN NO CHILDREN, AND IN 22 CASES THE "GIRLS" WERE MARRIED WOMEN.

Other inaccuracies were to the effect that all came for inspection between 1917 and 1924, whereas 3 were before 1917, 3 no dates were given, and 2 had arisen since the Social Service report.

Of the 124 girls whose names appear on the list the Barnardo officials, after careful investigation, find that 38 WERE NOT ASSOCIATED WITH THEM IN ANY WAY, 7 were doubtful, and 79 had belonged to the Homes. Of these 79, 16 had been married, 2 had since died, 1 had been placed in a mental hospital, 4 had returned to England, 16 were successful, and of 40 there was no recent news and no evidence of their having appeared again before the Clinic.

These girls form but a small proportion of the 6,315 girls who have been resident in this country for periods ranging up to 26 years before examination at the Clinic, whereas the statement made was that they were between 18 and 21 years of age, and, therefore, within 3 years of the care of the Homes.

Last year the British Government sent on Overseas Settlement Delegation to Canada, under the direction of Miss Margaret Bondfield, M.P., on a tour of inquiry and inspection into the settlement of immigrant children in this country. This Delegation visited all parts of the country, and made a searching inquiry into conditions, visiting at the homes of the children and interviewing Labour Departments, Social Service and other organizations interested in child welfare work. In their report to the British Government on the completion of their tour they made the following pronouncement:

"Statements were made to us from time to time at conferences of social workers to the effect that an unduly large proportion of immigrant children figure in later life in the returns from hospitals, asylums, police courts and charitable institutions. After carefully considering these statements, we are of the opinion that they are founded on data which are insufficient to justify any such general conclusion."

The whole charges made by Professor MacPhee and the Social Service figures, on which these were based, in so far as they apply to Dr. Barnardo's Homes, are subject to the same criticism. In justice to the great work carried on by the Homes, the Executive feels that the above statement should receive the widest publicity, and also the letter of apology which Professor MacPhee has addressed to the Homes, and the reply of Professor Albert Carless, C.B.E., M.S., F.R.C.S., which appears herewith.

The Barnardo Homes have been carrying on work now for nearly 60 years, during which period they have sheltered and cared for close to 100,000 boys and girls, who have responded so splendidly to the chance in life thus given them. Over 10,000 Barnardo boys were serving in the British Services during the war, including 6,211 with the Canadian Expeditionary Force. The investigation which Professor MacPhee's charges instituted has revealed something of the extent of the wonderful work carried on by Dr. Barnardo's Homes, the value of this work to Canada, and the efficient manner in which it is conducted.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
Toronto 5, Canada

Department of Psychology — October 29th, 1925.

The Council,
Dr. Barnardo's Homes, Inc., London, England.

Dear Sirs,

In an address at the recent Conference of the Child Welfare Council of Canada, held at Ottawa, I made certain statements with regard to the results of examinations of persons who were said to have been brought to Canada by the Barnardo Homes, Inc. The source of the data I used at that time was a copy of the report submitted to Miss Margaret Bondfield during her recent visit to Canada and published as a brochure by the Social Service Council of Canada. In that report certain statements are made with regard to "children brought to Canada by one immigration agency"—I indicated that this agency was the Barnardo Homes, and addressed my remarks to their officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobday, Manager and Lady Superintendent of the Barnardo Homes, protested to me after the meeting that the figures quoted could not possibly apply to their children. I was understood by them to state (and this statement has been widely reported through the press) that of 800 unmarried mothers examined at the Psychiatric Department of the Toronto General Hospital between 1917 and 1924, inclusive, 125 were Barnardo girls between the ages of 18 and 21 years, and therefore within three years and less of the supervision of the Barnardo officials. Mr. and Mrs. Hobday requested an opportunity of checking the list so as to ascertain whether the cases in question were Barnardo children, and these data were secured for them by me.

I am indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Hobday for a very detailed and exhaustive study of the report. The actual number of cases listed is 124. Of this number Mr. and Mrs. Hobday are able to identify only 79 as assuredly Barnardo girls. In seven cases the history given seems to show that the case is not a Barnardo girl and the remaining names cannot be identified with any of the children brought to Canada by the Barnardo Institution. In all of these cases the list submitted to me by the Social Service Department of the Toronto General Hospital referred to them as Barnardo girls. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Hobday have made any suggestion of malice in the preparation of the list. I deeply regret that I had not undertaken to secure this check of the data with Mr. and Mrs. Hobday before making a statement that has received such wide publicity.

Two types of data have been cited by me with regard to the group—the social and the psychiatric. On the social side I am reported in the press to have said that all the persons concerned were unmarried mothers. I did not intend to give this impression, as I knew this was not the case, but believed the majority were. Of the 79 persons, admittedly of Barnardo origin, 55 have had one or more illegitimate children, the majority only one; of the remaining 23, 5 are cited by the psychiatrist as being immoral. I stated explicitly on the floor of the Conference, and repeat it now, that Canadian men have an equal responsibility in this connection, and that we cannot hold England or English organizations responsible for events due to the acts and attitudes of Canadian citizens.

Another discrepancy, and one of vital interest in the present situation, is the statement quoted by me in the Conference that these girls were between 18 and 21 years of age, and therefore within 3 years and less of the supervision of the Homes. I had understood that the age at which the Barnardo Homes cease to exercise control over the girls was 18 years, and it implied a serious criticism of their methods. I am now aware that the Homes exercise moral and financial control over their wards until they are 21 years of age, and strive to keep in touch with them afterwards. The age distribution of the 79 persons in question was as follows:

Under 18— 2	(not mothers	30-35— 6
22-25—24		—
26-29— 7		79

I was not and am not as much interested in the social data because of the difficulty of defining responsibility, as to the mental status of the persons in question. The position I hold is common with Mr. and Mrs. Hobday, Mr. Roberts, Professor Carless and all the Officers of the Barnardo Homes with whom I have had contact, is that Canada has a sufficient problem to care for her own defectives, and that the Barnardo Homes do not wish to add to that burden or to provide problems for themselves.

Of the 79 persons in question 3 have been committed to mental hospitals. One of these had been in Canada for six years, and was taken to the clinic for examination by Barnardo Officers; the other, a married woman, had been in Canada for 21 years, and was admitted within a few years of her marriage. Fifty-four have been diagnosed by Dr. C. K. Clarke and Dr. E. K. Clarke as mental defectives. The cases under discussion represent groups who have come to Ontario since 1896, and in that time 6,315 girls have been brought by the Barnardo Homes to various parts of the Province. I need not point out that my remarks were not intended to be any criticism of the thousands of Barnardo boys and girls who have grown into successful Canadian men and women.

That which makes me regret the publicity I have caused in this matter is that all but three of the cases came to Canada before Mr. and Mrs. Hobday were appointed as Canadian Manager and Lady Superintendent, and before Professor Carless offered his distinguished services as Medical Director to the organization. I am assured from conversation with these authorities that changes have been made in the method of study and selection of cases which will provide as effective guarantees as are humanly possible that Canada will get only physically and mentally fit boys and girls from this source. Coming as my statement did after these safeguards have been set up, and referring as I did to cases which were brought out before their regime, my act was both ungracious and discourteous.

I am, therefore, writing you to express my sincere regrets that I did not approach your Canadian officers before making any public statement, to express my appreciation of their courtesy in preparing for me a statement of the facts and to ask you to give my statement as wide publicity as you see fit.

Very sincerely yours,
K. D. MacPhee.

328 Jarvis Street, Toronto, Ont.
30th October, 1925.

Professor MacPhee,

I beg to acknowledge your letter of this date, explaining your action at the recent Child Welfare Conference at Ottawa, and apologizing for the incorrect statements you made thereat. These statements have been widely broadcast by the press, not only in this country, but also across seas, and have already done much harm in besmirching the character of our children and proteges. Your letter has done what is humanly possible to make an amende honorable for the injustice of your attack upon this institution, and in accepting it, in the name of the Council of the Barnardo Homes whom I have the honour to represent, I would point out the danger of making public statements without first verifying facts, and would ask you to co-operate in the future in every way that may be possible to correct the harmful impressions made by your former action. From my conversations with you I am satisfied that personally you were truly desirous of serving the best interests of Canada, but were led astray by figures and statements published elsewhere. Your letter will by your permission appear in the daily press, together with a further statement by our officials, which, I believe, present accurately the facts of the case.

Yours very sincerely,
Albert Carless,
Member of Council of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, and Honorary Medical Director.

Professor K. D. MacPhee,
Toronto University.

POWERS IN CUSTOMS CONFERENCE AGREE TO ACCEPT THE PRINCIPLE OF TARIFF AUTONOMY FOR CHINA

New Regime May Be Put Into Effect on January 1, 1929.

ABOLISH LIKIN.

Delegates Now Consider Framing Measures to Rule During Interim.

PEKING, Nov. 4. — (Canadian Press).—All the powers represented in the Chinese Customs conference yesterday accepted the principle of tariff autonomy for China, and the United States delegation laid before the conference's autonomy committee a detailed plan for putting this principle into effect not later than January 1, 1929.

Spokesmen for Great Britain and Sweden, which hitherto had not definitely stated their acceptance of autonomy principle yesterday announced their adherence to the idea.

China, through Dr. C. T. Wang, chairman of the autonomy committee, pledged herself to the abolition of the likin, or tax, on interprovincial commerce, before 1929. Dr. Wang laying before the delegates a statement that "the government hereby declares that the abolition of the likin will be completed not later than the first day of the first month of the eighteenth year of the republic (1929)."

With the acceptance of the autonomy principle, the chief labors of the conference are shifted to its second committee, charged with framing interim measures to be adopted prior to the coming into effect of the new tariff regime. This committee will meet Friday.

The United States delegation in presenting its plan, stated that it is prepared to authorize the immediate levying of a surtax of 2½ per cent. in addition to the present general tariff of five per cent. ad valorem, and, as soon as the requisite schedules can be prepared, the levying of a five per cent. surtax on luxuries. They then are prepared to proceed immediately to the negotiation of such agreements as may be necessary for putting into effect other provisions of the Washington treaties regarding China.

Reaffirming its adherence to the autonomy principle, the United States statement said the delegation was prepared to negotiate a treaty giving effect to that principle, making provision for the abolition of the likin, for the removal of all tariff restrictions in the existing treaties and putting into effect a Chinese national tariff law.

TITLED LABOR LADY WILL VISIT STATES

To Spend Several Months in America Unless Politics Call Her Home.

STOKE-ON-TRENT, Eng., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Lady Cynthia Mosley, daughter of the late Marquis Curzon, recently nominated as prospective Labor candidate for Parliament from this district, plans to visit the United States in the near future. The date of the election in which Lady Cynthia will contest for a seat in the House of Commons is entirely uncertain, depending upon the future of the Baldwin Government, and she sees no immediate prospects of adding the letters M.P. to her name.

Lady Cynthia plans to leave England late this month. She expects to visit Chicago, where she has relatives on the side of her mother, who was Miss Mary Leiter of that city. She intends to spend several months in America unless politics should call her home.

CAR WAS WRECKED OCCUPANTS UNHURT

One of Passengers on Auto Was Octogenarian Patient For Hospital.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 4. Canadian Press. — Struck by an eastbound C. N. R. train at the railway crossing at Catarauqui at noon yesterday, an Overland car was almost completely wrecked, though the four occupants of the car, one of whom was a patient for the general hospital, miraculously escaped without a single scratch.

The patient, Mrs. McFarlane of Selby, near Napanee, is 90 years of age. The car was driven by her son, John McFarlane, who with the curtains up, failed to see the train in time. Fortunately both the train and the car were travelling at a moderate rate of speed.

YOUNG FARMER KILLED BY TRAIN

Walter McClive Was Struck at Crossing in Cobourg.

FEW WITNESSES.

COBOURG, Nov. 4.—The weekend here was marred by a very sad accident. As Walter McClive, son of Mr. and Mrs. McClive who reside on a farm near Baltimore, where they raise large quantities of garden stuff, was driving with a truck south into the town on Darcy street he was struck by the C.P.R. flyer at a level crossing and instantly killed Very few apparently witnessed the accident. Mr. McClive was a man of about thirty years and was generally very highly esteemed. The accident is deeply regretted here, and in the vicinity of his home at Baltimore.

TORIES PREPARE FOR NEXT FIGHT

LIKELY NOMINEES.

LINDSAY, Nov. 4—The Conservatives of the riding of South Victoria, believing that Premier Ferguson is likely to take advantage of the Conservative sweep in Ontario last Thursday, and launch an election after the next session, are already discussing plans for the contest. It is openly stated in Conservative circles that there will be a spirited contest for the nomination. The present member, R. J. Patterson, will again be placed in nomination and it is understood the names of Mayor Graham and B. L. McLean, of Lindsay, will also be submitted.

Although the Progressive candidate was defeated by a heavy vote in the federal contest last Thursday, the party does not appear to be discouraged. It was stated today by a member of the party that they would be found in the fight when the Provincial election was announced and that F. G. Sandy, ex-M.P., would again be the choice of the party.

SHOT WIFE AND FATHER-IN-LAW KILLED HIMSELF

Reasons Unknown For Shirley Wing's Attack on His Relatives.

FEW DETAILS.

Injured Man and Daughter Were Taken to Hospital, Condition Not Serious.

COLUMBUS, O., November 4. — Canadian Press. — Shirley T. Wing shot and wounded his father-in-law, Claude Meeker, prominent Columbus broker and clubman, wounded his wife, Marjorie Meeker Wing, and then shot and killed himself last night in the Wing home at Worthington, ten miles north of here.

Mr. Meeker and his daughter were taken to a Columbus hospital. Their condition was reported as not serious. Wing's body is at his home in Worthington.

Mr Meeker has taken a prominent part in Democratic state politics He has been mentioned recently as a possible Democratic candidate for Senator from Ohio

His daughter has won attention in the field of letters, her writings and poems having been published in several national magazines

Mr Meeker was wounded in the right leg and his daughter in the left leg

Few details as to what led up the shooting could be obtained, Mr. Meeker and his daughter not being in a condition to be seen.

Coroner Murphy is conducting an investigation.

Wing worked in the bond department of the First National Bank her —his father, Charles M. Wing, is the president of the bank

CHARGES OF MURDER AGAINST KLANSMEN

THREE INVOLVED.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press). — Three State medical experts testified yesterday in the murder trial of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry. All said that blood poisoning which followed injuries received in an alleged attack contributed to the death of Madge Oberholtzer last April 14.

Stephenson, former Grand Dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, and his two bodyguards are charged with first degree murder for alleged withholding of medical aid after they had learned the girl had taken poison. Another count charges murder in connection with abducting her to Hammond and attacking her.

COMMISSION SITS TO ADJUST CLAIMS

Will Consider Matters Affecting British and United States Citizens.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. Canadian Press. — An arbitration commission known as the British American Commission, is at present sitting in Washington. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick of Montreal is the British representative on the commission which has under its consideration a large number of claims affecting British and citizens of the United States.

A number of matters before the commission comprise claims made by British citizens in the Philippine Islands and Hawaii. Others relate to difficulties of the United States fishermen in Newfoundland waters, these disputes coming under the British-American Fisheries Treaty.

PASSENGERS HURT IN STORM AT SEA

Giant Liner Berengaria Encountered the Worst Tempest in Ocean Career.

CHERBOURG, France, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press) — Fifty or more passengers landed from the steamship Berengaria today with bandaged heads, arms in splints or sprained legs. They had received these injuries on the voyage from New York in the most terrific storm, in the captain's estimation, the ship had ever encountered in her ocean career.

The tempest struck the Berengaria last Saturday and lasted twenty-four hours.

ODD FEATURE OF WIRELESS STRIKE

Post Office Gives Official Aid to Strikers—Won't Take Messages.

LONDON, Nov. 4. — (Canadian Press).—The unusual incident of a Government department giving officials support to a strike has occurred in connection with the trouble between about 150 wireless operators and receiving clerks and the Marconi Company in London, Liverpool and Manchester. The strike has cut off Marconi wireless communication between the British Isles, the Continent, and the countries across the Atlantic.

Several messages marked "via Marconi" were handed in to the post office to be despatched as telegrams. The post office staff protested against handling the messages, taking the ground that it would be the equivalent of acting as strike-breakers. Whereupon official instructions were given by the post office authorities that such messages should not be accepted for transmission during the strike.

RETIRING CHIEF SCORES DETROIT

Has Been Amazed at the Open Flouting of the Law.

WETTEST CITY.

DETROIT, Nov. 4. — (Canadian Press). — With the parting thrust, "there is something radically wrong with law enforcement in Detroit," A. B. Stroup, deputy administrator in charge of the Federal prohibition forces here, resigned yesterday to enter the insurance business.

"I can say without reservation," the retiring deputy added, "that Detroit is the wettest city I have been assigned to. I have worked in several parts of the country and observed conditions carefully, and I can say without hesitation nowhere else is the law openly violated as here."

The announcement yesterday startled local political circles. Vice and crime conditions and liquor law enforcement have featured as issues in the mayoralty campaign to be decided. Mr. Stroup's farewell statement emphasized and detailed conditions he states exists in this city, outside of the law.

"Since coming to Detroit I have been amazed at the open flouting of the law by resort keepers and others who, profit by the sale of illicit beverages," Mr. Stroup said. "Where the fault lies I do not know. People may ask why I did not correct these conditions. The answer is: Such condition do not fall within the jurisdiction of my department.

"I have talked with many patrolmen and I think they are honest and eager to enforce the law, but still the blind pigs and disorderly houses flourish."

REV. T. L. WESLEY SPECIAL PREACHER

Warkworth United Church Celebrated Its Anniversary Last Sunday.

WARKWORTH, Ont., Nov. 4. — Anniversary services were held in St. Paul's United Church on Sunday last. The speaker for both morning and evening services was Rev. T. L. Wesley, B.A., of Norwood. Both addresses were instructive and interesting. At the morning service Mr. Wesley chose for his lesson the 63rd Psalm, which was read responsively, and also a few verses commencing at the twenty-eighth verse of the eighth chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Romans, the text being taken from the latter lesson, it being the thirty-first verse: "If God be for us, who can be against us?" Special music was rendered by the choir. A large crowd attended both services.

OIL APPEAL HEARD.

D. C. Court Will Consider Trial of Dohenys and Fall.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—Whether Albert B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior and Edwar L. Doheny, California oil man, and his son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., are to be brought to trial on bribery charges growing out of the Senate oil investigation, rests, for the present at least, with the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

Arguments on the appeal of the Government from the decision of Chief Justice McCoy of the District Supreme Court, quashing the indictments, were heard yesterday by the higher court, which then took them under advisement.

A decision is not to be expected before next month.

About $160,000 in purses will be distributed at the brief meeting of the Southern Maryland Association at Bowie, the close of which on Nov. 28 will mark the finish of 1925 racing in the North.

THE MARKETS

ST. PASCAL CHEESE BOARD

ST. PASCAL, Nov. 3 (Canadian Press).—At the meeting of the board 125 boxes cheese were offered and sold at 21 9-16c per lb., and 134 packages creamery butter at 40 1-16c per lb.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—Of the 5,500 cattle on sale at the Union Stock Yards on Monday 4,266 were sold. Receipts yesterday morning were 112 cars, 1,992 cattle, 217 cavles, 1,300 hogs, and 2,851 sheep and lambs. Among yesterday's receipts are 25 cars of butchers' cattle from the west for one of the packing houses. Monday's buyers call the market for butchers' cattle here 10 to 15 cents a cwt. higher than last week, and this was also the case in the export classes. Yesterday's cattle were just of average quality

Rogers & Maybee bought 600 cattle for export on Monday and paid $8.25 for their top load of steers. For 16 steers weighing 1,380 lbs. each and owned by G. Larkworthy of Mitchell, H. P. Kennedy & Co paid $7.75 a cwt. These will be exported with 200 others they have on hand. The run of cannor cows is heavy this week, but packers are taking them as offered at about a flat price of $2.25 a cwt. The percentage of condemned animals in this class is reported larger than usual.

Butchers' cows are selling well and sufficient are to be had. Three cows were bough for export at $6 a cwt. The exporters also picked up a few steers and heifers One steer cost $8 a cwt, and heifers were taken at $6 to $6.50 a cwt. Two loads of feeders for the country were bought from $6 to $6.30 a cwt., and two loads of 700 lb. stocker steers sold at $3.90 and $4.50 a cwt. A few average quality handyweight butcher cattle sold at $6 a cwt., and some common butchers at $3.75 a cwt.

Calves are just keeping steady and there are few coming that class above good. Yesterday morning's top was 11 cents a pound. Good medium calves were 8½ to 9 cents and common calves 6 cents a pound.

The new cut of $3 a cwt on buck lambs accounts for the advance in ewes and wethers of 25 cents a cwt. Yesterday's ewes sold at 13 cents and bucks at 10 cents a pound. Good sheep were $6.50 a cwt. A couple of packages of Shropshire lambs sold at 13 ¼ cents a pound.

This week's run of hogs in proving too light to allow the packers to make a lower level in prices, and the market has bottomed for the present at $10.75 a cwt, f.o.b.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—Advices that the exportable surplus of wheat in Australia this season has been cut down more than half as compared with last year's total had much to do with a lively advance in wheat prices yesterday. The wheat market closed strong at virtually the top level reached, 1 3-4 to 3c net higher, new style, December 1.52 to 1.52 1-4 and May 1.47 to 1.47 1-4, with corn 3-4 to 1 1-4c up. Oats at 1-4 to 3-8c gain, and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 7c.

Attention of wheat traders was forcibly directed toward Australia on account of dispatches from Melbourne to milling interests here saying that only a miracle can give Australians anything like the harvest of last season. Other Australian advices said dry weather had again set in that the crop outlook was becoming less favorable and that the exportable wheat surplus would be hardly 50,000,000 bushels against 120,000,000 bushels a year ago. Meanwhile, word came of increasing demand from millers at Liverpool, together with news of serious new threshing delays by snow and rain in Canada, and of frost damage affecting 2,500,000 acres in Argentina.

Further impetus to the upward swing of wheat values resulted from announcement that 1,250,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been bought since late on Monday for shipment to Europe, and that out of 11,822,000 bushels of wheat at Duluth not 4,000,000 bushels of a kind available for delivery on wheat contracts in Chicago. Previous sellers here were urgent buyers at the last, with others scarce, owing to heavy absorption on the part of Eastern houses.

Indications of wintry weather in the corn belt together with smallness of receipts of corn in Chicago gave firmness to prices both of corn and oats.

Meat deliveries of provisions were higher, influenced by a bigger decrease in stocks of lard here than was looked for.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 13,000; beef steers scaling 1,100 pound and up weak to unevenly lower; lightweights fairly active around steady; stockers and feeders slow; extreme top 1,275 and 1,385 lb. bullocks 13.50; yearlings upward to 13.00; some 1,200 pound Montanas 11.25; fat she stock weak to 15c lower; canners and cutters steady; bulls and vealers unchanged.

Hog receipts 28,000; steady to strong, closed slow; bulk good and choice 160 to 325 lb. average 11.10 to 11.35; desirable 140 to 150 lb. selections mostly 11.35 to 11.50; extreme top 11.60; majority packing sows 9.75 to 10.20; bulk better killing pigs 11.75 to 12.00; shippers took 11,000; estimated holdover 10,000; big packers bought sparingly.

Sheep receipts 10,000; bulk desirable come-backs and natives 14.75 to 15.25; several loads 15.35 to 15.50; top 15.50; most culls 11.50 to 12.00; choice light feeding lambs 15.25 to 15.50; fat ewes upward to 7.76; bulk 6.50 to 7.75.

WHITE GLOVES FOR JUSTICE AT COBOURG COURT

No Criminal Cases on Docket at Fall Assizes in United Counties.

DAMAGES GIVEN.

Man Hurt in Crossing Accident To Get $417.90 From Driver.

(By a Staff Reporter).

COBOURG, Nov. 4.—Mr. Justice Rose of the Supreme Court of Ontario received a new acquisition to his toilet accessories when he came here Monday to preside at the Fall Assizes and Sheriff Nesbitt presented him with a pair of white gloves as a token that the docket was free from criminal cases. Justice Rose presided here last March, when the same condition of affairs existed and when he was presented with the same tangible evidence as to the good behaviour of the people who reside in the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham.

There were altogether three cases, one non-jury and one jury, listed for hearing—Hammel Benn against the C.N.R. and Joseph Anglin for injuries received when an auto in which he was riding ran into a train here; Puffer against Windover, an action for slander, and the non-jury case of Robert Rahm of Burketon against Val and Margaret Cabon of Clarke Township, arising over a dispute concerning a mortgage in which the sum of $867.92 was involved. This matter was settled out of court.

The Benn Case.

The case of Benn against the C.N.R. and Joseph Anglin was first taken up. Benn and Anglin reside in Napanee, and in May of last year they came to Cobourg in the latter's auto. Reaching this town they invited two sisters, Vera and Myrtle McKendry, both trained nurses, with whom Anglin was acquainted, to go for a ride. At the William Street crossing they ran into a C.N.R. train, and of the four occupants of the car, Benn alone was injured in the collision. He spent several weeks in a local hospital, suffering from a broken leg, and on his recovery brought suit against the railway company and the driver of the car for $5,000 damages.

After hearing part of the evidence Justice Rose sent the jury from the room, and after considerable discussion the action, so far as the C.N.R. was concerned, was dismissed, the case against Anglin proceeding. The witnesses heard were the defendant and plaintiff, Russell Hannah, a local garage man; E. Wilkins of Cobourg, who attended Benn; James Campbell, Carl Powell and the McKendry sisters.

The jury returned a verdict for $417.90 in favor of Benn, with costs of action, the actual amount of his hospital expenses. Mr. Justice Rose criticized the verdict on the ground that the plaintiff was entitled to some compensation for suffering and loss of time.

R. J. Bullen, of Campbellford, the only juror summoned from that town, sat on this hearing.

In this connection it is recalled that at the sitting of the Supreme Court here in March, Dr. Aylea of Colborne was given a verdict of $3,500 for injuries received by his minor son in a collision with the C.N.R. at a Colborne crossing. The case was appealed, and the Appellate Court at Toronto has allowed the appeal and dismissed the action.

J. P. Pratt of Toronto appeared for the railway company and Nickle and Farrel of Kingston for the plaintiff.

LADIES' AID MEETING

Good Attendance at Regular Gathering at Norham.

NORHAM, Nov. 4.— The Norham Ladies' Aid held its regular monthly meeting at the parsonage last Thursday afternoon. There were twenty-one members, one visitor and six children present. The president, Mrs. David Evans, occupied the chair. After singing "Take Time to be Holy," Mrs. Wesley Newman read a psalm and Mrs. Lorne Evans led in prayer.

Several small bills were passed and ordered to be paid, after which plans were laid for a fowl supper to be held in the church hall on November 27. The following were appointed a programme committee: Rev. J. F. Everson, Mrs. J. W. Newman and Miss Madge Cliffe. Rev. J. F. Everson, Messrs. Samuel Gummer and J. W. Newman were appointed to look after the alterations to be made in the church hall. Arrangements were also made for the preparation of a play to be given early in the new year and the following committee appointed to carry out above: Mrs. Lorne Evans, Mrs. Clarence Brenton and Miss Laurel Arkles.

Lunch provided by Mesdames C. H. Curtis, Lewis Denike, Pohn Diamond and Miss Madge Cliffe was served at the close of the meeting.

TAKEN DURING DANCE.

MARMORA, Nov. 4—After participating in a dance at the Orange Hall, Springbrook, on Friday evening last, Mr. Charles Gordanier of this village found his car to be missing. A search instituted by him next morning in company with Constable H. Gillen resulted in the car being located in the backyard of Murray Fitzgerald's store, Springbrook. The proprietors of the store were totally oblivious of its presence. A search of this same yard the evening before had proved fruitless. The car bore signs of having been used and was slightly damaged Having it insured against fire and theft, Mr. Gordanier intends making a claim for the amount of damage caused.

Rummage Sale.

The annual rummage sale coupled with a sale of home made cooking was held in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon and evening under the auspices of Marmora Women's Institute. The event proved quite as successful as in recent years. The proceeds amounted to approximately fifty dollars.

Hallowe'en Celebrated.

The Hallowe'en spirit was early astir on Saturday evening. Shoppers and picture theatre goers were confronted on each of the various sidewalks by children of all ages in the most weird and fantastic garb. Possibly the first of the usual series of pranks played, was the drawing of a wagon up Front Street at 7.30 p.m. by almost a dozen juveniles. As more than one adult remarked in defence of the youngsters, "It only comes one day in the year." No serious depredations are reported.

Large Congregation.

There was a very large congregation at the United church on Sunday evening. The choir rendered as an anthem "Cast thy burden upon the Lord" from Mendelsohn's Elijah. At the conclusion of the service the first of a series of half hours with the great composers was conducted, Handel being chosen. With Mr. W. M. Lester as tenor and the Rev. F. J. Horwood at the organ the following were the items:

1. Short biography of Handel.
2. Overture to the "Messiah"—Organ.
3. "Comfort Ye" from the "Messiah."—Tenor.
4. "And the Glory of the Lord" (Messiah).—Organ.
5. "Holy art Thou" (Largo).—Tenor.
6. Minuet from "Berneice." Organ.
7. "Angels ever bright and fair" (Theodora)—Tenor.
8. Overture to "Saul" (First Movement).—Organ.
9. "Halleluiah Chorus" (Messiah) —Organ.

WEDDING BELLS.

HENDERSON—MORTON.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 4.—A quiet but very pretty late fall wedding was solemnized in St. Thomas' Church on Saturday, October 31, at 8 p.m., when Geraldine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Morton, became the bride of Mr. Leonard Henderson, only son of ex-Warden A. J. and Mrs. Henderson of Millbrook.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a becoming navy ensemble suit with fox fur neckpiece, the gift of the groom. Her hat was of black velvet, close-fitting, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Pearl Lamb, was in fawn, her coat being fur-trimmed, and her hat of a tomato shade of velvet. Her bouquet was of red roses. Mr. David Fowler supported the groom.

The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Canon Allen, the bridal party standing under an arch of evergreen, with white flowers intertwined.

Mrs. (Canon) Allen played the wedding march. There was a large gathering at the church for the occasion.

A reception was afterwards held at the home of the bride's parents, the invited guests including only the immediate friends of both families.

The dining-room was daintily decorated for the wedding luncheon to which all sat down, the table being centred with the handsome three-story wedding cake, the large white bell suspended immediately overhead, with white streamers radiating to the corners of the room, and touches of silver brightening the color scheme, giving the whole a most attractive appearance.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a white gold bar pin with jewelled setting, and to the best man a monogrammed gold ring.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left for their home on the Fallis line.

The local caterer, V. C. Lambert, had the wedding luncheon in charge.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu." 40c and 75c, at all druggists. The Musterole Co. of Canada, Ltd., Montreal.

The City Treasurer has moved his office into the re-fitted office of the Treasurer and Collector. There are still some vault fitting sto be put in.

The office vacated by the Treasurer will need re-arranging for the Assessor, so that he can move to the ground floor and have the use of the vault. I would like instructions as to whether the Council wishes these changes made by the City Trust or by the Property Committee.

Sick Stomach Teaches Her a Lesson

Brooklyn. Mrs. Alfred Fie writes:—"I had become accustomed to arising each day with a heavy head, dizzy, and bad taste in my mouth. My bowels were frequently clogged. One day I became so sick to my stomach I had to leave an important job and go home. A friend advised Carter's Little Liver Pills. I feel like a made over person since using them. I have learned a good lesson, and whenever my stomach goes bad again I'll certainly know what to do." Carter's Little Liver Pills relieve the constipated condition by cleansing the intestines of their waste matter. Their action is gentle and free from pain. All druggists, 25c

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu." 40c and 75c, at all druggists. The Musterole Co. of Canada, Ltd., Montreal.

That a recommendation of the Local Board of Health in regard to making the Queen Mary Hospital free to City patients be approved, and that the Council endorse the hospital being made free to City patients from January 1st, 1926.

That the garbage collection area be extended to include Mark Street, west side, from Maria Street to the south side of the property known as 183 Mark Street and the area bounded by Weller Street, south side, from the Monaghan Road to Albertus Avenue, Albertus Avenue, east side, from Weller Street to Gilmour Street and east on Gilmour Street, including the land fronting on both sides of the street to the Monaghan Road.

That the ratepayers be advised by advertisement that any applications for farther extensions must be received by November 10th.

That this Committee be authorized to add territory to the garbage collection area and to advertise for tenders for the collection and removal of garbage during 1926.

From S. R. Armstrong.

Mr. Armstrong reported as follows: I have made enquiries, as instructed, regarding rates charged for gas in other cities and have received the following information:—

WOODSTOCK—85c per M. feet., with prompt payment discount, of 10 per cent., and a metre charge of 17 cents.

OSHAWA—$1.90 cents; minimum $1.

Owen Sound—1,000 to 5,000 feet, $150, with a discount of 10 per cent., 1,000 to 5,000 feet, monthly of 10 per cent. and 10 per cent. for 5,000 to 15,000 feet monthly, and 10 per cent., 10 per cent., 10 per cent. and 10 per cent. for over 15,000 feet with a metre rent of 17 cents and a minimum charge of .50 cents.

PORT HOPE—$2.50; $1.20 per year meter rent.

COBOURG—$2.50.

SAULT STE. MARIE—First 2000 feet $1.65 net, next 3000 feet $1.30 net, next 5000 feet 95 cents net; over 10,000 feet 60 cents; minimum $1.00.

STRATFORD—Gross rate $2.50, up to 6000 feet $2.00 per thousand feet, over 6000 feet $1.85 per thousand feet; meter rent 50 cents; minimum monthly bill 75 cents.

NIAGARA FALLS—Same arrangement as Welland: 1000 feet $1.00; over 10,000 cubic feet monthly $1.30. Minimum rate $1.50.

GUELPH—Consumers using 10,000 feet per month $1.20; discount 15 cents per thousand feet; 75 cents minimum monthly charge.

The Voters' Lists for 1926 were printed and posted on October 27th. The date up to which notices of appeals may be given is November 17th.

The City Treasurer has moved his office into the re-fitted office of the Treasurer and Collector. There are still some vault fitting sto be put in.

The office vacated by the Treasurer will need re-arranging for the Assessor, so that he can move to the ground floor and have the use of the vault. I would like instructions as to whether the Council wishes these changes made by the City Trust or by the Property Committee.

Sick Stomach Teaches Her a Lesson

Brooklyn. Mrs. Alfred Fie writes:—"I had become accustomed to arising each day with a heavy head, dizzy, and bad taste in my mouth. My bowels were frequently clogged. One day I became so sick to my stomach I had to leave an important job and go home. A friend advised Carter's Little Liver Pills. I feel like a made over person since using them. I have learned a good lesson, and whenever my stomach goes bad again I'll certainly know what to do." Carter's Little Liver Pills relieve the constipated condition by cleansing the intestines of their waste matter. Their action is gentle and free from pain. All druggists, 25c

UNITED CHURCH OFFICIALS MET IN SUPPER MEETING

More Than One Hundred Men Assembled at St. James' Church.

GOOD SPEAKERS.

Rev. F. Langford and T. F. McKay Told of Need of Raising Funds.

A very unique and successful event took place when one hundred official of the six United Churches of Peterboro gathered at St. James' United Church for a supper meeting. The Ladies' Aid of St. James' provided the repast, and the tables were very invitingly spread and ample justice was done to the well-prepared and tempting viands. The Rev A. J. Langford of Trinity Church, acted as chairman, and after the supper he called upon J. F. MacKay, former Managing Director of The Toronto Globe, to deliver an address. His theme was "The Opportunities and Responsibilities as Presented by the United Church." The church was faced with a splendid opportunity for service, and the responsibility occasioned thereby rested upon its membership. Sectarianism had tended to detract men's interest from the work of the church in promoting the interests of the Kingdom of God. The United Church had brought men together in a way which even the most ardent optimists had scarcely dreamed, and now they were united in their efforts to release their powers and resources for the work of the Kingdom. The eyes of the religious world were upon Canada and the United Church, and hence the challenge was imperative that it should not fail in this crisis to provide the necessary funds to carry on the work of the Kingdom. The speaker was optimistic as to the success of the campaign for the raising of the Maintenence and Extension Fund of the church.

Rev. Frank Langford was the next speaker, and he pointed out the absolute necessity of securing the amount of money asked for. The missionary work, both foreign and home demands it. "While we have united our forces," he said, "we have not reduced our missionary forces, because before Union there was no overlapping in our effort. We have missionaries in at least six foreign field, i.e. China, Japan, Formosa India, British Guiana and Korea. Our home missionary obligations have not been reduced, but rather increased because of the united effort." These constitute the challenge to every member of the United Church for the effective carrying out of the work of the Kingdom. Other departments of activity are the work of the colleges and secondary schools, social service effort, and the work of religious education. The speaker gave some practical suggestions for the carrying out of the campaign locally.

The addresses of the above speakers aroused those present to a high point of enthusiasm and this culminated in a resolution which was carried unanimously by a standing vote: "That this meeting heartily endorse the Maintenence and Extension Fund of the United Church of Canada, and we recommend to the boards of the United Churches of Peterboro that an honest endeavor be made to secure our share of the funds necessary to achieve the desired result."

It was further decided to have the financial canvass during the week November 22 to 29, and another supper meeting for all officials was planned to be held about December 1.

A central committee was appointed consisting of the ministers of the six United Churches, and one layman from each church: Knox, H. McCannon; St. Andrew's, Geo. Gillespie; Trinity, Dr. Morrison; St. James', Thos. Brown; George St., G. C. Carruthers; Mark St., H. W. Nigh.

GERMAN SCIENTIST EXTRACTS HELIUM

Dr. Kurt Peters is Able to Obtain Gas From Monasite Sand.

BERLIN, Nov. 4. — (United Press).—Dr. Kurt Peters, German scientist, told the United Press today he had succeeded in extracting helium from monasite sand, which occurs in large quantities in Brazil.

"My method," he explained, "will not serve to supply dirigibles with this valuable gas, but it will solve the perplexity of our scientists in gaining enough helium for labora tory purposes."

FULL RESULTS OF TRAGEDY UNKNOWN

Estimates of Dead in Welsh Valley Are Varied.

LLANDUDNO, Wales, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—The full tale of tragedy of the bursting yesterday of the dam of Lake Eigiau has not yet been related. The number of deaths due to the rush of waters which overwhelmed the village of Peorthlwyd and then swept down the mountain side into the valley is not known, and estimates vary from sixteen to thirty. Until the missing are accounted for or bodies are found, there can be no difinite checkup on fatalities.

MODERATES GAIN IN SCOTTISH BOROUGHS

Success of Extreme Laborites Was Feature of Voting.

GLASGOW, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Complete returns from the Scottish municipal polls show that while the elections yesterday resulted in comparatively little change in the parties as a whole, the success of the Moderate members of the Labor party, as against the Labor Extremists was the feature of the voting.

"I Suffered Terribly With Sore, Aching Back"

Mrs. Roland Ferguson, 194 Lake St., Peterboro, Ont., writes:

"For over two years I suffered terribly with sore back. I was almost mad with the pain, and had doctored with it until I was discouraged. Then my father, who is a firm believer in Dr. Chase's Medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I followed his advice, and am glad to say I was completely relieved of that torturing pain in my back. It is over a year since I used these pills, and I have had no return of the trouble, but always keep them in the house."

LIBERAL WOMEN SEEK NEW ROOM

Larger Quarters Will Be Needed For Winter's Work of Club.

DO RELIEF WORK.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Women's Liberal Club, with an attendance of nearly fifty of the members, was held in the office of Messrs. Gordon and O'Brien last night. Miss L. Jobbitt, the president, was in the chair. Minutes of the last regular meeting were read by Mrs. B. F. McNeely.

The ladies discussed arrangements for their winter programme, also took up the question of procuring larger quarters for their meetings. A committe for relief work was appointed, with Miss M. F. Maloney as convenor. It was decided to send a letter of condolence to Mrs G. N. Gordon, whose father recently passed away.

The majority of the ladies took tickets for "Drusilla with a Million" the moving picture which comes to the Royal Theatre soon under the auspices of the Local Council of Women.

JEWS APPEAL FROM QUEBEC DECISION

Recent Judgment of Quebec Court on School Matter Is Contested.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4. — (Canadian Press).—Argument was opened in the Supreme Court of Canada this morning on the appeal of certain Jewish members of the special commission appointed to investigate school matters in Montreal from the recent judgment of the Quebec Court of Appeal, which ruled that legislation enacted by the Quebec Legislature to the effect that, for school purposes, Jews should be regarded as Protestants, was "ultra vires" of the Quebec Legislature.

The appeal is opposed by the Montreal Protestant Board of School Commissioners and the Catholic Board of School Commissioners.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WELL KNOWN MAN

Thomas Cashore Found Unconscious in Street—Died Soon After

LINDSAY, November 5—Thomas Cashore, a well-known auctioneer of this town, was found by neighbors in an unconscious condition in his home on Elgin Street Tuesday night. His death followed the same evening. The deceased was undressed at the time, and it is believed that he fell down stairs. He was in his sixtieth year, and is survived by a wife and a number of relatives at Fenelon Falls.

Thanksgiving Telegrams.

C.P.R. Has Attractive Form For Use During This Season.

A very attractive telegraph form for the Thanksgiving season has been prepared by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. In suitable colors are shown grains and fruits of the harvest season, with farm buildings in the background, a real touch of the seasonal spirit.

"An honest man has a better memory than a liar, said "memory marvel" who recently demonstrated in London. In two days he learned 2000 English words.

Low Birthrate and High Mortality Among Turkeys Spell Decapitation For Many Geese and Ducks

Turkeys, this Thanksgiving, may be more of a tender tradition than a succulent reality. When the vital statistics for the turkey population of Canada in the year 1925 are prepared, it will be seen that the combined result of a low birth rate and a high mortality is little short of annihilation for the consumers' pocket-books. There will be turkeys, of course, but any bird worthy of the name will cost 50 cents a pound or more, according to the predictions of dealers.

Say "turkey" to a poultryman and watch his agony. He suffers the same exquisite doubt and fear as the League of Nations over the Balkan situation. He is dealing with an uncontrollable quantity and an unknown quality; and only his faith in the appetite of the public keeps him from succumbing altogether. With chickens, he can be an optimist; ducks never play him false, and geese are always with him, but the ways of the turkey are strange.

Many of the turkeys this season early became inspired with the old maxim that the good die young. A wet spring, an uncertain summer and an early fall each operated against the chances of survival, with the result that some dealers place this year's crop at something like 30 to 40 per cent. less than last year's. Frankly, they say, turkeys are hardly ripe enough for Thanksgiving consumption; if the public would only strangle that impulse and wait until after December 1 so much the better for itself and for the turkeys. At present the Ontario birds have a corner on the market, though Western shipments are expected shortly.

Other varieties of poultry, however, are inundating the market. Geese are coming in such large quantities that the price has been considerably dropped, and, if you have a low-brow taste and are not ashamed of it, you may pick up a choice goose for 26 to 28 cents a pound. Nice chickens will be running at around 35 to 40 cents retail, and ducks will hold steady, once their quack is stilled, at 35 cents a pound.

Cranberries, accompaniment indispensable, can be had at 20 cents a quart, and mince pies—well, they are priceless.

Declines Were Prominent While Trade Increased

TORONTO, November 4. Canadian Press. — The trend was mixed on the Toronto stock exchange this morning, but with a great increase of trade a broader list was dealt in, with declines prominent. Two movements were outstanding, the 3 and 3-4 point gain of Dominion Stores at 66 and the 2¼ point loss of Atlantic Sugar at 29 3-4. Atlantic Sugar was one of the leaders, and another prominent issue, Consolidated Smelters was sold down 2 and 7-8 points at 160 5-8.

Mines were uniformly strong, Dome gaining 15 and Coniagas 10, while in the banks Commerce strengthened a point. British Columbia Fishing also gained a point.

Wheat Prices Eased Off On Good Weather Reports

CHICAGO, Ills., Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—Free selling here and reports of better weather in Canada led to lower prices for wheat today soon after the opening. A late downturn in quotations at Liverpool was also a factor. On the other hand, an unexpected advance of wheat values at Kansas City counted as something of an offset. Chicago opening prices, 1-8c down to 1-8c up, new style. December $1.52 to $1.52 1-4, and May $1.46 7-8 to $1.47 1-4, were followed by a setback to $1.50 5-8 for December and $1.46 for May. Corn and oats displayed a stubborn resistance to the selling pressure. Wet weather in the corn belt attracted attention and so, too, did likelihood of a total lack of potatoes as feed. After opening unchanged to 1-4c higher. December 74 1-2 to 74 5-8, the corn market scored slight gains all around and then receded somewhat. Oats started at 1-8 to 1-4c lower to a shade advance, December 38 5-8 to 38 3-4, and later held at about the same as yesterday's finish.

Provisions were without any important change.

Price Fluctuations Were Widespread In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Widespread fluctuations in prices characterized trading in today's Stock Market. Speculators for an advance continued to push up their favorites, occasionally bringing forward new leaders in an effort to maintain bullish enthusiasm, but they encountered an enormous volume of profit-taking which gave the market an irregular appearance much of the time. Motors fluctuated in a highly erratic manner, although several of the popular issues, including General Motors, Dodge Brothers and Hupp, were bid up to new high levels. Selling pressure was particularly effective in Brown Shoe, Commercial Solvents A, and Louisville and Nashville, which were hammered down five to eight points below Monday's closing quotations. This was offset, however, by the buoyancy of other high-priced stocks.

BRIQUET PLANT WAS DESTROYED

Damage of $30,000 By Fire at Toronto Factory.

OIL ENDANGERED.

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Damage estimated at $30,000 was done by fire to the plant of the Toronto Briquetting Company early this morning. The blaze proved spectacular, and following a receipt of information that two large tanks of crude oil were endangered, a general alarm was sent in.

The tanks were of fire-proof construction, however, and resisted the flames. The Briquetting Company building was completely destroyed.

SOCIAL EVENING FOR ORPHANAGE

Large Sum of Money Was Raised By St. Peter's Ladies.

MANY ATTENDED.

The ladies of St. Peter's parish were in charge of a very well-attended social evening and card party, held in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum last evening, in aid of St. Vincent's Orphanage. A nice sum of money and a large number of donations of various sorts were contributed to the shower in aid of the Orphanage, and about thirty-five tables of cards were played during the evening. The $10 gold niece was won by the holder of ticket No. 398, and may be obtained at the Orphanage. Mrs. Wm. J. Young had charge of the sale of prize tickets, and Mrs. John Trombley was one of the largest sellers. Mrs. J. J. Lynch acted as general convenor, the service of refreshments was in charge of Miss M. N. Nevin and Miss M. Croft, and donations were received by Mesdames A. Sharp, F. Fairen, T. McQuillan, C. Rutherford and Miss Annie Simons. The euchre tables were looked after by Mrs. M. Daly and Mrs. Ed. Conroy, and Miss Margaret Lynch had charge of the bridge tables. Prizes for bridge were won by Mrs. F. J. McFadden, Mrs. L. Meagher and Mrs. J. P. Finn, Dr. M. Crowe and W. J. Young, and prizts for euchre by Mrs. Robert Stokes and L. Anthony. Miss Margaret McCabe played during the service of refreshments.

SAKLATVALA WAS DEFEATED

Communist M. P. Rejected as Member of Borough Council.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (Canadian Press).—Shapurji Saklatvala, Indian Communist member of the House of Commons for North Battersea, was defeated in the municipal election yesterday in the North London borough of St. Pancras where he offered himself as a candidate for St. Pancras Council.

Saklatvala was given considerable publicity recently over the refusal of the United States authorities to admit him to the country as a member of the Inter-Parliamentary delegation.

POTATOES SCARCE ALL OVER COUNTRY

Production Was Below Normal and Demand Exceeds Supply.

Official explanation from Ontario's Deputy Minister of Agriculture, W. B. Roadhouse, of the skyrocketing of potato prices from $1.25 per bag, wholesale, a month ago, to present prevailing wholesale prices of $2.75 to $3.25 per bag, is that the crop is away below normal.

Prodction Below Normal.

Ontario potato prices are governed by supply and demand in an area extending from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, in the east, to the Middle Western Provinces, and as far south as the American Atlantic Coast potato States. In every single area from which reports have so far been received, according to the Ontario Department, every imaginable factor in potato growing has mitigated against normal production this year.

The major factors which caused prices to soar are: The somewhat smaller potato acreage this year in Ontario; drouth in some sections in the early part of the season; a yield which was below normal by at least 35 per cent.; and rainy autumn weather conditions, which prevented harvesting and rotted the crop in the ground before it had reached full maturity. As far as the Department of Agriculture can learn, these unsatisfactory conditions prevailed east, west and south.

A Dearth Everywhere.

New York State and Michigan, which formerly were rather light buyers in the Ontario potato market, have discovered a dearth of potatoes in other fields, and are in Ontario buying up practically all they can get. The Maritimes, which in normal years served a considerable section of the near-by American market, are as hard hit as is Ontario by the combination of adverse circumstances, and will not do much to meet the potato demands of a continent.

The Deputy Minister of Agriculture was not prepared to discuss market probabilities. It might be, he admitted, that potato prices had pyramided themselves unnecessarily on the strength of a potato scarcity scare, and they might sag when the market settled down. But he had no predictions or opinions to offer on that aspect.

Toronto dealers' opinions on the subject varied.

There are very few potatoes in storage in Toronto, according to reports. Dealers are said to be looking this way and looking that for shipments. Everywhere there is a great feeling of doubt as to what the next few days may bring.

PAINLEVE CABINET WILL RETAIN OFFICE

Despite Meagre Margin in Confidence Vote—Many Didn't Vote.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—(United Press). —Premier Painleve intends to cling to office despite the satisfactory vote of confidence accorded his regime—221 to 189, with nearly 175 withholding their votes.

Painleve told the United Press that he was "satisfied" with the vote.

The narrow margin by which his regime remained in power led many politicians to-day to believe that his Cabinet had received only a suspended death sentence, and that the Cabinet would probably succumb when any real issues should come up for consideration.

HUNT SEASON IS OPEN TOMORROW

Many Hunters Have Left City—More Plan Going Later.

WEAR BRIGHT COLORS.

The northern woods will resound to-morrow with the crash of a hundred guns when Peterboro hunters open fire on the fleet de izens of the wilds. The deer must needs walk warily if they would survive for each huntsman is determined to get his venison, and some even specify the age, size and sex of the prey. One man said that he wanted a young buck about a year and half old, that had never been chased by the hounds. While numbers have already departed for the back country there are several who plan their expedition for the latter part of the season, presumably to bag their catches when the animals have grown weary of pursuit.

Referring to the subject of hunting, Inspector Reid said that the hunters would be well advised to wear brightly colored garments, and avoid the use of fawn or dun shades. Most of the shooting accidents he intimated were the result of people being clad in clothing which bore a resemblance to the hide of a deer.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl in my early 'teens and I am in love with a young man and he doesnt' know of it, and I would like to let him know.

Dear Annie Laurie how may I let him know. Hoping to see my answer in the paper.

MAYFLOWER.

MAYFLOWER: What in the world do you want to let him know such a thing for? If you are in your early 'teens, you don't know a single thing about love yet, and won't for some years to come. You are simply infatuated with this young man. How do you know he wants you to be in love with him? Perhaps it would bore him terribly, or ,worse still, he may be the type who will boast about it to all his boy friends. Photographs and handkerchiefs and jazz garters are not the only things that a certain type of modern youth likes to collect. Even if you are in your "salad days", you don't need to be any sillier than you can possibly help, do you?

THE BEST THANKSGIVING

For all the tender, loving care.
For all the benefits we share,
Our God, we bless,
Who has so many favours shown,
And unto whom we owe alone,
All we possess.

A Country, prosperous, happy—free,
Extending far, from sea to sea,
Wherein is found
Nature's best charms, of beauty rare,
Fair, fertile fields beyond compare,
With plenty crowned.

Where peace and piety unite,
And where the Gospel's glorious light
Serenely shines;—
A goodly heritage is ours,
Surely are fallen, in pleasant bowers,
For us, life's lines.

On us, kind Heaven, is pleased to pour
Blessings of basket and of store,
With lavish hand,—
Showering upon our Country, dear,
Blessings and bounties, sent to cheer
No other land.

Be sure, then, much from us is due
Of righteousness that will eschew,
Dishonor's stain—
That all may see, these mercies given
So freely by auspicious Heaven,
Are not in vain.

But ,that the Gospel light displayed,
Be more and more revered, obeyed,
From East to West,
For Godliness, firm let us stand,
That the world may know, our native land
By God is blessed.

LOVE'S SPOTLIGHT

By Juanita Hamel

In the Dance of Life, Cupid ever takes a delight in turning the spotlight upon those who are truly in love. For just as the spotlight, on the stage picks out all the lovely grace and beauty of those on whom it shines, so does Love's spotlight show all the beauty and fineness and wonder of true love. For there is a greatness and beauty about Love—real love, true love—that is unequalled and even the glare of the light fails to dim the glory of the golden glow of two hearts who are dancing down Life's pathway—partners for life.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5.

A fairly fortunate day may be looked for in business, judging by the dominant lunar and mutual aspects. Especially should there be felt a strong urge to undertake new ventures or to connect with large corporations. This should be encouraged as the incitement comes under a benefic aspect between Mars and Neptune. The trine of the luminaries should assist the new project and should be particularly helpful to those in the employment of others who are qualified for advancement or favors.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very active year with a leaning toward new ventures and association with large corporations. It is a time for initiative and for those in the employment of others to push for recognition or promotion if qualified. A child born on this day should be active and enterprising and should do well in employment, as well as in association with large corporations.

MINISTER TELLS OF Y.M.C.A. WORK IN WORLD WAR

Rev. W. S. Edgar Describes Scenes During Allied Retreat in 1918.

Vividly portrayed with lantern slide views, an address was presented by Rev. W. S. Edgar last night to an interested audience in Murray Street Baptist Church, Rev. C. W. Rose, pastor of the church, in introducing the speaker, paid him a graceful tribute for his work in the Gilmour Memorial pastorate.

In his opening remarks, Rev. Mr. Edgar explained the significance of the triangle as it denotes a Y. M. C. A. establishment, and a fine slide depicted the Williams Memorial Y.M.C.A. building in London. Mr. Edgar departed from Glasgow, and after a stay in London, during which time he viewed many of the architectural marvels of that metropolis, sailed for France.

He stayed at the Y.M.C.A. hut in Boulogne for some time, and went from there to Amiens. He was particularly impressed with the beautiful cathedral, which he said was situated in the midst of poor buildings. Illustrations were shown of the city before and after bombardment. In many houses not a single stick was left connected with another. He called to mind the Biblical phrase which expressed the "abomination of desolation."

In Peronne he saw the fine Cathedral which was destroyed. Some of the statues were left intact but the majority were broken beyond repair. The church will not be restored but will be left as it is, a perpetual memorial to the destruction caused by the Germans in their invasion.

At Peronne he was stationed in a Y.M.C.A. hut, which had been occupied by Germans. They had left a mined piano so contrived that it would explode if a certain key were touched. They had left a piece of mud on the floor which, had anyone attempted to remove it, would have caused a terrific explosion.

From Peronne he proceeded to Ham, where he was stationed for a considerable period. Illustrations depicted the state of affairs which existed prior to and following German invasion. The fort, which had been an imposing structure, with walls in some places nine feet in thickness, had been reduced to powder.

After they had been stationed there for some days the Germans began to favor the place with air raids. Not a pane of glass was left intact, and thin muslin was used in its stead. In one raid 20 people were killed, and the air was thick with the gas from bursting shells. In the midst of the noise and confusion Mr. Edgar remembered hearing a little bird singing in a tree which had been riddled with gunfire.

Finally came the time of the great retreat from St. Quentin. The British and French forces were not strongly consolidated at the junction and the Germans, knowing this, concentrated a massed attack on that point. A canteen was organized at a railway station for the benefit of the refugees, and a big gun on a railway truck was brought up to reply to the bombardment. The wounded soldiers who had been taken from the hospital to await transport farther away from the line bore the exposure willingly and minimized the pain of their wounds.

When the headquarters staff withdrew the Y.M.C.A. officers in charge of the canteen thought it high time to follow suit, so the stores were thrown open for the soldiers' use. A merry and hotly contested scramble ensued. In similar evacuations the Y.M.C.A. was forced to abandon 60 huts, and the leaders congregated in a little village back of the lines. Another hut was opened, but after it had been in operation for 4 hours they were again forced to withdraw. As Amiens, the destination, was under shell fire, the transport was held up for some time, but they finally arrived there. The city was subjected to a continuous seige of air raids. Five planes, each carrying five bombs, would pass over and drop their deadly cargo with terrible effect. While there, Mr. Edgar saw the Canadian troops pass through on their way to the front lines. Another slide showed the London Scottish, the regiment which had held the Germans back on the northern front.

Mr. Edgar visited Abbiville, Le Havre and Deauville, where base hospitals were situated. He said that the relatives of dying men were brought over from England at the expense of the Y.M.C.A., so that they could be with their soldier boys in the last great moments.

After spending some time in these places, Mr. Edgar again returned to London, via the Isle of Wight, after passing through the greatest experience of his life-time.

"I believe," he said in conclusion, "that the hand of God was manifest in that last great push which the Germans made, for it was practically their last effort, and signalized the turn of the tide against them."

MONTREAL SIDES NOW AIMING AT SECOND PLACE

Victory of Big Four Players on Saturday May Make Them Runners-Up.

McGILL AND U.O.T.

Shaughnessy Tries New Stunt to Prepare His Men Against Varsity.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Montreal's two senior rugby squads are back to heavy work for their remaining games in the Intercollegiate and Interprovincial Unions Both have chances of finishing in second place in their respective groups.

McGill meets University of Toronto here Saturday and Montreal concludes its season at Toronto against Argos. If Montreal downs the double blue they have a fair chance of taking the second rung in the Big Four, providing Ottawa can take two from Hamilton Tigers. McGill has to take Saturday's game from Varsity and repeat the feat at Toronto the following week-end to make sure of the place.

The local Collegians started out on their intensive preparations for meeting the "T" yesterday afternoon when Coach Shaughnessy drilled the red and white first string in defensive measures to offset Varsity's driving type of United States football on the line.

There was some consternation early yesterday afternoon when Shaughnessy first lined up his men for offensive play. The halves were sent up to the line and big line men were assigned to half-back roles. Hammie Boucher, a smashing line player who is far from quarterback calibre, was given the role of calling signals. The change was a mystery. At first it was regarded as a joke as big Wally Sullivan and Bruce Spears were sent away on end runs; middle wings played as outsides and the halves cut opposition as middles. Shaughnessy kept them plugging away at this formation for half an hour, and the trick was then apparent. There was little question when it was all over, but that every man knew every play from more than one angle—a bit of knowledge that can do no harm and probably an immense amount of good.

Montreal will work by flood light this evening, and Thursday morning will put in their one heavy scrimmage by daylight before boarding the train for Toronto and the meeting with Argos Saturday. The local big four squad will be strengthened by the return of Hammie Hamilton to the snapback position, while Jack Gardner should be in shape should he be required for the punting game, which will give Nicholson two substitute halfbacks.

R.M.C. PROTEST.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—R.M.C. has protested the intermediate game of Monday, claiming that the score of the game at the end of the regular playing time should have been 9-6 for R.M.C. instead of 8-6. It is claimed by R.M.C. that a safety touch was scored in the second half of the game against the tri-color, it being claimed that Alec Ada was forced back over his own line by the red and white.

HOW ATHLETES TREAT STRAINS AND SPRAINS

Gymnasium director advises simple, easy treatment

Hard exercise brings lame muscles—and often bruises and strains as well.

An athletic director in a gymnasium at Utica, N. Y., writes that he has found a simple and always effective way of treating them.

"Just pat on a little Sloan's Liniment, as the bottle says, without rubbing. It takes out stiffness and pain as nothing else will. We have it always on hand and we think it is the best ever."

Sloan's gives real help because it doesn't just deaden the pain: it gets at the cause. Right to the place that hurts it brings a healing tide of fresh new blood—builds up the injured tissues—clears out the fatigue poisons.

Almost at once you feel relief. Stiffness, swelling, inflammation go down. The pain stops. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press)—The left eye of Jack Dunlop, half line star of Queen's intermediates, was seriously injured on Monday when an R.M.C. player accidentally put his finger into it, one of the evins being ruptured. Mr. Dunlop is partly blind and will have to go into the hospital for a couple of weeks.

2 SOFTBALL GAMES IN LAKEFIELD RINK

Girls' Team and Grove Went Down to Defeat Last Night.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 4—Two important games were played last night in the Rink at Lakefield under the auspices of the Softball League of the village. The Business Men defeated the Girls' team by a score of 21-16 and the Grove overcame the Firemen to the tune of 24-22. The teams lined up as follows:

Business Men — Pitcher, Woodhouse; catcher, Payne; 1st base, Tanner; 2nd base, Summers; 3rd base, Wager; s.s., Wanamaker and Northey; right fielder, G. Woodhouse; left fielder, Lake.

Girls 1 0 0 0 1 2 1 0 1

Umpires—Bases, B. Allen; plate, A. Graham.

Many of the girls' comrades were present to cheer and encourage.

The second game was by far the more exciting and was the most important game in the Lakefield league. There was an abundance of pep and the interest was sustained right up to the last minute. The line-up:

Grove 5 6 1 2 6 1 2 0 1

Umpires, Plate, A. Graham; bases C. Woodhouse.

By this defeat the Firemen have been eliminated from the race for Lakefield Cup. The next game is between Selwyn and Business Men.

VETERAN JOCKEY RULED OFF TRACKS

J. A. Mooney Was Implicated in the Pulling of a 2-Year-Old in October.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press)—J. A. Mooney, a veteran jockey, today was ruled off the tracks of the Kentucky Jockey Club for life. Mooney's expulsion came after Jockey D. Mergler had confessed to the racing stewards that he had pulled Bumpkin, a two-year-old belonging to Frederick Johnston, Eastern turfman, in a race at Latonia, October 10. Mergler implicated Mooney in his confession it was said.

INSIDE GOLF.

Many of 61 Golf Champions "Chick" most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

By CHESTER HORTON

Forward swaying of the body with the forward swing is the reverse of swaying backward from the ball, through the hips, in the back swing—and the former usually is the result of the latter. In the back swing the weight moves out to the right, through the hips, until at the top the entire weight is on the right leg. Stiffen this leg in the back swing so that at the top you feel you are "directly on top of it." If you let this hip out far you will be under the necessity of getting it back to the right place at the instant the ball is hit—a difficult thing to do. Also moving this hip away out has an immediate tendency to cause the left side of the body to dip—also bad. It is not possible to wind the golf club up in the back swing without having your weight pass to the right leg. The point to watch is that the sideways hip action is kept to the minimum. The hips do actually move, but let the action be natural. If you overdo it you will get into trouble.

CLARKE WANTS BASEBALL CLUB

Incorrect Rumor Stated That He Had Secured an Interest in Brooklyn.

TWO DENIALS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Fred C. Clarke, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and assistant to Manager McKechnie which brought the world championship to Pittsburgh, would like to buy a major league baseball club or a big interest in one, Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Club disclosed yesterday in denying a report that Clarke had acquired an interest in the Brooklyn National League Club.

"So far he has not been successful," the Pirate owner added.

A telegram to Clarke at Winfield, Kansas ,also brought a denial regarding the Brookly rumor.

OLD WORLD BOXERS COME TO STATES

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(Canadian Press).—Europe threatens to take the place of South America in the indoor season of professional boxing, with Johnny Brown, the bantam champion cross the seas, coming here to tackle Charley Phil Rosenberg, who gained the title from Eddie (Cannonball) Martin.

Tommy Milligan, the "Irishman born in Scotland," may gain an engagement with Mickey Walker, world's welterweight titleholder, before the Winter is gone, and little Edouard Mascart, who has sought a battle with the featherweight king, Louis (Kid) Kaplan, of Meriden, Conn., remains in the country, still on the trail of the title that the war hero, Eugene Criqui, won and lost over here in 1923. Other Europeans ready for action here are, Lucien Vinez, lightweight, and Vincent Sanchez, Spanish featherweight.

Johnny Brown is a colorful little lad known as the "Newsboy from Whitechapel." Three times he has won the Lord Lonsdale Belt and now holds it permanently. Brown has been in America before in 1921 and 1923, when he engaged in several bouts out of his class, but this time he promises to keep within the bantamweight circle in an effort to win at least one crown for the country which fathered boxing and wrote the rules.

Opportunity is perhaps greater in the bantamweight division than anywhere else, for the crown has changed hands many times. Eddie Martin of Brooklyn took it from Abe Goldstein of New York and retained it only a few months, losing to Charley Rosenburg in his next engagement.

The Slight Cold Of To-day May Be Serious To-morrow

On the first appearance of a cough or cold, do not neglect it, but get rid of it at once before it has a chance to grow worse and becomes settled on the lungs, for once it does become deep-seated you are going to have a lot of trouble in getting rid of it.

Our advice to you is that on the first sign of a cough or cold you should procure a bottle of as by its timely use you may save yourself many years of suffering from some serious bronchial or lung troubles.

"Dr. Wood's" has been on the market for the past 37 years; so you are not experimenting with some new and untried remedy; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PIRATE FANS DUPED WITH BOGUS CHECKS

$100,000 in Bets Covered By Worthless Paper—Other Baseball News.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 4. (Associated Press).—A number of Pirate supporters, who placed their money on the Pittsburgh club and then thought they had cleaned up when their favorites won the championship, now find that they did not win a cent, police having received numerous complaints within the last few days that the money was covered with bogus certified cheques.

Among the betters who found their cheques to be worthless was a former pugilist who bet $25,000. In another instance a theatrical manager placed $5,000 but did not realize on his investment. Other wagers ranging from $50 to $500 have come to the notice of police, who figure that the total of $100,000 was covered by the spurious paper. Baltimore and Washington banks are said to have been the institution on which the cheques were certified, and several of the complainants declare the men who "took" their moneys said they were from Cleveland.

Inspector of Detectives John Barry says there is no way in which the winnings can be collected, although there might be gleaned a few crumbs of satisfaction by prosecuting the men who posted the cheques on charges of issuing worthless paper. That is, if the men can be located.

GRANTHAM'S CAR KILLS THREE SHEEP

TRINIDAD, Colo., Nov. 4 (Associated Press).—The overland motor trip of three members of the world's champion Pittsburgh Pirates was halted here for several hours while George Grantham paid over some of his money to the owner of a flock of sheep into which the first baseman drove his automobile. The car killed four sheep and maimed seven others. Included in the party are Carson C. Bigbee and Ray Kremer, pitcher, and their families, who are en route to California.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., Nov. 4 (Associated Press).—Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburg Pirates, in a telegram received here, denied that Bud Culloton, Pirate twirler and former Fordham University star, had been traded to the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League along with Eddie Moore and Carson Bigbee. The latter two will go to the Seals as part payment for Hal Ryhne, shortstop, and Waner, outfielder, but Culloton is on the Pirates' roster, Dreyfuss said.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (Associated Press). — Baseball writers, meeting here, went on record as being opposed to major league stars lending their names to articles on the world's series. They urged President Heydler of the National League, Ban Johnson, President of the American League, and Commission Landis to prohibit the practice.

CHOICE OF OFFICIALS LEADS TO TROUBLE

McGill and Montreal at Loggerheads Over Men Who Will Boss Match.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press)—There is a young turmoil brewing over the appointment of officials for the annual McGill-Montreal inter-city rugby contest to be staged at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium on Thanksgiving Day. It is anticipated however, that the difficulties will be settled at a conference today.

Montreal claims that the annual game between the two squads has now assumed important proportions and that they want officials from outside the city, Hal DeGruchy and Silver Quilty having been named among others, though they state they would be willing to accept two officials, one from the Intercollegiate and the other from the Interprovincial Union, and in this latter case have named Joe O'Brien and Hal DeGruchy, the former an official in the college series and the latter in the Big Four. The selection does not meet with the approval of the McGill leaders. McGill has stated that they are willing to have Joe O'Brien work and have named Dr. Lorne S. Montgomery, Dr. Cyril Flanagan and others to work along with the former Montreal halfback and M.A.A.A. member. This is against the wishes of the Montreal squad and there the matter stands deadlocked.

The game is already causing considerable comment in rugby circles locally. The suggestion of Montreal that the forward pass be used as an experiment has been quietly dropped and the contest will be waged under straight Canadian rules one half Intercollegiate and the other half O.R.U. regulations— the difference between the two being chiefly in the matter of three-yard interferences allowed in the Intercollegiate..

BOARD TO CALL CONFERENCE ON SCHOOL PLANS

Aldermen Will Be Asked to Confer Again With School Trustees.

VALUE QUSTIONED.

Some Members Doubted Whether Any Good Would Be Done By Meeting.

The Aldermen will be asked to meet the Board of Education in another conference to discuss the advisability of building the proposed combination Vocational and High school. This was decided at the regular meeting of the Board, held last night. The members of the Board decided that they would not ask that the question be submitted to the people as only about 38 per cent of the people would have a vote on the question and the people didn't have the information on which to base their votes. Trustee W. R. Turner, Jr., inclined to an opinion that there should be some steps taken to educate the people as the Aldermen hesitated to move without the approval of the people. Mrs. Morris thought that no publicity campaign would serve to remove the prejudice of those opposed or serve to convince the Council that the people wanted the school.. Trustee J. F. Strickland expressed doubt of the efficacy of another conference with the Council, but it was finally decided that the conference should be called.

The question of obtaining a successor for Mr. Pettit, who has been on leave of absence for sickness for some months was left to the Committee on Appointments. The attendance reports submitted were as follows:

LITERARY SOCIETY OPENING MEETING

MILLBROOK, Nov. 4.—The Literary Society of the Continuation School held its first meeting for the term on Wednesday, the President, Margaret Howard, and the Vice-President, Helen Larmer, being in charge.

The minutes had to be omitted owing to the absence of the Secretary, but other items of business which received attention were the fee to be charged for membership and the time of meeting, the third Thursday in each month being decided upon.

The President's address was an interesting feature and stressed the necessity of each pupil of the M. C. S. feeling a personal responsibility for making the Literary Society a pronounced success.

The programme began with the singing of the school song, other items being piano solos by Bertha Lang, a talk on E. Pauline Johnston by Elsie Spence, a Hallowe'en dialogue by a group of the pupils and a chorus by Margaret Howard, Elizabeth Russell, Dorothy Crossley, Thelma Armstrong, Helen Larmer, Bena Brown and Muriel Ball. As a concluding number the whole school sang "The Peanut Song."

The M.C.I. "Joker" was then read, its witty articles provoking general merriment.

At the conclusion of the programme the critics, Agnes Brackenridge and Henry Lancashire, were given an opportunity to express their opinion, a hearty vote of approval from both being the result.

Apples and candy were passed as a closing treat, and the meeting concluded with the singing of "O Canada."

CHURCH PACKED AT ANNIVERSARY

About 800 People Attended Supper [illegible]

$600 WAS RAISED.

Centerville Church was packed to the doors last eevning on the occasion of its anniversary celebration, when supper was served to eight hundred people and a very fine programme as given later on. During the two-day anniversary celebration on Sunday and Monday, the sum of $600 was raised.

The entertainment was presided over by Rev. G. L. Craw, and the programme included selections by St. Paul's Sunday School orchestra, a vocal solo by Miss Daisy Davidson, a number by a male quartette, composed of Messrs. H. F. McKeown, O. M. Steer, C. N. Sedgewick, A. McLeish, a vocal trio by Messrs. C. N. Sedgewick, F. W. Chenhall and A. McLeish, and several readings by Mr. J. John. Rev. Wm. Allen, pastor of St. Paul's church, also gave a very fine inspirational address.

PLAY PRESENTED AT SACRED HEART

Sodality Ladies Put on "Patsy From Dakota" in Church Hall.

A delightful little play was presented in the basement of the Sacred Heart Church last evening, when "Patsy from Dakota" was produced under the auspices of the Sodality of the church. The play, which was in three acts, had to do with the adventures of a Western girl, "Patsy," who arrives in New York, and after many experiences, finally marries Louis Duval. Miss Frances Collins, as "Patsy," was exceptionally good in her part, and the supporting cast was excellent. Those included were Miss Louise Letellier, as Celestine, the maid; Miss Madeline Asta, as Mrs. Madison (Aunt Eleanor); Miss Mae Rose, as Mrs. Repeater (guest of Mrs. Madison); Miss Carmel Fitzgerald, as Mrs. Makepeace; Miss Minnie Allen, as Miss Virginia Carter; Miss Margaret Willard as Miss Ethelyn Astor; Miss Annie Gentille, as the Countess Duval; Miss Ethel Armstrong, as Miss Knyrue (a reporter); Mr. Joseph Daley, as Louis Duval, and Mr. Gerald Collins, as Professor Carboni, a violinist. The staging and costuming and general management of the little play were carried out in fine style.

A prologue to the play was enacted by the Misses Margaret McCarthy, Lillian O'Grady, Mary Grady, Amelia Asta and Messrs Herbert Masterson, Victor Grady, Gerald Collins and Frank O'Keefe.

Specialties between acts were introduced by Messrs. Charles Liebers, Senior, and Charles Liebers, Junior, playing the violin and zither harp, and by James Moloney, giving a female impersonation and song, as "Little Miss Guess." Selections were also given by an orchestra composed of Messrs. Harold Armstrong, Jerry Collins, Francis O'Keefe and Paul Koster.

THEATRE NEWS

AT THE CAPITOL

CHAPLIN'S COMEDY BUILT ON TRAGEDY

Human Hardships Turned Into Hilarity by Comedian in "The Gold Rush."

The new Charlie Chaplin motion picture comedy, "The Gold Rush," has been described by those closely associated with the world's greatest comedian as a symbolical autobiography of the great star himself.

With that genius which peculiarly is Chaplin's own, and against a background of the Klondike gold stampede to Alaska, the screen-comedian has depicted with subtly tender and delicate master strokes, the struggle of man's eternal search for happiness, its heartbreaks and its tears; its humor, its laughter and its joys.

Charlie of the little derby hat, the trickly little cane, the baggy trousers, the mustache, the waddling walk and big shoes,—the man who has made more laughs for the world than any other living comedian has built in "The Gold Rush," a delightful structure of fun and hilariousness, which comes to the Capitol Theatre to-day, under a United Artists Corporation release.

On the tragedy and misery suffered by the pioneers who first journeyed into Alaska, and on the dramatics of the soul sufferings of the "sour dough" who braved mountains, ice, snow, starvation, death, in their mad rush for gold, Charlie Chaplin has built the funniest and most laugh-producing comedy of his career.

He has cast himself in the role of the hard-luck "sourdough" who chases rainbows of the heart and of the soul in the midst of a struggling mob that pursues one thing only—gold, and nothing but gold. Pathos and suffering are converted by the Chaplin genius into laughter and comedy; and there is a laugh in every one of the nearly nine thousand feet of film in "The Gold Rush."

AT THE GRAND

No theatrical event of the present season holds greater promise than the appearance at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, November 12th, of William Faversham in the Zoe Akins' drama, "Foot-Loose."

Mr. Faversham's principal feminine support is Sarah Truax one of the cleverest of our present day crop of younger actresses.

These celebrated players have this season been brought together by none other than the distinguished actor Mr. Faversham, who in the paset, has sponsored as actor-manager many of the most brilliant "all-star" acting combinations that has ever appeared on tour. Mr. Faversham launched, one after another, with "all-star" casts, such ambitious and notable production as: "The Fawn," "The Hawk," "The World and His Wife," "Herod," "Othello" and "Julius Caesar," playing the important role in each. It is no wonder then, that anticipation runs high at the mention of an early appearance of the distinguished star and producer.

It is seldom that the present generation of playgoers has an opportunity to witness such a play as "Foot-Loose", with such a stellar light as Mr. Faversham. The piece is a modern society drama, one of the most fascinating and successful plays ever produced in this country; and as written by the brilliant Zoe Akins, author of "Declassee" and "The Varying Shore," provides many fine moments for acting.

Theatregoers can appreciate the rare treat that awaits them in the performance by such players as Mr. Faversham and his leading feminine support, Sarah Truax and at the very maturity of their powers.

Mr. Faversham has directed the staging of "Foot-Loose" and he is ably supported by a distinguished cast of players including: Edith Campbell, Ann Warrington, Antonio Salerno, Dennis Cleugh, Beatrice Vert, Milton C. Herman and others.

AT THE ROYAL.

"CHEAP KISSES" CLOSES TO-NIGHT.

"Cheap Kisses," the C. Gardner Sullivan production is thrilling audiences at the Royal Theatre daily. This whirlpool of action is an enthralling expose of the jazz age, especially as it affects the youth of the land. There is an all-star cast, including Cullen Landis, Lillian Rich, Vera Reynolds, Phillips Smalley, Louise Dresser, Jean Hersholt, Bessie Eyton, Lincoln Stedman, Kathleen Myers, Sydney De Gray, Michael Dark and Tom Ricketts. John Ince directed these players among rich settings and splendor.

Don't miss this chance to see one of the biggest pictures of the year, on a mighty theme and well acted.

Henry Herbert Knibbs, author of many novels of the West read by lovers of adventure, wrote "Overland Red" which Universal screened as "The Sunset Trail," the feature which comes to the Royal Theatre next Thursday. The featured players are William Desmond and Gareth Hughes with Lucille Hutton, William A. Steele, Albert J. Smith, Clark Comstock and others supporting them. The picture was filmed largely in the California desert country near Lone Pine, under the direction of Ernest Laemmle.

Director Hogan Scores With "Black Lightning."

The mighty motion picture masterpiece produced and directed by James P. Hogan, is at last on its way here. The photoplay is "Black Lightning," and the scenes and action are laid in the Kentucky Mountains. James P. Hogan, director of "Black Lightning," is one of the few directors of pictures which have been extremely successful financially to his credit, and yet, Mr. Hogan is a very young man. Among his most successful screen features were "The Skywayman," the film in which Omar Locklear, the dare-devil aviator was killed, and "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

Like so many of the present leaders of the motion picture industry, Hogan started in at the very bottom. His first job was driving the director's automobile, from which position has was quickly raised to property man. Following a short time as property man, Mr. Hogan advanced fast until to-day he stands out as one of the foremost directors of screen attractions.

In "Black Lightning" Mr. Hogan has turned out a real thriller with "Thunder"—The Marvel Dog as a star supported by Clara Bow, and an all-star cast including Harold Austin, Eddie Phillips, James Mason, Joe Butterworth, Mark Fenton and John Prince.

A "CLASSIC" ECHOES THE VOICE OF AMERICA.

Of how many motion pictures, acclaimed as great may it be said "a classic."

It may be said of "Drusilla With A Million" for the genius of Elizabeth Cooper and Director Harmon Weight have combined to make this epochal achievement in simplicity, sustained drama, power and humor. This blending of laughter-with pathos-in-it and tears-with-a-smile, featuring Mary Carr, Priscilla Bonner and Kenneth Harlan will be presented soon at the Royal under the auspices of the Peterboro Women's Council.

AT THE REGENT

"LIMITED MAIL" IS FILM THRILLER

Old Stage Melodrama Said to Be Most Exciting of New Pictures.

"The Limited Mail," the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen which begins a three-days' engagement on Thursday at the Regent Theatre, is a picturization of Elmer Vance's thrilling melodrama of the West, directed by George Hill.

The story concerns the fortunes of Bob Snobson (Monte Blue) a ne'er-de-well Easterner who turns tramp, joins forces with Spike Edward Gribbon) and Potts (Willard Louis), two others of the care-free brotherhood. When the three save the Limited Mail from destruction by a mountain landslide, Jim Fowler (Tom Gallery), the mail clerk, strikes up a friendship with Bob.

Romance and Thrills.

Together the two men bring up Bob's motherless little son Bobbie (Jackie Huff) and together they fall in love with Caroline Dale (Vera Reynolds), an attractive little waitress. Bobs past in the form of a chorus girl returns to disturb his romance, and further complications result when Jim is killed in a wreck due to Bob's carelessness in missing a danger signal. Bobbie falls into a stream when he follows Bob in his grief-stricken wanderings, and the man sacrifices the boy to rescue the Mail Train from a landslide.

In Colorado Mountains.

"The Limited Mail," filmed in the Colorado Mountains, is said to have some of the most beautiful shots ever seen in a photoplay; and the exciting sequences of train wrecks and landslides are said by reviewers in other cities to add materially to the enjoyment of this production.

Darryl Francis Zanuck wrote the scenario.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Rob Roy Benton, publicity director and counsellor of Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, announced last night he was resigning from the champion's employ, rather than become a party to what he described as an imminent invalidation of Fitzsimmons' contract for a bout between Dempsey and Harry Wills, negro challenger, next year.

SOO GREYHOUNDS BILLED FOR DETROIT

People of Northern City Think They Will Not Go to New York.

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., Nov. 4. — Canadian Press. — While members of the Greyhound hockey team are mum as oysters on their probable destination for the season, it is now practically assured that it will be Detroit instead of New York.

The new Knickerbocker Club, New York has been making strong effort to line the players up as a nucleus of a team to be entered in the American Amateur Association, and while definite announcements are made from New York and Toronto that the Greyhounds will play in Gotham, locally this is denied, and it is declared that they are more likely to play in Detroit.

NOT CANADIAN CANOE CO.

To the Editor:

Having noticed an item in last evening's Examiner saying that two of our employees had been hurt as the result of a fight in the factory, we hasten to inform you that said "scrap" did not take place in our factory, and as our men feel that the publication of the item complained of was a reflection on their character we would ask you to publish this letter.

Yours truly,
The Canadian Canoe Co., Ltd.

The Examiner regrets this mistake made by a reporter. The altercation about an open door took place in the Peterboro' Canoe Factory, the police say today.

MACKENZIE KING CABINET WILL STAY IN OFFICE, CALLING HOUSE AT EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT

Will Ascertain Views of Members About Situation in Commons.

BYNG CONSULTED.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press)—Premier King will remain in office and meet Parliament which, according to his statement issued last night, will be summoned at the earliest possible date. It was after two cabinet councils and consultation with prominent supporters that he informed His Excellency of his purpose.

Premier King's statement reads, "The latest official returns having made it apparent that as a result of the general election held on October 29th, no one of the participating political parties would of itself have a clear majority in the House of Commons when Parliament assembles, it became my duty as Prime Minister to acquaint His Excellency the Governor General with the situation and to advise His Excellency as to the course which should be pursued. After several interviews with His Excellency, at which the position brought out by the recent general election was fully discussed and all alternatives presented, I have taken the responsibility of advising His Excellency to summon Parliament for the earliest practicable date in order to ascertain the attitude of the Parliamentary representativs towards the very important question raised by the numerical position of the respective political parties. His Excellency has been pleased to accept this advice.

"After careful consideration of constitutional precedents and their bearing upon the situation which has arisen as a result of the general election, the cabinet decided unanimously his afternoon that it was their constitutional duty to meet Parliament at the earliest possible moment, regard being had for legal requirements with respect to the time necessary for the return of writs and the official gazetting of the members who have been elected.

In the interval until parliament assembles it is the intention of the Government to refrain from making any appointment beyond such as are essential for the proper carrying on of public business.

Three Possible Courses

"In the recent situation there are three possible courses of procedure each of which has been carefully considered by the cabinet:

(1)—That His Excellency be asked to grant an immediate dissolution of parliament;

(2)—That His Excellency be asked to call upon the leader of the largest political group to form a Government.

(3)—That His Excellency be asked to summon parliament at the earliest pracical date for the purpose aforementioned.

TREK TO THE BUSH HAS NOW STARTED

Boat Loads of Supplies Have Been Shipped to Points North.

PORT ARUTHUR, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Supplies to the value of over $10,000 are being forwarded to the camps of the various pulp and paper concerns, and private operators in the Thunder Bay district.

Boat load after boat load of supplies for men and horses have been shipped from the Canadian National wharf to points in Thunder and Black Bays.

The trek of bushmen to the woods has commenced and already a large number are at work.

Operators are expecting a busy winter and so far have had no trouble in recruiting laboor.

Bush operators to an appreciable extent have relieved the unemployment situation, and there are but few unemployed men walking the streets.

Thomas Wright, 85, Landed Twenty Pound 'Lunge Without Assistance.

FISHING FROM BOAT.

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 5.—While fishing in the Trent River on Tuesday afternoon, Thomas Wright, of Cedar Isle, landed a 20 pound 'lunge, which was 42 inches in length and 18 1-2 inches in girth. The big fish fought for twenty minutes before Mr. Wright was able to get it into his boat. Mr. Wright is 85 years old and landing such a fish was quite a feat.

More Men Roll Their Own Say Local Tobacconists

As far as Peterborough is concerned the inhabitants need not worry over any increase in cigarette smoking, if the opinions of several local tobacco men are taken into consideration. The Examiner made several enquiries amongst the local dealers, and they all declared that there was no noticeable increase during the last couple of years in the sale of the "tailor made" variety of smokes.

During the last six months more men have been buying tobacco by the package and are engaged in "rolling their own" disdaining to fall for the varicolored packets of machine made cigarettes that are on display in the different stores. The reason for this is no doubt the difference in price as in these days a penny saved is a penny earned to the average man in the street.

Smoking as a habit with the fair sex in the City is practically non-existent. According to the dealers about the only women who purchase cigarettes are those who do so for the convenience of their husbands.

'Divorce In Three Months' Says Ads In Paris Papers

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press). — "Divorces in three months," is the alluring offer of numerous Parisian lawyers to visitors who are desirous of severing marital relations. Advertisements of the offer are printed in various newspapers. The publicity matter of the promoters of the divorce mill emphasized the inexpensiveness of an action in France as compared with other countries.

No Reformatory On Isle Whole Family Deported

ST. HELIER'S ISLAND OF NEW JERSEY, English Channel, November 5. United Press. —The lack of a reformatory here was sorely felt when Louise Francine Jaco, aged 14, was convicted of stealing three letters from under a stone at the foot of a hill where they had been hidden by a postman for delivery when he should feel less tired.

Rather than build a reformatory for Louise, the authorities deported the whole family—father, mother and three children—for five years, on the ground that the law must be enforced. The postman was censured for his laziness.

DARING THIEVES ARE OPERATING IN THREE WESTERN COUNTIES, STEALING AND SELLING GOODS

Provincial Police Report No Arrests Made Yet.

SOME GOODS FOUND.

Thought That Men May Now Be Making For Border.

STRATFORD, Nov. 5.—According to police reports received in the City, the man giving his name as Frank Stewart, who is alleged to have stolen a number of travellers' samples from a car in a Listowel garage is cutting a wide swath in the district. Only this week a quantity of good which were stolen at Listowel from a traveller's suitcase were located at Ingersoll, having been sold to merchants there, and are now in the possession of Provincial Officer S. J. Faulkner.

A large quantity of goods, including women's undewear, lingerie, etc., is still missing and the Provincial officer here urges local merchants to be on their guard. The thief has been masquerading as a representative of a bankrupt firm in Montreal and also of another clothing firm in Montreal.

"Borrowed" Bus.

Yesterday morning a report came from Ingersoll that the much-wanted man was in Woodstock Tuesday night, and there stole a large bus, with which he went to Beachville. Leaving Beachville, he is said to have doubled over to Paris, and with the aid of two companions entered Clarke's garage and carried away the safe on a service truck stolen from the same garage.

From there they are believed to have gone to Thamesford, where $300 worth of tires are reported to have been stolen from the garage there Tuesday night. It is now believed the accused and his accomplices are heading for the border.

Some Stock Recovered.

INGERSOLL, Nov. 5—Provincial Officer Faulkner and License Inspector Moore of Stratford visited Ingersoll and received from Chief Holmes the silk ties and scarves which were confiscated by him from the stolen stock offered for sale locally by the man giving the name of Frank Stewart.

Stolen Safe Found Looted.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 5. — Local police were notified yesterday morning that the garage operated by Boswell & Clarke in Paris had been broken into and the service truck taken with the safe, which contained about $15. Chief Fewtrell of Paris found the safe at the rear of Moyle's Schoolhouse on the Paris Road, broken open and the money abstracted. A further search is being made for the truck.

Charge Of Plagiarism Brought Against Actress

NEW YORK, N.Y., November 5.—Canadian Press. — Mme. Olga Petrova, the actress, is appearing personally in the Superior Court here to defend the charge of literary piracy made against her by William H. Roberts, a former British army officer, who is suuing her for $35,000, on the ground that her play "The White Peacock," was stolen from his play, "The Reg Wig."

Otter Fur Garters Make Debut At Ball

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(United Press).—Fur garters costing $75.00 a pair will make their debut here at the charity ball tonight.

The garters, which it is said will be the most expensive in the world, designed for general retail sale, are made from the fur of the sea otter.

They will make their initial appearance on mannequins at the Fur Ball held in aid of the fund for rebuilding Middlesex Hospital. After that the manufacturers hope to place them on general sale in the exclusive West End shops.

FORMER PRINCE FINED IN PARIS

HARD WORDS.

PARIS, Nov. 5—Prince Boris Golitzine, former Vice-President of the Russian Duma, cousin of the late Emperor Nicholas, but more recently employed as head chef in the Jugoslavian restaurant at the Exposition of Decorative Arts, ran foul of the French law and has been fined 26 francs and costs. He acted as protecting knight to an actress who was taking up a collection in the restaurant over whose kitchen the former Duma official is now presiding.

Incidentally the Prince was convicted of an "outrage to the police." A policeman had attempted to prevent the actress from taking up a collection, observing which, the Prince-chef rushed from the kitchen and called the officer a various assortment of names, and was placed under arrest.

Prince Golitzine was sentenced to death by the Bolsheviki in Russia, but escaped from a Moscow prison in 1916. He made his way to Norway, and reached Paris penniless, and found work at the Exposition of Decorative Arts.

SENTENCES COMMUTED.

Germans Who Tried To Kill Red Leaders Saved From Scaffold.

MOSCOW, Russia, Nov. 5—(Canadian Press). — A Russian telegraphic agency announces that the president of the Central Executive Committee has commuted the death sentence passed early in July upon Dr. Karl Kindermann, Max von Ditmar, and Theodore Volacht, Germans convicted of plotting to assassinate Trotzky, Stalin and other Bolshevist leaders. They have been given sentences of ten years' imprisonment.

BRITISH STUDY EFFECT OF DOLE ON EMIGRATION

Question Has Been Referred To Special Inter-Departmental Committee.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS.

Will Consider Possible Results of Churchill's Act, Which Begins 1926.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—The question of how far old age pensions, national health and unemployment insurance tend to discourage emigration to the British Dominions has been submitted to a special inter-departmental committee consisting of officials of the various ministries and the Overseas Settlement Committee. In addition, Miss Franklin, secretary of an organization for the overseas settlement of women, will present a report on how far such a tendency is accentuated by Winston Churchill's Widows' and Orphans' Pensions Act which will come into force at the beginning of next year, and recommend means for counteracting an adverse effect resulting from such legislation.

Pipe Guilty Of Starting Most Fires In Forests

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (United Press)—The pipe and not the cigarette is the guiltiest member of the smoker's trinity in starting forest fires the Federal Forest Service has discovered in experiments made in the California forests.

The pipe smoker in the woods, as a result, hereafter will share suspicion with cigarette and cigar smokers.

CANDIDATE ASKS ANOTHER COUNT

IN SUPERIOR COURT.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Hon. Rodolphe Monty, defeated Conservative candidate in Laurier-Outremont Division, filed through counsel in the Superior Court office yesterday a petition asking for a recount in his constituency. The petition will be presented to Chief Justice Martin this morning.

The recount is asked on the ground that deputy returning officers throughout the constituency illegally counted votes in favor of Joseph Mercier, K.C., successful Liberal candidate.

Mr. Mercier polled 12,187 votes, while Mr. Monty was given 10,027, being a majority of 2,704 for the Liberal candidate.

MEIGHEN'S MAJORITY.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Final figures on last Thursday's voting in the constituency of Portage La Prairie give Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, a majority of 851 over Harry Leader, Progressive.

The final figures are: Meighen, 5,817; Leader, 4,966.

TAX SALE LANDS ARE SOLD TODAY

Bidding Was Active For Some Parcels—Others Went For Costs.

MANY TOWNSHIPS.

At a tax sale of lands held this morning in the county court parcels varying in extent from one acre to more than two hundred were offered at costs. Bidding was active in one North Monaghan offering the price of which ran to twelve dollars plus costs and the land was purchased by Ozias de La Plante. Three Chandos lots were purchased by the township while another one was taken by J. Campbell. These lots were sold at costs The township bought two lots in Dummer. T. Bradburn bought the only lot sold in Harvey township. In North Monaghan Ozias de La Plante took eleven of the offerings. T .Bradburn, three, and J. T. O'Connel, one. All excepting one was purchased for costs A man named Doherty bid in two Galway lots at $5'00 each and T. Bradburn obtained five holdings in the village of Lakefield at costs.

FINAL FIGURES GIVE PECK LEAD OF 1963 VOTES

Returning Officer S. Whatley Checks Figures of His Deputies.

Number of Ballots Represents 75 Per Cent of Possible Vote.

The office of the Returning Officer presented a busy spectacle today, this being the day set apart for the official count of the Deputy Returning Officers' returns. The counting started at 8 o'clock this morning and finished at 1 o'clock a representative of each candidate and the press being present. The final figures showed that in West Peterboro a total of 16,306 voters went to the polls out of a possible 21,577, representing 75½ per cent of the total vote. The figures for the candidates are as follows: A. E. Peck 9100, G. N. Gordon 7137, giving Mr. Peck a majority of 1963. There were 69 spoiled and rejected ballots. The details of the vote by polling places are giving on another page.

PLOT TO SHOOT MUSSOLINI WAS FOUND BY POLICE

Resulted in Order For Disbanding Masonic Lodges.

SOCIALISTS BANNED.

Action in Line With His Policy of Sweeping Aside Opposition.

ROME, Nov. 5.—(United Press). —The police to-day reported that they had discovered a plot to shoot Premier Mussolini.

Following the discovery of the plot, Mussolini ordered all Masonic lodges to be occupied by the military and the untiring Socialist party to be disbanded.

Mussolini, as leader of the Fascisti of Italy, has been in conflict for some time with Masonic lodges and has desired their elimination. Suppression of the Socialists is in line with his policy of sweeping aside the opposition. He has said force is right when necessary for the achievement of ideals. The Fascisti and the Masons are reported to have had several clashes recently.

ROME, Novembe. 5. Canadian Press. — It is semi-officially announced that the former Socialist deputy Zaniboni is under arrest on a charge of preparing an attempt against the life of Premier Mussolini.

The same news agency says the government is strongly considering the dissolution of the Unitarian Socialist Party.

On several occasions recently the police received reports that an attempt was being made against the Premier, and a few days ago they discovered that an attempt would be made during yesterday's celebration of the armistice with Austria. At 9 o'clock in the morning police entered a room in the Hotel Dragoni near the Chigi Palace, where the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is situated and surprised and arrested Zaniboni at the very moment he was about to leave on his alleged mission.

His private secretary, who is editor of Popolo Quaglio, was also taken by the authorities. At the same time police arrested General Capello, who was on a train allegedly on his way out of the country. The three men are being held for the Grand Council.

13 Horses and 4 False Starts Kill the Starter

MARSEILLES, Nov. 5. — (Associated Press).—Thirteen horses and four false starts in the same race killed Marcel Blinou, for more than 20 years official starter at the Marseilles racetrack.

The "Palm-tree Stakes," one of the features of the season here and always heavily bet upon, was being run off before an excited and nervous crowd. One, two, three, false starts. The crowd began to protest and to hiss the starter. Blinou turned red in the face, and called the horses back for a fourth start.

Again, it was a false start. Blinou swayed on his feet for a moment, then fell to the ground. He had died of heart disease.

His Word Is As Good As Any Other Person's

PARIS, November 5. — United Press. — There are 35,000,000,000 stars in the firmament according to the calculations of Prof. Charles Normann, French mathematician and astronomer.

He admits that his figures may be subject to a slight error but anyone desiring to check up and correct him is at liberty to do so.

Armistice Dance Postponed Religious Service Instead

LONDON, November 5. — Canadian Press. — In deference to the popular outcry, the great ball arranged for Armistice night in Albert Hall, has been postponed and the hall will be used instead for a religious commemoration service. The controversy has been raging for the last few days over the propriety of celebrating the Armistice anniversary with revelry, and while merry-making has had some defenders, the majority ,including the religious leaders emphasized the view that it was inappropriate and especially offensive to those still suffering from the memory of their loss in the war.

PARLIAMENT TO BE SUMMONED WITHIN SIXTY DAYS; REPORT INDICATES FEW BY-ELECTIONS

Twins, Perambulator, and Auto All Escaped Damage

No action will be taken by the police against the twins who ran into an automobile on the corner of Simcoe and George Streets yesterday afternoon. An auto was turning the corner when a perambulator occupied by twins became entangled with the rear fender of the car, resulting in the twins being thrown out. The driver of the car rushed them to the clinic, and the doctor reported that they were not hurt. The perambulator also escaped damage.

WOMAN MISSING AFTER SHE LAID BIGAMY CHARGE

After Marriage, Lodged Complaint With Police, But Refused to Testify.

HUSBAND IS AWAY.

SARNIA, Ont., Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—There is but one chance in ten thousand that the body of a girl hacked to pieces and taken from the Missouri River at Omaha, Neb., is that of Florence Heal, missing Sarnia girl, despite a report from Omaha that there was reason for suspicion.

Enquiry made yesterday from Florence Heal's parents here, very respectable people residing on Queen Street, revealed the origin of the Omaha report when Mrs. Heal admitted writing to the police at Omaha after noticing a story of the discovery of a girl's body there, in the local press. In any case it is held to be a practical impossibility to make identification even if the dead girl was Florence Heal. The latter, a pretty dark-haired girl with brown eyes and about 5 feet 6 inches in height, has been missing from her home since January last, and her mother has made continuous efforts through the press and by other agencies, including radio broadcasting, to locate her daughter, all without avail.

It is known here that Florence shortly before her disappearance in January last, from the Port Huron store where she was employed, had married a man by the name of Hewitt at Port Huron. Shortly after she laid a complaint charging bigamy against Hewitt. When the prosecution was ready to proceed in the local police court the girl declined to give any evidence and the case was dismissed. Very shortly afterwards Florence disappeared, and Hewitt has not been seen since, according to the police.

Mrs. Heal yesterday wired a description of her daughter to Omaha, but it is understood that the only means by which identity might be established was her peculiar walk which resulted in the quick wearing of her shoes on one side of the foot.

Portfolios Will Likely Be Merged Temporarily, With Low Retiring.

PREMIER'S SEAT.

West Middlesex Will Probably Be Opened, But No Official Word.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Parliament is likely to be called for late in December or early in January. The date of the return of writs is fixed for December 7, but the expectation is that they will start coming in the next few days and election results must be gazetted before the successful candidates can become members of parliament.

Until election writs are returned no bye-elections can be held to make way for any necessary cabinet reorganization, but once a return is in from an individual constituency, and the constituency is again rendered vacant, the writ for a bye-election in that constituency may be issued. It is estimated that a bye-election might be held in an average constituency within 35 days of the issue of a new writ.

A seat will have to be found for the Prime Minister—West Middlesex is mentioned among the possibilities although there is no official announcement—but other bye-elections are not likely to be numerous. There will likely be a merging of portfolios temporarily. The retirement of Hon. T. A. Low is believed to be imminent. The suggested rearrangement of portfolios would place Hon. J. A. Robb in charge of Railways as well as Public Works, and Hon. Charles Stewart in charge of Immigration as well as of the Interior Department.

WEATHER

Better a smile, than a tear or a sigh,
Better a laugh than a frown,
Better an upward look to the sky,
Than always a sad look down.
The joys we find in each little day,
Perhaps may seem few and small,
But better those little joys, I say,
Than to have no joy at all.

What has that got to do with the weather? you may ask. Most people's moods and temperaments are as changeable as the weather. Yesterday was a beautiful day, like a day in early spring, with the sun shining brightly; this morning it is murky, dull and threatening, with every prospect of rain or snow, or perhaps both. Yesterday the temperature was up to 50 degrees. Last year about this date we had temperatures nearly every day of between 60 and 65 degrees, while this year it is an exceptional day (like yesterday) when it reaches 50. However, we will read the little verse again and give it a personal application.—W. P.

Memory Taxed By The Latest French Scheme

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(Associated Press).—A tax on forgetfulness is the most up-to-date thing in French revenue novelties.

The gentleman who leaves stock certificates in his taxicab and madame who forgets everything from her cigarette case to her pocket-book will now pay rather heavily when they claim their belongings at the Lost Property Office in the Police Headquarters.

Money and securities will be returned to their owners at a charge of 4 per cent. of their value. Jewelry, "except anything having no intrinsic value," is redeemable on the same terms. The "no intrinsic value" clause is expected to kill a very promising publicity field in the matter of lost jewelry. For every other article, new or nearly new, two francs will be charged; for everything else, one franc.

J. E. R. Munro, President, Lauds Value of Meeting To Community.

PRACTICAL TALK.

Methods and Manners Of Conducting City Schools Are Discussed.

The Peterborough City Teachers' Institute held its first session at the Public Library this morning with J. E. R. Munro, the president in the chair.

Mr. Munro referred to the tendency in certain localities to dispute the values of teachers' institutes. The teachers of Peterborough consider them most helpful and deplore such agitation.

The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report.

F. E. Kerr was appointed to receive subscriptions for The School.

Grants were passed to the Ontario Educational Association and to schools for magazines.

The nominating committee appointed was the following: Mr. Dearborn, Mr. Langford, Miss Pilling, Miss Cruikshanks, Miss Coulter, Miss Cairns, Miss V. Burgess, and Sister Helena.

Miss Black and Mr. Frost were appointed delegates to the Ontario Educational Association. It was decided that they report at a meeting to be called soon after Easter.

Mr. Deyell reported part of the sessions of the Ontario Educational Association, held at Toronto last spring.

In Ontario there are 30,000 feebleminded children. There are, besides, many backward pupils. The brighter pupils are apt to receive attention from teachers ordinarily because they are more attractive. The dull and feeble-minded pupils should receive individual attention as they pass out as citizens.

The home should be the hub about which education centres, and from that the pupils branch out to wider areas. Geography should be more practical. The different industries as wool, iron, etc., should be taught because of their local interest and thus a knowledge of the countries from which these are obtained is readily taught.

DOLE COMMITTEE PLEASE DAILY MAIL

Payment Hinders Emigration and Draws Aliens, Says Newspaper.

LONDON, Nov. 5. —(Canadian Press.)—The Daily Mail expresses pleasure at being able to congratulate the Secretary for Dominion Affairs, Lt.-Col. L. C. Amery, upon the formation of an inter-departmental committee to consider how far the dole discourages emigration from Great Britain and declares that the dole not only hinders emigration but it encourages all sorts of undesirable aliens to land in the United Kingdom. The Mail cites the case of an alien burglar who received a weekly dole of 22 shillings as well as poor relief to the amount of 12 shillings before he was brought to book.

The Mail adds that the inter-departmental committee ought to have been appointed before the pension act was forced upon an unwilling nation.

LOCAL MAN INVENTS NEW LIGHT TO ELIMINATE GLARE HAZARDS

Frank White Has Been Working Nearly Three Years on Invention.

HAS PATENT RIGHTS.

Lamp Embodies Several New and Interesting Features—Tests Encourage.

A new lamp which, he declares, will positively eliminate the glare of head lights and the consequent menace to the lives of those who drive automobiles at night, has been invented by a Peterboro man. After neatly three years of experiment, Frank White, sporting goods merchant on Charlotte Street, says that the next step is to get the light on the market, and accordingly manufacture is the immediate consideration.

Patent rights have been taken out in Canada and the United States, while others are pending. There has been no advertising campaign, but already Mr. White has received several attractive offers for his innovation. He has determined to withstand these offers and may form a company with a view to manufacture under his personal supervision. Should he do so Peterboro would be the logical place in which to establish a factory, and he further stated that this city would be given priority in considering a location. The name of Frederick J. Green appears with that of Mr. White as patentee.

That his new light will revolutionize night driving conditions is the belief of the inventor, who positively asserts that the rays cannot go above the plane on which the lamp is resting, due to the position of certain reflectors. Mr. White said that he evolved the new light after careful study of the deficiencies of the accepted and universal type. The rays from the ordinary open face variety spread fan-wise and illuminate an ever widening circle as the distance from the source increases. This, he said, was due to the short and restricted concave reflecting area. A ray travelling from the top of the lighted bulb strikes the bottom part of the reflecting surface and is shot upward through the upper half of the lens. There have been several types of lenses in use for many years, but they have not been successful in correcting the basic fault which lies in the reflector itself. The corrugated lens tended to diffuse the light which sprayed upward and accordingly some of it was lost.

Distinctive Features.

The new lamp embodies several distinctive features which set it apart from the one now in use. The model is somewhat egg-shaped, being designed on the plan of the ellipse rather than the semi-circle commonly employed. The bulb is deep-seated, fourteen inches from the lens. Rays of light passing from the source strike the reflecting surface as in the case of the lamp now in use, but instead of passing immediately through the lens as illuminating rays they again strike reflecting surfaces which direct them straight outward through a four-inch double convex lens. The reflectors which perform this work resemble wings, and because of the length of the lamp, the rays are imprisoned sufficiently long that they may be controlled. There is a contemporary light which attempts to solve the problem in a similar manner, but the arrangement utilized kills the rays which strike the bottom portion of the reflecting surface. Mr. White states that in his model every part of light is used and controlled in such a manner that the powerful beam is directed straight forward on the road and feathering downward.

Make Different Models.

Two models will be constructed, a small one for lighter cars and a larger de luxe type for higher-priced jobs. Because of the balanced design a housing will not be necessary; this will be a factor in keeping the sale price at a figure comparative with the cost of the lamp in use to-day. The outer surface may take any finish and will be trimmed with nickel bands. The reflectors will be silver plated, which is conceded to be more durable than nickel.

In shape the light conforms to the present stream line effect adopted by all automobile manufacturers. It is neat, compact, and Mr. White claims that because of the limited area exposed, will offer a smaller surface against possible impact. The lens, four inches in thickness at the centre, is practically indestructible, and that feature alone will be conducive to a decreased maintenance cost. Added to all other features is the fact that a bracket is unnecessary and thus the light may be placed lower than is possible with the ordinary type.

Provided that the patentees are accorded sufficient support and patronage, and if encouraging inducements are held out by the city, Mr. White believes that Peterboro will have a new industry which would compare favorably with many already established.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, and emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other fords of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchical asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to direction. Ask your druggist Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO DECIDE QUEBEC SCHOOL CASE AND SETTLE WHETHER JEWS ARE PROTESTANTS

MANY QUERIES.

Judges Called Upon to Define Powers of Province as to Educational Legislation.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 5.—Argument was opened in the Supreme Court of Canada yesterday on the appeal of certain Jewish members of a special commission appointed to investigate school matters in Montreal, from a recent judgment of the Quebec Court of Appeal, which ruled that the legislation enacted by the Quebec Legislature to the effect that, for school purposes, Jews should be regarded as Protestants, was ultra vires of the Quebec Legislature.

The appeal is opposed by the Montreal Protestant Board of School Commissioners and the Catholic Board of School Commissioners.

Is Act Ultra Vires?

The court is asked to decide whether the Act passed by the Legislature of the Province of Quebec in 1903 is ultra vires of its powers, and whether, under this statute, persons of Jewish religion can be appointed to the Protestant Board of School Commissioners of the city of Montreal; and if, under the statute, the Protestant Board of School Commissioners of Montreal are obliged to appoint Jewish teachers in their schools should they be attended by children professing Jewish religion.

It is further asked to decide whether the Quebec Legislature can pass legislation, providing that persons professing the Jewish religion be apointed to the Protestant Board of School Commissioners of Montreal, or to the Protestant Committee of Public Instruction, or as advisory members of these bodies.

Other Questions.

Further questions submitted ask, if the Provincial Legislature can pass legislation obliging the Board of School Commissioners at Montreal to appoint teachers professing the Jewish religion in the schools should they be attended by children professing that religion; if the Provincial Legislature can pass legislation providing for the appointment of persons professing the Jewish religion on the proposed Metropolitan Financial Commission outlined in the project submitted by Messrs. Hirsh and Cohen, two of Jewish members of the commission appointed; if the Provincial Legislature can pass Provincial legislation to establish Separate schools for persons who are neither Catholics nor Protestants; and if, assuming the Act of 1903 to be constitutional, have the Protestants the right under the present state of the Quebec law to allow children professing the Jewish religion to attend the schools.

Reviewed the Legislature.

Attorney-General Lanctot, of Quebec, at the opening, stated that the Provincial Government would refrain from presenting argument in the matter, in view of the fact that all the interested parties were represented and would do so in their respective interests.

Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., appearing for the Jewish members of the Commission, Messrs. Hirsh and Cohen, reviewed the school legislation passed by the Province. Mr. Nesbitt raised the point whether a Protestant was one among the many Christian sects who differed from Roman Catholic doctrines or one who was not a Catholic. He submitted that under a statute of Lower Canada, touching on the registration of marriages, Protestants had included Congregational societies, Jews, Methodists, with others.

Put "In Between."

"They put the Jews in between," commented Mr. Newcombe.

"The classification was for the purposes outlined in that statute," said Chief-Justice Anglin.

"Exactly," agreed Mr. Nesbitt. He contended that the Quebec Legislature, in using the term "Protestant," had meant the minority as distinguished from Roman Catholics.

"That might include Mohammedans," said Mr. Justice Mignault.

"Yes," said Mr. Nesbitt, "and even the Shinto religion. But," added Mr. Nesbitt, "if the argument of my opponent is sound, then a former Viceroy of India who was one of the most distinguished judges who ever sat on the bench, could not go to school in Quebec."

"He would not be entitled to learn arithmetic," Mr. Nesbitt added.

Mr. Nesbitt argued that, so far as the law of Quebec provided, there was nothing to prevent the Government of Quebec from appointing a Jew as superintendent of instruction.

The last School Act enacted before legislation by the province, in 1861, spoke of the "majority" and the "dissentients." The latter term included all non-Catholics. In the Act of 1903, it was stated that the School Board should consist of six Protestants and six Catholics. These were, however, mere terms of mechanism. Jews, under all Provincial school legislation, were Protestants. There could, therefore, be no prejudice to Protestant school boards if Jews have equal rights under their school system.

Argument continued to-day.

ELECTORS BURNED MASSEY'S EFFIGY

Excitement Was Great in Pontypool When Returns Came In.

PONTYPOOL, November 5—One of the keenest and the most exciting elections came to a close on Thursday, October 29. Excitement was at fever heat all day and several cars were busy all day drawing voters to the polls. The largest vote ever polled in any election was polled, practically 95 per cent of the available vote. When Mr. Bowen's election was conceded a large parade was formed, headed by the Pontypool Fife and Drum Band and the Union Jack. They paraded through the main street singing "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall," and several other songs and yells. They concluded the evening's sport by burning the effigy of Vincent Massey and the singing of the National Anthem. The returns for the Township were:

IMPORT LESS SPIRITS.

GLASGOW, Nov. 5.—(Associated Press).—British spirits for medicinal purposes entering the United States legally amounted to only 1,361 gallons between January and May. At this rate not more than 3,000 gallons will be sent from England for the entire year. Before prohibition was effective in the United States, Britain sent more than 1,250,000 gallons annually.

ADDRESS GIVEN IN PARISH HALL

PICTURES SHOWN.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 5.—Rev. H. B. Konkle of Toronto, who preached in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday, gave a very interesting account at the Parish Hall on Monday evening of the work done among the lepers of the Far East, mostly in India. He illustrated his lecture with views showing the disease in the various stages and conditions; also showing the homes of the lepers and work done by them. He explained various methods of cures and preventions, all children of leprous parents being taken away and placed by themselves as a guard against the disease. There was a good attendance and all enjoyed the lecture.

Christian Endeavour.

The young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met on Monday evening for the election of officers for the Christian Endeavour Society. The officers are as follows:

Hon. President—Rev. Jas. Grier.
President—Mr. John Storey.
Vice-President—Mr. G. G. Stephens.
Recording Secretary—Miss Grace Blue.
Corresponding Secretary — Miss K. McArthur.
Treasurer—Mr. Wm. Anderson.
Conveners — Prayer Meeting Committee, Miss F. Nelson; Social Committee, Miss Hazel Atkinson; Missionary Committee, Miss Verna Hay; Lookout Committee, Mr. Gerald Bailey and Miss Harriet Little;
Pianist—Miss Bessie Locke.
Press Correspondent—Miss Nettie Massie.

Miss Emma Meiklejohn favored the audience with a solo, and the "Blue" orchestra played two selections. The next meeting will be held Monday evening, Nov. 16th.

Epworth League.

The young people of St. John's Epworth League held a Hallowe'en social on Monday evening. Mr. Elliot opened the meeting with a short address, taking his theme from three pumpkins, two smiling and one cranky, proving that there are two smilers in the world to one grouch.

The programme was as follows:
Piano solo—Mr. Geo. Lucy.
Dialogue—Mr. S. Maguire and Carl Maguire.
Instrumental piano solo—Miss Helen Wood.
Solo—Irene Dunk.
Reading—Mrs. Bell.
Guitar selections—Fred. Dorie and Melvin Booth.
Solo—Mr. W. Henson.
Recitation—Reta Palliser.
Reading and jokes—Mr. Bell.
Duet—Miss Jordan and Mrs. Free.
Solo—Miss Cherrie Turner.

After the programme the league served sandwiches, doughnuts, pumpkin pie and coffee to the large number that attended.

TURNER'S STOCK SOLD BY AUCTION

LAND TRANSFERS.

CAMPBELFORD, November 5. — The Turner hardware stock was disposed of yesterday afternoon by J. R. Battisby, the highest bid being that of D. A. Owen, whose offer was 70 cents on the dollar. This bid was accepted. There were a number of bids received, the one next highest to that of Mr. Owen being 69 cents, by Warrington Hay, a former employee in the store.

Real Estate Deals.

T. L. Diamond reported the following real estate transactions.

George E. Hay has purchased from Arthur Donald a residence on King street, and will take possession Nov. 11th.

Thomas Hall has bought the residence on Canrobert ...eet from Miss L. Hawley, who will remove to Toronto.

Arthur Donald has bought from Thomas Hall a residence near the C.N.R. depot and will take possession of his new premises on November 20th.

Mr. Duncan of Rawdon has bought a farm at Hubble Hill from Ray Williams.

solution, it was felt that it was not in the interests of the country to occasion the turmoil and expense of another general election until at least Parliament had been summoned and the people's representatives in Parliament had been afforded an opportunity of giving expression to their views.

"With respect to the leader of the political party having the largest definite following in the house of Commons being called upon to form an administration, the Cabinet holds the view that responsible self-government in Canada rest upon the principle that the majority is entitled to govern, the majority so understood meaning not the political party or group having the largest number of members, but the majority as determined by the duly-elected representatives of the people in Parliament. Far from indicating that Mr. Meighen is in a position to command a majority in the newly elected House of Commons, the results of the election appear clearly to indicate that he is not in such a position. I am not aware of any precedent in Great Britain or in Canada of recommending before Parliament meets that the leader of a party not commanding a clear majority in the House of Commons should be called upon to form the Governoment.

"To summon Parliament and to allow the House of Commons to disclose its attitude upon division is the procedure warranted by constitutional precedent and by the present circumstances. To take any other course would be to fail to recognize the supreme right of the people to govern themselves in the manner which the constitution has provided, namely, expressing their will through their duly elected representatives in Parliament and in accordance with recognized parliamentary practice."

HUNTERS GO NORTH.

Marmora Nimrods Set Out in Endeavor to Bag a Bear.

MARMORA, Nov. 5.—Marmora is again supplying her quota for the hunting fields of the north. Mr. Sanford Lawrence with an American visitor went back on Saturday in hopes of encountering a bear which has been reported as having carried off sheep.

On Wednesday four others of the local shots joined them in pursuit of deer. Other parties too left with plenty of ambition and optimism.

IRON DUKE WITHDRAWN.

Jellicoe's Flagship at Jutland To Be Used as Training Ship.

LONDON, November 5.—Canadian Press. — The Battleship Iron Duke, flagship of Admiral Jellicoe, in the Battle of Jutland, and three other 25,000 ton ships of the same class, namely the Marlborough, Emperor of India and Benbow, are to be withdrawn from full commission. They will be used for training boys at sea.

modify these sentiments or to calm these fears that are also discreetly shared by a large number of our Anglo-Saxon compatriots.

"And then the nomination of a commission charged with studying the question of protection and of reporting upon industries that need to be protected against foreign competition has prevented this question from producing the effect that was hoped in certain industrial centres, the effect that it produced in the Province of Ontario.

"In Ontario the electors were particularly influenced by the fear of the Government's policy on the tariff question, by our participation in Imperial wars and by the domination of Quebec. And if under the same conditions there was another general election, the divergencies of opinion and the sentiments of the electors would be the same, as also would the result—unless the English provinces align themselves against the Province of Quebec; a possible danger and one that has been feared for a long time.

"An alliance, then, of the best elements to avoid this danger and give to the country the peace and the wise and patriotic policy of which it stands so much in need, becomes necessary. But again, the entente offers serious difficulties, hard to surmount, and where are the men who will undertake to conquer them, men whose patriotism will rise above the spirit of party, who will be guided by the supreme interest of Canada, and who will act?"

WEDDING BELLS.

SHAUGHNESSY—SULLIVAN

DOURO, Nov. 5.—A pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's church on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock when Genevieve Mary, daughter of M. D. Sullivan and the late Mrs. Sullivan, was united in marriage to John Joseph Shaughnessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Shaughnessy of Otonabee. The pastor, Rev. M. J. McGuire performed the ceremony. The organist, Miss Mabel Allen, played the wedding march and the choir sang appropriate hymns. The bride wore a gown of peach cut velvet, with velvet hat and shoes in log-cabin shade and a fur wrap. The bridesmaid, Miss Caroline Shaughnessy, sister of the groom wore a gown of brown crepe-de-chine, with brown velvet hat and shoes and she also wore a fur coat. Mr. Wilfred Sullivan, brother of the bride, ably supported the groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a triple string of pearls, to the bridesmaid a gold rosary and to the groomsman a signet ring. After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's brother, John Sullivan, the young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and Buffalo and on their return will reside on their farm in Otonabee.

DORMER—SMITH

Beautiful in its simplicity was the marriage of Ethel Jean Smith and George Ivan Dormer, solemnized at the home of the groom's aunt, Mrs J. Devitt, Cleveland, Thursday, October 29.

After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Dormer will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 1595 Addison Road, Cleveland.

OBITUARY.

MRS. J. CORKERY

DOURO, November 5. — The funeral of the late Mrs. John Corkery, took place on Monday morning from her late residence on the 6th line to St. Joseph's church, where requiem high mass was sung, by Rev. M. J. McGuire. Interment took place in St. Peter's cemetery, Peterboro. The pallbearers were her three brothers, Messrs. William, Michael and Francis McCarthy, Daniel Corkery, a brother-in-law, and two cousins, W. Buckley and D. Mahoney.

Those from a distance who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McCarthy of Peterboro (her parents), her brothers, William, Francis, Timothy and George of Peterboro, and Michael, of Detroit; her sisters, Misses Helen, Gertrude, Emma and Josephine, all of Peterboro; John Sullivan, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sullivan, John Sullivan, Jr., and Miss Ada Sullivan of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan, Michael Sullivan and Miss Kathleen Sullivan, of Otonabee; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Corkery, Mrs. Louise Keenan, and Ernest Ross, Mr. and Mrs. William Devlin, and Edward Fitzgerald, all of Otonabee; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maloney, Lakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. P. Maloney; Mr. and Mrs. Loyola Maloney, besides a large number of Douro friends and neighbors.

The suddenness of the passing of deceased together with her popularity has cast a gloom over the community. Much sympathy is felt for her husband and two small children, also for her parents, who are former residents.

WEAR A POPPY.

Saturday will be Poppy Day in Peterboro, and the Great War Veterans' Association will conduct a sale of the flowers of remembrance on the downtown streets.

Citizens generally are urged to wear a poppy on Armistice Day, and the war veterans are making it easy to do so by securing an ample supply of artificial flowers, made by disabled Canadian soldiers, thus giving the public an opportunity not only to wear the emblem but to provide work for crippled ex-service men and funds for carrying on a movement designed to assist returned soldiers generally.

Since its inauguration several years ago Poppy Day has been generally endorsed as an effort entirely worthy of support, and there is every reason to hope that this year's appeal will be greeted with even more than the usual cordial response.

The universal wearing of the poppy as a tribute to the memory of the men who did not come back appeals to the public as an impressive method of marking the anniversary of the Armistice.

AN OUTSTANDING ATTRACTION.

Peterboro is to have an opportunity next week of seeing one of the really great actors of the present day when William Faversham, who has enriched the gallery of famous stage portraits with many fine portrayals, will visit the Grand Opera House in his latest play, "Foot-Loose."

Mr. Faversham's local appearance is another proof of the efforts of the management of the Grand to bring to Peterboro some of the best things that are to be found in the theatre of today.

The policy that has been adopted is to endeavour to secure for this city some of the outstanding theatrical attractions, trusting to the discrimination of local playgoers to ensure patronage commensurate with the merit of the productions booked.

So far this appeal to a clientele that wants the best has been successful, and a continuation of the same fine support is devoutly to be wished, inasmuch as Ontario theatres are likely to find themselves side-tracked by worthwhile theatrical productions if sufficient patronage is not forthcoming to make a tour of this Province sufficiently attractive to the bigger producers.

The fate of such a sterling production as "Courting," which was to have visited the Grand on Monday and has been withdrawn because the poor Canadian patronage made necessary a schedule across the border instead of in this country, is just an indication of what Ontario may expect if outstanding attractions are not supported.

Mr. Faversham's visit to Peterboro will be one of the biggest features of the present season.

His is always a name to conjure with as whatever he undertakes commands the keenest interest, and in "Foot-Loose" he has one of his finest roles.

SAVING THE PARTRIDGE.

Peterboro sportsmen are doubtless interested in the effort that is being made by the American Game Protective Association to thoroughly investigate the disease that is causing so much havoc among the ruffled grouse—the game bird known in Ontario as the partridge.

From all parts of the range of this bird have come reports of alarming depletion as the result of a mysterious epidemic.

What this fatal malady is, where it comes from and what causes it are questions of vital interest to sportsmen who love partridge shooting.

That is why the American Game Protective Association has organized a thorough scientific investigation of the diseases of the partridge, and is asking hunters everywhere in the United States and Canada to co-operate by sending the stomach and internal organs of every partridge shot to Dr. A. A. Allen of Cornell University, who is conducting the inquiry.

As many specimens as possible are desired, and for study purposes the viscera of apparently healthy birds are desired as well as those showing evidence of disease.

Ontario hunters, while sympathetic toward the investigation, are not in a position this year to help as fully as they might desire, inasmuch as the Ontario Government has decreed that 1925 shall be a close season for partridge and none of these birds can be legally shot.

There is one way in which help can be given, however, and sportsmen and others finding dead partridge in the woods should send either the entire carcass packed in salt or the internal organs after these have been hardened in a formaldehyde solution to Dr. Allen.

This research is considered by the Game Association as of the utmost importance if the ruffled grouse or partridge is to be saved from extermination, and Peterboro sportsmen should do everything in their power to assist in the investigation.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

The Examiner is glad to commend to the people of Peterboro the campaign on behalf of the Beck Memorial Endowment of $500,000 for the Queen Alexandra Sanitorium.

The campaign has been undertaken in compliance with the death-bed wish of Sir Adam Beck, who was the founder and President of the Queen Alexandra Sanitorium.

This institution, it may not be generally known, had its inception in the illness of Sir Adam's own little daughter, and occupied a place in his heart above every other activity in his life.

Under his leadership and with the aid of his own generous support, it has grown to be a million dollar investment, a haven in which 3,833 tuberculous men, women and children have been treated, every third person of whom was unable to pay even the bare cost of his or her maintenance.

No distinction is made.

All receive exactly the same treatment, X-ray, lung collapsing and the other processes thus far developed by science.

Even physicians and attendants on the staff never know who pays and who is indigent, so great are the safeguards against discrimination.

In the last fifteen years this work has so extended that Queen Alexandra has attained a position of great credit, not alone in the matter of treatment, but also in preventive campaigning and in scientific research, of which, unfortunately, medical ethics forbid the discussion deserved. Queen Alexandra Sanitorium has now treated sufferers, not in odd cases, but in numbers, from all but a very few of Ontario's counties and Northern Ontario districts. The D. S. C. R. is authority for the statement that this institution has treated more gassed and tuberculous returned soldiers than any other sanitorium in Canada.

According to Dr. John W. S. McCullough, Chief Officer of Health for Ontario, "through Government, municipal and philanthropic aid and through the Mothers' Allowances Board, a sum approximately two million dollars is spent annually in the care of tuberculous poor in Ontario."

Through such work as that which the Beck Memorial Endowment will support, the tuberculosis death rate in the last decade has been reduced from 130 to 84 per hundred thousand of population. Still every third person between fifteen and sixty dies of the disease; every fourth person between twenty and fifty. It kills about one in ten of those who die at any age. While fifty thousand Canadians died in battle in the Great War, more than that number died uselessly, and many of them needlessly of tuberculosis, at home.

A BETTER ISSUE.

The New York Times calls last Thursday's contest a "phantom election" and regards it as only a rehearsal for the real battle to come. It even goes so far as to say that "two extremely clever politicians (Mr. King and Mr. Meighen) were so clever they forgot to be statesmen; they befogged and to some extent disgusted the public."

Most observers will agree with the Times in its first remark. Last week's voting was but a preliminary to the general election that must come comparatively soon. With the situation as it stands today there can be nothing but dissatisfaction. The strong government for which most voters hoped has not emerged from the conflict. Mr. Meighen has the greatest numerical strength, but he is in a minority so far as the complete roster of Parliament is concerned.

The great New York newspaper already quoted says that Mr. Meighen's main contention during the campaign was "in effect that Canada was going to the devil, but unfortunately for him the whole economic situation has changed for the better." Mr. Meighen had a better issue, the Times thinks, "and one that must in time become 'paramount,' in the policy of economy and tax reduction." With this statement also will the Times find many Canadians in agreement, except that one side will argue that both economy and tax reduction depend upon a higher tariff, while the other extreme will contend for the attainment of the same goal by means of low tariff. In between will be found a large body of opinion believing that the existing tariff, neither high nor low, is best.

The necessity for government economy and tax reduction must be patent to anyone taking the slightest interest in public affairs. Whether Mr. King endeavors to carry on or steps aside to make way for Mr. Meighen, the greatest task of the new administration will have to do with these two matters. As the Financial Post pointed out in an article written before last Thursday's voting, this issue has become a particularly live one in view of the further reductions in income taxes being made in the United States. How really important this matter is will be discovered by reading the summary reprinted below. It shows the present and proposed taxes on moderate incomes in the United States compared with those now being paid in Canada:

Income	United States Law Present	United States Law Suggested	Canadian Law
$2,000	.....	.....	.....
3,000	$ 7.50	$ 5.00	$ 40.00
4,000	22.50	15.00	80.00
5,000	37.50	25.00	120.00
6,000	57.50	45.00	170.00
7,000	87.50	75.00	270.00
8,000	127.50	105.00	370.00
9,000	167.50	145.00	.....
10,000	207.50	175.00	590.00

Canada's new Government has many big problems before it. And because this is so the need for strong, courageous administration with adequate backing in Parliament is imperative. If another election is necessary to bring this about then it should be held with as little delay as possible. The cost is large and no one is particularly keen for another contest at this time. Nevertheless it seems to be inevitable.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Don't forget to buy a poppy on Saturday.

The trouble with forming Governments is that there can be no strapholders. Everybody must have a seat.

Premier Ferguson should hold that Ontario election off for a while. The electorate are liable to suffer from an overdose of politics.

Premier King has not need to complain that he is being neglected in the matter of advice. Nearly every newspaper in Canada is telling him what to do.

In some ridings they are already talking about candidates for the next Federal election. And now there are rumours that Premier Ferguson is going to plunge Ontario into a Provincial fight.

Candidates who tried to ride into office on a temperance horse failed badly, and deserved to do so. Prohibition was not an issue, and was only referred to as one by those who hoped to profit thereby.

The municipal sweepstakes are still without entries. Who will be the first mayoralty candidate to announce his intentions?

Mr. Forke's solid bloc has been pretty well whittled away, while the Drury Progressives in Ontario have practically dropped off the map.

The reason it is difficult for a man to marry his ideal is because she is after her ideal, also.—Colorado Springs Gazette.

A THOUGHT.

UNTAMED, UNWANTED

Why try to smooth ice, spray perfume on the violet, paint the lily or gild refined gold? Why attempt to blend another color with the beautiful rainbow? Why not accept the rose with its accompanying therns? Why not face facts?

I shall begin by making this bold and unpleasant statement: Virtue of the body may exist, but the mind is a wild horse, the brain a broncho.

We are all alike, only some of us are more so. Perfectly well people, busy with great responsibilities, employ their time in some worthy service, while the idle who accept few if any responsibilities spend their lives in pleasure. But to say that human nature is not human is simply trying to fool ourselves with the old trick of self-deception.

1. Flashing through the mind of your nearest friend may be unwanted, unwelcomed thoughts, but these thoughts come just as sure as the sun rises in the morning or the stars shine on a clear night.

It always makes me smile when I hear a man or woman say they are the perfection of purity in thoughts. Perfection of mind! There is no perfection in mind. Some are sober, others intoxicated, but all may, at some time slip in mind.

2. The absolute absence of wrong thoughts is pretty good proof that there has been a great and consuming fire and nothing is left but the ashes.

Personally, we are pious frauds. We go about attempting to deceive others when in reality we only fool ourselves. Each and every man and most women are endowed with untamed, unwanted thoughts.

Passion is a tremendous and inspiring force—a magnet that either draws a man past indifference, indolence, idleness and makes him win, or it puts him in the vise of vice.

LADIES' AID MEETING.

Largest Attendance in History of Society—Good Programme.

HASTINGS, Nov. 4. — The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aaid Society of the Hastings United Church wa sheld at the home of Mrs. Willis Preston, on the Norwood Road —the largest attendance in the history yof the Aid was present, the number reaching 67.

A recitation by Betty Prest entitled "A Recipe for Angel Cake." opened the programme. Miss Jessie Wilcox sang a solo; little Mary Comstock recited "What Little Gi.' is That." Miss Minnie Huycke played a piano solo. Mrs. J. Johnson gave a reading. Miss Madeline Bond sang a solo, and Rev. Mrs. Hinton gave a reading "Crippled Ben." Business was discussed freely and a very satisfactory report of the recent fowl supper was given.

The ladies have decided to commence raising more funds by an autograph quilt.

Luncheon was served by the hostess before the meeting closed.

A series of lantern slides on Indian Missions were shown by the Rev. Mr. Herrington of Warsaw, in the school room of the United church. While the pictures were shown on the canvas Mr. Herrington expained each one.

MEMBER AT HASTINGS.

M. E. Maybee Addressed the People From Balcony of Hotel.

HASTINGS, Nov. 5—On Friday the newly re-elected member of parliament for the Northumberland riding, M. E. Maybee, M.P., spoke in Hastings from the balcony of the Claredon Hotel. Music was rendered on the bagpipes by Mr. Nell Scriver.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal
Winnipeg

MONTREAL MARKET

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 5 (Canadian Press)—The export trade in all kinds of Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was again very slow, there being few firm bids received from foreign buyers overnight. On spot No. 1 Northern Wheat was offering at 12 1-2 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg November option, C.I.F. for November shipment and an odd load of Canadian Western No 3 Barley was sold at 9 1-2 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg option, C.I.F. here. The local market for Ontario and Quebec was easier at a decline of 1-2 cent per bushel The demand was very limited with No. 2 White in car lots offering at 52 cents, No. 3 White at 50 1-2 and No. 4 White at 49 cents per bushel, ex-track, and sales of several cars of Ontario Barley were made at 85 1-2 cents per bushel, ex-track.

The ocean grain freight market was quiet ,the demand being only for odd loads, but the undertone was steady and rates showed little change. All the room for November loading to Liverpool, London and Glasgow has been pretty well engaged, while to Manchester freight for heavy grain was offering at 3s 8d per quarter, to Avonmouth and Leith at 3s 6d, to Dublin and Belfast at 3s 3d, and to Cardiff at 3s. Engagements of wheat to Antwerp were made at 15 1-2c per 100 lbs., barley at 16 1-2c, and oats at 17 1-2c; to Havre, wheat at 16c, barley 17c, and oats at 18c, while to Rotterdam wheat was let at 15c, barley at 16c and oats at 17c.

There were no new developments in the spring and winter wheat flour markets, the volume of business being moderate sized and prices steady.

The demand from United States buyers for all kinds of millfeed continues steady and as the prices bid in some cases were in line with sellers' views sales of several cars were made. Standard grades of rolled oats met with fair sale at steady prices.

There was no change in the condition of the baled hay market, prices for all grades being maintained with a fair volume of business passing.

A feature of the local egg situation was the easier feeling that developed in the market for storage eggs and prices were reduced 1c to 2c per dozen. This was attributed to the liberal offerings and the somewhat disappointing demand for supplies at this season of the year. The volume of business is a jobbing way was only fair, the demand being chiefly for small lots to meet immediate wants. The tone of the market for strictly fresh eggs was on the other hand steady owing to the increasing scarcity of supplies. The receipts were 6,708 cases, as compared with 3,904 for the same day last week, and 2,309 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The strength which has prevailed in the local potato situation of late was more pronounced than ever yesterday and prices scored a further advance of 40c to 50c per bag. This was attributed to the increased demand from United States buyers for supplies, the marked falling off in receipts here and the fact that stocks on track have been pretty well cleaned up. There were no New Brunswick potatoes on the market owing to the fact that it is reported Cuba is taking all the offerings from that section and that Cobblers in car lots were now quoted at $3 per bag of 90 lbs., F.O.B. shipping points. A fairly good trade was done on spot in Quebec varieties at $2.50 to $2.75 per bag of 90 lbs. in car lots ex-track.

The receipts of butter yesterday were 1,382 packages, as compared with 443 for the same day last week, and 234 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no improvement in the demand for butter from any source which would indicate that buyers generally had ample supplies on hand for the time being and were not disposed to operate at the present level of prices. The volume of business was small and the market was quiet.

The receipts of cheese were 3,937 boxes, as against 5,811 for the same day last week, and 4,361 for the corresponding day a year ago. The export trade in Cheese was also reported slow owing to the fact that the foreign demand was indifferent and in consequence the market was quiet. The feeling was about steady and prices were unchanged.

Beans were unchanged at $2.40 per bushel.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 5 (Canadian Press)—The egg market showed some fluctuations yesterday. Increased consumption in British Columbia has resulted in a price drop. There has been an advance of from one to two cents in the price of fresh extras at Montreal. December refrigerators in New York show the highest point since the first week in October, being quoted at 36. Toronto fresh egg market is firm and the storage steady with prices unchanged.

Montreal egg market is unchanged in tone and prices with the exception of jobbing fresh extras which are quoted at 56-57, firsts 46.

Edmonton egg market is firm. Jobbing extras 45, firsts 40, seconds 35 . Poultry receipts are heavy and prices unchanged.

Vancouver egg market is easier with fresh supplies increasing. Dealers paying country points extras 62, firsts 60, jobbing fresh extras 66, firsts 64, seconds and pullets 55. Live poultry steady and unchanged.

Halifax, the demand is very good for both storage and fresh with supplies of the latter limited. Dealers paying storage firsts 43 3-4 f.o.b. Charlottetown. Jobbing 45 to 46.

St. John egg market is firm and demand is fair.

New York fresh extra firsts 54-57, firsts 46-53, December refrigerators 36.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press)—Prospective shipments of wheat to Chicago from Duluth, tended today to turn the market here downward, and so too did reports of improved conditions for threshing in Canada. Closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 1 7-8 to 2 5-8 net lower, new style, Dec. 149 5-8 to 149 7-8 and May 145 3-8 to 145 5-8, with corn at 1-4 to 1-2c advance, oats 1-8 to 5-8c off, and provisions unchanged to 15c down.

With numerous holders selling out as the market here declined, wheat closed at virtually the day's bottom level. An increase of 2,843,000 bushels in the world's available supply total was one of the late bearish factors . Furthermore, export demand was inert, and the final quotations at Liverpool were weak, with selling there that was ascribed to a cooperative concern. In this connection it as noted that the Winnipeg market was even more responsive to the downward trend at Liverpool than was the case with values in Chicago.

Reports of clearing weather in Canada, likely to promote threshing, were emphasized by word that Canadian farmers had marketed 3,400,000 bushels of wheat yesterday, making a total up to last night of 165,000,000 bushels from the new crop. On the other hand gossip that shipments of wheat from Duluth to Chicago were inpending received but slight credence in some quarters owing to assertions that Duluth has comparatively little wheat to spare that can be applied on contracts here. There was also bullish comment on the fact that Minneapolis stocks showed a falling off for the last few days, an unusual circumstance at this time of year.

Strength of corn prices was attributed mostly to wet weather over the corn belt. Oats sympathized with wheat.

Increased offerings depressed the provision market after an early advance.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 — Cattle receipts 12,000; fat steers steady to 25c lower; western grassers, stockers and feeders around steady; extreme top 14.00 paid for 981 lb. youngsters and 1,151 pound steers; load 1,450 lb. bullocks 13.85; very fat 1,391 lb. Canadian 11.50; new high for season; fat she stock steady to weak; canners, cutters and bulls steady; vealers 50c lower; spots largely 11.00 to 11.50.

Hog receipts 13,000; moderately active, 10c to 25c higher; bulk better grade, 160 to 325 pound grade, 11.20 to 11.55; majority desirable 140 to 150 lb. average 11.60 to 11.75; killing pigs largely 12.00 to 12.50; shippers took 6,000 estimated holdover 8,000.

Sheep receipts 10,000; fat lambs 10 to 25c lower; feeding lambs weak to 25c lower; aged sheep steady; bulk fat lambs 14.75 to 15.25; top 15.35; most culls 11.50 to 12.00; bulk feeding lambs 14.00 to 15.00; fat ewes upward to 8.10.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Nov. 5—On Tuesday 2,054 cattle were sold at the Union Stock Yards, but the receipts keep piling up, and 12,020 arrived in the three days this week for sale, and on through billing. In yesterday's receipts there are seven cars of western butchers for one packing house, and double that number of western stockers and feeders. Receipts yesterday morning were 131 cars, 2,367 cattle, 311 calves, 2,636 hogs and 1,436 sheep and lambs. It is difficult to get handyweight butchers of the good kind, and mediums have to be taken to take their place.

Rogers and Maybee are exporting 1,500 head for the week. They are hoping to ship as many next week, but may experience a little difficulty in getting them. Three loads of middleweight western steers sold yesterday morning, one for export, at $6.75; and two for local purposes, one at $6.55 and the other at $5.25 a cwt. For Kingston some good to choice medium weight butchers' steers and heifers were bought from $6.50 to $7.35 a cwt. Prices on butchers' cattle were steady to firm, and only the very plain butchers had a poor market.

Most of yesterday's cows were not above medium quality, and prices were quite steady.

An odd extra fancy calf is bringing 12 cents a pound, but the average of good calves is not above 11 cents. Two loads of calves are being picked up for Buffalo.

Lambs are up another 25 cents a cwt. yesterday, with ewes and wethers $13.25 a cwt. Bucks are supposed to be $3 a cwt. under this but cases are cited in which the bucks have been culled from from their bunches and sold at $11 to $11.50 a cwt. More sheep were sold yesterday with tops $6.50 a cwt.

Packers continue to pay $10.75 a cwt. f.o.b. for hogs, and the market is not weak at this quoration.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand, $4.83 7-8.
Sterling cables, $4.84 3-8.

SOUTH AFRICAN M.P.'S CRITICIZE GENERAL SMUTS

Famous Boer Leader's Efforts . . . at Rapprochement De- . . scribed as Hypocrisy.

PAPER'S COMMENTS

Cape Times Says No Essential Difference Between Major Parties.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Replying to a statement made by General Jan Christian Smuts on returning from a tour of the Orange Free State, in which he asserted that the Government was divided, Col. Hon. F. H. P. Creswell, Minister of Defence and Labor, yesterday declared, in a speech at Bloemfontein, that the wish was father to the thought. The Labor party, he said, did the right and proper thing in deciding to join the Cabinet of Premier Hertzog.

Dr. Colin Fraser Steyn, Nationalist member of the South African Assembly, described the efforts of General Smuts for rapprochement between the South African and Nationalist parties as political hypocrisy and declared that it would be despicable treachery for the Nationalists to desert their Labor allies.

The Cape Times asserts that there is no essential principle dividing the Nationalists from the South African party now that Premier Hertzog has relinquished the secession idea, whereas neither the Nationalists nor the Labor party could be true to their principles as long as they remain in the unholy alliance. The paper suggests that the Nationalists will find the process of disentanglement from the present alliance with the Labor party extremely difficult.

NEW GAS BY-LAW MAY BE ADOPTED

Measure Introduced Into Chatham Council Would Control Filling Stations.

RADICAL CHANGES.

CHATHAM, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Members of the Chatham City Council are considering the terms of a proposed bylaw designed to regulate and control the location of gasoline and oil filling stations in the city. The bylaw will likely be dealt with at the next regular meeting of the council. If adopted, Chatham will be the first city in Ontario to enforce such a measure. The bylaw prohibits the installation of any more curb pumps, defines the district in which gas stations cannot be built, insists upon a motorist stopping his engine while filling the tank of his car, and prohibits the motorist from smoking near the pump.

PRIESTS TRAIN FOR SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN

Scholars and High Officials Now Lecturing in Training Schools.

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 5.—(Associated Press).—Three thousand Buddhist priests are being trained to take up the campaign in behalf of universal suffrage. Universal suffrage will be tried out in Japan for the first time at the next election, which may come next year.

In the training schools lectures are given every day by scholars and high officials in Government departments. When the course is completed the priests will instruct hundreds of other priests and then the nation-wide campaign will start.

MUSSOLINI HAS PACT WITH REDS

Secret Treaty Between Soviet and Itatly Signed Last Year.

NOT PUBLISHED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press) — A special correspondent sends the following dispatch from Chiasso, Switzerland:

"I have obtained the text of a secret treaty signed by Russian Bolsheviks and representatives of Italy. The treaty, which has not seen the light of day although concluded last year, throws a strong light upon Premier Mussolini's foreign policy and bears out the opposition charge that he is in league with the Soviets."

The correspondent quotes the text of the treaty.

PRESIDENT REMAINS 'NEIGHBOR GASTON'

Wrote Admonitory Letter to Man Who Frequented Inn —Good Advice.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(Associated Press.)—Gaston Doumergue, President of France, is still "Neighbor Gaston" to his old acquaintances in his native department of Gard.

The husband of one of these old friends spent too much time and money at the village inn. "He is called Gaston, too, you know," the wife wrote to President Doumergue. "I wish you would write to him and shake him a little. Tell him that a man who has the same Christian name as yourself ought to behave better."

Mr. Doumergue is a busier man today than when he sat beside the inn fireside himself, but he obediently took up his pen and sent some good advice to the thirsty husband.

TURKEY SHORTAGE AT THANKSGIVING

Bad Weather in Spring is Assigned as the Cause.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—That popular Thanksgiving bird, the turkey, will be a luxury in Winnipeg this season, according to advices from country points, where farmers' wives made a hobby of raising gobblers for the city trade.

Local abattoirs and retail merchants confirm the information. The price will be around 30 cents a pound for the best dressed birds.

HENRY WINNETT, President

SENATOR ADVOCATES ALLIANCE BETWEEN LIBERALS AND TORIES AS WAY OUT OF PRESENT IMPASSE

Says Two Chief Obstacles Are High Protection and Extreme Imperialism.

L. O. DAVID'S THEORY.

Sees Possibilities of English-Speaking Provinces Forming Bloc Against Quebec.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5—(Canadian Press).—In an article, written specially for the French language newspaper, "La Patrie," Senator the Hon. L. O. David discusses the present political situation and declares there is a feeling in certain quarters that sooner or later an 'entente' between Liberal and Conservative elements will be necessary in order to put an end to "a political and national situation injurious to the peace and harmony which is more than ever necessary for the country."

Senator David continues:

"But there are two questions in particular that will render this entente difficult: high protection and extreme Imperialism. Who is the man or men sufficiently strong to give effect to any entente on these two questions, and to make the interest of Canada, above all, the basis of this understanding that will be acceptable to the majority?"

Hon. Mr. David draws a parallel between the present "impasse" and the days of 1840, when La Fontaine and Baldwin "succeeded in obtaining a majority in Upper and Lower Canada to assure the triumph of the great principle of ministerial responsibility." It was, however, the Senator continues, easier to effect an understanding on this principle than to do so on matters affecting the financial and national sentiments of the two provinces.

"It is certain," Hon. Mr. David proceeds, "that in the Province of Quebec the fear of the extreme Imperialism of Mr. Meighen has had a greater effect than protection. That is what I myself have foreseen and pronounced, and for which I have been criticized.

"The Province of Quebec has not forgotten the sufferings, the humiliations, the unjust treatment and the tyrannical legislation of which it was the victim during the late war, legislation the responsibility for which it attributes to Mr. Meighen. The disastrous consequences of this war, the debt and the financial obligations from which the country is suffering so cruelly, and the imprudent declarations of Mr. Meighen at the time of the Greco-Turk imbroglio were not of a nature to

PREMIER TELLS DIPLOMATS OF CHANGED REGIME

Reza Khan Sent Out Official Notice of Overthrow of Shah.

DYNASTY ABOLISHED.

Soviet Government Had Already Sent Congratulations to Persia.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Reza Khan, Persian Premier and dictator, yesterday circularized the Diplomatic Corps at Teheran, officially notifying them of the overthrow of the Shah and the changed regime in Persia. The Premier's note declared the old regime had become thoroughly discredited, therefore the dynasty had been abolished, he said.

Before this notification was sent out, however, it is understood, the Soviet Government already had extended its congratulations and recognition to the new regime.

PAINLEVE WORKS UNDER HANDICAP

"Phantom Government Is Groping For a Shadow Majority in the Darkness."

WILL CARRY ON.

PARIS, November 5. — Canadian Press. — The Painleve cabinet which again faces the Chamber to-day, is described by the Temps as a "phantom government groping for a shadow majority in the darkness."

But Premier Painleve says: "The ministry will carry on."

Both the Temps and the Journal Des Debats admit that the Government cannot last long, but are unwilling to make a prophecy concernings its tenure of office. The crisis will come on the government's financial projects which will be presented next week.

Credits for further Moroccan and Syrian operations are regarded as another stumbling block. The financial projects may suit the Socialists and the Radicals but they will antagonize the Centre and the Right while the Moroccan and Syrian credits will have a diametrically opposite effect.

WILD DUCKS RETURN.

Rice Lake Hunters Use Some Clever Devices to Get "Bags."

BAILIEBORO, Nov. 5.—Since the wintry weather of last week the wild ducks have begun to migrate to Rice Lake. Up until last week ducks have been very scarce here, but mostly everyday now, several large flocks may be seen feeding in the rice beds.

Daily the sharp shooting of the hunters can be heard, and some very good "shots" are being reported this week.

As the hunters are very numerous, the ducks are being constantly chased, and as a result they are very timid and it is difficult to get within shooting range. The hunters use some clever devices in order to get their daily number.

Plowing Resumed.

Now that the weather has become fine once again, the farmers in this district have started their ploughs agoing again with full force. An observer going along the road would naturally think that it depended upon the farmers to get their ploughing finished up within the next few days, at the rate the land is now being turned.

The majority of farmers have stabled their work horses, and milch cows, and have started to use from their plentuous winter's mows of hay and grainaries of grain, but the young cattle and colts are mostly all on pasture yet, and will most likely remain their throughout most of the month of November.

MERELY SURVEY.

WINNIPEG, Man., November 5. — Canadian Press. — "The company has no intention of building a line to Fort Churchill ,on the Hudson Bay," declared D. C. Coleman, Vice-President Western Lines, Canadian Pacific Ry. here yesterday, when advised of a report that the C. P. R. planned the construction of a branch line through the Pas mineral belt.

A local paper carried the report from its Ottawa correspondent, and it said "the ultimate destination of the line would be Fort Churchill.

"There was,' said Mr. Coleman, "a survey of a proposed Prince Albert to Herb Lake line, but construction is not contemplated at the present time."

GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick.

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week.

Tens of thousands of thin, rundown men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged — are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets which any druggist will tell you all about are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, gained 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that the livers of Cod Fish are full of vitalizing flesh producing vitamines and these same vitamines of the highest class are found in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

And this shows what faith the makers have in McCoy's for they say; if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to give you your money back— and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask the Harris Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch, Bond's Drug Store, or any druggist anywhere in North or South America.

But be sure to get McCoy's, the original and genuine.

QUEBEC LIBERAL DENIES ROUSING RACE PREJUDICE

Member For Jacques Cartier Excoriates Patenaude For Making Charge.

STAR AND GAZETTE.

Carried French Conservative's Statements "Which Stirred Up Ontario Against Us."

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—"Le Devoir," organ of Henri Bourassa, yesterday carried the following in its news columns:

"The majority for Theodule Rheaume in Jacques Cartier was 2,263 votes.

"The member for Jacques Cartier protests against the assertions of Mr. Patenaude, in which the latter claims that his opponents have been arousing prejudice. In reality it is Mr. Patenaude who has stirred up Ontario against us, thanks to his declarations carried to the Ontario people by his faithful journals, the Star and the Gazette, and the proof of that is that down there during the campaign it was freely repeated and published in pamphlets that a vote for King was a vote for the Pope, for French domination and for Henri Bourassa, says Mr. Rheaume.

"Those assertions were illustrated by the reports of Mr. Patenaude's speeches. These latter gave it to be understood by the people of Ontario that here, in this province, the Liberals spoke only on racial questions and prejudices, while in reality the situation was totally the reverse, said the Jacques Cartier member."

IRISH BOUNDARY REPORT IN SOON

Commissioners Are To Meet in London in a Few Days.

TABULATE EVIDENCE.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press)—The Westminster Gazette says the Irish boundary commission's reports may be made within a fortnight. Dr. McNeill, the Irish Free State's representative on the commission arrived in London yesterday and the three commissioners will meet to tabulate the evidence obtained and draft a report. Much of the evidence is yet to be dealt with.

WIRELESS STRIKE IS NOW SETTLED

Nine Operators Who Had Been Dismissed Were Reinstated.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—The strike of the Marconi wireless operators and receiving clerks in London, Liverpool and Manchester ended yesterday, with the re-instatement of the nine operators who had been dismissed for reasons of economy. The strike crippled trans-Continental and trans-Atlantic wireless communication.

The Government wireless service was not affected by the walk-out, which involved about 150 men.

DAMASCUS ATTACKED.

French Using All Efforts To Prevent Entry of Tribesmen.

LONDON, November 5. — Canadian Press. — The situation in Syria still is tense, and apparently fraught with grave possibilities. Reports reaching London assert that there has been renewed fighting in the eastern outskirts of Damascus between the French and the rebels, and that the French are using all efforts to prevent the entry into the city of the tribesmen on the outside.

BETHANY QUIET AFTER ELECTION

Even Hallowe'en Passed Without Any Fuss or Trouble.

FARMERS BUSY.

BETHANY, Nov. 5.—The village has been very quiet since election day. The mild wetaher has enabled the farmers to get some back work done. Many are bringing in their turnips and mangels, while others are busy ploughing, unheeding the old saying that ploughing in snow sours the earth. The country roads are very bad in places where they have not been gravelled.

Hallowe'en passed very quietly, with none of the activities of other years. A few gateways were minus gates, but for the most part the village was left undisturbed.

About fifty young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bigelow on Monday night, it being the annual Hallowe'en social of the Young Ladies' Mission Club. The president, Miss Priscilla Howden, was hostess, while Miss Violet Jackson helped her to entertain the numerous guests in games, contests, etc., after which dainty refreshments were served and all reported a good time.

BACK TO OLD SYSTEM.

New South Wales Abolishes Proportional Representation, Single Seats.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—By a vote of 46 to 24 the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales yesterday gave second reading to a bill for the abolition of proportional representation and providing for reversion to the old system of single seats on the "first past the post" principle.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press). — Fire at three o'clock this modning at Ste. Thecle, County of Champlain, broke out in Omer Cossette's store and destroyed the store and contents as well as Pierre Neault's and David La[illegible]e's houses. The loss is placed [illegible],000.

NEWS TRENT RIVER

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 4.—Rev. Wesley Elliott, of St. John's United Church, Campbellford, conducted anniversary services here Sunday. There were two services, 10.30 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. There was a good attendance. The choir rendered suitable music for the occasion.

The mid-week prayer service is cancelled this week owing to the absence of the pastor, having to attend a meeting at Hamilton.

There was some excitement here on Hallowe'en night. The usual dress parade was lacking, but some mischief was done to property that might have been avoided.

Mrs. W. Allan left for Toronto last week, where she will spend two weeks.

Mr. John Ruttan went to Cobourg Monday, called there on the jury.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Finch and family and Mrs. Thomas Finch of Rawdon spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong, "Hillview Farm."

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderburg, Norwood; Mrs. Matt. Greenly and son, Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mann, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pollock, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ellis and Miss Alma and Miss Violet Warde went to Deer River (15 miles north) on Monday to fish for herring and landed 350 beauties.

Fifty Dollars a Month

(Guaranteed to you by the Canada Life)

Age 35—Thinks he can easily afford to "spend" Fifty Dollars a month

Age 50—Things are not going as well as they were.

Age 55—Strange how these assets have depreciated! Fifty Dollars a month is good interest on $10,000, and not to be despised.

You know of men well up in years who are still "drudging along." They cannot stop if they would, but must go on to the end of their days working for a living. You can avoid that.

Why Not Pension Yourself?

Why not "take stock" of your present financial position—to size up your personal affairs and decide on a plan for the future?

Our New Pension Plan

guarantees that upon reaching a certain age in life you will receive a monthly cheque for $50.00, $100, $200, $250—as you may now decide—and this monthly payment cannot cease as long as you live.

An Income for Life

Think what it may mean to you to be certain of an income right up to the end of life, when you consider that 97% of people in their later years are partially or wholly dependent upon others for support.

When they were younger they did not have the chance now offered you. It was not then possible to secure such a convenient and certain provision as this Monthly Pension Plan.

And This is Not All

Suppose some day before you reach age sixty you meet with a mishap and become totally and permanently disabled through accident, illness or any cause. (Such a thing has happened soon after men have secured this new policy of the Canada Life.) Immediately, the payment of further premiums would be cancelled. The Canada Life would become responsible for sending you $50.00, $100, $200, $250, a month, as arranged, for the rest of your life.

There are many other benefits.

An average deposit of only a few dollars a month will return you $50.00 a month later on.

BELL RINGERS ENCHANT MANY

George Street Church Hall Crowded For Second Concert in Series.

WIDE REPERTOIRE.

The second of the series of concerts given under the auspices of the choir of George Street Church was held in the Sunday School room of the church last evening, when the big hall was filled to capacity with an audience that expressed much approval of the efforts of their entertainers, the Royal Holland Bell Ringers, who made such an impression on their hearers with their novel entertainment that it is quite probable they will be booked for a return engagement here early in January. Mr. and Mrs. Brouet, with their two young sons and daughter, were real Dutch musicians, appearing in their native costumes. They had an out-of-the-ordinary programme that included almost every known type of bell, from the little bell that rests on the teacher's desk to the odd Cymbal Harp and the tall Cathedral Chimes.

Every number in a diversified programme that ranged from popular melodies to operatic selections, was greeted with applause that brought generous encores. An "Il Trovatore" selection opened the programme, and was followed by the "Miserere," played on the cathedral chimes and a striking imitation of the chimes of Westminster Abbey, London, England. Organ accompaniment to the majority of the selections added to their distinctiveness.

On the Cymbal Harp, its upright tubes stroked with gloved hands, Mr. Brouet, Junior, played the well-known "Aloha Oe" number, with an encore in "Old Black Joe." The two boys followed with a clever whistling duet that included much bird-tone imitation, giving "Honest and Truly," and a second popular number as an encore. Mr. and Mrs. Brouet played the "Hunters' Chorus" on a varied selection of bells, and "Ring the Golden Bells," on the C melody saxaphone, was a cleverly rendered selection. A duet on the Swiss hand bells was given, and "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny," on the glissando.

Mrs. Brouet explained, in a humorous little speech, the why and wherefore of the curious Dutch costme worn by natives of Holland, and an innovation to Peterboro audiences was the introduction of the slide saxaphone and a miniature three-inch ocarina, on which the soprano part from the "Sextette from Lucia" was played.

A vocal trio in the Dutch language was another novelty, and a double encore was accorded the song hit by the boys, "And the Ford Rambled Along." Miss Brouet closed the programme with selections on a group of ordinary school desk bells.

CATHOLIC PRIESTS REFUSE TO MARRY

Archbishop Protests Law Enacted in State of Tobasco.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press)—Archbishop Mora del Rio today in a statement condemned the law enacted in the State of Tabasco requiring priests of all creeds to marry in order to exercise their office. "It is a monstrous outrage," said the Archbishop, "contrary to the freedom of the Church and Ecclesiastical laws. We energetically protest. No Catholic bishop or priest will heed such an absurd law."

ORLAND NEWS

ORLAND, Nov. 5 — Mrs. A. B. Loomis who has been almost invalided for many years is much wrose in health and H. C. Rundel, M.D., is in attendance.

Sam Hazelwood, who has been ailing for several weeks, is going to Toronto where he will have an X-ray in an endeavor to locate the trouble.

Mr. Thomas Webber is moving into David Wright's house and will be employed in the Orland mill for the winter.

Major J. F. B. Belford, M.P.P., is home resting after a province wide stumping in behalf of several Conservative candidates in different parts of the Province.

Mrs. M. J. Cowan, relict of the late M. J. Cowan, passed away at her home on Friday and was interred in the R.C. cemetry Monday.

Many farmers are trying to get in what potatoes are left from the late heavy frosts and rot.

Buyers are scouring this locality in an endeavor to secure any amount of potatoes from a truck load to a carload and are offering on an average of $1.75 at the cellar, but they report small success.

Revival services are continuing in the church here this week and will be followed with three special services on Sunday next.

Considerable buckwheat is still out and it will be some time before it can be housed on account of the wet weather. Ira King has about 15 acres of barley in stock yet, awaiting favorable weather to haul it in.

Hiram Westlake has purchased the W. J. Lear farm which he rented last season.

MURDER CHARGE FOLLOWS FIGHT

ELECTION ROW.

BADDECK, N.S., Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Angus McKenzie and Allen McLeod, both of North River, N.S., near here, have been charged with the murder of Murdock A. Morrison, whose lifeless body was found floating in the North River early last Friday morning. Morrison was last seen alive late Thursday night, when he was being chased toward the river by two unidentified men, following an election row in the village of North River.

EXPLORER TO SPEAK HERE ON THURSDAY

Dr. G. R. Maguire Will Tell of His Trip Through Africa.

The Men's Association of Murray Street Baptist Church has been successful in securing Dr. Gabriel R. Maguire, F.R.G.S., Montreal, famous traveller, explorer and lecturer, for Thursday evening, November 12th.

"With an Irishman through the Jungles of Africa," illustrated with trophies, will be Dr. Maguire's subject Thursday evening.

Dr. Gabriel R. Maguire's title to lecture rests upon his natural talents, his superior education, and his wonderful achievement. He read a book, "Stanley's Darkest Africa," and dreamed a dream, and started for Africa. In seven years his dream became a reality. He had mastered a language, founded a mission, and Christianized a community of barbarians. A severe illness necessitated a return to civilization, and gave to this country one of its greatest lecturers. His oration at Carnegie Hall, New York, soon after his return, made him famous throughout the religious and lyceum world.

He has the distinction of being the first white man to ascend the "Congo" in Africa, after Stanley, the explorer, came down. He is the only living white man who has crossed Mayombi in both directions, and the second white man to visit the Pigmies.

Dr. Maguire was made a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of England on account of his splendid work in Africa. During the years spent on the 'Dark Continent' he had many exciting experiences. His experiences are related with all the power of a great orator. His lectures are informing and very humorous. Possessing in a large degree the wit of the typical Irishman, he presents many amusing incidents. Invariably he is called for a return engagement.

He is a physical giant, a warm-blooded and enthusiastic Irishman, vigorous in thought, spontaneous in humor, strong in his convictions, fearless in presenting his message, and is full of faith, hope and love for man, and wins his way everywhere.

The men of Murray Street are confident that the church auditorium will be filled on Thursday evening, November 12th, to hear Dr. Maguire.

PARIS POLICE ARE FACED BY MYSTERY

Suicide Note Found With Body of Wealthy Man Is Not Accepted.

PARIS, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Suicide or murder is the problem facing the Paris police who are investigating the death of Pedro Dolbois, a wealthy Peruvian, known as a joyous and liberal spender in Paris night life, who was found dead yesterday in his apartment in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne. A note pinned to his coat told of his intention to kill himself. The case, however, promises to be another famous Paris mystery. The police have ascertained that Dolbois returned home in the early hours with three chance acquaintances picked up in the Montmartre district. Four half-filled glasses and several empty bottles were found in the room and there were signs of a struggle.

A note pinned to the Peruvian's clothing read: "Do not accuse anyone of my death. I have committed suicide." But the authorities assert this was not written by the dead man."

SAILING VESSELS GROW OBSOLETE

Britain Had Thousands — Now Six Remain Registered for Service.

FINLAND GOT MANY

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 5.—(Associated Press).—The windjammer has just about given up the ghost, at least so far as the British flag is concerned. The old full rigged vessel that once carried the brunt of the sea cargo is too slow nowadays and it doesn't pay.

The thousands of these British ships that sailed the seven seas now number six. The survivors remaining upon Lloyd's register are the Monkbarns, William Mitchell, Garthpool, Garthneil, Rewa and Kilmallie, each of which is known in many American ports, and especially Honolulu and Manila. All have served 30 or more years, and with the exception of the Garthpool, are three-masted vessels.

The Garthpool is the sole British four-master on the job, and among seamen is known as "The Ghost," because of the great fleet of such ships, all gone to Davy Jones' locker, which it represents.

Finland seems destined to become the world's last owners of ships of this type, as most of the British sailing vessels sold within recent years have been bought by Finnish interests.

Grain from Australia, nitrate from South America and salt outward from Liverpool are about the only cargoes now offered for sailing ships.

Nearly one-half of all the gun clubs in the United States, Canada and the Canal Zone are affiliated with the American Trapshooting Association.

Not since the beginning of the economic readjustment period have fundamental conditions been more favorable to a healthy expansion of industry and trade. There are already signs of improvement in the business situation, and while for the most part they relate to seasonal conditions, some of the changes are indicative of the gradual restoration of balanced relations which are so necessary to general prosperity. The maladjustment between industry and agriculture has during the past twelve months been mitigated if not entirely relieved, and the highly satisfactory crop returns now indicate that the purchasing power of the farming community will be greater than for the past five years and more widely distributed. The yield for the three Prairie Provinces as estimated by the Northwestern Grain Dealers Association in their mid-October report, compared with the final estimates of 1924, are as follows:

Wheat	400,385,000	235,694,000
Oats	392,653,000	223,325,000
Barley	65,355,000	70,630,000
Rye	9,220,000	11,126,000
Flax	6,395,000	9,577,000

Livestock markets showed a very encouraging tone during the month. Supplies were heavy, but export demand from Great Britain and the United States was strong. Hogs are bringing high prices, and this is likely to be the case for some time to come owing to short supplies.

The major industries of the country are generally more active. The iron and steel mills are again operating closer to capacity. More than sixty thousand tons of rail business has been placed, and the demand from automobile and agricultural implement companies has been in larger volume. The important textile industry which in 1924 had one of the worst years of its history, is feeling the stimulus of improved conditions, and the reduction in primary costs gives the trade better prospects for earnings. In woollen goods the situation is slightly better, and in silks, including rayon, relative prosperity prevails. The boot and shoe industry has been unsatisfactory for some time, but there is a general report of better business, and leather prices are firmer.

Mineral production records for Canada show a steady growth. Production of metals and non-metals reached a total value of $90,347,698 as compared with $84,307,385 in the first half of 1924. The output of gold for the six months was $14,506,219 as against $11,810,060, and silver 5,601,883 oz. as compared with 5,008,256 oz. for the corresponding period of the previous year. In British Columbia the production of non-ferrous metals, especially lead and zinc, shows a large increase, and at present market prices the total out-turn for the first eight months of the year is estimated at $41,000,000 or only $7,500,000 short of the total value for the whole of 1924. The coal mining industry, after being completely disorganized by protracted strikes, is making rapid recovery and a better feeling is in evidence. Export trade in lumber is quiet. The Maritime Provinces find it difficult to obtain satisfactory business against European competition. The Australian market appears to be satisfied, and the demand from Japan has fallen off. There is a steady increase, however, in shipments from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic Ports of the United States, and domestic demand is expected to improve with western conditions. In the pulp and paper industry, production and shipments are ahead of last year. The production of newsprint for the eight months ended the 31st August is 988,764 tons, as compared with 907,693 tons in 1924.

The value of building permits and contracts entered upon for construction work in Western Canada for the first nine months of the year show an increase of $3,583,000 over the figures of a year ago, although the figures for the Dominion for the same period are slightly lowered.

The usual statistics which reflect the current volume of business indicate a tendency to expansion. Carloadings and bank debits throughout the past two months have been well above the corresponding figures of last year. The agricultural situation is contributing in no small degree to larger and better balanced buying power. Wholesalers generally report increased turnovers, although in all lines buying is cautious and closely confined to immediate needs.

Commercial failures for the third quarter of 1925 show a distinct improvement both in number and extent of liabilities. Our foreign trade continues to show a growth that is particularly noteworthy. During September, exports amounted to $108,497,911—a considerable increase over $80,960,729 for the corresponding month last year. This represents a record total for this month since 1920. For the six months of the fiscal year ended September, total exports were $571,315,340 against $482,091,954 for the same period last year.

The comfortable position of the money market, the small fluctuations in commodity prices, light stocks of merchandise, the increased purchasing power based on good crops and a high state of employment are factors which collectively inspire greater confidence in the business situation.

Beaver and Kirkland Lake Outstanding Mine Features

TORONTO, November 5. — Canadian Press. — Beaver and Kirkland Lake were the outstanding features of this morning's session of the Standard Mining Exchange. Kirkland Lake was dealt in to an extent of more than 140,000 shares, and at one time during the session touched 80. It was sold down from this point to 74 at the morning close, a net advance of five points. Beaver of which more than 73,000 shares changed hands, climbed to 51½, then likewise sold down to 48, a ¼ point above yesterday's close. Elsewhere the changes were practically negligible and about equally divided between gains and losses.

Mixed Trend In Toronto With Market More Active

TORONTO, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).— Barcelona developed into an active leader on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning with Brazilian, Smelters, mines and banks also prominent in a much more active market. The trend remained mixed. Barcelona closed the morning three quarters lower at 25 1-4, and Atlantic Sugar also eased three quarters. British Columbia Fishing advanced five-eights, but Consolidated Smelters closed the session unchanged. Twin City and Canadian Canners each eased a quarter point. Banks were active and strong; the leader, Commerce, advancing two at 227. Dominion gained three-quarters. Dome, in the mine section, dropped 15 cents.

Wheat Prices Move Down After Upward Opening

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Wheat prices developed a downward trend to-day after a wavering start. The fact that Liverpool quotations showed a little more firmness than had been looked for led to some buying here at the outset but persistent commission house selling quickly set in, accompanied by reports of good weather both in Canada and Argentina as well. The dearth of export business acted also as a bearish factor. Opening, 3-8c off to 3-8c. up, new style, December $1.49 3-4 to $1,50 and May $1.45 to $1.45 1-2 was followed by a further upturn in some cases and then by a material decline all around, December touching $1.49 and May $1.45.

Corn and oats were easy, influenced by sympathy with wheat. After opening at 1-8c. decline to an equal advance, December 75 5-8 to 79 7-8, corn hardened a trifle but soon underwent a moderate general setback.

HALLOWE'EN HELD IN ANCIENT STYLE

OMEMEE, Nov. 4—Hallowe'en in Omemee was marked by the usual pranks of many boys and girls, who ran hither and thither in search of some removable object with which they could make a hurried get-away. As a result many citizens are yet at a loss to know where a favorite bench, the front gate, wagons and other small articles may be found. Accompanied by these trivial tricks were many more disastrous ones, where property was destroyed, fences torn down, signs removed, etc. A lone male resident of the town was barred in his house by a pile of rails across the door. Other residents lay in bed and listened with terror, their property being hurled about knowing that no good would result from making either an appearance or hasty remarks.

The smaller spooks who were attired in India fashion, or any other costume which would hide their identity probably had the most pleasant time, as they went from house to house and without warning of their approach were soon found seated in the kitchen waiting for a contribution of candy, or apples, the former receiving the preference, owing to the abundant apple crop this year. As this is becoming very customary, a generous response was received by the children and at an early hour they were contented to return to their respective homes without any further annoyance and very grateful to their donors.

Young People Entertain Guests.

Sounds of much merriment could be heard on Monday evening coming from the Sunday School room of Christ Church, where the Anglican Young People's Association played host in a right royal fashion to the Young People of the Continuing Presbyterian Church and to the Young People's Society of the United Church. The Sunday School room was prettily decorated in yellow crepe paper for the event, and the cordial welcome extended to the guests of the evening as they entered by the Rector, Mr. Weir, the president, J. Bent and Miss Irene Clemett was hearty and sincere.

When the company had assembled, community song sheets were distributed and following the opening prayer by the rector, a hearty singsong was indulged in. Jack Bent, the president of the Society, then welcomed the guests of the evening. Fred Brockley responded on behalf of the Presbyterian group and Miss L. Parsons on behalf of the Society from the United Church, which was followed up by words of appreciation from Rev. E. W. Rowland of the United Church.

Mr. Horace Hill contributed much to the pleasure of the evening by his rendition of a humorous recitation entitled, "I Want to Go to Morrow." The Misses Lenore Jamieson and Jane Earle rendered a piano duet, which was much appreciated. Mr. Wilbert Clemett rendered a pleasing solo entitled "Tommy Lad," in good voice. After more community singing had been rendered with real vim, slips were distributed and a flower contest in which Mrs. E. H. Mitchell and Rev. E. W. Rowland were the winners, was enjoyed by all.

Fortune telling by a real witch and apple bobbing for partners for refreshments brought to a close this part of the programme, after which refreshments were served by the A.Y.P.A. A vot of thanks from the pastor of the United Church, seconded by Harold Dick of the Presbyterian Church and voiced by all the guests in the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," brought to a close a most happy event, which was dismissed by the pronouncing of the Benediction by Rev. Mr. Weir.

Mission Band Frolic.

The Wide Awake Mission Band, under the supervision of Mrs. E. W. Rowland and her assistant, Mrs. R. Wilson, held a Hallowe'en frolic in the basement of the United Church on Thursday night, when a splendid musical programme was followed by the following contests, in which all joined with very evident pleasure: Alphabetical contest, won by Mary Weir and Edward Lowes.

Apply bobbing—Donald Mahood.

Flower contests—Mary Weir, Erward Lowes.

This splendid programme, interspersed with all the candy, apples, cake and sandwiches one could consume, made an evening which will remain long in the memories of the young folk.

Women's Institute Play.

When too many attractions are crowded into one week, somthing is bound to fail; consequently in last week's programme, the Women's Institute entertainment following, as it did, a political meeting and the election, drew only half a house. The Ebenezer Dramatic Club presented a comedy entitled "Turning the Trick." The outsanding characters being Uatrick Casey (D. Sexsmith), and Armand Mancos Francois de Bon Aime (Tom Sexsmith), who kept the audience in gales of laughter at every appearance. The winner of the Women's Institute Quilt for which tickets had been sold, was decided by the drawing of a number from a hat by a young lady from the audience, Miss Margaret Middleton, who was securely blindfolded. The lucky number was 69 and the quilt was delivered to the winner, Mr. Fred Johnson, the village baker, who was not present.

Five young ladies of the village acted as ushers, and the tickets were taken at the door by Institute members.

Following the play, the dramatic club were served with dainty refreshments by the Society, under whose auspices the play was given.

Presbyterian Anniversary.

Anniversary services were observed in the Continuing Presbyterian Church on Sunday, and the weather being very favorable, large congregations turned out to both the morning and evening service, many having come from Lakevale, the sister appointment.

Rev. Mr. Collins, of Toronto, was the speaker of the day. Mrs. E. H. Mitchell contributed a vocal solo at the morning service, and the choir rendered "I Need Thee Every Hour," at the evening service.

CHURCH TABLET HONORS MEMORY OF J. D. FLAVELLE

Bronze Plaque in First United Church at Lindsay, Presented Sunday.

BY SON-IN-LAW.

LINDSAY, Nov. 5.—Interesting and impressive was the ceremony which took place on Sunday morning when a beautiful bronze tablet, in memory of the late J. D. Flavelle, was presented to First United Church, Cambridge Street.

The presentation was made by Dr. J. W. Macmillan, a son-in-law, on behalf of the family, and was accepted by Rev. T. E. Holling, on behalf of the congregation and the officials.

The tablet, which has been placed on the west wall, close to the Flavelle memorial organ, bears the following inscription:

"To the glory of God and the loving memory of John Dundas Flavelle, 1850-1925, who served God and his fellow-men during sixty years' membership in this congregation. He was eminent in business, sport, public service, and social reform. Upright, genial, and compassionate, his life shone in friendship and good deed. 'Not slothful in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord'."

In making the presentation, Dr. Macmillan said, in part: "One town differs from another town, one person from another person, as does one nation differ from another. What gives a town its quality and tone and individual characteristics more than anything else, than the men in the community, the men who serve the community well?

"My experience has been that anyone referring to this town of Lindsay calls it a good town. The late J. D. Flavelle was one of its leading personages, spending sixty years in the community. Names of prominent men may be forgotten, but their works go on in memory. He loved this town, and in his business career he declined honours in other places in order to remain in Lindsay. He loved this town. He loved his church, and proved his love. He was a deeply religious man, none the less so because he did not say much about it. He showed it in the quality and tone of the many activities of his many-sided life. He showed it in his neighbourliness, uprightness, and nobleness. It is fitting that this tablet be placed to his memory in the church where he worshipped so long and faithfully, and in the church he loved."

Rev. Mr. Holling, in accepting the tablet on behalf of the congregation, read the inscription, and said that it was with very great gratification that the church received the tablet. "It will serve us to remember one who served the town, the Province, and the community faithfully and well. It is fitting that the tablet be placed in this building where he received inspiration for his achievements. He was a loyal and generous supporter of church activities, educational, social reform and Missionary. We regard it as a tribute. It is a testimony to the integrity of the soul and the life of sacrificial service in this community and congregation. Being dead, he yet speaks to us. It is a testimony to a service rendered ungrudgingly and cheerfully for his fellowmen."

The pastor also referred to the noble gift of the beautiful pipe organ, some years ago, by the Flavelle brothers, which was installed in memory of their sainted mother. These memorial gifts had the effect of purifying and ennobling all who worshipped in the church, concluded the pastor.

The large congregation rose and stood with bowed heads in silent tribute to the late J. D. Flavelle.

The congregation included members of the family in Lindsay, Sir Joseph and Mrs. Flavelle, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Macmillan, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McLean, and other friends and relatives from Toronto, as well as a number of personal friends from the Lindsay Curling Club and others in business circles in Lindsay.

HALLOWE'EN HELD IN ANCIENT STYLE

Lakefield, Nov. 5.— Hallowe'en passed very quietly in the village, very few tricks being played and all being harmless—a few gates changed their habitation and one or two lengths of board and slat walks were re-adjusted, two cream cans mounted a box car and their shining sides catching the autumn sun attracted the passer-by. Marauding bands visited the houses and stores and were regaled with candy, apples, nuts, etc., which were provided for the invasion. Nearly all the brigands were in costume, comic predominating, and the measure of the householders' hospitality apparently was gauged by the number of visitors who called.

Hallowe'en Party.

On Monday evening the members of the A.Y.P.A. held their annual Hallowe'en party which, this year took the form of a Mother Goose masquerade. Each arrival was greeted at the door by a fearsome ghost, who gave a most substantial handgrip. A pretty Dutch boy and girl, representing Hansel and Gretel, also accorded a welcome to all and sundry. The evening's proceedings began with an inviation to which each guest submitted, being taken singly into a darkened room where the committee gave a triple degree which tested the courage of the timid. Bobbing for apples, trying to bitt the elusive apple which dangled from a string, and various other Hallowe'en stunts made the evening pass all too quickly. At 10.30 the committee served refreshments, and soon after, the company dispersed, after giving a hearty vote of thanks to the committee, which consisted of Misses Curtis, Connel and Odell Watson, and Messrs. B. Blewtt, M. Hampton, and N. Payne.

Entertained Young Worshippers.

On Saturday evening (Hallowe'en) Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Kemp entertained the Young Worshippers' League and their friends in the basement of the Regent Street Church which, with its decorations of yellow and black and the witches, cats and Jack o' lanterns, which tradition has made the insignia of Hallowe'en, presented a most attractive appearance. Sixty-five young people were present, attired in fancy costumes of varied character and joined in the promenade past the judges, who decided the difficult question of who were the prize winners, finally giving Miss Elva Hendreu the fist prize; Gray Kemp, the second; Robert Spence, third, and Alex. Sutton the fourth prizes. Rev. P. L. Jull, Rev. W. H. Howard, and Rev. J. E. Grant acted as judges. A short programme, given by the children themselves followed, after which an hour was spent in sports and Hallowe'en games. Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening brought to a close.

Thanksgiving Service.

The annual Thanksgiving services of the Regent Street Church will be held on Sunday, morning and evening, with Rev. C. W. Barrett of Stirling, formerly of Lakefield, was the preacher. On Thanksgiving evening the Ladies' Aid will serve the usual bountiful dinner, which in turn will be followed by a concert; Miss Pearl Newton of Toronto, reader, being a special attraction.

Rink Windows Broken.

The attention of the local authorities has been called to the fact that the small boys of the village have made targets of the upper windows, which were not shuttered, of the Lakefield Rink and results are expected. It is an act of pure vandalism, which should not be tolerated, and as the bulbs of the street lights are also targets and many are annually destroyed by the well aimed stones of the youngsters, it seems as if drastic measures are necessary. Wanton destruction of property is an offence which should be dealt with according to the law, which provides a suitable penalty, which may make our youths more constructive and less destructive in policy.

A Thanksgiving Dance will be held at the Hotel, Lakefield, on Monday evening next, with a five-piece orchestra in attendance.

DOURO PERSONALS.

DOURO, Nov. 5.—Miss Margaret Whibbs won the certificate of honor in S.S. No. 4 for having won the highest number of points (8) at the school fair. Miss Mary T. Leahy was the winner in S.S. No. 3.

Miss Irene Garvey of Peterboro was a recent week end visitor with Misses Mary and Margaret Allen.

NORWOOD CHURCH KEEPS ANNIVERSARY

Baptists Will Have Special Services Sunday and Fowl Supper on Monday.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church purposes holding its annual Fowl Supper on Monday evening, Nov. 9. Anniversary services will be held on the Sunday preceding.

The Y.W.A. of St. Andrew's Church held a Hallowe'en social in the basement of the church on Friday evening, when an enjoyable time was spent by all present. The proceeds amounted to about $25.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Church was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. C. Porter. The president, Mrs. Jno. Rork, occupied the chair. Interesting papers were given by Mrs. Geo. Edwards, Mrs. W. Grattan, and Mrs. Jno. E. Roxburgh.

Invitations are being sent out for an "At Home," to be held on Friday evening next in the Government Armouries, under the auspices of the 40th Northumberland Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Don't Worry about Gray Hair

This Clean, Colorless Liquid Will Restore the Original Shade

Thousands of people have quickly banished grayness and have restored the original shade to their hair with the remarkable preparation known as Kolor-Bak.

Physicians and scientists know that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells in the scalp because these cells have become inactive. No matter what the cause, it is amazing to see how the grayness disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is the best known substitute for the natural pigmentation. It also banishes dandruff and stops itching of the scalp and falling hair. If you are gray, Kolor-Bak is all you need to make your hair look "young" again. No need to furnish a sample of your hair—no tests to make—as this one clean, colorless liquid is effective on any gray hair. Money back instantly if Kolor-Bak is not satisfactory.

Telephone linesmen in the Western States have their troubles. Bears, it seems, sometimes mistake the humming of the wires for the humming of bees, climb the poles in search of honey and by smashing the glass insulators cause a short circuit. Gray squirrels bite lead cables and leave deep holes, where moisure may gather and temporarily disrupt the service. Woodpeckers injure the uprights and crossbars with their stout bills, and wasps, beetles and field mice also make work for the linemen.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Allow me to use a little space in your precious column. I am a young man just over twenty. I have lots of boy friends, but most of the "petters" (girls) that I have met don't appeal to me in the least. I never thought I would ever meet a girl different from those "petters". But not long ago I was at a party and I met three nice girls full of life and good looking but (non-petters).

Now, Annie Laurie, tell me how I can attract the attention of any one of those girls. Is it proper to call up a girl on the 'phone that you don't know very well?

Those girls don't seem to bother with fellows, but I am sure if all young fellows were like me those girls could have a fellow any time.

There may be more of those kind but I have failed to see them. I guess all of the nice young girls have steady fellows. I am not the kind of a fellow that talks about girls, but just the same one cannot help but pass a remark about those "petters."

Hoping to see my answer in soon and thanking you very much for your space.

ANXIOUS REXIE.

ANXIOUS REXIE: Evidently the vogue of the "petter" is passing. It is all very well for men to say they don't like this type, but girls usually conform themselves to the wishes of their men companions, so there you are. It takes two to have a quarrel. An illuminating remark by a young man who confesses a distinct fondness for "petting" is the assertion that a man who is in love with a young lady never thinks of "petting." He does this simply when he is looking for an evening's entertainment, like going to a show or a dance, and if the young lady becomes too serious, all the spice goes out of the affair. However, your problem is to attract the attention of young ladies who don't "pet." That should be easy. I don't think you will have any difficulty in continuing this friendship. Why not telephone them, as long as you have been properly introduced. Go ahead, and good luck to you. I hope they don't weaken and spoil your good opinion of them.

ANGLICAN TEACHERS ELECTED OFFICERS

MET AT ST. LUKE'S

The Anglican Sunday School Teachers' Association held its annual meeting in St. Luke's Sunday School on Tuesday night, when the election of officers took place for the ensuing year. The meeting opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave.. This was followed by a short musical programme by the Dixie Orchestra, including a cornet solo by Mr. Minicolo. The next items were a reading by Mrs. H. E. Connolly and a vocal solo by Mr. C. Hope. Miss Marjorie Turner then read a paper on the summer school at Bishop Strachan School in Toronto, which she had attended. Dr. Blagrave urged all those who possibly could to attend a school next summer, stating that the programme was interesting and well balanced.

The visiting teachers were then formally welcomed to St.. Luke's by Miss Clara Adams.

President — Mrs. Dayman, St. John's.

Vice-President—Miss C. Adams, St. Lukes'.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. Harold Lang, St. John's.

Publicity Secretary—Mr. C. Jay, All Saints'..

The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. G. J. Bousfield, and refreshments were served.

The Secrets Of Charm

By Lucrezia Bori

By Lucrezia Bori.

No woman likes to be told she is well-preserved. Yet, how often do we see a woman who has really passed her prime in years, but seems to have the secret of keeping at her prime in beauty?

If you can see such a woman, and think to yourself, "How does she manage it?" this, to my mind, is an implied compliment. The woman who is not young in years, but who can manage to remain looking young and lovely is, in my mind, doubly blessed. She is not only blessed with a certain amount of good looks, but she is blessed with the ability to keep these good looks intact.

This ability usually means that the woman is very intelligent, too. She is intelligent enough to know how to save herself and thus preserve her beauty.

Now, if you could look into her private life, there are certain habits I'm sure you'd find there. For one thing, she is sure to be a person who simply makes herself get enough sleep. She doesn't keep irregular hours, and fail to make them up. She may enjoy a late evening party as much as anyone, but she knows how to allow herself ample rest the next evening to make up for this unnecessary exertion.

Neither does she stint herself as to meals. If she gets in a hurry, she never lets the hurry be too big to allow her to stop what she is doing at the regular meal time and take her usual amount of simple, wholesome food.

I mention all these particular things, because they are things which the modern girl may grow careless about. In this day, when many of our young girls go to live in cities and get jobs, they allow themselves to grow irregular in their habits. They stay up too late at nights, and sometimes cut on meal times because they do not plan well enough, and let themselves get in a hurry.

I have called this insistence with yourself upon regular, normal habits "saving yourself." It means even more than this name implies, for following the rules I am suggesting really means only giving yourself what is your due. The girl or older woman who spends her energy and her looks recklessly, deserves to suffer from the needless expenditure.

Of course there are times when we may have to lose sleep and effort, in nursing a friend or member of the family. These occasions that call for stored-up energy will not hurt us if we are in good condition, the result of proper care of ourselves. They will give us added satisfaction because of the good we are doing, and the fact that we are able to undertake the job.

Easy To Gain Weight With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast With Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

Thin, run-down and underweight men, women and children can improve their health, increase their energy and put on from five to twenty pounds of good solid flesh in three weeks.

A new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been under-weight—or how much underweight you are, "ironized yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fail get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.30 for a large 60-tablet package, or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

ONCE UPON A TIME — THE THREE LITTLE ELVES—IV.

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

Nothing Upsets Him

Some people are faced by an annual Thanksgiving problem. Either they strictly deny themselves a share in the rich things of the table — and thus become killjoys at the feast; or they take the plunge — and for days afterwards suffer the pangs of an outraged liver.

But you who are wise are faced by no such problem. You know that turkeys and pumpkin pie are meant to be eaten and enjoyed; at the same time you realize that an extra strain is going to be placed upon your digestive system.

Therefore you take precautions. You take Kruschen Salts.

As a mild but efficient tonic for the liver and kidneys, assisting them in times of stress to do their work thoroughly and regularly, Kruschen is invaluable before, during and after all festive seasons. Start to-morrow morning, taking that "little daily dimeful" in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea — just as much of the powder as will cover a ten cent piece. Taken this easy way, Kruschen is tasteless. But the little dose is sufficient to enable the eliminating organs to perform their duties actively, thoroughly cleansing the system of all impurities. Clear, refreshed blood circulates all over the body, filling you with a tingling sense of health and high spirits. You are well and know it — fit for all the Thanksgiving celebrations.

A 75c bottle of Kruschen Salts contains 160 doses—nearly enough for six months—which means bounding health for less than half a cent a day. The dose prescribed for daily use for adults is "as much as will lie on a 10 cent piece," taken in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea. Every druggist sells Kruschen. Get a 75c bottle to-day.

SOLE IMPORTING AGENTS: CHARLES GYDE & SON, MONTREAL.

When the children of Miss Burton's class assembled in the morning, the curtain was still covering the blackboard, but there was an air of great curiosity and many whisperings of deep interest in the classroom.

Usually, it takes a few moments for things to settle down, but the regulation church mouse, running down the aisle would sound like the clatter of pots and pans, compared with the waiting silence of that class of boys and girls, all eyes on the curtain.

After the opening exercises, Miss Burton pulled a string which dropped the curtain.

There was a suppressed "Oh!" and then the class just burst into handclapping, at the colored chalk work on the blackboard.

There were chipmunks, running on fences. Pine cones in corners! Nuthatches running head down on tree trunks!

The whole board was divided into scenes, by the trunks of big trees. Woodland folks seemed to be peeking from behind stumps. Squirrels seemed to be too busy gathering nuts, to notice the class. Chickadees were hanging on the ends of branches, upside down, and eating things which harm trees. Some pretty maple leaves were on the ground, and an elf had an acorn almost as big as himself.

Miss Burton had not only made all these pretty pictures of woodland folks in their homes, but had also made certain sections where words in quaintly-formed letters told some of the things which go on in November.

Squirrels hide many nuts in the ground. Some they find and eat during the winter; some they forget about, and the nuts which the squirrels forget, grow into trees.

"You see this fat squirrel, digging a hole for that nut he has in his mouth?" said the teacher. "Well, it is more than likely he will forget he put it there."

The stories will all be told to-morrow, and this is our Thanksgiving tribute to Nature, and Nature's tribute to God.

"Lays eggs!" Dicky exclaimed. "The very idea. And where is she now?"

"At home in our nest," replied Mr. Platypus. "Come on over and see her. She is sleeping. Your daytime is our night time, you know. We Platypuses rove around at night. Come on, Happy Giggles," and he led Dicky and the elfin over to the little brook and down its side to a deep burrow in the bank.

She was glad to see Happy Giggles and Dicky and offered them some fish and worms, which they politely refused.

"I'm sorry we haven't any of the food you like," she laughed, "but we Platypus family love worms and water insects. Every night we go fishing in the stream here."

"That's why you have such long bills, I guess," laughed Dicky. "You can dig down into the ground after the worms. And your webbed feet help you in swimming."

"That reminds me, Daddy," said Mrs. Platypus. "Did you bring me some more worms?"

"No, I didn't, replied Mr. Platypus. "I was napping when Happy Giggles called me. I'll go and get some right now," and he led Happy Giggles and Dicky out into the sunshine again. "Come and see us again before you go back to America," and he slid off the bank into the water.

Dicky and Happy Giggles watched him until he was out of sight, then they ran on through the woods in search of new adventures.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DICKY FINDS A FURRY BALL IS AN ANIMAL.

Dicky gathered up a long stick and was just about to poke the furry animal, all curled up like a ball, when a tiny hand caught hold of his arm and held it. Dicky looked around into a wee little elfin's face.

"Why Happy Giggles," he cried. "How in the world did you get here? Did you know I was here?"

"Sure I did," laughed the elfin, taking the stick from Dicky's hand. "Don't poke that little fellow. He wouldn't hurt you. Hey, Mr. Platypus, wake up! You have company!"

Slowly the fur ball unrolled and a funny looking head with a bill on it like a duck's, poked out. Two tiny eyes that were almost hidden in the thick fur of its coat, blinked at the light.

"Did someone call me?" he asked in a sleepy voice. "It isn't day time yet is it? Oh, hello there, Happy Giggles. Who's your friend?" and he slowly raised his long slender body up on four web-like feet.

"This is Dicky Dorn, a little friend of mine from America," replied Happy Giggles. "He is just visiting his Aunt Betty."

"Well, how do you like Australia?" asked Mr. Platypus. "I suppose you have met quite a few animals here that you don't have in America?"

"I have seen a great many new animals," laughed Dicky. "I've never seen a Platypus before. Your body looks something like an otter, doesn't it? And you have the bill and feet of a bird."

"Sure I have the bill and feet of a bird," chuckled Mr. Platypus. "Guess you might say we are related to the bird family for my wife lays eggs."

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6.

A lively and interesting day is forecast on the basis of strong planetary excitement. But this is apt to be a conflicting nature, since there is promise of removal of congested conditions and the possibility of sudden change, removal or journey, though these are not free from menacing aspects. There is danger of quarrels and litigation as well as the threat of loss through speculation or lending money. Precaution should be taken with all papers.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an eventful year with change and travel—breaking away from long-thwarting conditions. But quarrels and speculation as well as lending money should be avoided and all papers should be signed with precaution against fraud or misrepresentation. A child born on this day is likely to be restless and sharp tongued and may have trouble through carelessness in money matters.

Ooze dredged from the ocean floor in the tropics is so cold it cannot be handled without discomfort.

Large Red Pimples Itched Terribly Cuticura Heals

"My face became full of large, red, scaly pimples and at times they itched terribly. They spread in great blotches and formed large, sore eruptions that burned a great deal. I was ashamed to go anywhere on account of them, and the trouble kept getting worse. The trouble lasted about a year.

"I tried various kinds of ointments without success. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me. I purchased more, and after using three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, together with the Cuticura Soap, I was healed in about two months." (Signed) Miss Mildred M. Breau, Crousetown, Nova Scotia.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

Solution will appear in to-morrow's paper.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

HOW FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE SPREADS

Animals have their diseases just as men do. While there are similarities between the ailments of man and beast, it is fortunate that not many are interchangeable.

But there are a few conditions which draw no line and respect no barriers between the species. One of these is the "foot and mouth disease."

This is what we commonly hear described as an "epizootic disorder." It prevails among animals. It attacks cattle, goats, sheep, hogs and other animals, as well as man.

Fortunately, it is not common among humans. But the foot and mouth disease is a contagious or infectious disease, and, unless he is careful, the man who attends a sick animal may become inoculated.

As I shall describe to you, in this disease vesicles—blisters—form and the fluid of the vesicles carries the infecting agent. This is a virus which finds its way through broken places in the skin of mucous membranes. It may even reach man from the milk of an infected cow.

All the infectious diseases have a "period of incubation." This is the interval between the time of "catching" the disease and the appearance of the first symptoms.

In the foot and mouth disease the incubation period varies from two days to a week or ten days. The first sign after inoculation is a sensation of dryness and burning in the mouth, together with more or less fever.

The lining of the mouth becomes swollen and more and more congested. The saliva is increased materially. After a couple of days tiny blisters form on the lips, tongue and throat. These vesicles are filled with a clear fluid like water.

In bad attacks the feet and hands are involved. Blisters form on the skin, like the vesicles in the mouth. The act the same way, rupturing within a few days and forming sensitive ulcers.

The disease runs its mild course in a few days and disappears. Rarely is it a matter of great consequence. There have been a few serious epidemics, but ordinarily it amounts to little, disappearing in a week or ten days.

Mild washes of alum or chlorate of potash may be applied to the mouth eruptions. For the skin, zinc ointment or a soothing oil may be applied.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. F. S. Q.—How can I get rid of a red spot? It is not a pimple, but it has been there for months.

A.—I would suggest that you have a doctor examine you, as it would be impossible to recommend a treatment without giving you an examination.

M. F. Q.—How can I reduce?

A.—By eliminating from your diet as far as possible, sugars, starches and fats. Exercise daily in the open air.

G. E. R. Q.—Is it possible to cure a swollen gland in the neck by X-ray? (2).—Will this also destroy a possible growth, other than goitre?

A.—This method is very effective in some cases. Your doctor will advise you.

(2).—The X-ray is used for this purpose also in some instances, but always under the direction of an expert in this kind of treatment.

HENRY JOHN HEINZ— The "Pickle King."

One of the most conspicuous enterprises ever built up in America or any other land, and the largest of its kind, is the Henry J. Heinz condiment industry, famous the world over.

His father left Bavaria in 1840 and settled in Pittsburgh, where the future "pickle king" was born in 1884. Later he removed to Sharpsburg, where he followed brickmaking and contracting. Their home was a 4-acre tract, where the lad loved to "watch things grow," as he said.

He was shrewd and thrifty, and before he was seventeen he had sold over $2,000 worth of "garden truck." But as he worked about the little truck farm there took shape in his mind the germ of an idea that later developed into a veritable gold mine. In reaching out for bigger things his first step was a course in a business college. Then, in one room, he started preparing one product—horseradish—which he peddled himself.

The 4-acre vegetable garden expanded to cover 100,000 acres, where he grew the products preserved in the great plant. There are 25 finishing factories, in addition to the main plant and factories in England, Canada and Spain. The company owns and operates its own line of tank and refrigerator cars, also its own glass, tin and box factories. It employs about 6,500 people. Scattered over America, Europe, Australia, Africa are about 400 salesmen.

The practical philanthropy of Henry J. Heinz was best demonstrated in his business. The plant contains a library, gymnasium, dance hall, picture-gallery, hospital, swimming pool, free dental service and an auditorium, where frequently the employees are entertained.

As a special inducement to his "coworkers," as he preferred to call them, to remain and grow with the concern, every one has an understudy and is, in turn, understudying some one else. Thus, all are in line for promotion and high salaried positions. Also, when an employee has been with the company three years he is given a life insurance policy growing automatically from $200 to $1,000.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON
Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"

Copyright 1925 by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 6

It has often been pointed out in these articles that one of the best ways to learn auction is to study examples of "What not to do," either in the bidding or play. The other night the writer was playing at one of the well-known New York card clubs, supposedly with high-grade players, and yet observed some very fine examples of "What not to do." For example:

Hearts — K, 7, 6
Clubs — K, J, 9, 8, 4	Y
Diamonds — K, 10, 8, 6, 5	A	B
Spades — none	Z

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one no trump, A passed, Y bid two spades and B and Z passed. Here's where A started to give a fine exhibition of "What not to do." He didn't stop to figure that his hand was worth probably three tricks if spades were trumps, so that if his partner could take only one trick, they would save the game. He gaily bid three clubs which Y doubled. B and Z passed and A now decided to try three diamonds. This also was doubled and the contract was set for 400 points. Study this hand, the bidding and the score, and learn "what not to do" under similar circumstances.

	Y
A		B
	Z

Hearts — 6
Clubs — K, Q, 9, 8
Diamonds — 7
Spades — A, Q, J, 9, 7, 6, 2

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid four spades (a fine preemptive bid, by the way), A doubled, Y passed and B bid five hearts. Z and A now passed and Y doubled. When all passed, what should Z have opened? Think this over and compare notes with analysis that will be given in the next article.

The same player had a somewhat similar problem a few hands later. He also fell down on this hand so let's see what our readers will do. It is a fine example of "What not to do."

	Hearts — 5
	Clubs — 9, 8, 6, 3
	Diamonds — 7, 6, 2
	Spades — A, K, 8, 7, 6
	Hearts — K, 6, 2
Y
A		B
Z
	Clubs — K, Q, J, 4
	Diamonds — K, 8
	Spades — Q, 10, 4, 2

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid four hearts, A bid five diamonds and all passed. Y opened the king of spades and B's hand, the dummy's in this instance, was placed on the table. Z played the three of spades and A the five. What should Y now play and why? Reason this out and try not to do what Y did.

In the following hand the most inexcusable mistake of the evening was made:

	Y
A		B
	Z

Hearts — K, Q, 9, 8, 4
Clubs — A, 4
Spades — 9, 5

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one heart, A and Y passed and B bid one spade. Z and A passed and Y bid two hearts. The final bid was four spades due to the fact that Y raised the heart bid twice more. He also doubled four spades. What should Z open? Before you decide, think it over carefully and don't make the mistake that Z did. His opening was a fine example of "What not to do."

Problem No. 4

	Hearts — A, 10, 2 Clubs — none Diamonds — 5, 3 Spades — K, 8, 2
Hearts — 9 Clubs — 7, 5 Diamonds — J, 8, 7 Spades — A, Q	Y A B Z	Hearts — Q, J Clubs — K, 9, 3 Diamonds — 6, 4 Spades — 6
	Hearts — 8, 4 Clubs — Q, 8, 6, 2 Diamonds — K, 2 Spades — none

Clubs are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win five of the eight tricks against any defense?

Answer to Problem No. 4

Z should lead the four of hearts and Y win the trick with the ace. Y should then lead the deuce of spades which Z should trump with the deuce of clubs. Z should then lead the king of diamonds and follow with the deuce of diamonds, which trick A must win. Whatever A now leads YZ must win two trump tricks. If A leads a diamond or a spade Z trumps and leads the eight of hearts. His queen of clubs must now make. If A should lead a trump, Z must still win two trump tricks. Played in this way, YZ must win five of the eight tricks against any defense. It should be noted that the lead of the king of diamonds by Z at trick one and the lead of the deuce of diamonds at trick two is a loser. A should lead the nine of hearts which Y must win. The lead by Y of a heart or a spade is a loser. Played in this way, YZ must lose four tricks. It should also be noted that Z may first play the king of diamonds and then lead the four of hearts and let Y lead the deuce of spades. When he trumps the spade Z should then lead the deuce of diamonds, obtaining the same result as in the correct solution given. It is a tricky problem and should be carefully noted. All of the variations given should be played out.

MINERALS AND VITAMINS WERE LACKING SO STRONG MEN WERE SICK AND SHIP SOUGHT HARBOR

Case of Men on Board Raiding Vessel in War is Example.

EAT RIGHT FOODS

Requirements of Body Vary With Age—Fresh Food Needed.

The most daring raider that sailed the seas during the World War was forced to dash for port after more than eight months of buccaneering—with more than 100 of the crew sick unto death and the remainder on the verge of the same peculiar illness.

What had happened? All had been rugged, picked men. They had lived well, seemingly, during their months at sea on a fare consisting mainly of meat, mashed potatoes, white bread, sweet cakes, tea and coffee, with occasional treats of fat and cheese. Yet it was found that the lack of certain vital food elements had made these strong men sick! The minerals and vitamins that must be part of a life-sustaining diet were missing. When these were supplied in the form of fresh vegetables, eggs, whole wheat bread, fresh milk and the juice of oranges the men quickly recovered.

Medical authorities are giving more and more study to the prevention and cure of disease by use of proper foods. If we wish to be well, happy and efficient, we must eat the right food.

We eat three supposedly good meals a day—and still we may be starving for the vital elements our bodies need. Some of the "prepared" foods of today have been robbed of important health-giving elements which Nature put in them. It is very easy to over-eat and still be under-nourished.

Many of our physical ailments could be avoided by giving proper attention to the selection of food. Nutrition is an individual problem and it varies according to age. For instance, the person of advancing years needs a greater amount and a greater proportion of "roughage" than a child. "Roughage" in the form of whole wheat, whole cereals, bran or bulky vegetables and fruits is necessary for health.

Variety in the diet is absolutely essential. Children, especially, need pure milk, vegetables and fruit. An insufficiency of these foods is frequently the cause of thinness and stunted growth.

The mistake that many people make is in neglecting to use enough milk, whole wheat bread, fruits, vegetables and whole grain cereals from which the outer covering has not been removed—rice, wheat, oats, corn, barley—the "natural" foods in which vitamins and minerals are most plentiful. Without them the teeth, blood and bones will suffer, and bodily functions will be interfered with. Without vitamins there can be neither growth nor health.

Make no mistake—the most important health law is the law of keeping well by eating the right food.

According to the American Medical Association vitamins are constituents of our food that are essential to health. Three are known at present designated as Vitamins A, B and C. (See chart below.)

A deficiency of "A" in the diet may result in symptoms of rickets and a disease of the eyes as well as lack of normal development.

A deficiency of "B" may result in the loss of appetite and symptoms of a disease of the nerves called beriberi.

A deficiency of "C" may result in symptoms of scurvy.

A deficiency of any of the vitamins in the diet of children will result in impaired growth and health.

Florida Strawberry Crop Will Soon Be On Market

PLANT CITY, Fla., Nov. 5.—Strawberries! This mid-summer cry in Northern and Western cities will soon be echoed here when the Florida berry growers begin gathering their crops. The greatest yield of the local fields comes shortly after Christmas when thousands of crates are shipped to distant points.

Strawberries require a special method of cultivation, involving expensive irrigation systems and constant field work. The crops in this vicinity are valued at more than $1,000,000 a year and the strawberry acreage is constantly increasing.

BIG LOSS FROM SMUT IN WHEAT

Treatment of Seed for Control of Disease Should be Practiced.

SOME METHODS

Pointing out that $1,600,000 has been lost by the farmers of Ontario through sowing wheat infested with the spores of Loose Smut and Stinking Smut the Department of Extension, Ontario Agricultural College, offers the following recommendation for treatment of wheat seed for the prevention of the above sources:

Treatment for Stinking Smut of Wheat.—Remove all smut balls by the use of a good, and properly adjusted fanning mill, or by placing the seed grain, a bushel at a time, in a tub of water and stirring. The smut balls being light will rise to the surface and can be skimmed off. When the smut balls are removed treat the seed with formalin as follows: Place the wheat to be treated in a pile on the barn floor and shovel it over into another pile, and as the shovelling is going on spray with a solution consisting of one part formalin and one part water. Use this solution at the rate of one pint to twenty-five bushels of seed. A small quart sealer sprayer is the best for this use. Cover the treated grain with sacks for 4 or 5 hours and then sow. Sacks and drill should also be treated.

Treatment for Loose Smut of Wheat—Secure seed from fields that produced an absolutely cleean crop and the take such measures as to prevent its contamination until sown.

Formalin and bluestone seed treatments will not destroy the spores of Loose Smut of Wheat.

Use the hot water method.

The clean seed should be soaked for five hours in water at 63 to 72 degrees F. It should then be placed in small burlap sacks (4-quart size), and allowed to drain for a short time. It is of greatest importance that seed be treated in small lots in order that all of the grain may be quickly and uniformly brought to the desired temperature. Two tubs of water should be provided. In one tub (No. 2) the exact temperature required should be maintained. The other tub (No. 1) is used for bringing the grain to the temperature of the treatment, so as not to lower the temperature in Tub No. 2. (Galvanized iron tubs of 20-40 gallons capacity and kerosene double burner stoves are ample equipment). The drained sacks of seed should be plunged in Tub No. 1 for a minute, then transferred to Tub No. 2, and kept agitated while immersed at temperature of 129 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Sow as soon as sufficiently dry to run through the drill. Higher temperatures will destroy germination, lower temperatures not effective.

98-POUND, BLUE-EYED IDOL OF COW COUNTRY SHE HOGTIES A WILD STEER IN 24 SECONDS

If you feel bored and long for excitement, there is a simple remedy for your trouble.

Go to that part of the west where Mabel Strickland is well known and commence to criticize her ability as an equestrienne. You'll have all the excitement you can carry, and unless you have left the gate open and seen to it that the road is clear you may have a near-lynching.

For Mabel Strickland is a 98-pound, blue-eyed idol of the cow countries who can rope and hogtie a steer in 24 seconds. This you may be interested to know is a world's record and likely to remain one for many moons.

She is, in fact, the champion all-round cowgirl who tamed one of the most ornery broncs that ever came out of the cage during the recent festivals of a rodeo nature held at Cheyenne. Kiss Yourself Good-Bye was the charming name of the animal she subdued in the presence of thirty thousand cheering individuals, and the population of the sunset districts loves her.

She is only in her early twenties, trim and slim, both a fond wife and a mother, afraid of nothing but another's danger.

"He, the horse, sunfished, whirled, hit the grit with all four on a spot a hat would cover, tore away in mad half-falls and torturing stiff-legged bucks, but the silken-garbed figure on his back rode him ragged and repeat; and scraped him, neck, shoulder and flanks, with both feet; but she never lost her smile. Then a gun barked and a pick-up man reached out and took her off.

"There's a difference between the old lady lope of a circus mare, groomed slick and slender, and the gallop of a cowgirl at a rodeo. These girls are showing off to riders, not children. They get everything out of a horse that is in it; they evolve tricks that are especially designed to shock and thrill because of the apparent danger. They crawl all the way under the horse, dropping down on one side, reaching through for a stirrup, grasping a ring with a hand and coming up on the other side—sometimes the flying hoofs miss the head a fraction of an inch."

There is no variety of horsellesh too fiery for her liking. There is no wild flying pony which she cannot master, and there are few stunts in the saddle which she will not attempt successfully.

Furthermore, as happens the world over among persons who have an outstanding genius for some particular thing, Mabel Strickland wants to do something else. She wants to be very feminine. She would not object if it were necessary for her to spend all her time doing the duties of a housewife.

"My home is my heaven," she says. "I don't care for these high falutin' ideas for women. I don't care about mixing in the dirty mess called politics. I don't want to learn how to be half a man."

She is, it seems, rather unsatisfied with her present mode of living. Which proves, therefore, that she already is what she wants to be—very feminine.

WORLD'S POULTRY CONGRESS TO BE HELD IN OTTAWA, JULY, 1927

Many Countries Have Already Signed Their Intention to Attend.

WORTHY INDUSTRY

Is Now Receiving the Attention Which It Deserves.

Great Britain, Ireland, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Spain, Italy, Czecho-Slovakia, New Zealand, Australia, India, Burmah, Egypt and the United States are countries which have already signified their intention of participating in the World's Poultry Congress to be held in Ottawa in July, 1927. Many more acceptances will follow the issuing of the official invitation, which will go from Canada to over one hundred governments.

The first congress held at the Hague in 1921, was the first World Congress of any body of investigators to be called after the war. This no doubt helped to bring more official attention to the "hen," particularly so because of the place she took as a food producer during the period of short supplies, from 1914 to 1918.

The President of the World's Poultry Congress in 1927 will be Edward Brown, F.L.S., of London, England, who is president of the International Association of Poultry Instructors and Investigators. He has recently visited Canada, and in speaking of these Congresses described the first at the Hague as a wonderful example of organization, and the second at Barcelona last year as wonderful from the standpoint of its exhibition. The standard has been set, and Canada must make the third Congress in 1927 an outstanding example of what an international congress should be, and in addition try to let the delegates see and realize that Canada is a nation—young it may be in nationhood—but one whose ambition knows no limitations, and whose hospitality is offered wholeheartedly.

The Congress crest depicts a fowl standing on the world, which may be taken as emblematic of the position enjoyed by poultry today. Poultry is more widely bred then any other class of livestock, and poultry products find a place in every home. Such an industry is worthy of the fullest recognition by the governments of the nations. It is today receiving that recognition, and the world Poultry Congresses are an evidence of this.

Enthusiasm and a realization of Canada's opportunities and responsibilities are necessary to success in 1927. One paper has said "The whole of America is behind this undertaking." The statement is true, but the responsibility for making the Congress a success, for making the delegates feel at home and wanting eventually to make Canada their home, for united effort by each and every province, and for welding another link in the chain of poultry progression, rests with Canada. It is not entirely a poultry man's job, but something in which every Canadian can take a hand.

The honorary Chairman of the Congress Committee is the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture; the chairman, Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture; the chairman of the Executive and general director of the congress, F. C. Elford, Dominion Poultry Husbandman, and the Congress secretary, E. Rhoades, Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

A congress committee is being formed in each province, and the respective ministers of agriculture will represent their provinces on the Congress Executive.

MARKETING THE POTATO CROP.

The potato grower should cater to the wishes of the most particular and exacting customers. He should furnish a choice product in a most attractive form and should carefully study the demands of the market he wishes to serve. For the best prices the potatoes should be uniform, sound, smooth and of good table quality, whether selected by the pound, the basket, the bushel, the bag, the barrel or the car load. The commercial potato grower should not be confined to the local market, but should be in a position to put his potatoes on the best market available, either through his own efforts or through the medium of a co-operative association. It sometimes occurs that of the price paid by the consumer for a bushel of potatoes about two-thirds are required to defray the cost of transportation and of distribution, and one-third is left for the grower. This not as it should be. Undoubtedly one of the best remedies for such a condition is co-operation on the part of the growers themselves.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. C, Guelph.

LIGHT BLIGHT OF POTATO.

The damage done by this destructive vine disease is largely dependent upon weather conditions. During cool or wet seasons it spreads rapidly, doing great destruction to the potato foliage if not checked through the timely application of Bordeaux spray.

The first symptoms of the disease show up as small, irregular, yellowish green spots on the leaves which quickly turn brown, and may cover the leaf in two days. On the under surface a white mildew-like growth appears bearing the spores which spread the disease to other plants. With climatic conditions just right a crop may be destroyed in three or four days. One infected plant will infect a field. If the weather is wet and cool watch for symptoms and, if noted, spray with Bordeaux at ten day intervals.—Dept. of Extension, O.A.C., Guelph.

FLOWERS FOR THE FARM HOME

Flowers are, no doubt, enjoyed more in the spring than at any other period of the growing season. After a long winter the first flowers are eagerly sought for and if bulbs have been planted in the autumn one has not long to wait for flowers for Snowdrops bloom as soon as the snow has gone. Then come in rapid succession, and some at the same time, the Scillas or Squills, Glory of the Snow or Chionodoxa, Crocus, Grape Hyacinth, Dutch Hyacinth, Narcissus in great variety, and early, cottage and Darwin Tulips. These give a succession of bloom from early in April, or earlier if the frost is out of the ground, until well on in June.

While the bulbs are growing in Holland, the flowers for next year are being formed in the bulb. Later, the bulbs are dug, cured and shipped to Canada. Knowing that the flowers are already formed in the bulbs before planting, he who proposes either to grow them in the garden or pot them for the house will readily understand that large, well-developed bulbs are likely to give better flowers than small ones. In ordering this should be remembered. No amount of care can add more blooms to a Hyacinth, spike than were formed when the bulb was growing in Holland.

Unless the bulbs are well rooted in the soil outside or in the pots in the house, the results will not be satisfactory, hence the desirability of obtaining them as soon as they are offered for sale in the stores, which will be during the month of September. Tulips, Narcissus and Hyacinths should be planted from four to six inches deep to the bottom of the bulb, and about the same distance apart, while the smaller bulbs, such as Snowdrops, Crocuses, and Squills may be planted about two inches apart and from two to three inches deep.

Narcissus—Emperor, Sir Watkin, Madame de Graaff, Madame Plemp, Poeticus.

Cottage Tulips—Macrospeila, Golden Crown, Picotee, and many others.

General Purpose Mare Was Sold for $121—Other Prices.

PLOUGHING HELD UP

Heavy Rains Have Made Fields Muddy—Potatoes Still in Ground.

Farm Notes.

BURNBRAE, Nov. 5.—At the auction sale held by Mr. T. A. Smith, 8th Con. on Friday last, prices were fairly high. The crowd was small, but everyone seemed to want somethings so bidding was fairly brisk. A good, general purpose mare six years of age brought $121, while Wm. Wright secured an aged team for the modest sum of $4. Ordinary grade dairy cows sold up to $58, while a young brood sow brought $47, showing that someone has confidence in the future of the bacon industry.

Mr. Robt. Cleugh, who has for a number of years resided in Belleville, is returning to his farm in Seymour East at the New Year. Mr. Harry Petherick, who has worked the farm since Mr. Cleugh's departure for the city, has rented the Alex. Innes farm for a term of three years.

Ploughing Held Up.

Rain has retarded Fall ploughing here for the last two weeks and most of it still remains to be done. Sod is about the only thing that can be plowed successfully, as the rain and snow combined have made the fields that are to be cross-plowed, a sea of mud, the backward conditions have also interfered with the lifting of potato and root crops. The potato crop here has varied a good deal, some having large yields while others report a fewer number of tubers than formerly but all of good size. Some cases of rot are reported also where land was heavy, due to excessive moisture. The mangel crop this year is one of the best ever known, and from reports in farm papers this seems to be general throughout the province. Turnips will be an average crop, though practically none have been taken in as yet. Mr. E. C. Pollock, Burnbrae Corners, has one of the finest patches of Swede turnips ever grown around this locality. There is almost an acre, without a break in any row and all of good size. Mr. Pollock estimates his crop at one thousand bushels.

Cheese Prices Steady.

Cheese prices continue steady at around the 23c mark. Local factories paid for September milk at from 58 to 60½c per lbs. butter-fat, which is the highest price recorded, since the system of paying by test was started. The milk-flow continued steady up to the last week of October, when severe frosts and snow sompelled farmers to stable their cows, and the production fell off considerably. This has been a remarkably good fall at cheese factories, some making within one or two sheese per day of the June mark. This adds to the maker's income and gives him steady work at the time of year when usually the cheese made each day will not pay him good wages.

Mr. Andrew Milne, Menie, recently suffered a severe loss when his herd of dairy cows received an over-dose of frozen apples. Two cows almost died, while the rest are nearly dry, the production of eight cows dropping 190 lbs. in two days.

Cheese Graded Down.

Menie and Brae Cheese factories recently received their first cuts of the season when a few cheese from each factory were placed in second-grade, due to turnip flavour. This is the fault of some patron and attaches no blame to the makers, Frank Little and Leslie Shillinglaw, who have both had very successful years, especially the latter, who is this year for the first time in a factory of his own.

WEATHER CONDITIONS PERMIT RESUMPTION OF THRESHING IN PRAIRIE PROVINCES THIS WEEK

Work Will Soon Be Completed If Weather Remains Good.

FROZEN POTATOES.

Cold Caused Extra Run on Live Stock Market, With Price Drop.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov 5 (Special to The Examiner)—Weather mostly clear and unusually cold through the West but turning milder towards week end, and is now favorable for carrying on balance of Fall work, according to the Canadian Pacific Railway crop reports. Threshing has been resumed generally and the continuance of present conditions will enable speedy completion of this work. Further progress has been made with Fall plowing, but heavy frost has delayed operations. Many farmers and gardeners who were unfortunate enough not to sow their potatoes deep enough have lost considerable percentage in the ground by frost. Unfavorable weather conditions throughout the West for some time past has caused considerably heavier run of livestock market and the prices consequently showed a drop during the week. Export market indicates more activity and prices are considered satisfactory. Winter feeding of hogs and cattle expected to be carried on more generally than usual, owing to the ample winter feed supply available.

Since the last report, the weather in Manitoba has been cold until towards the week end, when the conditions improved greatly, and threshing was generally resumed. A little threshing has been done each day under difficulties and, taking the provinces over, there remains approximately ten to fifteen per cent. of grain still to pass through the machines. It is expected under favorable conditions that this will be cleaned up within the next week or ten days. Sixty per cent. of the Fall plowing is completed.

In Saskatchewan the weather turned favorable towards the week end, threshing is now proceeding everywhere, with about twenty percent still to do. This will require from ten days to two weeks to complete, and under present conditions there is every prospect of all the grain being threshed before Winter sets in. Plenty of help is available and fifty-five per cent. of the Fall plowing is accomplished.

Continued inclement weather has again hampered the threshing in Alberta, but has become more or less general towards the end of the week and is now being carried on everywhere. What grain farmers were unable to thresh was damp and in the majority of cases graded tough. If the present weather holds for the next two weeks there is no doubt practically all the grain will be threshed. On Coronation, Lacombe, and Wetaskiwin sub-divisions, seventy-five to ninety per cent. of the threshing has been done. Along the Red Deer sub-division only twenty per cent. of the wheat and fifty per cent. of the coarse grains; Leduc sub-division, sixty per cent.; from Calgary, South along Macleod and Alderayde sub-divisions, twenty to forty to forty-five per cent.; Bassano, Brooks and Suffield sub-divisions, fifty to sixty per cent. of wheat and forty to fifty per cent. of coarse grains. Table and Stirling sub-divisions, sixty to seventy per cent.; Coutts and Altawan sub-divisions, fifteen to twenty per cent. Fifty-five per cent. of Fall plowing is done.

Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway—Snow and rain again is responsible for the delay in threshing and Fall plowing. At many points former operation is completed and the balance is generally well advanced. It is expected that with in the next week or ten days everything will be done.

The weather in British Columbia has been good, but quite frosty at night but so far there has been no snow. The crops are practically all harvested and orchard operations in the Okanagan which are about completed, show a considerably larger apple crop than was estimated earlier in the season. Prices have been and continue quite satisfactory. There is a good general demand for dairy cows. In the Kootenay district they are very scarce and good fresh cows are selling as high as one hundred dollars each and even at that figure dairy men are having difficulty in securing them.

Notwithstanding the fact that threshing has been held up for several weeks in Southern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta on account of adverse weather conditions and certain sections of the north country have also been affected especially during the past two weeks. The marketings and loadings on Western lines of the Canadian Pacific this year from August first to October 31st show a substantial increase over last year's figures. From August 1st up to and including October 31st, 1925, there were marketed at stations served by the Canadian Pacific 80,670,087 bushels of wheat and 19,375,857 bushels of other grains, or a total of 100,054,944 bushels. For the same period last year, 64,907,527 bushels of wheat, 19,030,481 bushels of other grains, or a total of 83,938,008 bushels were marketed. The figures covering the marketings this year represent an increase of twenty per cent over last year. During the period mentioned above, 50,302 cars of wheat have been loaded on the Canadian Pacific, representing 71,428,840 bushels; 10,343 cars of other grains were loaded, representing 19,100,522 bushels. The gross total being 60,645 cars of all grains, containing 90,529,362 bushels. Last year a total of 47,837 cars of all grains representing 70,183,780 bushels were loaded. The figures this year represent an increase of twenty-eight per cent. over last year.

TOBACCO FUMES IN GREENHOUSES

USE VARIES

(Issued by the Director of Publicity, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.)

Tobacco has other uses than through the pipe, cigar or cigarette. As Dominion Entomologist, Arthur Gibson and his assistant, Mr. W. A. Ross, say in their bulletin on "Insects Affecting Greenhouse Plants," such insects as plant lice or aphis can be controlled by fumigation with tobacco. There are various nicotine preparations that can be purchased but these should be used strictly according to directions, for there are some plants, such as the violet, that are subject to injury by tobacco fumigation. No general recommendations can be given as to the number of times houses should be thus fumigated. This is a matter that the grower must decide for himself according to the extent and persistence of the infestation. In some houses, say Messrs. Gibson and Ross, it may be necessary to fumigate only two or three times during the winter, while in other cases it may be necessary to perform the operation that number of times within a week.

Sails Tried In Ploughing; Wind Won't Replace Horse

BRIGHTLINGSEA, England, Nov. 5.—Sails were introduced as an aid to ploughing in a soil tillers' match near this little seaside resort of which many of its residents are yacthsmen as well as farmers. The wind at times aided the horses in dragging the plough along but at other times puffs blew the implement to on side and spoiled a straight furrow which hindered the contestant's chance of winning first prize. Men as well as women participated in the contest, which the judges decided was a great success but thought there was little possibility of sails ever putting horses or motors out of business when it comes to ploughing.

DAMAGE DONE BY EARLY FROST

Many Apples Were Still on Trees in Cobourg District.

BUMPER CROP

COBOURG, Nov. 5.—October frosts that came earlier than usual this year, found large quantities of apples still unpicked. Orchardists claim that there is difficulty in disposing of their crop this season, which, in this locality, is a bumper one. The yield is away ahead of what it has been for many a year. One result of the abundant crop is that the local market is flooded with apples. With such a big crop also buyers are apt to be discriminating, and the fruit grower who neglected to spray this year, and has a scaby, imperfect crop, will have some difficulty in readily disposing of it.

EFFICIENCY OF DAIRY COW.

The efficiency of a dairy cow depends upon a properly developed udder and its continuance in a normal condition. The most serious condition that occurs to the dairy cow is infection of the udder, and streptococci are the most frequent bacterial invading organism. Streptoccic infection can be readily transmitted from cow to cow by hand or machine milking and the entire herd may be become infected. The disease is difficult to control because of the fact that an occasional cow is a carrier. The most successful treatment consists in increasing the resistance of the animal by the use of bacterias. In badly infected herds a bacteria prepared from cultures isolated from diseased cows is most efficient. With the destruction of the mammary glands profits vanish.

RICKETS IN CHICKS.

It is not recommended to keep birds that had rickets when young for breeding purposes.

VERDICT FAVORS DEFENDANT IN SLANDER SUIT

Jury at Cobourg Assizes Awarded No Damages to Plaintiffs.

STORIES DENIED.

Defendant Stated That He Had Not Said Things

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, Nov. 4.—Idle neighborhood gossip that set an entire community by the ears culminated in a suit for alleged slander which was heard here Tuesday at the Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Rose and a jury. After it was all over the parties in the case find themselves in practically the same position as they were before the legal machinery was set in motion.

The central figure in the case was Clarke Windover, a venerable farmer of 75, with a shock of gray hair and a patriarchal beard, who is a bachelor but who, like so many inexperienced men of mature years, have passed up the matrimonial experiences that came to them in their youth, appear to cherish the delusion that they were gifted by nature with all the charms and graces of a Lothario.

Mr. Windover lives alone and has for neighbors, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Puffer. Mr. Puffer's duties frequently take him away from home and, according to the evidence heard yesterday, Mr. Windover, in the absence of the husband, appears to have constituted himself the moral guardian of the Puffer domicile. Statements that he had made among the neighbors were repeated in court. Mrs. Puffer felt herself aggrieved by this gossip and the upshot was that she served a writ against Windover, claiming damages in the sum of $2000.

The witnesses for the plaintiff were Lorne Hardige, Elson Miles, Fred Grills, and Mr. and Mrs. Puffer. The latter is a woman of 50 or over and has the appearance of a hard-working member of society and certainly nothing brought out in the evidence cast a shadow on her reputation.

The defendant, Windover, was the only witness called for the defence and on the stand he told what was characterized by his counsel as a straightforward story. He denied without reservation nearly all of the statements made by the witnesses against him until Lorne Hardige uttered a protest from his seat in the court-room. Justice Rose ordered his removal but before a constable could reach him Hardige had incontinently fled.

Mr. Windover testified that on one occasion he went to the Puffer home to collect $250, which had been loaned the husband, and that he insisted upon the payment. The debt was discharged in the course of a week or two and three days later the writ for slander was issued against him without notice or giving him a chance to retract any of the alleged statement reflecting upon Mrs. Puffer.

Interesting Legal Point.

In the hearing it transpired that if a man makes a slanderous statement against another person to a third party and the latter relays it to the neighbors, the original slanderer is not responsible for waht his confidant may report but to the slandered individual only. Incidentally, it seemed to be taken for granted that a person who repeats a slanderous remark, giving another as his authority, is several degrees lower in the scale of humanity than the inventor himself.

After Justice Rose had explained fully the law relating to slander, the jury retired and in a short time returned with a verdict in favor of the defendant.

W. F. Kerr and A. Cochrane, of Cobourg, appeared for the defendant, and Kenneth Langdon, of Brighton, for the plaintiff.

Girls Must Learn To Cook Steak and Tenderloin, Say Some City Restauranteurs

The average Peterborough man when he enters a restaurant orders a steak and next in line comes tenderloin, at least this is what several of the leading proprietors of restaurants told an Examiner representative today.

The popular idea that the average man orders ham and eggs is exploded, so the young ladies who have to obtain or those who wish to retain husbands cannot do better than become proficient in cooking what appears to be the staple diet of Peterborough men. Sandwiches and pie are the order of the day between the hours of 9.30 and 11 o'clock p.m., the restauranteurs say.

Her Face Was Covered With Large, Red Pimples

Miss Greta Carlisle, 23 Leonard St., Brantford, Ont., writes:—"A short while ago, my face was completely covered with large red pimples, and it seemed that it was almost impossible for me to get rid of them, as nothing I took seemed to do me any good.

One day I noticed an advertisement of

and I will never regret the day I bought it, as, now, my face is entirely cleared up of blotches and pimples of every kind."

NEW ZEALAND IS NOT DRY YET

Incomplete Vote Shows Wet Majority of Over 30,000.

LICENSE SYSTEM.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., November 5. — Canadian Press. — Prohibitionists have not yet succeeded in their efforts to make New Zealand dry. The question whether New Zealand should continue its present liquor license system, adopt "state purchase" or government control of liquor, or swing to prohibition, was voted on in a referendum during yesterday's general electins.

The counting of the vote is still incomplete but the result to date shows the prohibitionists cast 277,981 votes as against 310,596 by their opponents.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH SCHOOL CONCERT

Orchestra Performed Creditably Under Clifford Rusaw, Director.

There was a good attendance in the Sunday school hall of St. James' church last evening, when a concert was given by the Sunday school orchestra of the church. The programme rendered was excellent and the performance was very creditable to the orchestra and to their director and leader, Clifford Rusaw. Miss Mary Wood acted os accompanist. Mr. A. E. Prest, superintendent of the Sunday school, was in the chair.

March, "Colonel Bogey," and overture, "Poet and Peasant," by the orchestra; violin duet by Mrs. M. B. Hoyland and Miss C. Taylor; vocal solo by Miss V. Buckham; piano solo by Miss Mary Wood; reading by Miss Irene Wright; violin solo by Miss C. Taylor; vocal solo by Miss Florence Saunders; reading by Miss Irene Wright; vocal quartette by Messrs. Lee, Turner, Worrall and Baldry; selections by the orchestra, "Echoes From the South" and "Opera Gema"; cornet solo by Cecil Gallegher; violin duet by Mrs. Hoyland and Miss C. Taylor; reading by Miss Irene Wright; piano solo by Miss Mary Wood; vocal solo by Miss A. Black; violin solo by Miss C. Taylor; vocal quartette by Messrs. Lee, Turner, Worrall and Baldry; selection by the orchestra; "Overture au Printemps."

SHOT HITS WOMAN WATCHING ROBBERY

Bullet Fired to Intimidate Neighbors Bounds Off Wall, Lodging in Jaw.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Anna McSworley was wounded yesterday when burglars, discovered looting the drug store of Isaac Feldman, a few doors from her home, fired several shots to frighten residents of the neighborhood.

Mrs. McSworley was leaning from a second-story window watching the proceedings when one of the bullets ricocheted from a wall and struck her in the jaw. She was taken to North-Western Hospital.

The robbers were discovered by William Eddis, who had just escorted Mrs. McSworley's daughter, Annie, home from a party.

As Eddis was leaving the vestibule he noticed an automobile without lights parked on Judson Street. A man was seated at the wheel of the machine; another was standing at Judson and Berks Streets, and a third was posted at Bucknell and Berks Streets.

Two other men were carrying cases of liquor from the front door of the store and loading them into the automobile.

Eddis ran back into the house and awakened Philip Boyer, son-in-law of Mrs. McSworley. Then he and Boyer grasped two large vases, rushed to a window and hurled them at the bandits.

The latter paid no attention.

"We knew they had guns," Eddis said later, "but we thought we might be able to scare them away."

Thereupon Eddis and Boyer began shouting to awaken the neighborhood. About this time John Adams, a taxicab driver, sauntered down the street on his way to his home. The lookout at Bucknell and Berks Streets stepped from the shadows and thrust a gun in his ribs.

"Where are you going?" the bandit asked.

"Home," said Adams.

As the robbers were leaving they fired four shots. It was one of these that struck Mrs. McSworley. The bullet was removed at North-Western Hospital and she was allowed to go home.

Neglected Coughs

Many people regard a cold as a simple incident. But Coughs and Colds when neglected lead on to pneumonia and consumption—the most dreaded diseases common to this Northern temperature.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is well-known as a most effective treatment for coughs, colds bronchitis, croup and asthma. For many years it has held its place in the homes of Canada as absolutely dependable and was never so popular as it is today.

Composed of simple and yet powerfully effective ingredients it is suitable for children and adults alike and is found constantly in most homes for use in case of emergency. Prompt treatment is half the battle when fighting colds.

ONE WIN NEEDED TO GIVE OTTAWA CHAMPIONSHIP

LINE-UP UNCERTAIN

Team Will Travel From Capital to Hamilton on Friday Night.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5. — (Canadian Press).—Ottawas rattled through a snappy workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for their game with the Tigers in Hamilton Saturday afternoon. The full squad was in attendance, and Coach McCan shot them through a bristling practice.

Special attention was given to the line formations and heavy work was the order of the day. Advance notices of the strength of the Tigers' line has not dismayed the Senators, and they are hard at work mapping out formations to meet the onslaught of the Bengal front rank.

Uncertainty of the line-up still prevails. Charlie Conwell, star backfield and secondary defence man, is badly banged up and may not start. Connell is anxious to get into the combat, but the club doctors are strongly against it. He sustained a head injury in Toronto against Argonauts, and his hip was severely bruised in the McGill game.

Tubman to Start.

Tubman, injured in the closing minutes of the McGill game, is around again and will be a sure starter on the half line. The remainder of the players are in good shape and hope to settle the Big Four issue by trimming the Hamiltonions right in the ambitious city on Saturday.

The team will leave here Friday noon, so that the players will have the advantage of a full night's rest before taking on the Yellow and Black. About twenty-two men will be taken along, and no team selection will be made until immediately prior to the game.

Interest in Capital.

The effort of the Red, White and Black to annex the title on Saturday will be watched with considerably more than usual interest. With the first real chance to grab the title, that they have held in years, the local fans are all keyed right up on the team's chances, and should the Tigers win in Hamilton probably the largest crowd that has ever seen a Rugby game in Ottawa for many years, will be on hand for the return engagement the following week-end.

HOCKEY LEAGUE GETS NEW RECRUIT

Chicago Applies For Admission Into Recently Organized Association.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—A special dispatch to The Free Press from Duluth, states that Chicago, through Walter R. Erly, has made application for a berth in the Central Hockey Association, recently organizd circuit, which includes St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Eveleth-Ridding, Winnipeg, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Pittsburgh.

The application is stated to have been received in telegraphic form by William F. Grant, league secretary-treasurer, of Duluth.

The dispatch quotes Mr. Grant as stating that Chicago would be a welcome addition to the league. The entry of Chicago, he states, "would prove a strong incentive for Detroit to get busy."

St. Paul's Strong.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Advices from St. Paul indicate that that city will have a strong team in the newly organized Central Hockey Association.

Six Canadians have been signed. They are Sil Acaster, centre ice man from Regina; Don Cameron, a forward from Mickingham, Ont.; Ollie Campbell, from North Bay, Ont.; Neil Gibson, forward from Weyburn, Sask.; William Briden, centre ice man from Haileybury, Ont., and Bernard Brophy, wing man from Collingwood, Ont.

Ching Johnson, mainstay of the Minneapolis team, is stated to have turned down a numbtr of professional offers and will be in the line-up again this year. The Rockets are reported to have lost two of the stars of last year: Ade Johnson, who has returned to Eveleth, and Russ Oatman, famous wing star, who has signed with tht Victoria, B.C., professionals.

The Russian government will give a banquet to the visitors next Monday night on the eve of the tournamen. The government has set aside $25,000 for expenses, compensation and prices for the players.

PUBLICITY MAN SAYS CONTRACT WILL BE BROKEN

Leaves Dempsey Camp Because of "Impending Invalidation of Wills Agreement."

QUICK DETAILS

Champion to Get a Million Dollars for Fight With Negro.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—The Dempsey-Wills agreement for a championship battle in Indiana next year, engineered by Floyd Fitzsimmons and a South Bend syndicate but, regarded with skepticism in fistic circles ever since it was drawn up, jumped back into the limelight yesterday.

In Los Angeles, Rob Roy. Benton, Dempsey's press agent, announced he was "quitting the Dempsey camp rather than be a party to what he declared was an impending invalidation of the Fitzsimmons contract," but there were hasty denials to this from Ray Cannon, Milwaukee attorney for Dempsey, as well as Andrew C. Weisburg, head of the Sound Bend syndicaate.

Cannon Denies.

Cannon was quoted as saying "the Dempsey-Wills bout under the direction of Floyd Fitzsimmons will take place if Fitzsimmons lives up to the letter of his contract with Dempsey," while Weisburg scoffed at the idea the proposed bout fall through, revealing at the same time Dempsey "is guaranteed a cool million for swapping punches," with his negro challenger.

Benton further asserted that the present contract would be invalidated in order to give Jack Kearns a chance to manage at least two more Dempsey fights before his contract with the titleholder expires next September, adding his belief that Cannon was now representing both Dempsey and Kearns. Benton offered no sunstantiating details for these statements.

This also met with denial from Cannon, however, while Weisburg pointed out the champion would lose a substantial forfeit if he fights any one else before meeting Wills under the syndicate's auspices.

Rickard's Opinion.

Meanwhile Tex Rickard professed to see signs of a reconciliation between Dempsey and Kearns, which would enable the New York promoter to stage the big title battle in the metropolitan district.

Disclosure that Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, already has received $50,000 from the Indiana syndicate and is to receive $50,000 more some time before the bout came as a surprise here. Benton's statement to this effect was confirmed in South Bend by Weisburg, although Mullins had said here he received only $25,000 as his advance guarantee.

CANADA AND U.S. PLAY AT SOCCER

Second Match in International Series to be Held on Sunday.

MANY SEATS SOLD

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Soccer will come into the limelight in the metropolitan area on Sunday afternoon when Canada and the United States clash in the second match of an international series set up in 1924. The Canadian team won the initial game in Montreal last year by the closest of margins—1 to 0.

The game will bring together two teams which have been styled as "the cream of the continent." The Canadian eleven was chosen recently by the Canadian Football Association while the United States Football Association selected the players to represent this country.

The advance sale of seats promise that the stadium of Ebbett's Field, home of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club and chosen as the scene of the fixture will be packed to capacity. A large party of soccer enthusiasts from the Dominion is expected to attend and reservations for hundreds of fans from Pennsylvania and the New England States have already been made. The Canadian and British consuls here have been invited to witness the match.

BOXING COMMISSION TAKES A FIRM HAND

Metes Out Punishment For Failure to Carry Out Contracts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—(Canadian Press)—Jim Slattery of Buffalo was placed on the State Athletic Commission's involuntary 'sick list" today when he notified the commission that he would be unable to fulfill a contract to meet Yusoff Perlstein in a 15-round match at Syracuse next Friday. The commission notified Slattery to take a sixty day vacation to get in condition for future engagements.

The benching of the colorful light heavyweight will defer the second installment of the Shade-Slattery feud which Tex Rickard is planning for an early show at the new Madison Square Garden.

William Ames of Clifton, Mass., who was suspended indefinitely together with his entire stable including Frank Moody, Tommy Milligan and Wee Willie Woods, English boxers, was re-instated following word from Massachusetts that similar action had been taken there.

It is cold more than anything else which saps the strength of Channel swimmers, says Mille Gade who came within 2 miles of crossing the English Channel in 1923, after she had successfully completed a four mile swim down the Hudson river, with the temperature of the water less than 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Miss Gade covered the route in one hour and 10 seconds and at the end declared that she was much colder than after she had spent 14½ hours in the Channel. Miss Gade attributed this to the difference of more than ten degrees between the temperatures at which Miss Ederle and others have attempted the Channel and the temperature of the Hudson yesterday.

Miss Gade, who is Mrs. Clemington Corson, wife of the Assistant Superintendent of the U.S.S. Illinois and swimming instructor of the First Battalion Naval Militia, accomplished her swim yesterday as part of her training for an attempt to cross the Channel in 1926. Her performance was a feature of the Navy Day celebration of the Illinois. While Miss Gade swam the distance Chief Petty Officer Joseph Lamb walked from 181st Street to 96th Street, and Seaman August Friedrichsen ran from 96th Street to 181st Street and return covering the distance in 47 minutes.

Lamb won this novel contest by and 10 seconds. Friedrichsen required one hour and two minutes to run the round trip.

Miss Gade entered the water off Fort Washington Point Lighthouse in the face of a keen cold wind which whipped the Hudson into whitecaps, and kicked up nasty, choppy seas.

Using an overhand stroke, Miss Gade started south but almost immediately was swept toward the New York shore by the tide, which sets in heavily just below the Point. To offset this Miss Gade had to swim obliquely, quartering toward the New Jersey side, which lost much ground. After 135th street she was free of the tide, leaving only the cold wind and the water to overcome. Mr. Corson rowed all the way alongside his wife. He and the occupants of two other boats that accompanied the swimmer said that they suffered from the cold despite their warm clothing.

Although it took almost twenty minutes to restore circulation in Miss Gade's hands and feet when she reached the Illinois, she said that she felt no ill effects, and smilingly posed for photographers with her two children.

BOOTH TO DEPART ON EXTENSIVE TOUR

Will Visit Chief Points on Continent and Attend Celebrations.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press Despatch).— General Booth, of the Salvation Army, announces an extensive foreign tour during the coming twelve months.

"I hope," says General Booth, "to visit Berlin next month for the Repentance Day campaign in the Sports Palace there. From Berlin I am booked for Prague and then on to Budapest in Hungary to inspect the work of the latest Continental opening of the Salvation Army. Returning from Eastern Europe I hope to meet all our officers working in France and Belgium at important councils in Paris. December and January will find me in Scotland and Ireland, while in the new year will come some special celebration in this country associated with my seventieth birthday.

"In the spring I go to the United States. Unless there be a change in the arrangements, I shall be back in Europe to conduct the annual congresses in Sweden and Norway. Japan and Korea come next. My visit to these countries, postponed on account of the earthquake is already overdue." The General added that he also hopes to conduct a short motor campaign in Denmark in the summer, which, if circumstances permit, may be extended to parts of Germany and Holland.

GLADIATORS IN ACTION

The first touchdown in the Queen's Varsity game of Saturday, won by the former 17—0. Just a moment before the half time signal Snyder bobbed on a bounding punt right on Varsity's goal line, and "Bud" Thomas, Queen's sensational outside wing, recovered it for a Queen's try by a long, diving tackle. Thomas is the player on the ground wearing the nose-guard. No. 22 is "Bubs" Briton, No. 9 is Baldwin, the quarter back. The player leaning over Thomas is "Liz" Walker, the other outside wing, while the player leaping into the air is Muirhead. The official shown on the left is Referee "Bob" Isbister of Hamilton.

ALNWICK COUNCIL OCTOBER MEETING

Road Repairs Occupied Much of Time at Meeting.

ROSENEATH, Nov. 5. — The Alnwick Township Council held its regular meeting in the Town Hall, Roseneath, on Saturday, October 31, with Reeve Mountey in the chair and all members present.

A communication was read from Mrs. E. J. Milne, in which she laid the complaint that the street drainage on the north side did not extend far enough down the street, and that the drainage went into her lot, causing her an inconvenience, especially at the barn and in the cellar.

The Council went down and inspected it and appointed Reeve Mouncey to see that this trouble was remedied.

The resignation of Dr. A. G. Armstrong as M.H.O. was accepted and, on motion of Councillors Parker and Braithwaite Dr. Hershey was appointed to fill the vacancy, his duties to date from the first of October.

Reeve Mouncey laid a proposition on the table from Mr. Grieves, foreman of the Chidley farm regarding repairing the road leading to this property. About thirty years ago, the Council of Alnwick built this road in question into what was then known as the Wm. Johnston farm, which did not border on any road. This road was built through low swampy land, and since that time it has been a constant source of expense to keep passable. Considerable sums have been expended each year and still it is far from good.

Mr. Chidley offered two propositions, first, that he would expend dollar for dollar with the Council in all moneys expended on this road, provided that they give it a gravel surface, or, second, that if the township gravelled the entire road (about one-third of a mile) at its own expense, he would assume the road by deed as his own personal property and would thus release the township from any further expenditure or liability.

Either proposition was thought by the councillors to be in the best interests of the township, and especially the latter, by which they would have the road taken off their hands for all time, but they thought that owing to the lateness of the season and the fact that the rates had all been struck for this year, it would hardly be fair to next year's Council to act in the matter, and the following resolution, moved by Councillors Parker and Braithwaite, carried unanimously: "That the Clerk write Mr. Grieves, stating that the councillors were in perfect accord with the proposition regarding taking over the said road, but owing to the lateness of the season, they did not see their way clear to do anything this fall, but that the pathmaster of his beat would be instructed to repair the culverts at once."

Councillor Braithwaite was appointed to look after the opening of a new pit on Wilfred Lundy's lot, for convenience in getting gravel to put on Brown's hill, providing the pit proved as good as expected.

The Reeve was authorized to sign orders on the treasurer for the following accounts:

John Elder, balance work on road, $14; Canada Ingot Iron Co., grader, $150; Globe Indemnity Co., road insurance, $100; Dr. Armstrong, services M.H.O., $48; R. McCracken, timber and repairing wharf, $8; H. Mouncey, selecting jurors, $2; T. McMillan, selecting jurors, $2; A. Lean, selecting jurors, $2.

STUDENT AWARDED

Medal Given Young Woman Architect in Competition With Canadians.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 4.—(Canadian Press Despatch).—Miss Frances Silcock, of Liverpool, University School of Architecture, has been awarded the medal given annually by the Royal Institute of British Architects for the best work done by any student of a recognized school of architecture in Great Britain or the Dominions. Among the competitors were a number from Toronto and McGill Universities.

Miss Silcock, who lives at Huyton, near Liverpool is already acting as qualified assistant to an architect in Mersey City, and intends eventually to practice on her own account.

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES.

MILLBROOK I.O.O.F.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 4.—The Hallowe'en "at home" for which the officers and members of Millbrook Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 308, were hosts on Friday evening proved a most successful and enjoyable occasion.

Over one hundred guests were present, and the hall was appropriately decorated, streamers of black and orange, with orange shades on the lights showing black cats, owls and witches in silhouettes, and other Hallowe'en emblems in various parts of the room creating an atmosphere always associated with the observance of All Hollows' Eve.

Most of those present were in costume, and guessing the identity of the masked figures, disguised as gypsies, "Ikeys," Red Ridinghoods, Chinamen, old-fashioned ladies and courtly gentlemen, darkeys, ghosts, Jiggs and Maggie, with a number in an outfit of black and orange, was one of the interesting and baffling features of the evening's programme.

A "Mock Trial," in which the prisoner (Dr. L. J. Stuart) was accused of stealing from his sisters of the Rebekah Lodge "a delectable mince pie, intended for some of the high dignitaries at the head table," provided the chief item of entertainment, the ludicrous manner in which the "court" was carried on, with the confusion resulting from the policeman's (W. E. Ball) efforts to keep order and the absurd questions asked the witnesses creating plenty of fun for the hour or more required for its presentation. The other characters were:

His Honor, the Judge—P. I. Bentley.
Clerk—J. A. Vance.
Crown Attorney—V. R. Hunter.
Counsel for the Defence—R. I. Fallis.

Witnesses—Mrs. Susie Slanders, F. Wells; Henry Hawkes, E. C. Morden; G. M. Knox, B. R. Richards; M. Mum, C. C. Garside; I. M. Smart, J. Isbister; Professor Bumpus, C. Thorndyke; Dr. Large, H. A. Fallis.

Jury—Eric Hunter (Foreman), W. E. Belch, Cecil Sutton, W. Byers, T. H. Bradley, E. Armstrong, J. Johnston, W. Thorne, W. Wragg, H. J. Armstrong, L. Fallis, B. Armstrong.

A parade to music, two or three times round the hall, gave opportunity to the judges, J. N. McGill and Mrs. W. E. Belch, to decide which were the best costumes, the award finally going to Mrs. T. Sproat for the ladies and Mr. R. N. Jones (both of Peterboro) for the gentlemen. Mrs. Sproat was cleverly gotten up as "Maggie," the rolling pin which she carried being occasionally waved in a threatening manner at "Jiggs," and Mr. Jones had a very realistic tramp outfit, the bundle done up in a red bandanna and carried on a rough stick over his shoulder being the completing item in his "Weary Willie" costume.

Music, cards and dancing, with refreshments served in the dining-hall downstairs, brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

The committee in charge were: V. R. Hunter, P.G.; C. C. Garside, P. I. Bentley, P.G., and F. N. Alcorn.

NOHAM AND MEYERSBURG.

NORHAM, November 4. — Hallowe'en sprites moved merrily on Friday evening last in the church halls at Meyersburg and Norham, when old and young alike entered into the frolic provided through the Ladies' Aid at Meyersburg and the Mission Band there. Pumpkin "grinners" lent a weird glow to both assembly halls, which represented fairy lands, with autumn foliage, owls, cats ghosts and witches. Both entertainments were well attended.

The Norham hall was decorated with black and gold crepe tissue paper and tinsel streamers. In the left hand corner at the front was a fish pond, which was well patronized, and added greatly to the evening's entertainment for the children. Mrs. Marcius Massey, Mrs. Fred Laver and Mr. Fred H. Huycke were the judges and awarded the following prizes:

Best dressed couple, Clair Curtis and Vivian Huycke; best pair of comics, Edith Brenton and Lucille Palmateer; clown, Arthur Meineilly.

In the absence of the pastor, Mr. Oscar Laver occupied the chair, and the following programme was given:

Chorus, "Oh, Canada."
Recitation, Flossie Everson.
Address by chairman.
Recitation, Edith Meneilly.
Reading, Hilda Palmateer.
Song, Edith Brenton and Lucille Palmateer.
Reading, Miss Laura Arkles.
Recitation, Edna Evans.
Reading, Miss Madge Cliffe.
Song, Madaline Lean and Lucille Lean.
Recitation, by Bernice Campbell.
Recitation, Elsie Bertrand.

Lunch was served at the close by the ladies of the congregation. The receipts were $12.75, which go to swell the funds of the Mission Band.

The Meyersburg hall was decorated with streamers of colored tissue paper and Japanese lanterns.

The number who wore masks was unusually large and the competition for prizes was keen. After the judging was completed the following programme was given:

Rev. J. F. Everson, the pastor, called the numbers:
Mouth organ solo, Mr. James Goacher.
Recitation, Grace Lewis.
Chorus, "Swanee River."
Reading, Mrs. George Lewis.
Accordian solo, Mr. William Clarke
Chorus, "When You and I were Young, Maggie."
Reading, George Cooke.
Instrumental, Albert Bertrand.
The National Anthem.

Refreshments were served at the close.

Lovers And Babies Must Pay Bridge Tolls At Bath

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press Despatch).—Visitors to Bath will remember the old-fashioned bridges leading from the more crowded part of the ancient city to the rural districts where a toll is levied to all who pas sover. A proposal was submitted at the meeting of the City Council that these bridges should be free after nine o'clock at night, "in the interests of courting couples."

"When I was courting I used one bridge so much that I must have bought it," declared Councillor A. E. Cooke amidst much laughter.

"I suppose you found it cheap at the price," commented the mayor, amid louder laughter.

As to perambulators, Mr. Cooke characterized it as "the height of meanness for a Corporation to expect a penny for a baby in a pram when it might be the child's pocket money for a month."

But the Council declined to grant concessions to either courting couples or babies.

TUBERCULAR MEN GET INSTRUCTION

Organization Proven to be a Good Business Proposition.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press Despatch)—Speaking in his own constituency of Twickenham the Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, recently lamented that local patriotism in many districts of London is conspicuous by its absence. A rather striking exception is revealed in the Borough of Holborn, where a workshop has been established in order to instruct tuberculous patients in various forms of industry. Granted a further measure of financial help it is hoped that the work may be enlarged. Twenty-three men are at present receiving instruction, of whom eleven are ex-service men and five are married. In the three years that the workshop has been established it has been proved that the organization of employment for tuberculous persons is a practical proposition, but the training of men for a skilled trade is not generally possible. The health of the workers in the factory—all definite cases of pulmonary tuberculosis—has been maintained or improved; and, as a means of after-care, the success of the factory has been fully proved.

RAYBESTOS BOYS BANQUETTED FOR SEASON'S WORK

Assured Co-operation.

Pencils Presented To Umpires and to Secretary of the League.

Members of the Raybestos baseball team, which won the City League title and triumphed over Lindsay Big Four in the play-offs, were banquetted last night on the invitation of Robert Abbott, at Cheu's Cafe. About twenty-five representatives of the team, enjoyed the fine meal which Charles Cheu had provided.

Mr. Abbott acted as chairman and commented on the good showing of the team. He said that if proposed plans were carried out there would be a much stronger team entered in the race for the next season.

Alderman R. Denne was present, and in a brief address assured the players of the support which the agricultural Society was willing to lend. He said the grounds where there for use and could be placed to no better advantage than as a field for sport. He complimented the team on its sportsmanlike way of accepting defeat with victory.

James Coursey, manager of the team, spoke on its behalf, thanking the individual members for the hearty support which had been granted him to make the team a winning aggregation.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of Parker pencils to Alex. Kay and Ed LeBarr for their work as umpires ,and to Charles Curtis for his efficiency as league secretary.

Mr. Crowe, manager of the Capitol Theatre, proffered passes to all members of the team for this evenings picture. His offer was accorded a vote of appreciation.

William Kay also spoke in glowing terms of the attitude of sportsmanship, which was so evident on and off the diamond. They were always ready to play the game, he said, and that was the most important phase of sport.

Blow Aimed at Damascus Was Repelled—Inhabitants Fleeing.

LONDON, Nov. 5. — (United Press).—French artillery, according to Jewish telegraph agency reports, has checked the advance of Syrian insurgents who were aiming a blow in the direction of Damascus.

All traffic in Damascus was reported suspended with shops closed and inhabitants fleeing as the cloud of new trouble loomed in the vicinity of the city which last month was pounded by French guns.

Former Chairman of Cunard Line Will Marry His Housekeeper.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (United Press) —The engagement of Sir Alfred Booth to Miss Margaret Brighten, his housekeeper, is reported from Scarborough in a dispatch to the Daily Express. Lady Booth died in the United States a year ago. She was Mary Blake Dwight, daughter of Edmund Dwight of New York. They were married in 1903.

Sir Alfred formerly was chairman and now is a director of the Cunard line.

PRAISES THE "Y."

Enthusiastic Member Lauds Y.W.C.A. and Work of Miss Littlefield.

"You don't realize just how much it means in your life until you go down to the 'Y' and join the classes," is the assertion of one enthusiastic member of the Young Women's Christian Association. "It gives you pep and takes your mind away from your daily routine of work. There seems to be something too about the gym. suit, the short skirt and the middy and the shoes, and the music, that makes you feel cheerful and like having a good time. And there is such a jolly bunch of girls down there."

This young lady, who is also a member of the junior life-saving class, was loud in her praises of the leadership in gym. and swimming work of Miss Littlefield. "The girls do just as she says, and still she is always cheerful. She makes the classes seem like fun."

The speaker recently spent a year in England, and boarded at once of the "Y's" there. It was more in the nature of a boarding home and lacked the gymnasium, which adds so materially to the joy of life at the local building.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE OPENS SESSION HERE

"A Good Citizen."

A good citizen, according to one speaker, is one who has a respect for laws, morality and personality. To produce him, children must be controlled. The desire for collecting things for themselves is soon evident and often leads to unscrupulus dealings. The instinct must, therefore, be curbed. As a child develops he will collect things of greater value.

Mr. Ferguson, the Premier, gave an address at Toronto, in which he advocated township boards of trustees. Really his plea was for greater consolidation of schools to produce greater efficiency and economy.

One speaker said that history should be taught in an interesting way, so that pupils would have a taste for and enjoyment in the subject. A good text-book is necessary. These would lead to broader reading afterwards. It might be wise of the Education Department gave outlines in both history and geography.

Parents Co-operate.

Mr. Abraham ,the city attendance officer, gave a paper on Attendance. Parents are now more alive to the need for co-operation with teachers. The attendance in Peterborough is good. There are not so many who keep pupils out half days which disorganizes the school programme. Some pupils absent themselves on account of improper clothing. Such cases are reported to the Home and School Association. This always helps. If a child is not properly clad, he is likely to lose a certain self respect, and fears to attend because he is ashamed.

Sometimes truancy is due to bad training in the home. Parents often go out to work and leave children to their own devices, and they fail to reach school.

Most Pupils Appreciative

Some children are feeble-minded and do not see any advantage in school education. Fortunately the number of these is small. Thy require constant supervision if they are to be kept from crime.

Some parents very indiscreetly blame teachers for the pupils' slow progress and discuss teachers before their children. Parents forget that a teacher can devote only a limited time to one pupil. The teacher is realy the pupil's friend and should be so considered in the home.

Children are often kept out for minor sicknesses where a doctor seems unncessary. The aid of the school nurse is always available in such cases.

A great deal of investigation is necessary when a boy asks for a permit. The principal of the school is consulted and the circumstances at home looked into before one is granted.

Sometimes pupils try to get permits just because they dislike a particular subject. Such dislikes should not be humoured to the extent of letting pupils off from school.

When a permit is granted to an adolescent, oversight is kept up by the attendance officer until the boy or girl is sixteen years of age.

The children of today will be the homemakers of tomorrow. Let us have noble men and women.

The teachers appreciate Mr. Abraham's efforts as truant officer. He gets boys suitable jobs and takes a real interest in their material progress.

Rotary Schools

Mr. Mowat gave an address on Rotary Schools. Results in examinations were just as good in our city as in cities where there are the other kind of schools.

Rotary schools save space in class rooms but better equipment of buildings is necessary. There is no savnig in money. They are quite widespread in the Northern States and results have been pleasing. They have been introduced into Windsor and Hamilton. The assembly room must be able to hold all the children. There are also two gymnasia. The pupils have a home room and they circulate to other rooms during the day. Several subjects are taught to the pupils in their home rooms. The teacher in the home room has just two classes and has a very large number of pupils. Special rooms are often provided for special subjects. The library is one of the class-rooms and a teacher reads with pupils here. Literature was taught by special teachers. Teachers of special classes have several hundred pupils a week. They do not get near to the pupils. Teachers of home rooms do get in close touch with pupils.

Some teachers like the Rotary schools; others do not. Pupils do compare teachers and the strain on the latter is very great as they are constantly keyed up. Pupils like the schools because they move around so much from room to room. It is a question whether pupils are getting greater intelligence or merely more information.

To teach the same subject-matter over and over again is likely to narrow teachers and their outlook.

In the auditorium the opening exercises are conducted. This is inspiring . This is a difficult place in which to teach. Dramatization, voice culture and certain other subjects are carried on here.

The teacher seems to be too much in evidence. The work does not seem to draw out the pupils sufficiently or put him enough on his own resources. There seems to be little supervised study except in the library.

Slates and pen and ink are used more than lead pencils and to a greater extent than with us.

The teaching does not seem to be better in such schools than is the experience here.

Probably the school of the future may be a modified type of Rotary School where teachers will teach subjects most congenial to them.

Mr. Mowat discussed the matter o fvoice amongst teachers. There is a danger of harshness whereas a mellow controlled voice has an excellent disciplinary value.

TORY TRIUMPHANT.

THEATRES

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN "THE GOLD RUSH."

The Capitol Theatre was packed last night for the first evening presentation of Charlie Chaplin's new picture, "The Gold Rush." It is some time since Peterboro movie goers have had a chance to see the famous Charlie, but he is back again, as strong as ever, with his well-known flapping shoes, funny little derby hat, baggy pants and trick cane, not forgetting the well-known moustache. All his old-time mannerisms are with him too. He is as grave as usual in the dance hall scenes and in the episodes where a group of young ladies essay to vamp him.

Charlie, as a hardluck sourdough of the frozen North, becomes involved in a flirtation with Georgia, the belle of a dance hall bevy of dark-haired queens. When Georgia sends a note to her real swain, Charlie receives it in mistake, and thinks that the lady is cherishing a mad passion for him. Also, he gets mixed up with a crazy prospector who has lost the location of his claim, and one of the funniest scenes in the picture is the part where the two spend a night in a cabin perched precariously on the edge of a precipice, and escape in the nick of time. Another of the funny scenes, also, revolves about a two-barrelled fowling piece, with the two men fighting for possession of the gun.

AT THE ROYAL.

NEW SONG HIT TO-NIGHT.

A brand new song hit, "On the Bam, Bam, Balmy Shore," will be introduced at the Royal to-night by Sammie Harris.

"FREE CHEWING GUM."

The kiddies attending the Royal matinees the balance of this week will receive a large package of "Oh Boy" chewing gum.

'BLACK LIGHTNING' UNUSUAL STORY WITH DOG STAR.

A throbbing and tense dramati story is involved in a way that is bounded by realism and color in the big production, "Black Lightning," which comes to the Royal Theatre to-day.

The film is away from the stereotype features both in its height of romantic construction and cast which is headed by "Thunder" — The Marvel Dog and includes such players as Clara Bow, Harold Austin, Eddie Phillips, James Mason, Joe Butterworth, Mark Fenton and John Prince. It was directed by that well-known director, James P. Hogan.

Many thrilling scenes and big climaxes are staged in "Black Lightning," with all of the action taking place in the hills of the Kentucky Mountains, centering around a bloody feud which has been raging for years. It is a picture that has a modern love story and will appeal to all lovers of good films.

"Black Lightning" is realistically and thrillingly told amid the proper environments with the cast doing splendid work in its portrayal of the different characters.

Too much cannot be said for "Black Lightning" for it is real motion picture entertainment. It is clean throughout and the action is swift with a thrill in every scene. It is a human heart interest story that tugs at the heart strings and reveals a series of unusual situations that sustain the interest from the beginning until the final scene.

WILLIAM DESMOND IN "SUNSET TRAIL" ADDED FEATURE AT ROYAL.

William Desmond, star of many Universal feature productions and chapterplays, is the "Happy Hobo" in the story of the open road, "The Sunset Trail," presented by Universal at the Royal Theatre to-day. Featured with him is Gareth Hughes another popular favorite. Lucille Hutton, Albert J. Smith, William A. Steele and others have supporting roles, directed by Ernst Laemmle. Henry Herbert Knibbs wrote the novel from which "The Sunset Trail" was adapted.

TREAT IN STORE FOR MOVIE LOVERS.

Movie patrons have a treat in store for them soon at the Royal Theatre where "Drusilla with a Million," Elizabeth Cooper's widely read novel, enjoys its first screen presentation here. Nothing so fresh, charming and generally inspiring has come out of Hollywood in months as this brilliant adaptation of an unusual and compelling story.

F. Harmon Weight, the director, Lois Zellner, who did the scenario from the popular Cooper book, and a splendid cast have combined to retain in all its pristine splendor the flavor of "something different." Mary Carr, Priscilla Bonner, Kenneth Harlan, Claire Du Bray and William Humphrey are the featured players. Those who saw Mrs. Carr in "Over the Hill" in which she made such a reputation, will find that in the role of "Drusilla," a little old lady charity patient who suddenly is raised to affluence, she has a part that far transcends anything she has ever done. Miss Bonner and Kenneth Harlan make a splendid romance seem as vivid as a first kiss, and all the rest of the cast, including a score or so of babies, are excellent. In addition to beautiful pathos and comedy, "Drusilla with a Million" boasts of one of the biggest "punch" scenes within recent memory.

"Drusilla" will be presented locally under the auspices of the Women's Council. Tickets can be purchased from the ladies now.

REAL PRISON CAR IN "LIMITED MAIL."

Director Broke U. S. Ban to Get Authentic Action in Picture.

George Hill, director of 'The Limited Mail,' the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen, which begins a 3-day engagement to-day at the Regent Theatre, had to break the barriers of Government restriction to get first-hand information concerning the transportation of Federal prisoners in order to screen the picture accurately.

One sequence in "The Limited Mail" calls for a prison car to show the action and reaction of prisoners about to serve sentence, and Mr. Hill was anxious to have that car under close observation. Special permission from Washington was obtained whereby Hill, his assistant, M. K. Wilson, and Darryl Francis Zanuck, the scenarist, were passengers on a prison car that left Los Angeles for Fort Leavenworth.

With Eighteen Prisoners.

There were eighteen prisoners besides the picture people, who had placed themselves under the jurisdiction of the attending warden and had secured heavy bond. Six guards (there being a guard for every three men), the warden, a cook and his helpers completed the party.

The specially constructed car which at first glimpse looked like one of the old time tourist pullman coaches except for the barred windows and absence of lower berths, was bare except for several tables and chairs kept snug against the wall. At one end was a stove, ice box and various things needed to prepare meals. Here the chef held sway and cooked food three times a day. The car was sealed at both ends at the start of the journey and is never opened until the end of the trip except under government orders.

The means and methods in which the men, both prisoners and guards, lived, was an interesting experience, according to Hill. They joked and laughed together as if on the best of social standing, with no feeling of restraint. In fact, if it had not been for the stark reality of the prison car an outsider might have thought it a private picnic of some kind.

At Indio, with sufficient material for their purpose, Hill and his party left the car. The scenes are reproduced in detail in the picture.

The cast includes Monte Blue, Vera Reynolds, Willard Louis, Master Jackie Huff, Tom Gallery, Edward Gribbon, Lydia Yeamans Titus and Otis Harlan.

AT THE GRAND

The keenest interest is centered in the appearance at the Grand Opera House, Thursday, November 12th, of the distinguished star, William Faversham, who is this season making a trans-continental tour and presenting Zoe Akins absorbing drama, entitled "Foot-Loose."

Mr. Faversham is one of the foremost artists on the stage today. He has a brilliant record of achievement the like of which scarcely another player in America or elsewhere can lay claim to. He has created many big roles, and enjoys a popularity in keeping. That he is appearing in such a play as "Foot-Loose" and supported by the talented actress Miss Sarah Truax makes the event rich in promise, and local admirers will have an opportunity to revel in a feast of fine acting, the like of which is seldom witnessed in this city.

"Foot-Loose" is a modern European society drama containing many a thrilling situation. It is said but few plays of recent composition are more dramatic or absorbing. In deference to changing standards and tastes in the theatre Zoe Akins, author of "Declassee" for Ethel Barrymore and "The Varying Shore" for Elsie Ferguson, has prepared a vehicle in which Mr. Faversham and Sarah Truax, (Mr. Faversham's leading feminine support) are provided with colorful roles in every way worthy of their ripened powers.

The celebrated actor is surrounded with a cast of distinction including such players as: Sarah Truax, Edith Campbell, Ann Warrington, Antonio Salerno, Dennis Clough, Beatrice Vert, Milton C. Herman and others.

The play has been staged under the personal direction of Mr. Faversham.

OBITUARY.

MARY ELLEN LANG

The death occurred yesterday of Mary Ellen Lang, beloved wife of Thomas Starr, 656 Rogers Street. Deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. John Lang. She was born in Peterborough and had lived here all her life.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, Thomas Starr, four sons, Clarence, Melville, Wilbert and Eddie all of Peterborough, and one brother, Robert Lang, of Plymouth, Mass. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 656 Rogers Street, on Friday, at 2 o'clock for interment at the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. G. J. Bousfield officiating.

RICHARD A. WESTINGTON

PLAINVILLE, Nov. 5—One of the prominent agriculturists of this district was buried here yesterday in th person of Richard Adelbert Westington, who entered into rest at his home in Canton on Monday Mr. Westington had been in failing health for a year and since last spring has had trouble with his heart. He was able to drive out occasionally during the summer. His wife died some years ago and for the last few months, his sister, Miss Tryphema Westington, who had cared for her aged mother up to the latter's death last winter, had been with him, giving her brother the same loving care in his illness. Mr. Westington was a son of the late William Westington and was born at Plainville, where two brothers, W. J. and Luther Westington, prominent agriculturists and successful breders resided for many years, but passed away a few years ago. Surviving are two brothers, Melville of Port Hope and Marcus of Bewdley and three sisters, Mrs. McKinley Plainville, Mrs. Hoare, Tyrone; and Miss Tryphema Westington. Deceased had one son, William, who died some years ago.

Church Union Disputes Settledby Commission Sitting in Peterboro

Three Commissioners On Church Property Hold Session at Court House—Mount Pleasant, Lakefield and Keen Congregations Heard In Appeals.

MINORITIES ALLEGE IRREGULARITIES.

Non-Concurring Members Of Keene Church Say Votes Were Obtained By Undue Influence — Charges Are Denied By Union Majority In Reply.

Before three Commissioners: J. D. Falconbridge, K.C. of Toronto, chairman of the Ontario Church Property Commission at Osgoode Hall, R. S. Cassels, K.C. of Toronto, and W. H. Wardrupp, K.C. of Hamilton, several cases of interest to the concurring and non-concurring members of the United Church of Canada were heard today.

The congregation of the Union Church of Mount Pleasant made application for its share of the value of the parsonage, in connection with St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Omemee, basing its claim on the following grounds:

(a) The parsonage was purchased from James Edward Adams in 1900 for the sum of $750 and, as far as can be ascertained, the money was contributed equally by the two churches mentioned and the Lakevale Presbyterian church, then in the same circuit.

(b) About twelve years ago, the Lakevale Church dropped out of the circuit and no claim was ever made by this church for any portion of the value of the parsonage.

(c) Up to the time that the Lakevale Church dropped out, the Mount Pleasant congregation contributed one-third of the upkeep of the said parsonage, but since the said Lakevale Church dropped out, the said Mount Pleasant congregation has only contributed one-fourth of the annual upkeep.

(d) The value of the said parsonage at the present time is $3,000, of which the Mount Pleasant congregation feels that it is entitled to either one-half or at least one-third, for the reason that the said parsonage is situated at Omemee and will be needed by the Omemee Church as a parsonage, the said Omemee congregation now having the key to same.

A summary of the vote shows that the Omemee congregation voted from the 8th to the 14th of February, 1925, with the total num-

RUM RUNNER CAUGHT.

British Schooner Becalmed After Night Visit to American Port.

BOSTON, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press)—The British schooner La Parisienne, well-known for many months on the Cape Ann rum-row east of Boston, fell into the hands of the coastguard today five miles north of Peaked Hill Bar Buoy, off Cape Cod.

Reports reaching here said the schooner put into Cape Cod Bay during the night, presumably to land a liquor cargo, and early today a flat calm held her within territorial waters. A coastguard patrol boat took the ship and her crew into custody.

It is said that a test case will be made of the seizure.

Silk Stockings Claim Stuns Irish Commissioners

ENNIS, Ireland, Nov. 6. — Lady Beatrice O'Brien adores silk stockings and keeps a huge supply of them, according to a claim for compensation which she lodged against the Free State Government.

The Hon. Edward and Lady Beatrice O'Brien were burned out of their home during the troubles of 1922. The claim which they have lodged against the government includes 83 pairs of silk stockings at $15 a pair; 14 evening gowns; 27 jig-saw puzzles, some with as many as 12,000 pieces and a collection of moths valued at $2,500.

The commissioners questioned 83 pairs of silk stockings, which she valued at $1,245, and Lady Beatrice's counsel stated to satisfy their curiosity she would count her present supply. She reported she now has 110 pairs.

A meteorite found by Eskimos in Greenland and now on its way to the mineralogist museum at Copenhagen is the third largest stone of its kind discovered. It weighs about seven tons and is valued at $500,000.

MOVIE PICTURES MADE IN CANADA IS AIM OF ONTARIO GOVERNMENT IN PLANT LOCATED AT TRENTON

Hollywood of Canada Opens After Five Years of Non-Production.

AN INNOVATION.

Many Other Films Will Be Issued if "Look Ahead is Successful.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., November 6. —Canadian Press. — "The Hollywood of Canada"—the plant of the "Province of Ontario Pictures," a company run by the Provincial government, located at Trenton, will begin the production of a movie next week, after five years of non-production. The first public intimation of this was given yesterday by the Superintendent, Mr. Bert Black.

"Look ahead," is the working title of the film, which will be renamed in the making, and given a release title in accordance with cinema practice.

The picture will be for regular circulation in the picture houses of Canada, and will appear as a regular picture on the bills. The true nature of the work is an innovation so far as government pictures are concerned, this being the first attempt to commerciaize their plant by making films which are for general use.

Heretofore, the efforts of the provincial experts have been directed toward frankly educational ends, the pictures dealing with agriculture, forestry and other utilitarian fields. Various films in the realm of health, sanitation, have been made in the past for official use. It is now only a short time before Canadian audiences will have the opportunity to see films made in their own country, if the first one "goes over."

Drama with a Moral.

The film was described by Mr. Black and his cameraman, Mr. C. G. Bastert, as being "a drama with a moral." The moral of the picture is safety, but this is skilfully submerged beneath the action in the screen. The Hydro Company are the beneficiaries of the film, so to speak, in that the chances their linemen take in the course of duty will be shown graphically; it will have the same element of drama that any railroad or deep sea picture has, the only difference being in the background against which the script is written.

"This will not be a conciously propagandish picture, the lesson to be shown will never be paramount, but everyone in the audience will get a thrill, and never realize they have learned a lesson," explained Mr. Bastert. In a word it will be a regular picture with both "interiors" and "exteriors" the latter, in movie jargon, refering to the character of the various scenes.

Preparing Scenery.

Yesterday was a busy one at "Province Pictures,' where scenes familiar to all readers of film magazines were being enacted. Sets and props were being placed in readiness for the primary scene which will be shot in the early part of next week. A theatrical cast of twenty from Toronto will stage the production. There will be fourteen men and six women.

Famous Scientist Expects Soon to Find Missing Link

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Paleontological sleuths are on the trail of the "missing link" and expect to find him soon, dead or alive, says Dr. Roy Andrews, noted scientist, just back from the Gobi Desert of Mongolia. Dr. Andrews said the material they had found so far have strengthened the belief of man's evolutionary development.

ALLIES ASK FOR BETTER ANSWER

German Note on Disarmament Is Not Satisfactory.

COMMUNIQUE ISSUED.

PARIS, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press)—Finding the last German note on the disarmament issue unsatisfactory the Allied Council of Ambassadors today decided on the text of a communication asking the Berlin Government for more precise answers in regard to some phases. The ambassadors' note is based on the report made by the inter-Allied war committee, under the chairmanship of Marshal Foch.

The communique issued after the Ambassadors' meeting said it was hoped the new note would elicit a reply from Germany that would permit the Allies to consider the early evacuation of the Cologne Bridgehead

Old Man Coolidge Likes Middle "C" Included In Name

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the President, desires to have the middle initial "C" included in his name, the President indicated during a discussion of his invitation to his father to spend the winter at the White House.

The President finds that his father is very particular about having his full name printed, as he does not want to be confused with his grandson, and incidentally the President said the inclusion of the "C" did not take much more type.

Mr. Coolidge is hopeful that his father will accept his invitation, although reports received from Attorney-General Sargent were that the Colonel had attended the bank directors' meeting at Ludlow, twelve miles from his Plymouth home, and seemed to be in good spirits and getting along well.

TROOPS GUARD SOCIALIST AND MASONIC HALLS

It is Feared That Fascisti May Attack Them Because of Plot.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.

ROME, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press). — Troops with bristling bayonets to-day were cordoning the headquarters of the Socialist party and that of the Free Masons in the Justinian Palace, where it is asserted the plot to assassinate Premier Mussolini as he stood on the balcony of the Chigni Palace during the celebration of the anniversary of Italy's victory over Austria was fomented.

Other soldiers, similarly prepared for immediate action, were guarding other Free Mason and Socialist gathering places, the offices of newspapers opposed to the Fascist Government and various centres which possibly might be attacked by Fascisti who still are enraged over the plan to shoot the Premier from a window as he reviewed the passing troops.

Excitement is still at a high pitch to-day over the discovery of a plot to assassinate Premier Mussolini. Order, however, reigned throughout the entire country. The Messagerio, a semi-official newspaper, prints a detailed report destined to prove that the plot was hatched in France by anti-Fascisti, assisted by friends of other than Italian nationality. "Indeed," says the Messagerio, "subscriptions were raised and supported by the Left newspapers for what was called a 'liberty loan,' the object being to rid Italy of Mussolini and Fascismo."

MENTION BAGOT RIDING FOR KING

Prime Minister Is Not Expected To Seek Seat in New Vacancy.

HEENAN FOR CABINET.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—The death of J. E. Marcile, member-elect for Bagot, Que., creates the first vacancy in the new parliament.

A suggestion has been made that Premier King might decide to run in Bagot, but in official circles this is not thought likely. With the leaders of both Liberal and Conservative parties having made their position clear, a period of comparative quiet is expected here. No definite steps towards Cabinet readjustment, it is intimated, have yet been taken, nor are they expected to be extensive. Peter Heenan, Liberal member-elect for Port Arthur and Rainey River, is mentioned as a possible successor to Hon. James Murdock as Minister of Labor, but the report lacks official confirmation.

The Cabinet Council will meet again this afternoon. Premier King has been kepping all his Cabinet close to Ottawa during the past week, and the meetings of the last few days have been fully attended. It is most probable that the question of departmental amalgamations and necessary bye-elections will be discussed. As well as this, it is understood that a vast amount of routine departmental work has accumulated during the weeks of the election campaign, which must soon be disposed of by the Cabinet.

OTTAWA, November 6. Canadian Press. — There will be no need to wait for the election of a speaker to

Car Loads Of Canadian Potatoes Being Shipped To United States

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Such a sensational price advance for potatoes has been scored that they are now arriving from Canada by the carload, duty paid.

The United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported Wednesday that quotations here and in other chief centres are so high that Canadian shippers can well afford to pay the tariff of 50c a hundred pounds and that carlot receipts from Canada already have become numerous.

Within the last week most of the potatoe markets in the United States have shown a jump of as much as $1.75 a hundredweight in some cases.

"Beautiful But Dumb" Is Nonsense, Says Scientist Next Generation May Be Both Homely and Dumb

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.)— American women are losing their beauty and intelligence, will be next to go as beauty and intelligence go together, Albert E. Wiggam, biologist and author, of New York, told the Wisconsin Teachers' Association yesterday.

The expression "beautiful but dumb," as aplied to women is nonsense, he said. "The more intelligent, beautiful women are allowing the less intelligent and lessbeautiful to have nearly all the children. If it keeps up, the next generation will be both homely and dumb," Mr. Wiggam said.

He asserted it takes three college women to produce one baby and that during the same time one homely scrub woman, with little education, will produce two or three. Onuly about half of college bred women ever marry, and the average college bred married woman has but two children, he added.

Man Shoots Himself at Minister's Door; Interview Refused

August Swanson Was Known as Seeker After Dominion Lands He Said Had Been Swindled From Him—The Claims Were Not Established.

SOUGHT TO SEE PREMIER.

Corridor of Parliament Buildings Scene of Suicide To-day —Westerner Had Haunted Offices and Had Written Letters For Many Years Past.

OTTAWA, November 6 (Special)—August Swanson, aged 65, a Manitoba pioneer, terminated today a twenty year struggle for what he considered to be his just rights, by taking his own life.

He shot himself through the heart in the corridor beside the entrance to the office of the Minister of Justice and his dead body fell across the passage way along which he had made so many hundreds of trips in vain.

Swanson was one of the earliest settlers in South Eastern Manitoba. He squatted on land to the east of Emerson long before this district was surveyed, and after this had been done, he was one of the first to apply for a homestead. He had earned his patent for the land in 1905.

Everything went well with Swanson until he got into a dispute with his neighbors whose cattle sometimes grazed over Swanson's land. On one occasion Swanson took a pitchfork and so injured the cattle that his neighbor entered suit for damages. This was in 1914. The case came to trial and was dismissed but the court awarded the plaintiff damages. Swanson was unable to pay them and his neighbor thereupon seized Swanson's property.

Said Seizure was unlawful.

Ever since Swanson has alleged that this seizure was unlawful but when the Federal Government had a case submitted to the Exchequer Court in 1919, the decision went against Swanson.

Somehow Swanson connected the government with his misfortunes and for several years he has been a con-

PASS RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION

J. J. Duffus Was Mover at Board of Trade Meeting.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 6. — At yesterday's session of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, which marked the 14th annual gathering, a resolution of appreciation of the Ontario Government for the cordial support rendered by the formation of the Tourist Association of Ontario, introduced by J. J. Duffus of Peterboro and W. Simpson, Guelph, was passed without discussion.

His Majesty Requests Silence To Honor Dead

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—King George has requested that the British people throughout the Empire observe on the anniversary of Armistice day two minutes' silence to honor the memory of the men who died that the Empire might survive. The pause in the rush and hurry of the day will come at 11 o'clock a.m., Wednesday, November 11.

HAPPY I DID IT, SAYS TOWERS

First Officer Expresses Satisfaction at Shooting Captain.

ALIENATING FRIENDS.

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 6—(Canadian Press). — "The captain was talking about me and turning all my friends against me, and I could not stand it any longer. He has broken my heart. I am very happy I did it."

This is what Thomas Towers, former first officer of the Canadian Pacific liner Melita, who is charged with murdering Captain A. H. Clews, commander of the Melita, and wounding two other officers of the Melita, D. K. Gilmour and John Holliday, with intent to kill, is alleged to have said just after the shooting on board the Melita at Antwerp on October 21st. The words attributed to Towers were repeated to-day at the resumption of the hearing before the magistrates here by a witness, Joseph Goerinck, inspector of the Canadian Pacific investigation department at Antwerp.

Continuing, the witness said that when Towers was asked why he had shot Gilmour, he replied, "He is my greatest enemy. I am very sorry I shot Holliday. I have nothing against him. I am sorry Allan (a member of the crew of the Melita) didn't get what Holliday got."

CANON CODY GRAPHICALLY TOLD STORY OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE SPEECH AT TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Spirit of Adventure and Enterprise of Mariners Made For Growth.

NO OPPRESSION.

Belief That Fabric Is Knit Together By Love of Freedom.

Sketching the growth of the British Empire and the causes involved in that growth, Canon Cody, Rector of St. Paul's Anglican church, Toronto, presented a comprehensive survey of conditions which should cause one to look with optimism on the future of the Empire. His address was a feature of the Teachers' Convention meeting which took place last night in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute and was presented to an audience which embodied many other elements aside from representatives of the profession.

The former part of the programme consisted of two vocal selections by M. H Park, "Who is Sylvia?" by Coates and "The Bloom is on the Rye," by Bishop; as an encore he sang "Land of Hope and Glory." Agnes Logan acted as accompanist.

Rev. J. J. Cody

Following the musical part J. Munro introduced the speaker who drew his opening statement from the encore number which Mr. Park had sung.

"The British Empire has passed through turbulent days," he resumed and many have declared that she is down and out but on the contrary, she is growing stronger every year. Much damage has been caused by writers some of them English journalists who have been spreading tales of woe and pessimism and would lead people to believe that the old mother is bent and gray; that she is no longer fit to sway destiny at a stroke of her sceptre; but I believe that the mighty parent of nations is still strong and capable (applause.)

Canadian history is an integral part of British history, and British history is directly related to that of Europe. Students and teachers knowing this to be true should not only study the subject with that in mind but should relate the history when they are teaching it so that it may be administered in proper proportions.

"The term Empire as applied to the national comomnwealth of Britain is unique and many historians notably German, have found diffi-

USURPATION OF POWER, MEIGHEN SAYS OF ACTION

Characterizes Cabinet Decision as Contempt of Popular Will.

NO PRECEDENT.

Other Leaders Have Resigned When Having Smaller Group, He Says.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, in a statement issued late yesterday, characterizes the announced intention of Premier King, that his Government would continue in office and meet Parliament, as "usurpation of power and contempt of the popular will." Mr. Meighen's statement read as follows:

"The Premier's statement, stripped of its sophistry is merely an announcement of his determination to 'hang on' in defiance of a heavily adverse verdict from the people of Canada.

"The Cabinet, he says, considered the alternative of advising a second dissolution of Parliament. The Prime Minister knows that his Cabinet had no such alternative and could not get another dissolution no matter what they advised. They have made their appeal, and have been defeated.

Leads Minority.

"Mr. King is now merely the leader of a minority group. There has never been a case in Canada, and none for a third of a century in Britain, where the leader of a minority group has awaited for the calling of Parliament or has refused to resign immediately the will of the people was known. Mr. Baldwin waited for Parliament in 1923, but Mr. Baldwin emerged from the election the leader of by far the largest group. In Mr. Baldwin's case, also, Parliament being already called to meet in three weeks, there was no time for a new Government to be formed and ready to meet the House.

Mr. Drury, in April, 1923, announced, and announced properly, that if another party were returned larger than his own, in the then forthcoming elections, it would be his constitutional duty to resign in

HON. G N GORDON WILL CARRY ON

RETURNED TO-DAY.

Hon. G. N. Gordon returned from Ottawa this morning, and said that things were now settled, and the Government is going to carry on, holding an early session. In the meantime Mr. Gordon told the Examiner he would continue to administer the office of Minister of Immigration until his successor could be appointed.

Mr. Gordon said he would be home every Saturday and Sunday from now on for some weeks.

The Minister intimated that there were negotiations on foot between his Department and the British government to develop the British Empire Settlement scheme, and this would be announced in due course. This particular plan of settlement, Mr. Gordon said, was not contentious, and seemed to have the endorsation of the leaders of all parties in Great Britain up to the present time.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN MAY BE CALLED CEARING HOUSE FOR WORK OF AFFILIATED SOCIETIES

Object First, Last and All the Time, Is Advancement of Home.

MANY ACTIVITIES.

Committees Take Up Study of Many Subjects and Pass on Information.

The following article is the first in a series which will appear during the winter months in these columns, having to do with the personnel, membership and activities of various women's organizations throughout the city. Readers will gain some idea of the many endeavors carried on in different channels by the women of the city.

"Conservation of effort and recognition of the union that lies in strength" is the motto of the Local Council of Women, which might be termed a clearing-house for the many organizations of women scattered throughout the city. Not aiming in any way to be a distinct organization, it still contrives to gather up into one concrete whole the many activities of women who belong to the various societies scattered throughout the city and functioning for the public good. In the work of its affiliated societies is bound up, as in a skein, all the varied works to which women set their hands and minds, and a glance at the list of its affiliations will give some idea of the scope of its endeavors. From the Home and School Associations, that try to keep in close touch the three elements of the home, the scholar, and the teacher, to the church missionary groups, who are seeking to take the Gospel to the heathen in foreign lands, all the way from the patriotic aims of a society like the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League to the purely artistic character of the Womens' Art Association, these threads in the warp and woof of womens work that has for its first and last object, all the time the advancement of the home, for anything that affects the nation, make their way into the personnel of the Local Council of Women. Its committees take up the study of such subjects as Laws and Taxation and Mental Hygiene, and pass on the information gathered locally to similar committees in the National Council, which in turn sends it on its way, in a concise form, to the International, world-wide Council. So the activities of a tiny local society, for instance, as reported in Council meetings, and passed on to its final destination, may have something finally to do with decisions arrived at in the main Council of all, reflecting upon and judging the many elements that go to make up desired legislation. An organization like this has a wide range and possesses much power.

The list of officers making up at present the executive of the Peterboro Local Council of Women is as follows:

President, Mrs. A. Stevenson; 1st vice-President, Mrs. Joe Mills; and vice president, Mrs. Geo. Nelson; 3rd vice president, Mrs. S. Touchburn; 4th vice-president, Miss A. Lancaster; 5th vice president, Mrs. F. A. Hodgson; recording secretary, Mrs. Joseph Wearing; Corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Mowat; treasurer, Mrs. N. D. Seaton; convenors of committees; Equal Moral Standard, Mrs. A. J. Smith; Immigration, Mrs. M. A. Morrison; Fine and Applied Arts, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro; Citizenship, Mrs. J. Wearing; Laws, Miss H. Moffatt; Education, Mrs. C. E. Jamieson; Public Health, Dr. J. Birnie; Professions and Employments for Women, Mrs. J. Mills; Taxation and Soldiers' Dependents and Pensions, Mrs. W. R. Morris; Films and Printed Matter, Miss Annie Walton; Mental Hygiene, Miss H. Bonnycastle; League of Nations, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner.

The list of its thirty-six affiliated societies and their presidents include the following names: All Saints' Guild (Mrs. R. Trotter); All Saints' Auxiliary (Mrs. Elliott); Ashburnham Womens' Patriotic League (Mrs. R. H. Parsons); Business Girls' Club (Miss Aleithea Davidson); Catholic Womens League (Mrs. C. J. Snider); Female Voice Choir (Mrs. R. Bugg); Graduate Nurses' Association (Miss M. Deyell); Home and School Associations: Central School (Mrs. E. H. Howson), King Edward School (Mrs. J. J. BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Cremulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membrances and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

KILLED SISTER IN CHILDISH QUARREL

Peter Sarfano, 7, Shot Girl, 5, Because She Called Him Names.

DETROIT, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press). — Because his sister, two years younger, had called him "a monkey," while the children were playing with a rag doll, Peter Sarfano, aged 7, yesterday afternoon procured his father's revolver and sent a bullet crashing through the girl's brain. She died almost instantly. Questioned by detectives, the boy related with calmness how he had gone to the bureau drawer where the revolver was kept, unlocked it, took out the weapon, and after killing his sister, replaced the pistol and relocked the drawer.

CHARTER MEMBERS FIRST CURLING CLUB

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 6.—Councillor Walter S. Wiggins, retiring president of the Curling Club, has in his possession a list of the members of the first club of the kind ever organized in Campbellford. That was in 1883, and the first member to be enrolled and to pay the annual fee of $1, was G. S. Gillespie who at the age of 71 is still one of the best curlers in the club, and who never fails to distinguish himself at all the bonspiels and other special events in the district.

The other charter members were: W. Kerr, Mr. McCrae, R. Dinwoodie A. McCallum, James White, A. Dinwoodie, Duncan Kerr, E. A. Bogg, D. Watters, G. Watters, A. L. Colville, J. Shannon, J. W. Turner, John Drennan, Dr. Johnston, and Robert Cock.

So far as known, out of this list there are only three survivors, two of whom, Messrs. Gillespie and Duncan Kerr, still reside here. Mr. Kerr was formerly proprietor of the St. Lawrence Hotel, which is now conducted by his son, James. E. A. Bogg was manager of the local branch of the Standard Bank and is now living in Toronto.

In those days the club had no rink and all the games were played on the river in the rear of the Queen's Hotel. A rink was later built by the late Charles Smith, near the residence of the late Dr. Macoun but the structure collapsed under the weight of snow following a severe storm, and C. S. Gillespie, anticipating such a disaster, and anxious to save the building, offered $10 an hour to any person who would clear the roof of the wet snow, but there were no volunteers.

The present up-to-date rink was built by a company, the majority of the members of which belong to the club.

The membership fee last year was $7.50, and is likely to remain at that figure for the coming season, although this is a matter which has been referred to the management committee.

SERVICES REALIZE 8 HUNDRED DOLLARS

And the Hydro Has Lowered Rates—More Reductions Coming.

WARKWORTH, November 6.—Nearly eight hundred dollars was the amount realized from the anniversary services held in St. Paul's United Church on Sunday, and the fowl supper the following evening.

A reduction in rates has been issued by the vilage authorities in the Hydro Commission, and it is believed the rate will be still lower.

CARMEL MAN HURT WHEN WAGON UPSET

Frank Gibson Was Pinned Beneath Loaded Truck When Horses Ran.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 5.—Frank Gibson, of Carmel, met with a painful accident on Monday of this week when the team of horses, attached to a load of hogs he was preparing to bring to Millbrook for shipment, in some way, became frightened and ran away. The wagon and its load, were overturned pinning Mr. Gibson underneath. Dr. H. A. Turner was summoned and rendered assistance, the patient's shoulder cap being dislocated, and apparently other injuries received. The accident occurred in Mr. Gibson's own yard so there was very little delay in extricating him from the overturned waggon, and in adopting relief measures. Some improvement in his condition is reported.

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the United Church held its November meeting on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. William Mullen, a good attendance being one feature of the gathering.

The president, Mrs. M. E. Needham, was in the chair, and there was a keen interest manifested in the activities of the society.

After general discussion, it was decided to hold the annual bazaar on Friday and Saturday, December 4 and 5, the two days' plan having been found very successful last year. Premises will be secured on the main street, and afternoon tea, with a hot supper at the regular tea hour, will be served.

Committees were appointed for the various departments in connection with the bazaar, and a work meeting was held at the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. Howard offering the closing prayer.

The receipts from the fowl supper held on October 20 will leave at least $200.00 clear, according to the treasurers report presented by Miss Duncan.

No tea was served at Tuesday's meeting, nor will there be any arranged for at the December meeting, but there may be invitation teas held in some of the member's homes when handkerchiefs, and other donations to the supplies for the bazaar will be received.

Married: On Monday, November 2, 1925, at the Rectory, Millbrook, by Rev. Canon Allen, Mrs. Louisa Reynolds, to Mr. William Gray, both of Millbrook.

Miss Mary Kells has gone to Toronto to spend the winter with her niece, Mrs. (Dr.) Brand. Mrs. Brand came to the city on Tuesday and accompanied her aunt to Toronto the following day.

W. E. Belch and Harvey Aiken are in Cobourg this week serving on the jury.

PHEASANT COVEY WINS ADMIRATION

Fifty Birds Hatched From Eggs Supplied by the Government.

MARMORA, Nov. 6—One of the prettiest sights remaining to nature lovers in Marmora is the handsome covey of fifty pheasant that may now be seen in a large wire enclosed pen on Robert Nayler's property. These birds have been hatched from eggs supplied by the Government and later on are to be released to a life of fullest freedom. Their plumage has won the admiration of at least the gentler sex.

Young People's Gathering

There was a good attendance at the Young People's League on Wednesday evening. An admirable address on "Devotion" was given by G. B. Airhart and two solos were rendered by W. J. Cottrell.

Personals

Mrs. Wesley Grant is visiting relatives in the Maynooth district for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. McNally visited Madoc on Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Horwood are spending a few days in Cobourg.

Messrs. H. Christie and E. McCormack arrived back from the West last week end.

ABOLISH DEATH PENALTY.

Bill Will Be Introduced at Next Session of Australian Cabinet.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 6.—(Associated Press).—A bill to abolish the death penalty will be presented to the next session of the Legislature by the State Cabinet.

The measure would substitute imprisonment for hanging in cases of convicted murderers, the sentence varying in severity in accordance with the circumstances of the crime.

LOSER IN WAGER PUSHES PEANUT INSIDE TIN CAN

W. H. Chapman, Hastings, Lost Out on Bet Concerning Maybee's Majority.

ONE THIRD OF A MILE.

Made the Trip in Ten Minutes in Pelting Rain.

CAMPBELLFORD, November 6.—A man walking in the middle of Front street, in a pelting rain, yesterday afternoon, pushing ahead of him with a cane a small tin can, was a novel spectacle, and but for the weather would have attracted a much larger crowd. The man was W. H. Chapman of Hastings, and the can contained a peanut. He was paying an election wager made with Reeve C. H. Davidson, the latters end of the bet being that M. E. Maybee, Conservative candidate would be elected in Northumberland County by a majority of at east one thousand.

It was understood, or at least taken for granted, when the bet was made, that a bare peanut was to be rolled but it seems that Mr. Chapman went into the contest with a mental reservation. He borrowed a small tin can from Mr. Davidson himself, put the peanut inside; so that his task was comparatively easy. He made the trip from the service station of Meyers & Stone, up Front street, to the Spur line crossing, about one third of a mile, inside of 10 minutes.

REPORT OF WORK ON DUMMER ROADS

Many Culverts Put in and Several Miles of Road Gravelled.

WARSAW, Nov. 6.—The following is the report of work done on the township roads this summer by John Payne. Total amount spent, $4,250.00:

Four culverts, which are paid for, are yet to go in—one on Eighth line, east of canal; one near John Little's; one on Ninth line, and one near E. N. MacDonald's. Seven other culverts are already in.

The crushed stone work was done through Weston's swamp from Third to Fourth lines; on the Fourth line, each side of George Barr's home, quarter mile; on the Fifth line, three-eights mile above E. N. MacDonald's farm; on side road by E. N. MacDonald's farm, one-quarter mile; between the Eighth and Ninth lines, about one-half mile; on the Fourth line, north of the school, near D. Taylor's farm, one-quarter mile; past Wm. Puffer's place, between Tenth and Eleventh lines, over half a mile; on the Eighth line, one-quarter mile; at the canal, between Sixth and Seventh lines, one-half mile; on the Third line, near Rufus Payne's place, one-half mile; on the Ninth line, near Bert Weese's home, one-half mile. Most of these roads had been gone over with the small grader in the spring.

Gravelling was done on the Twelfth line, a mile in two jobs, at the upper and lower ends, and on the Fourth line above Allen Payne's mill, one-quarter mile. Besides these jobs there were several little patches of only a few yards. This was maintenance work, rather than construction, and only in some places was the road straightened.

Slain Desperado Scion Of Danish Noble Family

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—The Rochester Journal and Post Express to-day prints a story on the authority of a local lawyer to the effect that "Dutch" Anderson, slayer, bank robber and desperado, whose career was ended by a bullet from his own gun in the hands of Muskegon, Michigan detective, last Saturday, was in reality Ivar Dahl von Teller, son of Madame von Teller, of a noble Danish family, who has for years been under the impression that her son was a prosperous business man in the United States. The boy came to America when twenty years old. The Rochester lawyer says he is in communication with the dead man's mother in Denmark as to the disposition of the body.

WESTWOOD NEWS.

WESTWOOD, Nov.. 6.—Rev. R. F. Stillman of Norwood conducted the service in the United church on Sunday. He took for his text Matthew 6:28: "Consider the lilies, how they grow" He showed how the Kingdom of God is manifest in our lives by the following—giving of alms; prayer; fasting, and our business motives of life.

Personals.

Mrs. J. Rutherford of Peterborough returned on Tuesday after spending a few days with friends in the vicinity.

Miss Gladys Humphries has returned to her school near Georgian Bay after a two weeks' holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. S. Humphries.

The school has been closed on account of an epidemic of scarlet fever in the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brackenbridge motored to Peterboro on Saturday evening.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 P.C. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. B. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

OBITUARY.

JOHN ROWANTREE.

COBOURG, Nov. 6.—John Rowantree, formerly of Campbellford, died at the Home for the Aged here on Tuesday. He was brought to Cobourg from a Peterborough Hospital, where he had been receiving treatment, two months ago, and had been confined to his bed, practically, since then. It is understood that he was a long time a patient in a Peterborough hospital.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT WOOLER CHURCH

Mission Circle Invited Many Guests to Masquerade and and Concert.

WOOLER, Nov. 5.—On Hallowe'en night, the Mission Circle invited guests to a very large number to spend the evening in the basement of the United Church. The different costumes were very much admired and the programme of a humorous character. Miss Margaret Teal, the president, was congratulated on the decorations and management of the programme, as well as having such an executive to support her.

Dialogues, drills, readings, solos, duets, and the "quartette" in costume were very excellent. The duet by the "Poiret" Girls—Miss Frances Terril and Miss Loretta McCall was much appreciated. Prizes were awarded as follows:

Bast dressed young lady—Miss Stella Nelson.

Worst dressed young man—Mr. F. Stacey.

Proceeds for the evening were $43.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Woods and daughter Bernice of Picton, spent the week-end at Floral Hill Farm.

BUY A POPPY—AND WEAR IT.

Peterboro citizens are once more reminded of the celebration of the anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, and of the desirability of every Canadian wearing a poppy as a tribute to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Tomorrow is Poppy Day, and artificial poppies made by disabled Canadian ex-ser ice men will be on sale on the downtown streets under the auspices of the Peterboro Great War Veterans' Association.

Citizens are urged not only to buy a poppy, but to wear it over the Armistice Day week-end.

Too many people in the past have looked upon the sale of poppies as merely another form of tag day, and they have worn the scarlet flower of remembrance just so long as they considered it a protection against being canvassed again—and no longer.

Thus they have missed the significance of the occasion completely.

Poppies should be worn by everybody until Armistice Day is over.

THE GOVERNMENT'S DECISION.

While Premier King's comment, "I hope that this course will meet with the general approval of the country," in announcing the decision of his Government to remain in office and allow Parliament to decide the issue is not likely to be completely verified, especially in those sections of Canada which refused to endorse his administration, there will be relief that the situation has been clarified to this extent at least.

The present deadlock is a new problem in Canadian politics.

While it would be impossible to claim that the Government has been given a vote of confidence as a result of the election of last week, it is equally impossible to assert that Mr. Meighen has been given a clear-cut mandate to form a Government, although he has a majority of sixteen members and a popular majority of about 125,000 over the Government.

The trouble, of course, arises over the fact that neither of the old parties has a majority of the House, while in between are the Progressives and Independents of both parties.

Mr. King's justification for remaining in office is that his tariff policy is much more likely to command support from the Progressives than Mr. Meighen's higher tariff platform can possibly do.

His decision to meet Parliament will undoubtedly be condemned by the official Opposition and by the electors who voted against the Government last week, but there will be approval of his action in advising that Parliament be called together at the earliest practicable date, and his promise that his Government will make no appointments except such as are absolutely essential to the carrying on of the country's business.

THE WEST PETERBORO RESULTS.

In the first place, the size of the vote polled is gratifying, inasmuch as the figures reveal that out of 21,577 voters on the lists in this riding 16,306, or nearly 76 per cent., exercised their franchise. The rural voters did even better than the urban electors, for while in the city of Peterboro 9,996 ballots were cast out of a total of 13,495, the rural sections of the riding polled 6,310 votes out of 8,082 on the lists, the rural percentage being 78.1 per cent., as compared with 74.4 per cent. in the city.

The showing in the country, despite bad roads and lack of the facilities available in the city for getting out the vote, can be considered as most satisfactory.

The official figures show Mr. Peck's majority as a little higher than election night returns indicated that it would be, his lead over Mr. Gordon being officially given as 1,963, the vote being 9,100 to 7,137. The check-up disclosed several city returns as having been transposed on election night, and these corrections gave the winner's urban majority as 2,068, which was pulled down by Mr. Gordon's rural majority of 105 to 1,963.

Of the 103 polling subdivisions the Conservative candidate carried 77, the Liberal standard-bearer 23, and at three city polls there was a tie vote. In the city Mr. Peck had majorities in 56 polls, as against 5 for his opponent, while the rural subdivisions showed 21 carried by Mr. Peck and 18 by Mr. Gordon.

The winner carried the city of Peterboro by 2,068, the village of Lakefield by 71, the township of North Monaghan by 347 and the township of South Monaghan by 26.

Mr. Gordon's largest majorities were in the new portion of the riding, the township of Douro giving him a lead of 159 and the township of Otonabee voting a Gordon majority of 164. In the northern part of the riding the Liberal candidate had 44 majority in Galway, 4 in Cavendish and 60 in Harvey, while coming closer to the city, Ennismore contributed a Liberal majority of 82 and Smith township 36, the small margin registered in the latter township being one of the surprises of the campaign.

Altogether, Mr. Gordon had a net country majority of 105, the rural part of the old riding giving a Peck majority of 147, which was more than offset by the net Liberal majority in the new portions of the constituency.

A NEW POWER PLAN.

A new power development scheme advocating Peterboro as a step-down station for the distribution of power in the western part of the area that could be served, is strongly favoured by Mr. W. P. Chipman, M.E.I.C., in a letter to the Examiner.

Mr. Chipman has made some study of the possible water power development in the Ottawa River between the city of Ottawa and Lake Nipissing and the distribution of the same, and declares that an initial development of a quarter of a million horse power of electric energy between Ottawa and Mattawa would bring quicker and more beneficial results to this part of Canada than the expenditure of two hundred million dollars on the much discussed deepening of the St. Lawrence waterway.

The Ottawa River development would supplement, if not wholly take care of, all the immediate demands of the area between that river and a line between Toronto and Barrie northward.

That development, Mr. Chipman points out, would mean wealth in power and be used wholly for the expansion of this country's industries and general welfare, instead of a development at or near Cornwall on the St. Lawrence for the greater benefit of the powerful industrial interests of our neighbors.

It would attract more foreign capital and offer greater inducements to a desirable population than any other public work under consideration, and at a moderate cost—an expenditure that would not be a burden.

Its western distributor, the Examiner's correspondent suggests, could be by high voltage from a point near Pembroke to a central or step-down station at Peterboro, and thence by lower voltage lines to Toronto and other local centres, while the eastern area would be easily taken care of from the Ottawa development.

Mr. Chipman, inconclusion, argues that between Montreal and the Pacific Coast no other public work can offer equal benefits to the country, remarking that conditions have very materially changed in the last three years, and that it is quite clear to many men that much of our surplus grain for export from the Western Provinces will in future pass through the port of Vancouver, and what Great Britain does not require will soon be absorbed by the growing demands of Japan and China.

AUSTRALIAN "REDS."

The Mother Country is showing the deepest interest in the outcome of the Canadian elections. The situation in this Dominion is similar to that which has confronted British electors and they are naturally very much interested in seeing how we shall settle our difficulties. Another election of much interest throughout the Empire is to be held this month, and that is the election in Australia on the 21st of November. The result of that election will be of the utmost importance, for it is being brought about by the Prime Minister, Mr. Bruce, for the purpose virtually of determining whether the Government shall be suffered to pass into the hands of extremists or be continued along constitutional lines by the whole country instead of by an aggressive faction of self-styled Labor men. So impossible have conditions become in the commonwealth through the activities of these self-opinionated agitators that it is getting more and more difficult to carry on the business of the country smoothly. The most recent example of their high-handed conduct is the unauthorized seamen's strike which aimed at tying up the shipping of the world and paralyzing trade and transportation. That strike is not only disapproved of by the union leaders, but was maintained in defiance of law as interpreted by the courts.

The Australian election will determine whether these assertive trouble-makers shall be permitted to snap their fingers in the face of public opinion and coerce the members of trades unions into following policies inimical to their own interests. There is no pretense that the great majority of workers in Australia endorse the line of action which finds favor with these extremists, who have taken the management of affairs into their own hands. The election is arranged to give the public a chance of showing its repugnance to these anti-democratic tactics. The very fact that the Premier is appealing to the electorate shows his confidence that a constitutional answer will be given. As the Premier represents the position, Labor will be afforded the opportunity of saving itself from its professing friends but actual enemies. Australia is jealous of its democratic institutions, it can boast of being one of the most advanced countries of the Empire in respect to its social and industrial legislation; but the commanding position which it has won is jeopardized by the "red" menace, and it will be a great surprise if on November 21 the unruly element is not sent summarily about its business.

It is a mistake, however, to suppose that Labor is responsible for the deplorable course which has marked developments in the commonwealth in recent times. It seems that the extremists have wormed their way into positions of power, and have used such power for their own aggrandisement and the furtherance of their sinister objects. The unionists cannot shake themselves loose from the incubus, but in the measures proposed by Premier Bruce it will be easier for members to express their true opinion without the fear of intimidation. The Premier has shown himself to be no enemy of unionism, but its friend. He proves this by restoring to democracy the power which has been usurped by a blatant minority.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. Forke's party may not be as big as before—but it carries a lot of weight under the present conditions.

The common ordinary "spud" is fast climbing into the luxury class. And the higher the price the more people will want to eat potatoes.

The next session of Parliament may be short, but it is not to be expected that it will be sweet.

Toronto winners thought they had a big majority until they heard of the New York mayoralty results.

New York's new Mayor wrote the song, "Will You Love Me in December as in May," and yet had a record majority. If that kind of thing keeps up a saxaphone player may some day be Premier of Canada.

A THOUGHT.

WHAT YEARS MEAN TO ANY MAN.

In the twenties, a man forms certain habits that affect his whole career.

In the thirties, he has his real battles with the trials of life.

In the forties, if he has vision and purpose, the man moves into the finished castle of his dreams.

In the fifties, he is working with experience and naturally has the confidence of other men, and these two situations usually pay and pay well.

In the sixties, he will probably start thinking about getting sick, and in these thoughts he will, without doubt, be very successful, and get sick.

The incurable disease is to decide that you are old in years. The day that you decide your usefulness is past, prepare for the funeral expenses.

No man should think of retiring so long as they make wheel chairs. Retirement is resignation and when we resign, we quit.

Plenty of men at sixty or even seventy are better fitted to work than other men at thirty or forty who are better fitted to play.

Years may steal some of your surplus strength of body, but it is when we no longer yearn for greater achievement that the years step in and rock us to sleep forever.

The most dangerous age is the year when we no longer yearn to go on with the responsibilities of life.

The deciding years are usually in youth when we yearn for the pleasures and pastimes with little thought of cares or cash.

And here you have what youth or years mean to any man.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

With a holiday on Monday an effort was made on Wednesday to make a clearance at the Union Stock Yards and cattle sales totalled 1,715. Receipts since Tuesday morning were 37 cars, 830 cattle, 253 calves, 928 hogs and 622 sheep and lambs. Very few butchers' cattle were on the yards yesterday. There are four loads of fairly heavy Western steers, a little coarse, and the packers are not too anxious to take them. An excellent load of Western feeders around 1,050 lbs. each is also awaiting a purchaser.

A number of heavy steers and heifers selected from the exporters bought during the week were taken by Frank Hunnisett for the local beef trade at $6 to $6.75 a cwt. A number of other medium quality butchers were sold from $4.75 to $5.50 a cwt. Canner cows sold at $2.35 and $2.50 a cwt. Two loads of 900 lb. feeders sold at $4.75 and $5.15 a cwt.

The calf trade was quiet yesterday morning but prices seemed steady. One good calf sold at 11 cents and medium calves brought 8 cents a pound.

Choice sheep sold yesterday morning at 6¼ and 7 cents a pound. There are a couple of hundred lambs on sale and the holders are asking yesterday's price of 13¼ cents a pound for ewes and heifers.

Hogs are quite steady at $10.75 a cwt. f.o.b. and packers are not suggesting any change between now and next Tuesday.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 10,000; beef steers unevenly steady to 25c higher, stockers and feeders weak to 15c lower; extreme top 13.75 for bullocks; yearlings upward to 13.25; vealers steady to 25c lower, mostly 11.00 to 11.50 to packers.

Hog receipts 25,000; slow; mostly 25c higher; bulk good and choice butchers 11.60 to 11.80; desirable largely 11.75 to 12.00; extreme top 12.00; bulk packing sows 10.20 to 10.60; better slaughter pigs largely 12.00 to 12.50; shippers took 11,000; estimated holdover 12,000.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Wheat prices took a sharp upturn late yesterday as a result of sudden active buying on the part of traders who previously had been on the selling side. Reports of prevalence of hessian fly in Kansas, Illinois and Nebraska tended to strengthen the market, and so, too, did word of a renewal of snowstorms in Canada. Wheat closed strong at 7/8 to 2 1-8c net advance, new style, December 150 3-4 to 150 7-8 and May 147 1-4 to 147 1-2, with corn half to 1c down, oats unchanged to 1-8c lower, and provisions 5 to 20c up.

Preceding the late advances of wheat prices, the market had a general downward trend, accompanied by reports of favorable weather both in Canada and Argentina. Besides, estimates were current that the Argentine exportable surplus would amount to as much as 185,000,000 bushels. A light frost in Argentina was said to have done no damage. Meanwhile, export demand for wheat either from the United States or Canada was flat, whereas clearances from Russia for the week were of considerable volume, 1,072,000 bushels.

Hessian fly advices which were of more or less effect toward bringing about the subsequent rally in wheat prices, derived perhaps greater significance on account of an official report telling of unfavorable conditions in Missouri for the new Winter wheat crop. Canadian reports of fresh snowstorms which were also construed as a late bullish factor, came from Calgary and from Edmonton. The buying movement that set in as the day drew to an end was the more quickly responded to because of the market at the time being almost bare of offerings.

Larger receipts, together with a forecast of cold clear weather, led to lower prices for corn. Oats were steadied by smallness of arrivals.

Provisions advanced in line with the hog market.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Egg markets in the east remain generally firm, with Montreal reporting a better demand generally. Western conditions are unchanged. American markets show further strength, with prices at both Chicago and New York reaching new high levels for the season, while December future prices at New York are only one-quarter cent lower than the high quotations this Fall.

Toronto—Firm and unchanged. Fresh specials 60 to 61, extras 58 to 59, storage extras 44 to 45, firsts 41-42.

Montreal — Demand is improving on all grades of eggs, but the only price change is in fresh extras and firsts, which have advanced from 1 to 2 cents. Fresh turkeys for Thanksgiving are selling at 30 to 35 spot.

Winnipeg egg market is very quiet with Eastern buyers not interested at prices asked by Western dealers. It is reported that two cars of storage seconds held by an Eastern buyers were sold to a local firm at 30 cents. Two cars of storage firsts are rolling to Montreal for export to Glasgow. Jobbing, fresh extras 58 to 60, firsts 50, storage extras 46, firsts 41, Poultry unchanged.

Saskatchewan—Prices to country shippers are unchanged. Jobbing, storage extras 44, firsts 42, seconds 37. Poultry receipts increasing. Live prices unchanged; dressed, springs 13 to 19, fowl 9 to 15.

Edmonton—Jobbing extras 45, firsts 40, seconds 35.

Chicago—Spot 48 to 52, December refrigerators 35.

New York—Extra firsts 56, firsts 50 to 55, December refrigerators 56 3-8.

The people who are afraid of the dentist are the people who do not consult him until they have toothache. Your dentist is more interested in protecting your teeth than he is in repairing them. Go to him regularly for examination and you will escape a lot of pain and trouble.

4 out of 5
is grim pyorrhea's count

Dental statistics tell this grim story: four people out of every five are destined, through neglect, to contract pyorrhea after they pass the age of forty. Thousands younger also suffer.

Pyorrhea is the dread disease of the gums which is responsible often for loss of teeth, rheumatism, neuritis and other dangerous disorders.

It starts with tender bleeding gums. Pockets form below the teeth and poisons spread relentlessly through the body. If you have pyorrhea or any of its symptoms see your dentist at once and start brushing your teeth with Forhan's for the Gums.

To safeguard yourself against pyorrhea make Forhan's your regular dentifrice. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., and contains his pyorrhea liquid which has been used by dentists the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea. If used regularly and used in time it will prevent pyorrhea or check its course. Don't give this insidious disease a chance to start. Start using Forhan's this very day. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

AMERICAN ENTRY INTO GREAT WAR DELAYED BY MID-WEST STATES

SIDELIGHTS ON U. S. HISTORY.

Declaring that the United States people were dissatisfied with the country's attitude in world affairs and that only the desire of politicians to "save their face" kept that nation out of the League of Nations, the Hon. W. R. Riddell, LL.D., D.C.L., Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario, recalled how, at the first banquet of the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes in Washington, December 17, 1910, sitting a few feet away was President Taft. "I had been saying (perhaps boasting) that Canada was the first people to pass in Parliament a resolution urging the proper authorities to do their utmost to make a permanent treaty of peace between the English-speaking peoples, so that every dispute between them should be disposed of by an international tribunal," said His Lordship. "You may imagine my delight when the President spoke in favor of a positive agreement. And there seemed scarcely a dissenting note through the Republic. The spectacle, nothing short of extraordinary, displayed not a decade later, of this nation actually spurning the most promising means ever suggested to have peaceful methods prevail, is as startling as it was unexpected."

Midwest Sentiment Rules.

Justice Riddell finds the reason why in the fact that: "The weight of public sentiment has shifted its centre almost in our own time from the East to the Mid and Far West; the most effective public sentiment in the United States is to be found in the enormous farming communities west of the Mississippi and in the small towns and cities supported by them. The population there is mixed—many of German descent. These people of the Mid-West, speaking generally, have no world consciousness, no international mind; for them the United States of America is the whole world. Before we criticize or condemn, let us ask ourselves if we have none such in Canada.

"The year before the United States went into the war, I was in two Universities in New England and two in the Mid-West. In New England the people were almost as much interested in the War as a Canadian. In the West, I heard almost no word of the War—intercollegiate sports were far more interesting.

Wilson's Predicament.

"Before the United States went to war at all I was told the following by a gentleman of the strictest integrity. He said:

"'Woodrow Wilson, whom I know intimately, sent for me to come to see him at the White House; when I went there, he locked the door and we spent hours alone together; he walked up and down the room in anguish, and said more than once to me many blame me for preventing America from entering the war. If I were President of the Eastern States only we should have been in the War long ago; but I am President of all the United States and I must bear in mind the sentiment of the Middle States and the States of the West—they are not ready to go to war and it would be disastrous

NEW PRINCIPLE TO BE ADOPTED IN IMMIGRATION

Commissioner Lamb, of the Salvation Army, Explains Plan in Address.

FARM TRAINING.

Five Hundred Men Will Be Selected For Latest Experiment.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—On a tour of the British Dominions to investigate the possibilities for increased immigration from the British Isles, Commissioner David C. Lamb, head of the Salvation Army Emigration Department, arrived in Winnipeg yesterday.

In an address before the Canadian Club, the Commissioner declared it was the "absorbing power of the overseas Dominions, and not social or economic pressure at home, that determined the flow of emigration from the Motherland."

In the "standing army" of 1,250,000 assisted unemployed, there are between 200,000 and 300,000 young men who have never worked, the Commisioner said. He described a new plan which will be in operation next spring. This arrangement has to deal with married men from 30 to 40 years of age. Five hundred such selected men will be given training in general farm work for a period of three months. If successful, the Commissioner expects to see the plan extended under Government operation.

There were some who said England was finished. "Do not believe it," he said, 'England today is balancing her budget."

Suffered for 15 years with constipation—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings relief in 3 weeks

Constipation paves the way to many harrowing diseases. But Mr. Williams' letter carries a message of cheer:

I have been using your ALL-BRAN for the past three weeks and it has done more for me than anything I have tried in the past fifteen years. . . . I was troubled with hemorrhoids for years. About 18 months ago I was operated on with very little relief. I tried everything under the sun. Then my wife suggested Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and I say truthfully that it is the only thing that ever gave me relief.

Yours truly,
L. T. WILLIAMS,
(Address on request).

Cleanse your system of constipation's devastating poisons with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a bulk food that passes through the system, sweeping the intestine clean, stimulating normal, healthy action.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or your grocer returns the purchase price. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made in London, Canada. Sold by all grocers. Served in leading hotels and restaurants.

SOLDIERS LEAVE THE WAR ZONE

Attaches Sent From League Report Peace Restored on Balkan Frontiers.

TELEGRAM SENT.

GENEVA, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—A telegram received by the League of Nations from the powers' military attaches sent to investigate the situation on the Greco-Bulgarian border says that complete calm reigns and that normal life has been resumed on both sides of the frontier. The telegram was sent from Demirhissar.

The message says that on the Greek side of the frontier a considerable body of troops has left already for Saloniki and that the Greek artillery is to follow. On the Bulgarian side all the troops are on their way to their usual garrisons except two small detachments which remain to restore confidence among the population.

LOTTERY TO AID FRENCH FINANCE

Suggestion Made By Republican Union to Extricate Republic From Difficulties.

PARIS, Nov. 6. — A nation-wide lottery to extricate France from her present financial difficulties is advocated in a resolution adopted by the "Republican Union," a group of senators which comprises former President Millerand, former Premier Francois Marsal and other notable men.

The senators emphasized the fact that they favor a lottery this one time only, and take the stand that it should not have a permanent character, allowing the government to resort to such a measure only at the end of a year when it finds itself faced by a deficit.

The "Republican Union" has 95 members in the Senate and wields an important influence in that house.

WHEELER WANTS CASE DISMISSED

Pleads He Was Already Acquitted By Jury on Charge Identically the Same.

TWO ARGUMENTS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press). — Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, prosecutor in the Senate Daugherty investigation, asked the District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday to dismiss indictments charging him with conspiracy to defraud the Federal Government in connection with oil prospecting permits in his home state.

Two principal grounds for the motion was advanced:

That the Senator was acquitted by a jury in the Federal courts in Montana on a charge based on identic facts and that the District of Columbia courts have no jurisdiction of the offence charged or sought to be charged.

BLOOD IS FOUND ON AXE HANDLE

Announcement Follows Examination of Weapon Discovered Near Rougemont Bank.

POSSIBLE CLUE.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 6—Chief Lorrain, of the Provincial Police, announced late yesterday afternoon that the stains on the axe found near the house in Rougemont in which Charles Bernard, manager of the sub-agency of the Banque Canadienne Nationale there, and his wife, were murdered on the night of October 23, were caused by human blood. The announcement followed a conference between the chief and Dr. Derome, medico-legal expert, who had been engaged for some days in analysing the stains on the axe handle.

Yesterday's announcement brings the axe back once more into the limelight as a possible clue. It had been dropped for a time by the detectives, who considered that the axe was not likely to have been the instrument with which the crime was committed, but the proof that it is stained with human blood restores it as a possibly important factor in the solution of the mystery.

OFFICER TRIED FOR MURDERING SHIP'S CAPTAIN

Thomas Towers Had Delusions That Others Were Against Him.

TRAGEDY OUTLINED.

Witnesses Tell of Statements Made After Skipper Was Shot.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—In the continuation of the trial of Thomas Towers, former officer of the C.P.R. S.S. Melita, for the murder at Antwerp of Captain A. H. Clews and attempt to murder other officers, evidence was given yesterday by McLellan, one of the alleged intended victims of Towers' pistol, as stated in court in connection with the Crown Prosecutor's outline of the tragedy on board the Melita, McLellan re capitulated the incidents of the morning of October 21 on the ship. He said that when Towers was overcome by the second engineer and secured against doing further injury, Towers remarked to McLellan: "I am sorry I didn't settle you."

Witness, McLellan, stated that Towers said to the chief officer: "You will get promotion quicker than you expected. You won't be bothered by that pirate on top, because I've shot him."

Other witnesses said Towers had a delusion that the other officers of the Melita were against him.

COUNCIL WON'T ADMIT WOMEN

New South Ministry's Method of Dissolving Unwanted Assembly.

PREMIER'S REQUEST.

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press) — The legislative council of New South Wales by a vote of 28 to 25, today rejected the second reading of the government bill to enable women to sit as members of the council.

Some of the members advanced the view that inasmuch as the state Labor caucus had instructed the Ministry, (which is a Labor Ministry) to request the Governor to appoint 35 new members of the council so that the legislative council might vote itself out of existence it would be farcical to support a bill to enable women to sit there.

It is noteworthy that the abolition of the legislative council of New South Wales has been a plank in the labor platform for many years.

In accordance with the state Labor caucus instruction to the government, Premier J. T. Lang recently asked the governor to make the wished-for appointment of new members to the council in order that it might vote itself out of existence. So far the Governor has not acted upon the request.

Fresh Sign of Amity Betwixt Former Foes

LONDON, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—The spirit of Locarno prevailed last night at the French Embassy, where the German Ambassador and Frau St Hamer were among the dinner guests. This was the first time since the war that either French or German envoy had crossed the threshold of the other's Embassy. The Belgian, Brazilian and Japanese diplomatic representatives were also there.

Hungry as a hunter

A GOOD appetite usually denotes good health, yet how often you hear people say that the sight of food sickens them or complain of indigestion or gas after eating. These symptoms are often Nature's warnings that the body is in a run down condition.

Medical research has definitely proved that one of the causes of a run down condition of the body is a shortage of certain mineral elements, including iron, potassium, calcium, sodium and phosphorus, and until a sufficient supply of these minerals is restored to the body, good health is impossible. Wincarnis contains every one of these elements in addition to other health giving ingredients, and in a form in which they are most rapidly absorbed into the blood and carried to every part of the body to be converted into vital force.

Wincarnis has been recommended by over ten thousand physicians in cases of nervousness, anaemia, sleeplessness, and the general debility that accompanies a run down body. For fifty years this strength giver and nerve restorative has brought new life and happiness to weakened men and women.

PAINLEVE GOT BIG MAJORITY

LOSSES SINCE 1920.

PARIS, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press) —The Syrian situation suddenly sprung upon the unsuspecting Painleve Cabinet by the parties of the Right and Centre in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday in form of a demand for immediate discussion of the "grave events in that country," merely had the effect of rallying the entire parties of the Left around the wavering ministry and gave it an opportunity to score what will probably be the greatest preliminary success of its career.

Premier Painleve refused to discuss the situation until the arrival in Paris of General Sarrail, High Commission in Syria, who has been recalled, and made it a question of confidence. He was upheld by the Chamber 400 to 30.

The Chamber fixed November 20 as the date for the Syrian debate. General Sarrail himself will then appear before the parliamentary committees.

M. Painleve once more gave the official figures of the French losses in Syria since France accepted the League of Nations mandate. He admitted that France had lost 6,622 men, killed, died of wounds or illness, or missing, but he produced figures designed to show that nearly 70 per cent. of the losses occurred under the governments of the Conservatives and Right parties.

As officially stated the losses were: 1920, 2,192; 1921, 2,032; 1922, 636; 1923, 298; 1924, 239.

The losses for the period of General Sarrail's tenure of office, which was particularly under fire were 624 from Jan. 1, 1925, to Oct. 15. The losses since that date were not given in detail.

CHAPMAN WILL DIE.

Supreme Court of Connecticut Upheld Decision Convicting Him of Murder.

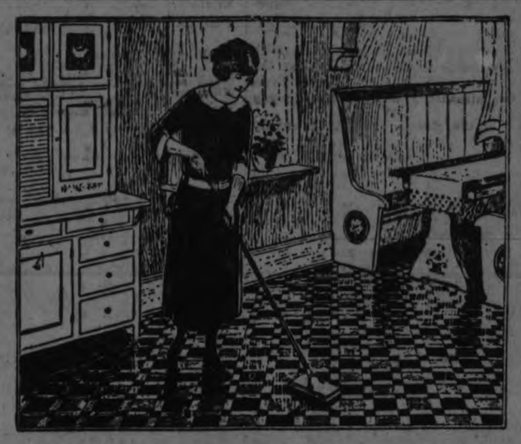
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 6 (Canadian Press)—Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, lost his fight for his life today when the State Supreme Court in a decision handed down here held that there was no error in the decision of the lower court convicting him of the murder of a policeman in New Britain, Oct. 12, 1924. The date for his execution has been set for early in December.

Coolidge Hopes To Visit All States He Has Not Seen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Coolidge has travelled in most States of the Union and before the end of his term he plans to visit every State not already covered. He has been invited to speak in several Southern cities, including New Orleans, this year. He feels that his duties will not permit him to accept the invitations extended by the South at present.

Most of the Southern States have not been touched by him in his travels, nor have several Northwestern States, including Idaho, Montana and North Dakota.

The land fever is interesting President Coolidge, it was said, and he would like to go to Florida and see for himself the extent of the boom.



WAX Your Linoleum

YOUR linoleum will last longer, look better and clean easier if you polish it occasionally with Johnson's Paste or Liquid Wax. It prevents cracking—brings out the pattern and colour—protects linoleum from wear—and makes cleaning easy.

JOHNSON'S
Paste - Liquid - Powdered
POLISHING WAX

Wax is the ideal finish and polish for all your floors. It will make them beautiful—easy to care for—they won't be slippery—and will not heel-print. And WAX is, by far, the most economical finish and polish for floors and linoleum. With waxed floors expensive refinishing is never necessary for walked-on places can be easily and quickly rewaxed as they appear without going over the entire floor.

The easy way to wax floors and linoleums is to use a Johnson Weighted Polishing Brush. It spreads the Wax evenly—polishes the Wax easily—and is an ideal floor duster.

A Perfect Furniture Polish

Johnson's Liquid Wax is the ideal furniture polish. It covers up surface mars and prevents checking. Forms a thin, protecting finish coat and takes all the drudgery from dusting. Johnson's Wax adds years to the life and beauty of varnish. It is easy to apply and polish.

Johnson's Polishing Wax is conveniently put up in three forms. Use the Paste Wax for all floors—wood, linoleum, tile, etc. We recommend the Liquid Wax for polishing furniture, phonographs, woodwork, linoleum, leather and motor cars. Johnson's Powdered Wax will immediately put any floor in perfect condition for dancing.

CANON CODY GRAPHICALLY TOLD STORY

culty in their classification of the term as applied to territory which was enrolled under the caption.

"It bore no resemblance to the German Empire nor any founded by Russia, Rome or France and it differed in that Britain did not seek to destroy the rest of the world in its advance, nor did it make any attempt to sap its dependents. On the contrary it seemed to be loosely bound together so that a sharp military shock would disintegrate the components of the apparently ramshackle Empire. The Germans tried the effect of such a shock and they discovered quickly that the bits of Empire did not fly in all directions but clustered the more closely.

Meaning of Term

"In the days of King Edgar the statement was made that the land of the Saxons should be called an Empire and that was understood as meaning that there would be no domination or over-bearing counterbalanced on the part of outside nations. So, back over 1,000 years ago our Saxon ancestors rose up and said they would owe allegiance to no one (applause). Again in the days of King Henry the Eighth a declaration was headed as follows: that "whereas in all time the land had been an Empire". Later Blackstone the modern accredited legal authority stated that the term Empire meant freedom from outside domination.

Thus the British Empire implies free democracy at home and willingness to give freedom to all outside constituents. The British Empire does not imply tyranny, selfish aggrandizement or a desire to lord it over other nations. Some have decried the term British Empire saying that there should be substituted some other milder name such as British Commonwealth but when the records are studied and compared no one need apologize for the sonorous, succinct termination—British Empire.

Not An Ancient Empire

"The British Empire is comparatively a modern growth as it has been in existence scacely more than nine generations. The days of Queen Bess, while spacious in point of intellect were not marked for wide domination. "England was obliged to settle domestic troubles before launching out to wider settlements. What a far cry it is from the day of the little Saxon Empire to that of today. Those who think that the Empire has run its course do not consider its comparative youth. It has grown to its present stature by a group of forces.

Tendencies for Growth

"The enterprise of a sea going people—the spirit of adventure—was of prime importance in spreading the bounds of dominion. I have visited the rose-colored county of Devon—it is rose colored, even the soil has a sea shell tint—and I have seen the countless harbors and I see a vision rising before me now of the men of Devon going to the ends of the earth impelled by some mysterious urge, the spirit of adventure.

In Exeter Cathedral hangs a flag which floated from the mast of Scott's ship during his South Polar expendition. Scott was a Devonian and the old spirit has not died. Drake himself, a man of Devon, was the second man ever known to sail around the world and he did it in a ship which would not be considered seaworthy in these days. When I consider how he braved the tempestuous straits of Magellan and the stormy passage around Cape Horn I am stunned by his daring.

"Another froce which widened the Empire was the desire for gain. Those hardy Elizabethans were not out merely to visit strange lands and see strange sights but also to pick up a Spanish galleon if one should chance to heave in sight. It is a happy thing when the spirit adventure may be linked up with the possibility of making a fair profit. In order to develop that profitable enterprise they developed a carrying fleet. The English people have never been without a fair measure of protection. (I am not speaking politically. — laughter). This carrying fleet added considerably to the gain of the people as a great trade sprang up with new countries.

Spread Religion

"The third factor in the development of Empire is the practice which Britain has evolved for the defence and maintenance of civil and religious liberty so it is possible not only to combine the spirit of adventure with the desire for gain but it is also possible to include religion. When Drake departed on his impudent mission to Cadiz it was not only for adventure and gain but with the purpose of singeing the beard of the King of Spain. The Pilgrim Fathers went to Massachusetts, Roman Catholics founded the State of Maryland and Anglicans settled the State of Virginia so in land settlement the religious factor plays a great part. If it were left out there would be nothing left but a raw boned and dessicated skeleton Africa was neevr designed for political purposes and while the missionaries found that the devastating slave trade was a great menace they could not appeal to any government in Africa for a redressal of wrong. The jungle paths were strawn with bleaching bones and spotted with freshly shed blood but nothing could be done. The missionaries continued their fight, finally employing the medium of the British press. As a result public opinion was aroused and interest was manifested in the situation. Livingstone in his dying words asked God's richest blessing or he who would heal the open sore of slavery.

Public opinion finally demanded that the British Government set up a protectorate, and accordingly a great part of Africa came under the British flag for religious reasons," he said.

"Philanthropy is another medium though possibly of less proportion in the founding of Empire. When the slaves were declared free they must be sent to some safe and free soil. A shipload captured in mid-ocean could not be sent to the United States, nor could they be returned to the jungles, so they were given a new land called Sierra Leone, which became subject to British control through philanthropic motivation.

Must Move Forward.

"The desire to better conditions for themselves and children leads many people to seek other and roomier lands, and many who came to Canada are impelled by that urge. I love to think of Canada as the land of the second chance, and I still hope that our country will be the mecca of those seeking that chance. At the present, however, that motive is less operant than formerly. Systems of employment insurance, sick doles and benefits have made conditions such that many would not want to take the great chance of seeking fame and fortune in an untried land.

There is the necessity, however, of moving forward continually to retain the existing position, and it is commonly accepted that the wars between England and France were wars for commercial supremacy and were waged to keep the parent countries independent economically.

Britain is not grasping or tyrannical. She went to India for trading purposes, and in order to continue doing business was forced to intervene in the tribal upheavals until the Indian Empire was one with her. British trade had to plow through the straits of Singarore, so Britain was forced to consolidate the Malay States by cleaning out the nests of pirates who overran the seas there. In Egypt she was forced to retain possession of the Suez. The Egyptian was starved and naked—weltering in the mud. After British control he made some approach toward respectability. Egypt desired independence which Britain granted, and the native is once more sliding back to his former position in the slime.

"By the Treaty of Versailles a system of mandates was adopted by which the powers acted as trustees to smaller improvident nations. In Mosul every foot of territory taken over was lifted from Hell to Heaven. Some people idealize the Turk, but since the war, the evidence has been totally condemnatory. They sett'ed the Armenian question by murdering the Armenians.

Empire Extraordinary.

"At first the watchword of colonial development was exploitation. The overseas posts were to give raw materials for home manufacture, and the end of that stage was reached at the period of American revolution.

"Britain realized her error and thought that the other colonies would at the first provocation cut the painter and go off by themselves. That is why the Fathers of Confederation met an atmosphere of indifference from England when the great political move was afoot. It was during this period that the spirit of national self-reliance was developed in the colonies. Following this came the stage of co-operation, then alliance, and now the colonies are grown up sons and daughters, but are still proudly members of the British Empire family.

Wealth of Nations.

Truth or trustworthiness is a fundamental in the structure of Empire. No Empire lasted which did not incorporate a sense of duty in its foundation. Britain was drawn into the world war to maintain that ideal, and any nation which has that silver thread of responsinility wrought into the fabric of Empire is not dead or decadent. (Applause). How can a country develop an export trade if the products are not genuine?

A nation to survive must recognize the supreme rights of justice. An Italian from the denizens of a Toronto ward pleaded to the police court magistrate for British fair play. It is a sense of this fair play which actuates the driver of an English omnibus to give those in the lower portion a chance to ride on the top before taking on new passengers. Argentinians speak of the 'word of an Englishman.'

"No people are so blessed with ordered freedom as the British. Today Britain is almost rashly trusting India—but she is trusting her, believing that freedom is the greatest medium in national control. Those three greatest notes, truth, justice and freedom, as sounded by a mighty nation, ring as a challenge to the sons and daughters of the Empire.

"Shall that Empire perish? Shall Canada discontinue her membership as an integral part of it or will it continue growing in unison with the great British commonwealth of nations?"

Following the address of Canon Cody, F. D. Kerr, K.C., moved that a vote of thanks be accorded the speaker, and expressed a debt of gratitude which he owed the Teachers' Association for the pleasure of hearing the message. He related an incident which took place in Westminster Abbey when members of the legal profession from both Canada and the United States had stood with bowed heads and given thanks to the mighty mother of nations.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, in seconding the motion, said that, knowing Canadians to be so parented, they should demonstrate their gratitude for the great inheritance which was theirs.

AMERICAN ENTRY INTO GREAT WAR

to go to war with a divided country. There is my typewriter, no one but myself knows the many messages I have written on that taypewriter to bring us into the war and torn them up because the West is not ready—I must wait.'

Apology Taken For Praise.

"Martyn Glynn, Governor of the State of New York, was selected to make the speech nominating Wilson for re-election in the Democratic National Convention of 1916. He told me that he went to the Convention in rather an apologetic mood; he detailed the various instances in the past in which the United States had received provocation from other nations, ending each instance with the statement: 'And we did not go to war.' It speedily became obvious that what Glynn thought was rather to be apologized for was in the view of the delegates a matter of pride.

"Well, Wilson was elected, the idiotic Zimmerman letter was captured by the despised British Secret Service and broadcast over the United States. It was seen that there were other ways whereby shells could reach the Mississippi than from guns on the Atlantic, the complacency of the West received a rude shock, and when Wilson called upon the Senate to declare war against Germany, there was scarcely a dissenting voice.

Made Many Enemies.

"But the large section of the community who were dissatisfied with what they regarded as betrayal of his trust never forgave Wilson. Another large section of the community blamed Wilson for keeping the country out of the war and never forgave him either. I know that in some instances it actually amounted to actual personal hatred. Then there was a whole political party which for political if for no other reasons wished to discredit him.

"Wilson, the real author of the League of Nations, did not invite Republican co-operation or advice, a very serious error but almost inevitable from his character and trend of mind. Henry Cabot Lodge had long been in favor of some plan for world peace; the League of Nations was along the lines of what he approved. But between the men there was a deep-seated antagonism, intuitively and subconsciously they hated each other; and both from party and from personal reasons, Lodge set himself to humiliate Wilson. How he did it he has himself disclosed in his recent volume, published since his death, which, written as an 'Apologia pro Vita Sua,' is an amazing disclosure of pettiness and spite. His post obit attack upon the dead is as unsuccessful as it is malignant. He has destroyed his own fame and has brought discredit on 'the scholar in politics'."

Three Moderns Embalmed By Very Expensive Process

ATLANTA, Nov. 6.—(United Press).—By use of modern scientific embalming methods, bodies may be preserved in a life-like condition indefinitely. But this is very expensive and so far as is known only three bodies have been so treated. They are Nicolai Lenine, the Russian dictator, Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, the Chinese nobleman, and a John Marconnette, of St. Louis, who set aside a sum for the preservation of his body.

VEGOL SOAP

Palm & Olive Oil (Vegetable Oil)

The Vegol Chemist says:

For nearly 40 years we have been striving to produce the perfect toilet soap—that would protect your complexion with a creamy, luxurious healthy lather—with an odor redolent of garden and orchard. We have succeeded. Vegol is the new-process toilet soap.

Made from the balmy luxurious oils of the palm, olive and cocoanut trees, which grow in my company's plantations in thousands. Newly discovered economies in the manufacturing enable us to give you a cake one-third larger than the usual size, for only a few cents. Yet Vegol has no superior in all the wide soap world. Revel in its quick lovely lather to-night.

SCIENTISTS SAY SUN SPOTS ARE AUGURY OF SUMMERLESS YEAR

Observers Assert That There Will be Frost Every Month in 1926.

SIMILAR TO 1816

Will 1926 be a "year without a Summer??" This question is causing no little discussion among those erudite observers whose business it is to deal out twice daily to the waiting public such prophecies as "fair and wamer," "cloudy, with probable showers," or "heavy snows and falling temperature." Some, especially an astronomer of Paris, predict that the climatic disaster that was visited upon the world in the year 1816 is to be repeated in 1926.

"The year without a Summer," "noverty year," or "eighteen-hundred and froze-to-death," it was variously called. There were snow and frost every month of the Summer, the Fourth of July was celebrated in greatcoats and mittens, the crops were ruined, and men and beasts suffered. If history is going to repeat itself, a look backward should show what is to be expected of next June, July and August.

In 1816 there were no official weather reports—or at least they were not official in the sense that they bore the stamp of the United States Meteorological Bureau. But they were fairly accurate, what there were of them, and the story they reveal, along with contemporary newspaper accounts, is one which, as far as records extend, has never been paralleled.

When Crops Failed.

The Western part of this country was settled only by Indians, so that we have no way of knowing whether the unusual weather that prevailed in New York and New England extended to the Mississippi and beyond. But present-day scientists are convinced that the cold Summer of 1816 was no mere local manifestation, and one of them finds indication that "there were no crops raised north of the Ohio and Potomac and but scanty returns much further South." That famous Summer was almost as rigorous in England as in the United States.

It was not until April of that year that the people of New York and New England began to notice anything wrong with the climate. The Spring was backward, but there had been backward Springs before. A resident of Hopkinton, N.Y., Elisha Risdom, whose diary concerns itself particularly with the weather, reports under date of April 12 as follows: "Full four inches of snow has fallen. We feel the distress due to frost and cold and there is the greatest scarcity ever known in this country."

But despite the bleakness of April, with its proverbial showers supplanted by unanticipated snowstorms, May dawned auspiciously. It was too dry, to be sure, but at least the temperature was normal, and farmers who had seen the crops stunted by continued frosts took heart. As the 20th of the month approached, the thermometer began to misbehave again. The general resultant discouragement is reflected in the Risdon entry for May 25:

"Season is cold and backward. Many are out of provisions of every kind. Prospects look dark for another year. In Him who has promised us seed time and harvest is our only hope, and in Him may we trust."

June Snows.

By the 29th of the month the diarist had so far abandoned hope that a bare statement of fact is all that we find in his small book. "It froze so hard last night that the mud, three inches deep, will bear a man."

June ushered in a series of hot days and cold nights. In some parts of the country there was frost every night from June 1 to 17. The 5th was very hot. Salem, Mass., felt a temperature of 92 degrees, and there were reports of extreme heat in New England and New York. But by sunset of the next day the temperature had fallen to 43. The morning of the 7th was gloomy and foreboding, with a stiff northwest wind blowing. Snow began to fall in heavy flakes until it was four to twelve inches deep.

From the northern border of Massachusetts came tales of icicles pendant from blighted foliage. At Peacham, Vt., Joseph Walker, aged 88, lost himself in the snowstorm on the night of June 7 and his feet became so severely frostbitten that it was necessary to amputate his great toes. Flocks of birds huddled on the ground, so numb and dazed with cold that they allowed people to approach them and take them in hand. Sparrows, martens, humming birds and yellow birds perished by hundreds.

Grain Destroyed Around New York.

Chauncey Jerome, in his "History of the American Clock Business," gives the following picture of the situation at Plymouth, Mass: "The next summer was the cold one of 1816, which none of the old people will ever forget and which many of the young have heard a great deal about. There was ice and snow in every month of the year. I will remember June 7. While on my way to work about a mile from home, dressed in thick woolen clothes and an overcoat, my hands got so cold that I was obliged to lay down my tools and put on a pair of mittens which I had in my pocket. It snowed about an hour that day. On June 10 my wife brought in some clothes that had been spread on the ground the night before, which were frozen stiff as in winter."

Another contemporary account of the storm is contained in a letter from the Poughkeepsie correspondent of The New York Evening Post, in the June 13 issue.

"Wednesday last," he writes, "was the warmest day we have had this season. During the night following, however, the wind chopped about to the northwest and next day, Thursday, was the coldest day we had experienced for a month. On Thursday night we had a severe frost. The weather has been unusually cold every day since, insomuch that ice of considerable thickness has been made each night for the five nights last past. The vegetables liable to be destroyed by frost have been entirely cut off in most of the gardens in the vicinity of this village.

"The crops of winter grain were in this country so entirely destroyed by the unfavorable winter and spring that they have been plowed up. In many other cases they were so seriously injured that it has been for some time supposed that our farmers would not reap their seed. It is now feared that the meager fields of rye which had been spared by the winter have been wholly destroyed by the recent frosts, the rye being in blossom.

Overcoats on "the Fourth"

"The present cold days and frosty nights thraten the crop of Indian corn and other Summer grain with similar destruction. This state of thing is calculated to excite the most gloomy apprehensions not only in the minds of the farming interests, but of the inhabitants generally."

This story, the first news printed in that journal concerning a natural phenomenon which has attracted the speculation of scientists for more than one hundred years, was tucked away down at the bottom of an inside column under the small heading "Extraordinary Weather." To the modern reader who remembers the eight-column streamer heads with which newspapers greeted the first hot week of June last year, the position of unimportance to which this "Extraordinary Weather" was relegated may seem unjournalistic.

Nature, further reports indicate, relented after four days of snow and frost, and there followed several weeks of balmy and at times hot weather. The few crops that had survived the devastation of the storm lifted their heads and grew. Wheat and corn, replanted by hopeful farmers, pushed green shoots up through the earth. The hayfields took on seasonable appearance once more. But June frosts were repeated in July.

On the authority of Jerome we have it that the citizens of Plymouth celebrated the anniversary of the nation's independence by donning their Winter clothes and indulging in strenuous exercise to keep warm. "On the Fourth of July," he writes, "I saw several men pitching quoits in the middle of the day with thick overcoats on and the sun shining bright at the time. Not half enough corn was reaped that year to furnish seed to the next."

No Fodder For Cattle.

Again foliage hung black and lifeless, garden crops were destroyed and corn withered on the stalk. The intermittent frosts continued throughout August into harvest time when a cold autumn with much early snow finished off the devastation. Some parts of the country raised fair crops, in spots untouched by the blighting weather. In others not enough grain was harvested for seed for the next year. People killed off their cattle and horses because there was no hay for them.

Winter brought considerable hardship everywhere; prices soared. Abraham Sargent of Chester, N.H., sold seed corn for $4 a bushel in the spring of 1817. Hay was selling for $180 a ton, an increase of 600 per cent. over the market price of the previous spring. Potato prices rose from 40 cents a bushel to 75 cents, flour from $8 to $18 a barrel.

Some scientists say that the extraordinary summer was the result of a series of volcanic disturbances which began in 1812, with Soufriere in the British West Indies, and ended with the terrific eruption of Tambort in the Malay Archipelago in 1815, one of the four or five largest eruptions in the last two centuries. They point out that this series of eruptions discharged into the air a tremendous amount of dust and ashes, which surrounded the earth like a fine mist. This aura in turn acted as an armor against the heat of the sun, and a lowered temperature all over the world was the result.

lessen the number of rays of light which the sun throws forth and consequently the earth is cooler. During May and June of 1816 spots on the sun were so large as to be visible to the naked eye.

It is upon this theory that scientists base their predictions of unusually cold weather in the summer of 1926. They point out that we are now approaching what is known as a period of sun-spot maxima. The appearance upon the surface of the sun of spots gradually increasing in size, coupled with a certain periodic tidal phenomenon that will manifest itself next spring, will result not only in greatly decreased radiation from the sun, but also in the raising to the surface of the ocean of large quantities of very cold deep sea-water. These two factors working together will tend to produce a repetition of "poverty year." The eruption of a volcano would, they contend, make the recurrence a certainty.

Whether they are correct in their prognostications remains to be seen. In the meantime the credulous will tread lightly on the galoshes in order that those useful articles may last through July as well as January. They will emulate the fabled and lay up stores in the coming winter to last them through the rigors of another "year without a summer."

WON ON RECOUNT.

E. A. Lapierre, Liberal candidate in Nipissing, who in a recount defeated his opponent, John Ferguson, Conservative, by a very narrow margin.

MANY AT SERVICE.

Large Congregations Heard Rev. James Grier at Centerville.

The anniversary services of the Presbyterian church of Centreville were held on Sunday, November 1st, when the Rev. Mr. Grier of Campbellford delivered messages that were most inspiring and helpful to the crowds that filled the church to capacity at both morning and evening services.

Special music was rendered by the choir which was assisted on both occasions by Mr. John Anderson, tenor soloist of Peterboro. All this contributed much to the success of the event and helped in making it one of the most impressive and successful anniversary occasions in the annals of the church history.

On the following Tuesday evening, November 3rd, the annual fowl supper (in connection with the anniversary event) was held. The total proceeds of this anniversary occasion amounted well up to $700.

GRAND DUKE NICOLAS PLANNING OVERTHROW OF BOLSHEVISM

Lives in Quiet Chateau Near Paris, Pining for Action.

CHAFES AT RESTRAINT

Longs for Horse and Men to Command—A Typical Soldier.

By RALPH HEINZEN.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(United Press).—In a small secluded castle hidden in a wooded valley south of Paris, Grand Duke Nicolas, uncle of the murdered Czar of the Russian and once Commander in Chief of the Russian armies, lives in a lonesome exile. A cavalryman for fifty years, he pines for a mount, and if the Grand Duke had a kingdom to trade, it is more than probable that he would choose a horse.

Chief of the Section of Officers of the former Imperial and White Armies, and chosen leader of the Pan-Russian movement, which incorporates the efforts of three million Russian "emigres" scattered everywhere over the world, Nicolas is the man to whom his countrymen have turned to bring about national government in Russia.

A man of action, Nicolas chafes impatiently at the compulsory restraint which obliges him to live within his horizon of a castle wall. Here in the chateau and its wooded park, Nicolas lives surrounded by a little court of faithful friends, servitors, and former officers of his staff. To them, he is still "His Imperial Highness" and he is treated with the respect paid in a royal court.

His is a lonesome life, although he has at his side the Grand Duchess Anastasie. He holds rather frequent conferences with the leading Russian figures in the economic, industrial and political worlds, but only those who call on business are received.

Nicolas is quiet in his new home, but he grows more impatient as each day passes. He dislikes promenades. He has no desires to saw wood or to mow hay, to potter around the garden or tinker in the tool-shed. His has always been a military life and without his horses and his men he is ill at ease. He longs for activity.

Although Nicolas has lived just outside of Paris for two years, very few Parisians know of his presence. Only when Russians gather is his name mentioned.

Three requests to interview the leader of the "emigres" met with flat refusals. But insistance was finally crowned with success and the understanding that America was interested in his theories and his hopes in the future of Russia opened, on a fourth attempt, the gates of the chateau. I was invited to the chateau as a guest, that I might see for myself the simplicity and seriousness of his exile.

The Chateau Choigny is the manor castle of the village of Santonaey off the main roads, not far from the picturesque little town of Brie-Comte-Robert. It consists of a pretty country house, surrounded by a forest. There was a tumbledown old stone wall which once hedged in the trees, but with the arrival at Choigny of the Grand Duke, this wall was rebuilt and heightened.

Nicolas has benefitted by the mild climate of his French retreat. Although he spends long hours at work in his study around a plain pine table, he stands well the strain of 69 crowed years. In appearance, he is a typical cavalryman, erect and towering well over six feet. Facially, he bears the stamp of the Romanoffs. He is a soldier and even civilian clothes do not hide it.

"These are not the clothes I am accustomed to wearing," he remarked with a note of sadness, as he fingered his sack coat. "For fifty years a cavalryman, yet for eight years I have not felt a horse under me. But today even if I could buy one, I could not afford to keep it."

In his immediate circle, in addition to the Grand Duchess Anastasie, daughter of the King of Montenegro, are close friends of Nicolas' military career.

Although Choigny represents what is left today of a once proud court life, there are no social functions, for the budget which would not permit of a saddlehorse will likewise permit no elaborate entertaining. Since the death of her parents, the King and Queen of Montenegro, Anastasie sees almost no visitors, and Nicolas works at his desk.

Red deer from Scotland have been acclimatized in New Zealand, where they have multiplied to such an extent that there are now three times as many of them in their new home as in all Scotland.

Ellis Pinned His Hopes To Hon. Arthur Meighen

For the past ten years I have been employed as a dining car steward, and the following story is the best I have heard during my railroad career.

A short while ago, while on my run from Toronto to Windsor, I had the pleasure to have as guests in my dining car Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, and Mr. A. Ellis, Canada's official hangman.

Mr. Ellis wished to meet the Hon.. Arthur, so I introduced them. After they had finished their conversation I asked Mr. Ellis how his health was, and also in a joking manner asked him how business was getting along in his line. His reply was as follows: "Well, business is pretty bad at present, but I think it will pick up should there be a change of government." —F. R. H.

Models Taught To Strut

Paris Mannequins Learn Intricate Methods of Wearing Clothes.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press).—It was the Mock Turtle in "Alice in Wonderland" who studied "reeling and writhing" in his undersea school. Paris is going to do the Mock Turtle one better in a school for Mannequins, where "pausing and posing, and strutting and gliding" will form part of the curriculum this fall.

Less mysterious in their nature are the simple physical exercises to keep the girls' figures trim and neat—the instruction in the art of "wearing furs" and imitiation into the secret of "showing off" a gown. The course requires from 18 to 20 lessons.

EVIDENCE GIVEN SHOWS ILL WILL AMONG OFFICERS

First Officer Said To Have Thought Others Were Opposed To Him.

OTHERS MARKED.

The Purser, Another Officer, and Himself, Were to Have Been Shot.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Nov. 5 (Canadian Press) — Evidence submitted today at the hearing of the charge of murder against Thomas Towers, former first officer of the C.P.R. liner Melita indicated that there had been bad feeling between Towers and his victim, Captain Clews, prior to the shooting which occurred in the early hours of October 21 while the ship was tied up at Antwerp. Towers also faces charges of attempted murder for shooting of John Holliday and David Gilmour, two other officers of the Melita. According to the evidence Towers had attended the opera on the evening previous and after going aboard the ship at 3.30 in the morning he asked Gilmour why the ship was listing. Gilmour, it is said, replied that if he (Towers) had been aboard the ship where he ought to have been he would know all about it. This remark seemed to have incensed Towers. After the shooting he said to Elliott, the Master at Arms:

"These have been up against me for 12 months. I intended to shoot the Captain, Gilmour, Allan, McClennan (purser) and then myself, but my revolver failed me."

BOARDS ASK FOR MORE PUBLICITY

Would Have Cities Empowered to Spend Money on Tourists.

PASS RESOLUTION.

KINGSTON, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press.)—At this morning's session of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, a resolution was adopted requesting the Ontario Government to amend the Municipal Act so as to give authority to cities of 30,000 population or over to expend annually not more than 10 cents per capita to tourists and publicity purposes. A resolution, which embodies the expressed opinion of the ratepayers of Kitchenr and which urged the Provincial government to amend the statute governing the constitution of the Boards of Police Commissioners by substituting some other person or persons in place of the police magistrate as a member of the board with the object of obtaining a clearer division between the executive authority and the administrative authority in law enforcement was defeated by a big majority.

CIVIL FLYING MAY BE FOSTERED IN U.S.

Creation of Special Bureau Is Urged In Committee Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.)— The creation of a bureau of civil aeronautics in the Department of Commerce with broad powers to regulate and promote all civil and commercial flying in the United States forms the central recommendation of the committee on civil aviation which was appointed by the Department of the American Engineering Council last June to make an exhaustive study of the question.

The committee, of which J. Walter Drake, Assistant Secretary of Commerce is chairman, declares in its report made available for publication to-day that the possibilities which it sees for the development of commercial aviation in the United States can be realized only through a definite and continuing programme of government assistance for the industry.

Makes remarkable recovery from bad sprain

WORKS LIKE WONDER TO RELIEVE PAIN

Shoulder sprained, returns to work next day

A remarkable case of quick relief from pain and a phenomenally rapid recovery from a bad sprain is told by a stockyards worker in Davenport, Iowa.

"I was loading a quarter of beef, and coming out of the cooler I slipped and sprained my shoulder. I used Sloan's Liniment and the next day I was able to go back to work. It does work like wonder to relieve pain."

This is one letter—typical of thousands received by the makers of Sloan's, that tell how sprains, bruises, lame muscles, have been helped by this wonderful liniment.

What is the secret of its marvelous effectiveness? It is the healing tide of fresh, new blood that Sloan's sends right to the place that hurts.

No need to rub. The medicine itself does the work. Quickly and surely it takes down the swelling and inflammation—drives out the pain. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

CANADIAN INDUSTRY REQUIRES ADEQUATE NAVAL PROTECTION SAYS AN INDUSTRIAL WRITER

John H. Kimball Tells Importance of Protection of Trade Routes.

CRUISER FORCE.

Britain's Present Line Not Enough To Cover 80,000 Miles.

A Cabinet crisis in Great Britain is a serious matter and, when reports are spread abroad that the whole Board of Admiralty is threatening to resign because of a difference of opinion in the cabinet as to the need of building two or three cruisers, more or less, it should be a matter of interest to us to consider how it may affect the trade of Canada, domestic as well as overseas.

Canada has never taken naval defence at all seriously, and the general feeling on the matter seems to be one of apathy. The strength of the Royal Navy has been taken for granted as being fully sufficient to guard us and our trade from enemy aggression, and it has never failed us in the past. This is supplemented by the knowledge that if the United States lived up to the tenets of the Monroe Doctrine she would resist any attempt at a complete and permanent occupation of Canada by any overseas enemy.

Added to this is the feeling of ease produced by the Washington Treaty on the Limitation of Naval Armaments, for most people seem to think that the 5-5-3 ratio of naval strength applies to all classes of war vessels. As a matter of fact, this ratio applies only to capital ships (battleships and battle-cruisers) and to aircraft carriers. There is absolutely no limit set by this treaty to the number of cruisers, of destroyers, or of submarines that any power may build and maintain. The only limitation of size or armament in any of these three classes is in the cruisers, which must not exceed 10,000 tons nor carry guns larger than 8 inch.

There is no indication that the days of warfare are over, but there is every indication that in the next war the cruiser is going to play a far more prominent role than it did in the Great War. Never in any naval war in the past was a great navy so completely confined to its harbours, and never were the outer seas so soon cleared of enemy commerce destroyers. As this was due to the confirmation of the German shoreline and of the narrow seas leading to her ports, and as it will be impossible so to hem in any country having an open seaboard, we may look for great activity on the part of cruisers. And the very limitation of battleship strength has added very greatly to the importance of cruisers.

Another point usually overlooked is that the primary role of a navy is to keep the sea-routes open and not to resist an attempted invasion; its duty is to protect trade, not territory. The latter is only incidental to the former, as the maintenance of open trade lanes is accomplished by driving the enemy from our coasts and from the principal trade routes. The driving of the enemy from the coasts is in the province of the battle fleets, but the protection of the trade routes on the high seas is the work of the cruisers; and it is this duty that should make the cruiser and its work of the greatest interest to the manufacturers of Canada.

The description of the cruisers as "the eyes of the fleet" has given the general public the idea that their chief duty is to scout for the battle squadrons and to prevent the light forces of the enemy from reconnoitering them, but the history of naval warfare does not bear this out. Nelson repeatedly reported and complained that his fleet had not enough frigates, the counterpart of the present-day cruiser. At the beginning of 1805, the year of Trafalgar, the British navy had—in addition to the other classes of war vessels—232 frigates and sloops in commission; at the beginning of 1806 there were 264. But it is doubtful if more than forty of these were attached to the fleets—the rest were on the trade routes protecting British and attacking enemy trade. Again, in 1914 there were 126 British cruisers built and building, and 114 of these were in commission at the beginning of the war; many more were completed in 1915 and many merchant liners were armed and commissioned as auxiliary cruisers. But there were only 31 cruisers attached to the Grand Fleet when the Battle of Jutland was fought in May, 1916; once more all the rest were on the trade routes, excepting possibly the Harwich Light Forces.

And now, having glanced at the work that the cruisers have to do, let us consider the present situation. British cruiser strength has never borne any direct relation to the cruiser strength of any other nation or nations. Their numbers have been based solely on the supposed needs of the moment, to supply those requisite for the battle squadrons and for operating on the trade routes. During the last thirty years their numbers have varied considerably. In 1896 there were 96 cruisers of all classes; in 1914, 114 were in commission; at the beginning of 1919 the Navy List contained the names of some 171, and these were supplemented by about sixty armed merchant cruisers. In May, 1925, there were afloat 46 British cruisers, 4 Australian, 1 New Zealand and 1 Canadian, a total of 52 cruisers in the Empire. In addition to this there had been ordered in 1924-1925, 5 British and 2 Australian cruisers, but these will not be completed for about three years.

Not one of the British and Dominion cruisers now afloat has been laid down since the armistice, seven years ago. Most of them have seen war service, and the wear and tear of one year of war is greater than two years of peacetime cruising; and the normal life of a cruiser in days of peace is about fifteen years. Seven of the 52 cruisers are of the "City" class, completed between 1910 and 1912; these 7 are coal burners, they are 13 to 15 years old, they have had the full strain of four years of war service, and they must soon be scrapped. Within three years 12 "C" class cruisers will have completed their normal span of usefulness. The number of existing cruisers that will be serviceable in 1929 is only 27 British and possibly 1 Australian, and of these 16 will be of little use for other than convoy duties because of their slow speed of 29 knots and their limited cruising radius.

Protection of Trade Routes

The regular trade routes of the British Empire exceed 80,000 miles in length. It is obvious that for the protection of these routes a considerable number of cruisers will be needed, and it is equally obvious that the number available is rapidly being reduced below the danger line. At one time in the fall of 1914, when von Spee was still at large, no less than 75 cruisers were told off to hunt down the German cruisers. This impending shortage of cruisers is due in part to the scrapping of over 100 of the older, wornout cruisers after the war, and of the subsequent necessity of economy of expenditure preventing normal replacements. It was because of this shortage and the fact that the present cruiser strength cannot possibly carry on all the work that will be required of it in case of war that the Admiralty took its strong stand that replacements must be made, and made soon. The numbers provided for in the building programme that was adopted will give some relief, but this programme—4 cruisers in the present fiscal year and three in each succeeding year of the present parliament—will still leave a serious deficiency in the number of cruisers.

How can this cruiser shortage affect us? Canada is not a self-supporting country, and she needs access to foreign markets. There are few manufacturers who are entirely independent of either overseas exports or imports, and without safety at sea the very existence of our industries is at stake; the provision of a reasonable amount of security is the basis of all other national activity.

It was the British control of the seas, which was never so absolute as during the Great War and which reached its maximum of efficiency in 1918, that permitted the uninterrupted flow of men, foodstuffs and munitions across the Atlantic. At the same time enemy submarine activity had an indirect, but very important and stimulating effect on Canadian industry and trade, because it limited steamship communication between Europe and the Southern hemisphere. When the shortage of merchant shipping grew acute in 1917 the Ministry of Shipping withdrew many ships from distant routes, diverting them to places where the run was shorter and the turn-around was quicker; as this shortage continued until most of the troops had been repatriated the countries of the Southern hemisphere felt it severely for nearly a year after the armistice. The representative of a Canadian manufacturing house, who had lived in Australia for about ten years and who was home on a vacation about three years ago, told the writer that during the three years 1917-1918-1919 the Australian wheat crops were threshed, bagged, and stored in huge piles protected from the weather by tarpaulins. Mice got into these piles, and then, by way of protection, mouse-proof fences were erected about the piles; openings in the fences led to corrals where the mice were trapped when they were smoked or gassed out of the wheat. From one of these huge piles of wheat he saw taken three 3-ton motor-lorries full of dead mice. Shortly after this talk it was corroborated by a despatch from Natal telling of the arrival there of a shipload of this wheat, unfit for human consumption but taken there as cattle feed, which had to be thrown away as it had been so defiled by the mice that the stock refused to eat it. This piling up of the Australian wheat, be it remembered, occurred at the time that Canadian wheat was approaching the $3.00 mark and when the civilian population of England was eating the unpalatable war bread. What would happen to Canadian industry if her wheat crop could not be marketed for one single season?

A very few enemy cruisers, operating unhampered off either the Atlantic or the Pacific coast, could seriously tie up a very large proportion of our overseas trade. Farming, fishing, lumbering, mining, and manufacturing industries turn out more products than are required for consumption in the country, and the loss of our overseas markets would entail immense reductions in employment even in those industries which are not dependent on the import of foreign material for their proper development.

The close connection between industry and the need for secure sea communications was well illustrated by the Director of the Naval Service of Canada, when, in a recent address, he pointed out that the value of the ocean-borne trade of the Dominion was about $1,000,000,000; of this amount $400,000,000 consisted of imports by water, and one small item was tin to the value of $2,000,000. But if this supply of tin were cut off the whole of the canning industry would be shut down. As fish to the value of $16,000,000, dairy products to the value of $14,000,000, and fruit and vegetables to the value of $16,000,000 are marketed in cans, a volume of business amounting to the respectable sum of $46,000,000 is dependent on the import of this $2,000,000 worth of tin. If that supply of tin—only one-half of one per cent. of the value of our sea-borne imports—were denied us, it would cause the closing down of many factories, and also cause vast distress to fishermen, farmers, lumberjacks and workmen and their families.

That is the story of only one commodity imported. Look into your own business and see how it would be affected if the vital arteries of sea communication were severed—communications carrying to us the imports that we need and carrying away the fruits of our industries to overseas markets. The importance of security on our sea trade routes should be apparent to everyone in this land, whether he be on the seacoast or the prairie, in the manufacturing town or the lumber camp.

Warnings, official and unofficial, have been voiced that the British navy cannot now protect all the trade routes of the Empire, and that the Dominions, if they want the protection that they need, must provide part of that protection. It is a measure of insurance and of statesmanship, and not a matter of wild extravagance nor of party politics, to provide for the safety and the prosperity of our country. Can we afford to neglect it longer? And, as Captain Parker, of H.M.S. "Repulse," said a year ago to the people of Canada: "What are you going to do about it?"

On the Friday afternoon before Thanksgiving, the blackboard in Miss Burton's room was the centre of attraction.

All the animals and birds in their natural colors seemed to be going somewhere or doing something. Of course they were only chalk, but nevertheless, they held the secrets of the woods and fields, and helped to explain the writing which Miss Burton had so nicely arranged.

One o fthe birds was a downy woodpecker, and he was eating suet from a knot hole. That is not much, but the little woodland nymph sitting on the branch a little higher up, was a very different matter, especially when it was noticed that he was shaking a finger at the woodpecker and saying something to him.

Tommy Jones held up his hand. "What is that little tree elf saying to the woodpecker?"

"He is just telling Mr.. Downy that he knows the man who got the ladder and put the suet there," replied Miss Burton, 'and he is also saying that a boy and a girl coaxed the man to do it, so the birds would have an emergency store, and that he knows where the real feeding station is, over on a board near the bushes."

One comical litle gnome was sticking something on Mr. Bear's coat. 'What is the gnome doing?" asked one boy. The class just roared when Miss Burton said he was making Mr. Bear a tail of burrs. "Soon Mr. Bear will go sit down, than he will find them rather suddenly," said teacher, "he will pull them off and leave them almost anywhere; that is how Nature scatters seeds."

"And over there, in the far corner, is a nighthawk in a circle," she went on, "just to remind us that we should be very thankful to the birds who worked all summer, then went south without any pay or spoken thanks; they protected the crops which we now gather.. So, little girls and boys, this is Thanksgiving time; and these are the woodland folks and the birds, that help us to gather our harvest. Will we include them in our thankfulness, and love and protect them " And the class roared, "Yes!"

And parents in every home heard that "Thanksgiving "Yes!"

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

HOW UNSUITABLE FOOD MAKES SKIN ITCH.

It used to be thought that most skin diseases were due to some sort of local irritation or disturbance. This view is not held at present. It is the usual practice now to seek a remote cause for the symptoms.

For instance, eczema and hives are not produced by something acting at the seat of the trouble. They are due, in most instances certainly, to some disturbances in the digestive tract—the stomach or intestines.

We hear a lot these days about "foreign proteins" and their poisonous effects upon the human system.

Just what does this mean?

There is an old saying "what is one man's meat is another man's poison." Cheese and other milk products are the finest kinds of food to most persons. But, strange to say, they are almost poisonous to others. I know a girl whose skin would break out within an hour with hundreds of giant hives if she took a single drop of cream.

When an article which is normally an acceptable food to nine hundred and ninety-nine persons, is found to be harmful to the thousandth man, it is because it is a substance capable of causing what the scientists call "anaphylaxis" or "allergy." Instead of becoming accustomed to the given food, the system becomes less and less tolerant of it. Such foods are invariably protein foods and because they are not accepted by the body, they are called "foreign proteins."

Among such foods are the white of egg, oatmeal and other cereals, shellfish, nuts, certain vegetables and fruits-strawberries particularly, and fish.

Sometimes cooking destroys the poisonous effect. For instance, cooked strawberries are rarely irritating, although cooking may not overcome the bad effect of the suspected vegetable.

Among the diseases which appear to be caused by a foreign protein, is numbered psoriasis. It is a disagreeable and unsightly ailment and if you happen to be the victim, you will gladly deny yourself a favorite food if you become convinced it is responsible for your misery.

Psoriasis is a chronic disease of the skin, showing itself by the development of dry, red patches, round or oval in shape. These patches are covered with scales which may be brushed away.

The patches grow in size and increase in number. The elbows and knees, the back and shoulders—any part of the body may be involved.

There are many opinions as to the cause, but you cannot afford to overlook the possibility that a foreign protein may be responsible. You must carefully study your diet and by patiently excluding one after another of the foods you take regularly, you may discover that one particular article of diet is the offending agent.

There is valuable treatment to be given, but the first step is to remove the cause if it can be discovered.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

Solution will appear in to-morrow's paper.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silvar

MRS. WOLF SPIDER CALLS ON MRS. GREY SPIDER.

One day Mrs. Grey Spider walked out to the edge of her webby house and looked around.

"Good morning, Mrs. Grey Spider," called Johnny Grasshopper. "I hear one of your cousins is on her way to pay you a visit."

"Mighty glad to hear it,"replied Mrs. Grey Spider, "and when she gets here we will all have a party," and she went down one silken thread of her web after another until she had made quite sure that the dust was off, then she settled herself in the fold of a leaf to wait for her dinner.

She hadn't waited very long when she heard a queer noise and looking out from her hiding place she saw the largest spider she had ever seen in all her life.

"Oh, Mrs. Grey Spider," called Johnny Grasshopper. "Here's your cousin. Come on down."

Mrs. Grey Spider brushed out her little grey dress and hurried down the stem of the plant that held up her web house and greeted her great big cousin.

"Here's Your Cousin!"

"I'm glad to see you, cousin," she said, shaking the big spider's front foot. "Lay down your bundle and make yourself at home. Or would you rather bring your bundle into the house?"

"I've been looking for your entrance way ever since I came over here," laughed Mrs. Wolf Spider. "But don't let my bundle of eggs worry you. I always carry them with me every place I go."

"My goodness, you don't mean that is a bundle of eggs you are carrying around with you? Don't you ever put them down?"

"I carry them every place I go," replied Mrs. Wolf Spider. "But where is your burrow?"

"Burrow, burrow," drawled Mrs. Grey Spider, trying to figure out what her cousin was talking about. "What's a burrow?"

"Why, your house," laughed Mrs. Wolf Spider. "I dig a burrow under the ground for my house. Don't you live in that kind of a house?"

"Oh, no," chirped Johnny Grasshopper merrily. "The spiders who live in this part of the country all spin webs on the bushes and live in them."

"Certainly we do," laughed Mrs. Grey Spider. "At least I do. That's my house. I'm almost afraid you are too heavy to go in it. You would probably break it down."

"I should say I would," Mrs. Wolf Spider laughed merrily. "No, if you don't mind, I'll burrow a place right here in the bank," and she went to work and before long had a lovely little house burrowed in the ground. She let Mrs. Grey Spider and Johnny Grasshopper both peek in.

"It would be a funny old world if we all had the same kind of houses, wouldn't it?" Mrs. Wolf Spider laughed. "But I guess for catching your meals a web is just the thing. I don't need a web. I go out and hunt for my food. There isn't a spider in my section of the country that can run as fast as I can. Well, I'll go and find my dinner," and away she ran, carrying her bag of eggs on her back.

Mrs. Grey Spider and Johnny Grasshopper both went home to get ready for the evening.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestents

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

An interesting lunar transit with Mercury in strong position also by mutual configuration, presages a lively day in business but one calling for particularly good management and attention if progress is to be made. There is an augury of an unplanned change or journey, but these should be carefully manipulated as the sign holds hazard. Also Jupiter is not friendly for assisting financially.

Those whose birthday it is may have a lively year with change or travel, but success is to be won only by good management and proper attention to affairs in hand, especially the financial manipulation. A child born on this day may be quick, clever and versatile. It should make a fair success through proper management and application of its talents.

The average life of a freight car is 20 years.

CHILDREN OF THE STREET.

(By JEANNETTE)

Excited little boy (running to school with two other excited little boys): "I'll bet you we're late.'

Second excited little boy: "No, we're not-"

First excited little boy (pausing): "I'll bet you five hundred thousand dollars we're late!"

Second excited little boy (also pausing): "I'll bet you five hundred thousand trillions—all the money ir the world—that we're not!"

Third excited little boy (far ahead): "Aw, c'mon!"

He was a tiny little thing, with a dirty small shirt and a pair of mussy breeks. On his head was a tipsy "gob" hat, one of those white affairs, perched at a perilous angle. In the calm of a peaceful Sunday morning, he was going somewhere at a leisured gait, whistling in cracked measure, "Yes, we have no bananas!"

They were a group of impish-looking little youngsters. They surged about a fat child, a stumpy youth with red cheeks and a dignified manner, demanding that he come and play with them. "Aw, I know what you want," he retorted, "you want to shove me in the water. I'm not going to play with you." He proceeded heavily down the street, surrounded by protesting voices.

"You can't play with us," they said severely to the small boy with the Hebraic cast of countenance. They went their ways.. He stood disconsolately against the wall, kicking the heels of his shoes into the dust.

He was a freckle-faced little lad, eating an ice cream cone as he walked along. When he came to the church, he went in. Taking off his cap, he knelt down, clapsed his small brown hands, and prayed earnestly, dark eyes fixed on the altar.

"Come quickly, or he will betray us," the little girl and boy called mysteriously to their companion. They were playing "hide and seek." "He" was a frisky white dog.

"Stones for sale. Who wants to buy a carload of stones," chanted a five-year old, steering his kiddie cart, filled with stones, across a busy street.

Small boy (to his grandmother): "I've got five cents I'll give you, if you want to go to the concert."

"If you tell on me, I'll tell on you"—the ancient formula that successfully silenced the threats of a little girl on a brisk way to home and mother..

Keep the Skin Clear
By the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment

Dr. Chase's Ointment is so delightfully soothing and healing and so certainly effective in keeping the skin soft, smooth and clear that it only has to be tried to be appreciated.

You may know of its value as a relief from eczema, salt rheum and other serious skin diseases. But have you realized that as a means of clearing and beautifying the skin it has no equal and no rival.

Pimples, blackheads, roughness and redness of the skin, irritations and eruptions yield readily when this soothing, healing ointment is applied frequently.

Men use Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving to relieve the irritation of the tender skin. In scores of ways it is useful in every home and soon becomes a household necessity.

LITERARY SOCIETY HAD FIRST MEETING

Candidates For Offices Were Nominated and Parties Were Formed.

The Peterborough Collegiate Literary Society held its first meeting on Wednesday afternoon to nominate the officers. It has been the successful practice during past years to nominate two members for each office and then draw them up into parties to conduct a campaign to gain votes and office. This gives the pupils a fine oportunity to hear the nominees speak and judge their ability. Each party draws up planks and discussion and debates follow. All combine to make the elections interesting and educative.

The names of the parties are the "Hops" and the "Hikes" adapted from the school rugby team's mode of play. William Yelland leads the "Hops" and he has Dorothy Moir, Edythe Cottrell and Winston Merrell on his party. Don't Cough Your Head Off Don't Cough All Night Long

Mrs. Thos. Gilbert, Welland, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I took a very severe cold, and it settled on my lungs.

I coughed day and night, and had such severe pains, in my chest I could hardly bear them, but finally I sent and got a bottle of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

After I had taken a couple of doses I found that my cough was relieved and the pains were all gone, and by the time I had finished taking the whole bottle I was completely rid of my trouble.

Now, I will never be without a bottle of 'Dr. Wood's' in my home."

IS ROMAN MEAL ADVERTISING TOO TECHNICAL FOR WOMEN?

A would-be critic said: "Roman Meal advertising is too technical for Canadian women." Like most critics he was expressing his prejudice towards, not his knowledge of, Canadian women. For two years, we have been telling mothers that refined foods like white flour, refined cereals, polished rice, while pretty to look at are lacking in vitalizing elements, essential to young and growing bodies. We have been teaching that disease comes from "denatured," refined foods. We have been recommending more milk and eggs, leafy vegetables, fruits, and Roman Meal.

Selection of proper food is the most important function of the mother or housewife. Canadian women know this and we have reason to know, Mr. Critic to the contrary, that thousands and thousands of women have learned from our "too technical" advertising that Roman Meal is the most valuable food in the larder for the family. Because of this "too technical" advertising, a new and more proper dietary is now the rule in thousands and thousands of Canadian homes to the great benefit of old and young especially the young. Your grocer sells Roman Meal.

LOVE'S OFFERING

By Juanita Hamel

"Gaily the Troubador Touched His Guitar."

All through the ages, all over the world, in every country, among every race, Love is always the same.

The very best, the very finest, the richest, the poorest have ever and will ever lay on the altar of Love the choicest offerings they can afford.

Whether it be in Spain—the land of romance—where the lover sings to the chosen of his heart through a window barred across with cold iron, or in the freer beauty of our own country, where the Adored accepts his flowers through the open window, Love is ever the same. Neither bars, nor mountains, nor obstacles of any nature can stop Love from finding a way. And the offerings, whether they be the impassioned song of the Latin lover or the shyly proffered flowers of the Saxon, to the chosen one, they are the sweetest gift of all.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am coming to you for advice. A few months ago I met a man I like very much. He speaks friendly enough but he never asks me to go out with him. Please, Annie Laurie, how can I attract his attention? Would it be proper to 'phone him or invite him in some evening? What type of a girl does a fellow like best? Thanking you very much. BROWNIE.

BROWNIE: Perhaps the young man just feels friendly toward you, and nothing else. You can't always measure another person's feelings by your own. If you wish to attract his attention to any great extent, you will have to try other tactics than simply speaking to him on the street. Why not invite him to your home some evening? Ask some other girl friend and another man as a starter, and be as nice to him as you can. As to the type of girl that a man likes best—that depends on a lot of things. Some men prefer the talkative girl, and some like a quiet one. Others want a "good looker", and then again some will tell you they consider a girl's ways and conversation more than her looks. What they all want is to be understood, so if you can give a man the impression that you understand him, he will usually fall for you. Another good rule is the fact that a man usually prefers the type of woman that his mother happened to be. Find out something about her, and if she was a home-loving woman, get a cook-book and apron immediately and invite him to a Sunday night dinner that you cooked yourself. On the other hand, if she was a society light, you had better invest in a pair of dangling ear-rings and cultivate a Boston accent.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am coming to you for advice. Recently my boy friend and I had a quarrel, simply over nothing at all, but it ended quite serious and I was more to blame than he. I know I must have hurt his feelings very much. I let him go without a word. I was to angry at the time.

We thought the world of each other, and got along just great.

Dear Annie Laurie, since we have parted I am more lonely than I can say. Every day I miss him more I cannot enjoy myself with any one else. We often meet and he always speaks friendly to me. Now, Annie Laurie, is it my place to take the first step to make up or not? Please tell me how to win him again.

BETTY BROWN.

BETTY BROWN: If you really think that you were more to blame than your friend, and you have hurt his feelings, it is your place to make the first move, that is, if you think you can get along together in the future. Sometimes these reconciliations simply lead to further openings for quarrels. Perhaps you had better take a quiet half hour and face the situation properly. Look at it with your mind as well as your heart. The main question is: Will this experience be of any help to you in the future? Has it taught you any more patience or self-control or humility? If you think it has resolve to take the first opportunity (and one will come, if you want it badly enough) to make up with your friend. If it hasn't been of any use to you in these ways, let the matter rest. You are much better apart. At least, you are not hurting each other and piling up a host of regrets for the future.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE CHATS ABOUT A LOVELY DANCE FROCK.

Madame has had a turn for period gowns lately. To-day she announced:

"I don't know exactly what has come over me, but instead of my usual liking for straight clinging things I find myself head over heels in love with bouffant things that suggest various periods in history."

"Doubtless having different moods is the making of a versatile designer," I assured her.

Then Madame beckoned me to follow, and led the way into her own private office.

I was only too glad to trail after her, for I knew that this probably meant she had some lovely new gown there, giving it the last stamp of approval before it was sent into the manikins' room to be added to the regular line.

Sure enough, the first thing my eye fell upon was a perfectly heavenly model.

I was simply wrapt in admiration and Madame must have divined this, for she said nothing while I took in the new frock.

"Lovely, isn't it?" she queried then.

I had no need to reply, for my answer was written on my features.

"The shade of that taffeta is heavenly with the colored flowers," I said at last. "They do go together so perfectly."

The taffeta was finely woven and rather stiff, and the shade was a beautiful oyster tint.

The flowers were applied pink ribbon affairs, bordered with green and silver thread. They were beautifully made, and of course stuck out from the surface of the frock.

I went nearer to admire. The bodice was a pointed affair, sloping down over the skirt in front, and piped with a narrow bias of the taffeta.

There was huge silver ribbon sash, tied in a bow at one hip, with long streamers.

"That dress looks like a million dollars," I commented.

"I'm afraid I shall have to charge almost that for it," Madame replied. "The materials are expensive—but will be worth the price."

TOKYO APARTMENT LET BEFORE READY

First Modern Multi-Home Building Given Good Reception By Japanese.

TOKIO, Nov. 6 (Associated Press).—Residents of Tokio are to have their first experience with life in a modern American apartment. The first such building ever constructed here will soon be ready for occupancy.

Prof. K. Morimoto of the Imperial University has supervised the work of construction, with the assistance of his wife, and will direct the management.

The building is on the American style throughout. It is four stories high, fire and earthquake proof, built of reinforced concerte and contains 42 apartments ranging from one room to six. More than 170 persons have filed applications for the apartments. As the government advanced port of the 500,000 yen which the building cost, it was stipulated that not more than one-third of the occupants may be foreigners.

The building is fitted with a hot water heating system, electricity, gas, telephone and other modern conveniences. The walls and ceilings are sound-proof. The bath rooms are furnished with foreign enameled tubs and have tile floors. The floors of other rooms are of polished wood.

On the first floor of the building are public rooms, including dining rooms, reception rooms, banquet hall and stores. In the basement are laundry and drying rooms, storage and refrigerating rooms, the heating plant and a garage. There are accommodations for servants, who may be had by the hour or by the day at a nominal fee. Foreign style food will be served in the restaurant, which will be open to the public. Service may be had from the restaurant to any apartment.

The apartments were built as an experiment by the Culture iffusion Fondation, of which Mr. Morimoto is director, to show the practicability of modern Western apartments in Japan.

SAYS ART IS UGLY.

Collier Flays Rima as Bestial Figure Like Microcephalous Idiot.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press.)— The Hon. John Collier, eminent artist, describes advanced art as ugly and inhuman. He so told the Authors' Club and then flayed "Rima," the work of Jacob Epstein, the sculptor.

"I have no hesitation in calling 'Rima' a bestial figure, horribly mis-shapen, with enormous claw-like hands and the head and face of a microcephalous idiot. If critics met a woman like that in the street they would fle from her shrieking, but because it is done by Epstein they are almost willing to embrace her."

Turning to modern fashions, he said the mode of to-day, "when women's waists are halfway down their thighs," was one of the things which showed "how easily we could tolerate unwholesome distortions of the naturally beautiful form."

NORHAM NEWS.

NORHAM, Nov. 6.—Over thirty of the people from this vicinity attended the fowl supper held in Warkworth on Monday evening.

Mrs. George Palmateer left on Saturday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Roy Christie of Buffalo.

Mrs. Murney McCann is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Barrett and family have moved in with her mother, Mrs. Barney Dingman, on account of their previous residence having been sold.

Rev. Alfred H. Foster of Madoc, a former pastor at Castleton, is to conduct anniversary services at Morganston on Sunday, Nov. 8, in the afternoon and evening, in the United Church.

The late heavy frosts seem to have destroyed the remainder of the apple crop so that the growers have decided not to continue harvesting them.

Rev. J. F. Everson made a trip to Morganston on Tuesday evening and addressed the members of the Young People's League on the question of the maintenance and extension fund. The five boys from that league and Sunday School who attended the Boys' Conference held at Brighton a week previous also gave short reports on what they received from the convention.

The debate, "Resolved, that the optimist is of greater service to mankind than the pessimist," that was to have taken place in Warkworth on Wednesday afternoon between Codrington and Percy Township, Women's Institutes was withdrawn because the Codrington members were not prepared.

Farmers are very busy these fine days gathering the balance of their field roots. There is still some buckwheat and turnips to be taken care of.

Miss Mildred Curtis of Peterboro Normal School spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Curtis.

BIG SMUGGLING SCHEME FOUND

Many Trunks of Morphine Were Seized By Customs Officers.

GERMAN GUILTY.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Resolutions brought about through the recent seizure at Vancouver of a number of trunks of morphine, valued at $100,000 approximately, are expected to result shortly in the arrest of a German citizen, residing in Germany, and believed to be involved in one of the biggest schemes yet unearthed here for the smuggling of morphine into Canada. The seizure was made by Vancouver customs officials, at the instance of the Federal Department of Health. The trunks all arrived from Germany at Quebec during the past two weeks, destined for Japan.

BIG SAVINGS IN WINTER O'COATS

High Class Garments at From $5.50 To $10 Less Than Regular Pri s.

Mr. M. J. Maher, of the Charlotte Street clothing firm, Maher and Wesley, has just returned from a very successful buying trip to Toronto. He measures his success by a fortunate buy of heavy winter overcoats which enables Maher and Wesley to retail them at a saving to the firm's customers of from $5.50 to $10.00 a garment—some saving that these times.

It seems that Mr. Maher dropped in on a manufacturer who had 90 men's overcoats left on his hands through the failure of a retailer for whom they had been made, and Mr. Maher jumped at the opportunity offered to purchase the lot at a big discount. These overcoats are being offered for sale, commencing Saturday, at $19.50, $24.75 and $29.75 — exceptional values every one. They are the last word in style and build, and the materials include Miltons, Whitneys and Scotch fabrics. An inspection of these garments will convince every man and young man that here is a timely and outstanding opportunity to secure really amazing bargains in new belt and plain back models of warm winter overcoats in all the popular colors. See advt. on another page.—Advt.

LAUNDRYMEN TOLD ADVERTISING VALUE

Selling Service To Public Through Newspapers Emphasized.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—The proper use and value of newspaper advertising in selling modern laundry service to the public was emphasized by two speakers at the seventh annual convention of the Eastern Canadian Laundry Owners' Association here last evening.

Mrs. Jean Muldrew, director of home service, land settlement branch, of the Department of Immigration and Colonization, and William A. Biddle of the American Laundry Machinery Company, Cincinnati, were the speakers.

TAXES SOUGHT BY DARING ROBBERS

Men Frightened From Port Colborne Hall By Patrolman's Approach.

PORT COLBORNE, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—An attempt to rob the town hall of $72,000, the day's tax receipts, was frustrated by Patrolman Davies yesterday in the early morning. The officer, investigating some suspicious noises about the building open, while an attempt the bilding open, while an attempt had been made to jimmy open the door to the Engineer's office, leading into the council chamber. The thieves had been unable to force this door, due to the fact that it was bolted inside.

"Mr. King declared as the reason for his appeal to the people, that his Government could not satisfactorily conduct public business while dependent upon Progressive support. In defiance of this declaration, he now decides to cling to office, though dependent infinitely more than before upon Progressive support.

"Of the twenty-seven Progressives, Independents and Labor candidates elected, eighteen of them denounced his record and defeated his candidates.

"The Premier himself and eight of his Ministers have been rejected. The popular majority against his Government is overwhelming.

"To cling to office under such circumstances is usurpation of power and contempt of the popular will."

MEMBER ELECT DIED YESTERDAY

J. E. Marcile, of Bagot, Had Been in House Since 1898.

LINGERING ILLNESS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—J. E. Marcile, member-elect for Bagot, Qut., and representative of that constituency in the House of Commons since 1898, died here yesterday afternoon at the Hotetl Dieu Hospital, to which he was taken Monday night, suffering from an illness which had prevented him taking part in the election. Mr. Marcile was elected by a majority of over 700. He was 71 years of age.

the new House of Commons before a by-election writ is issued. This point has been arousing some controversy in view of the fact that the issue of a by-election writ is normally preceded by the issue of a Speaker's warrant. The official opinion to-day, however, is that, in the absence of the Speaker any two duly elected members of the new parliament can issue a warrant.

The death of J. E. Marcile, member-elect ofr Bagot is not the first occasion as was at first supposed, of a member dying before his election has been keeping all his Cabinet McGibbon, member-elect for Argenteuil in the last elections, died twelve days after polling day an' nineteen days before his return was officially gazetted.

STEAMER ADRIFT RIDING EASILY

Propeller of Hamonic is Gone, But Vessel is in No Danger.

NO PASSENGERS.

SARNIA, November 6. Canadian Press. — That the Steamer Hamonic reported adrift off Caribou Island, in Lake Superior, was "riding easily," and is in no danger, was the text of a message received at the office of the Northern Navigation Company here this morning.

The big passenger and freight steamer was up-bound, having left her on Tuesday, and carried a good cargo of freight, but no passengers.

The message confirmed the report that the propello was gone, but in view of the abatement of the storm, no anxiety was felt by the company's officials here.

OUTLINE GIVEN OF SCHEME FOR NEW GREAT LAKE

C. Lorne Campbells Explains His Plan to Boards of Trade.

TO DAM RIVERS.

Make Lake Nipigon About Twice Size of Ontario—Cost $200,000,000.

KINGSTON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—An outline of his scheme for the erection of a "Sixth Great Lake" in Northern Ontario, at the north of Lake Nipigon, by damming the Albany and Ogoki Rivers, for the purpose of overcoming the situation produced by the Chicago diversion of the waters of Lake Michigan was placed before the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario at their annual banquet at this centre last night by C. Lorne Campbell of Toronto. The proposal, in brief, means the building of two dams across the Albany and Ogoki Rivers to turn the waters of those two waterways away from James and Hudson Bays and into Lake Nipigon. That would mean the creation of a sixth great lake in the north, twice the size of Lake Ontario, that is two hundred miles long by ninety miles wide, and in the course of that creation an area of 18,000 square miles would be submerged. As to the cost, Mr. Campbell felt that the scheme could be financed at approximately $200,000,000.

MANY REMOVED FROM TAX LIST

United States' Government is Raising Exemption Limit.

TAXES REDUCED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.)—The removal of more than 1,000,000 individuals from the Federal income tax roll by increasing exemptions, and widespread reductions in these levies were voted yesterday by the House Ways and Means committee at the first actual step in its preparation for a new revenue bill. Income tax exemption figures agreed upon were: $1,500 for single persons and $3,500 for heads of families, compared with $1,000 and $2,500, respectively, in the present law.

ZAGLOUL ASKS SYRIAN FREEDOM

Former Premier of Egypt Says French Have Misgoverned.

ASKED FOR FUNDS.

CAIRO, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—A demand that the Syrians be granted self-government on the ground that the French had abused their mandate over the country was voiced to-day by Said Zagloul Pasha, Egyptian Nationalist leader, and former Premier, in the course of an appeal for funds to relieve distress in Eyria. Zagloul also demanded redress on behalf of the Syrians for "French errors," by the punishment of those responsible.

In making his appeal for funds the former Premier headed the list with a personal subscription of 100 pounds.

HELPFUL DISCUSSIONS OF WORK IN TEACHERS' AFTERNOON SESSION

Miss Baird Was Leader in Talk on History Teaching

THE STUDY PERIOD.

Many Interesting Points Were Brought Out Under Leadership of Mr. Bolton.

The afternoon session of the Teachers' Institute of Thursday was held in the Public Library.

Miss Baird led a discussion in history. She referred to her "sentence method of teaching the subject. The idea is that a question asked by the teacher must permit of a short answer in one sentence. This necessitates asking many questions but the answers contain the whole subject matter desired. This method helps materially in composition, as it helps in sentence structure, punctuation, etc. Answers are required in the children's best work and is examined carefully by the teacher. The history examination consists of a large number of questions requiring brief answers.

After training in single sentence answers the pupils are taught to compound their simple sentences into concise paragraphs. This development can be done in a year in a third class.

Pupils should be taught from questions to use their text-books to find answers and thus gather their own knowledge. This plan develops resourcefulness and ability.

Teachers must be enthusiasts in history in order to teach the subject well.

Lucas' and Parkman's histories were recommended. Encourage the children to read these books. "The Chronicles of Canada," and books of fiction as the "Chen d'Or" are also most helpful.

"It is a matter of discussion as to what exploits in history are worthy of mention. Shall we emphasize wars, piracy, etc.? These are prominent and interest children, but it is doubtful if these are of great importance. Children should be taught to be fair to their country's rivals."

Notes seem necessary at times. Maps and pictures are most valuable. Unfortunately the text-books are not well blessed with these. Pupils should draw maps, and plans of towns, forts, land areas, etc.

In the discussion that followed the enthusiasm of the teacher in the subject of history was considered really the greatest factor in producing success. The value of a man in history depends altogether on what he has done for his country. Historical events seem to circle about the rulers and this fact helps to place them in their proper periods. "We should teach history to make patriots and good citizens. There is a great tendency perhaps to make answers on examinations too much a test of composition. Reproduction of the exact words of a text book may not add one whit to a pupil's good citizenship."

The Study Period

Mr. Bolton led the discussion regarding the best methods of utilizing the study period. The study period teaches the pupil ability, independence and resourcefulness. Some teachers divide their classes They teach one part and let the other study. A better method is to cut down the teaching periods. A teacher does not have to teach everything. Assign definite questions that pupils can get answers for. A pupil who gets his work done in school does not need to catch up so much at home. The teacher must see that the work assigned is done. It must be taken up later. Study periods should follow the teaching lesson. Work assigned must be definite and within the capability of pupils. Pupils must be taught to make good use of their own time.

The "Question Drawer" brought out some interesting discussion. Teachers should read at least one professional book every year. Reading should be academic and general as well. Probably the last is the most important. In general reading make a few notes, buy the book if it is worth while, and pursue some sort of reading course. The public library affords a great opportunity. The school readers suggest many authors whose works should be more widely read. Teachers should be students, but here are times when they need recreation. Don't be just a book-worm. Social contact is necessary, it develops personality.

Teachers should have a daily programme and map out a course of work ahead.

Teachers should aim to do without corporal punishment. That should at least be their aim. Remember that the words "disciple" and "discipline" have the same source. If the disciple has the proper feeling to his master, discipline will not be too prominent.

In composition it is wise to prevent errors rather than to correct them. The pupils' essays should be kept in books so that they can see their own progress.

Teachers should come in touch more with parents. This is helped by the Home and School Associations. There should be greater co-operation.

The slowness of a teacher produces a lethargic class. Competition between sets of pupils has a good effect in helping along slow pupils as other on their side will see that they are encouraged to greater rapidity.

STORM IN WINNIPEG DID MUCH DAMAGE

Civic Employee Was Hurled From Wagon and Struck Pavement.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Blowing from the Northwest at a velocity of 20 miles an hour, a wintry gale swept Winnipeg and vicinity yesterday, while the mercury was racing toward the zero mark in all the Western Provinces. Little immediate alleviation is promised by the weather man, who forecasts "colder" for today.

In Winnipeg the high wind caused injury to one person and considerable property damage. John Warriner, a civic employe, was hurled from a wagon by the wind, landed face down on the pavement, and suffered painful injuries. There were numerous chimney fires. A big smoke stack was toppled over, and slight interruptions to lighting and power services occurred.

Saskatchewan and Alberta reported wintry conditions, while The Pas, Manitoba, held the low mark record with six below zero.

HUNTER DISCOVERED FROZEN TO DEATH

Had Been Missing Since Oct. 29, When He Left Home.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Edmund Mangall, aged 47, of Verdun, was found frozen to death on Monday morning in the woods near Lake Lajoie, about 125 miles from this city, according to advices received here. The victim had been missing since Thursday, October 29th. On that date, Magnall and a friend had left on a hunting trip.

When Is a Good Tailor A Qualified Mechanic?

The other day Hon. A. B. Copp, secretary of state, was appointed to the Senate vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator George Fowler, also of New Brunswick.

When Fowler sat in the House of Commons, he had a keen delight in "baiting" the late Hon. J. Israel Tarte, minister of public works in the Laurier government. On one occasion—in the grey light of the morning, Tarte was trying to put through his estimates. Fowler was right on "the job." The item under discussion was some arrears of salary due to the inspector of a new government building in the shire county of Sussex, King's County, then represented by Fowler. The following dialogue ocurred:

Fowler: Who is the inspector and what is his pay?

Tarte: James Thompson—at $4 per day."

Fowler: Is he a good, practical mechanic?

Tarte: He sees the very best.

Fowler: Well, Mr. Speaker, I was born in the town with Jim Thompson; went to school with him. I know him to be a very fair country tailor. He made the suit of clothes I have on now. I don't think he ever "built" anything else but a suit of clothes in his life.

Tarte (greatly suprised): Ees dat so? I will have heem dismiss at once.

Fowler: Oh, I don't want him dismissed. Besides, the job is finished, and the building is open to the public. I just thought I would let the minister know that the man never was a mechanic in his life.

Great uproar, during which the speaker called for order).

CLERGY LOYAL TO THEIR BISHOP

Rectors Sign Declaration of Loyalty to Bishop of Birmingham.

MUCH HOSTILITY.

BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press)—A declaration of loyalty to Rt. Rev. E. W. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, has been signed by 166 clergymen of the Birmingham diocese. Bishop Barnes' modernist views and system of discipline have incurred the hostility of the Anglo-Catholic party, and the clergy of Birmingham is by way of answer to antagonism to Bishop Barnes' views.

SQUADRON DISSOLVED.

American Aviators in French Army To Return Home.

PARIS, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press)—The squadron of American aviators, who have been bombing the Riffian villages, in the service of the Sultan, but practically a part of the French army, will return to Europe, November 15, and be dissolved.

The official explanation of this is that they can only do a negligible amount of flying in winter.

Irish Free State Plans Compulsory Education Bill

DUBLIN, Nov. 6 (Associated Press).—President Cosgrave announced recently that the Irish Free State Government intended to introduce in the Dail Eireann on November 24 a bill for compulsory school attendance.

Kevin O'Higgins, Minister of Justice, was asked in the Dail Eireann to appoint an official censor to deal with undesirable Sunday and weekly papers which are brought into Ireland.

Mr. O'Higgins replied that serious difficulties prevent the State from interfering and from prescribing what the people may read. He said that the law already gave powers to prevent the dissemination of obscene literature, but he promised to appoint a commissioner to consider any practical proposals.

'A FRIENDLY PLACE' SAY GIRLS WHEN THEY DESCRIBE Y.W.C.A.

Jolly Times With New Friends Please Young Ladies of City.

CLASSES LIKED.

No Two Evening Programs Are Alike, Say the Girls.

"The 'Y' is such a friendly place. You get to know so many nice girls and have such jolly times down there," is the pronouncement of Miss Lily Slaughter, one of the girls who has been a faithful member of the Young Women's Christian Association for the past five years. When this young lady came over here from England with her family, she found most of the people "kind of stand-offish", she said, but the 'Y' secretary "soon found her out" and immediately she became one of a group of happy girls who were having jolly times down at the big building.

The different gymnasium classes, the swimming pool, and the many clubs where the girls are taught to do useful things were eulogized by this young lady. In these clubs, no evening's programme is duplicated. One session may have to do with lessons in cooking or in sewing, while another may be a real fun programme or take the form of a taffy pull or singing evening, or else the girls go out and embark on a jolly hike or sleigh drive, "and then you come back and sit around the fireplace and have coffee and doughnuts."

Another item that is much liked by this young lady and her companion, Miss Lily Gregory, is the Sunday evening sing song and the Sunday friendly tea hour. Outside of the advantages in physical development afforded by the gymnasium classes, these girls appear to consider as of special benefit the social opportunities given to meet other girls and form happy friendships, and the friendliness manifested by every member of the staff, from the genial secretary and her assistant to the kindly superintendent of the boarding home, and the energetic physical directress

SYRIANS PREPARE GENERAL UPRISING

Determined To Drive French Out, Even if Turks Return.

JERUSALEM, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Reports from Syria indicate that the Moslems are preparing for a general rising against France, extending to Lebanon. Optimistic French reports that the rebels are virtually subdued are declared untrue and some correspondents predict that all Syria within a few days will be in rebellion, determined to fight until France withdraws, leaving Syria to the Turks if necessary.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM IN "FOOT-LOOSE", AT THE GRAND THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12TH.

KNOX W.M.S. HEARD MISSION ADDRESS

Miss Maude Ackison Spoke on Formosa at Annual Meeting.

The Women's Missionary Society of Knox church held its annual Thank offering meeting on Thursday, Nov. 5, with a good attendance. The President, Mrs. Watt, occupied the chair.

Miss Maude Ackison, who leaves shortly for Formosa, was at the meeting and gave a very interesting talk on her work there and showed a number of curios which she had brought home with her.

As a slight appreciation of her work the women of Knox church presented Miss Ackison with an address and a purse. Miss Ackison was also the recipient of a Life Membership and Life Membership Pin from friends and also a gift from the Young Women's Auxiliary.

Though taken completely by surprise she made a very suitable reply.

Mrs. Ross Williamson rendered a very pleasing solo and Mr. MacKinnon showed some slides on India.

Refreshments were served and a social half hour spent, after which Mr. MacKinnon pronounced the Benediction.

The Thank offering amounted to $45.28.

Church nion Disputes Heard In Peterborough

ber of qualified voters 91, the number of votes for union, 31, and against, 41. The Mount Pleasant church voted on February 8th, 1925, with a total of 20 qualified voters, 14 of whom were for Union, and 2 against.

Allege Irregularities.

The second case was that in which F. S. Pollard of Keene Post Office and William E. Renwick of Lang Post Office, representing the minority of the Presbyterian congregation at Keene, who voted not to enter the United Church, made charges of irregularities in the case of the said voting and claim that the result would have been quite different if such charged irregularities had not taken place. In their claim, they assert that insufficient time for voting was allowed, that the results were published earlier than the time specified, that the voting place was changed, that the minister brought in a voter after the hours specified in which the said vote was to take place, and that the said minister used undue influence in canvassing members of the congregation, also that no explanation of matters in connection with the vote was allowed by the said minister. The applicants asked that the Keene Presbyterian Church be vested in trustees or set apart for the use of the Presbyterian congregation at Keene, and claimed that the present quarters occupied by them are unsuitable for services of worship. The reply states that the charges are unfounded, that the present Town Hall in use by the nonconcurring members is comfortable, and that these members will also in the near future have a chance to buy the former Methodist Church in Keene.

At Lakefield.

The third claim is made by the minority group of the Lakefield Presbyterian congregation, contending that the property of the Lakefield Presbyterian congregation is the property of the said congregation, and is not and never was the property of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, that no meeting of the congregation was called for the purpose of consenting that the property should be subject to the provisions of the United Church of Canada Act, and that the majority of the members of the congregation who voted for Church Union no longer hold the doctrines and church government contained in the Confession of Faith of the Westminster Assembly of Divines and that the minority group do, and that therefore the church property belongs to the said minority group. The minority also claim that they have no place to worship and that the United Church members have more accommodation than they need, in the United Church at Lakefield, the former Methodist Church there, and the church at Young's Point.

Appearing for the Union Church members in all three cases is G. W. Mason, K.C., of Toronto, and R. B. Whitehead, of Toronto. Norman Macdonell of Toronto represented the respondents in the Mount Pleasant case, and the applicant in the Keene action, and Joseph Wearing appeared for the applicants in the Mount Pleasant action. R. R. Hall, K.C., is acting for the non-concurring minorities.

A decision by the Commissioners in the claim brought by the Mount Pleasant Church gave the respondents of Omemee church the opportunity of paying the applicants the sum of $650 within one month, the said Omemee church to assume all responsibility for the Lakevale congregation. In default of such payment, the property is to be sold under direction of Mr. Macdonell and Mr. Wearing, and the proceeds divided in the ratio of two-thirds to the Omemee congregation and one-third to Mount Pleasant.

Witnesses called by Mr. Wearing in the Mount Pleasant church case were Robert C. Boyd and Samuel T. Wilson of Omemee, retired farmers. Mr. Macdonell called Andrew Marshall of Lindsay, real estate dealer. All three gave testimony with regard to the condition of the manse building and its valuation by them.

Canadian Canners Leads Active Session In Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).— With Canadian Canners Preferred taking the leadership of the market, the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning again showed active trading in a broad list. The market on the whole was firm, though some small declines were still noticeable. Canadian Canners Preferred was sold up to 69 1-2, and closed at that mark at noon, a gain of three and three-quarter points. The Common gained seven-eights to 14. Barcelona continued active, closed the morning just an eighth higher, while Smelters advanced one and a quarter. Atlantic Sugar was five-eights higher at 30. Banks and mines were again features, Vipond selling up five at 120. Bank of Commerce eased down three-eighths, but Imperial was marked up to 202 1-2, a half point gain, and Royal was a half point stronger.

Argonaut and Kirkland Down In Heavy Trading

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.)— Heavy dealing in Argonaut, Kirkland Lake and Beaver was recorded on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, as about the only features of an ordinary market. Argonaut eased down two points to 11, and Kirkland Lake a half at 76, after reaching 79 during the session. Beaver gained a half at 49 1-4.

The majority of the changes were upward, outstanding being Vipond's five point gain at 1.20. Nipissing advanced seven at 475, and Barry-Hollinger, Tough Oakes and Con West Dome were fractionally stronger. Canadian Lorrain was marked down seven at 60.

ANOTHER PRIZE WINNER DEAD; THIRD SINCE PETERBORO' SHOW

P. C. Naples Loses Trusty Von Valcomberg Through Sickness.

TRICK OF FATE.

Makes Trio Of Winning Dogs to Die Since September.

That the fate of a prize winning dog is hard was further evidenced in the death this morning of Trusty Von Valconberg, a highly bred German police animal, owned by P. C. Naples, of the Peterborough force. The great dog had been suffering for two weeks from an attack of distemper, and a short time ago seemed on the point of recovery. Early this morning, however, a relapse occurred and although the veterinary surgeon was called immediately, Trusty died at 4.00 o'clock.

At the Dog Show held in connection with the Exhibition Trusty swept all before her, capturing four firsts, and four special prizes. In addition to two points toward Dominion supremacy, she was conceded a rossette. With her passing, three prize winners of the biggest show held in this city have died.

Trusty Von Valconberg was nineteen months old and was purchased from James Kerr of Campbellford.

WAR VETERANS HOLD SERVICE

Sunday is Day of Remembrance When Peterborough's Sacrifice Is Recalled.

AT OPERA HOUSE.

Once a year the Great War Veterans turn aside from the affairs of every-day life to remember the comrades they left in France and Flanders when the Great War was over. It is a thoughtful act, and one that must elevate the men who take part as it does the relatives of the men who died.

Sunday is that day. It will be given over to ceremonies at the G.W.V.A. Cenotaph and at the Grand Opera House.

The services are not confined to members of the G.W.V.A. alone, although as the only soldier organization in Peterboro that body has charge of arrangements. All veterans are invited to take part in recalling the stirring days of 1914-1918 and the comrades who marched with them then. And citizens too are invited to participate in the service at the Grand Opera House at 3 o'clock. The gathering will be addressed by W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., Hon. G. N. Gordon, Minister of Immigration; Col. W. D. Sharpe, past president G.W.V.A. Grand Command; His Honor Judge Huycke, Rev. Captain Paul Costello, Padre C.E.F., and others. E. A. Peck, M.P.-elect, has sent his regrets in his inability to take part.

Increasing interest marks these parades as the years pass, and last year's was the biggest held in Peterborough since the first Armistice. A complete programme will be published on Saturday in connection with The Examiner's Armistice page.

Poppy Day.

It has been the custom in past years for all attending these services to wear a poppy in tribute to those who lie in Flanders Fields. These flowers will be on sale on the streets to-morrow, the proceeds going to the aid of disabled soldiers.

Twin Beds Wreck Romance Kris Says Furniture Waste

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(United Press).—Twin beds wrecked the romance of Rose Roth and Kristhin Marthenson, a painter. They were waiting in the license bureau when Rose remarked:

"Kris, won't twin beds look lovely in the apartment we've picked out?"

Thereupon, Miss Roth said, Marthensen made violent objections to twin beds, declaring they were a waste of furniture. Then, she said, he declared he wouldn't marry a woman who had twin bed ideas.

Rose has sued Kris for $10,000, alleging breach of promise.

RUSSIAN EXPORT OF FURS GROWS

Has Passed Pre-War Records During the Past Year.

VALUED IN MILLIONS.

MOSCOW, Nov. 6 (United Press).—Russian fur export to America, England and Germany is beyond its pre-war heights.

Figures just published show that pelts shipped out in the business year 1924-5 to England amounted to 32,000,000 roubles, to America 24,000,00 roubles, and to Germany 7,000,000 roubles.

Many of the skins for England and Germany eventually find their way to Fifth Avenue. American taste in furs runs chiefly to squirrel, fox, Arctic fox, ermine, astrakhan, sable, marten and skunk.

American Firm Has Obtained Control of German Mine Property.

STATE BEATEN.

BERLIN, Nov. 6 (United Press) —A virtual monopoly of zinc on the German market has been obtained by the Anaconda Copper mining Company of America through a working agreement, concluded between it and the W. A. Harrimon concern of New York on the one hand, and the great Giesche Estate zince concern in Silesia on the other.

The State of Prussia had been seeking to obtain the Giesche zine rights, but the American deal won, giving the Anaconda and Harriman organizations the upper hand in the Giesche concern, though that estate still maintains some of its holdings.

LADIES' GUILD SALE.

All Saints' Church Rectory Scene of Successful Tea.

The Ladies' Guild of All Saints' held a very successful tea and sale of home-made candy at All Saints' Rectory, 460 Charlotte Street, yesterday afternoon and evening. The guests were received by Mrs. J. D. Paterson and Mrs. P. Fitzgerald. Tea was poured by Mrs. John Davidson, assisted by Mrs. R. Wolstenholm, Mrs. J. Detcher, Mrs. R. Henderson and Mrs. Davis. The sale of candy was in charge of Mrs. T. Sabin and Mrs. P. Fuller. The house was prettily decorated in the yellow and black of Hallowe'en.

GOLD PRODUCTION UP.

Total For Year Is Expected To Reach Thirty Millions.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press). — According to the statement of gold and silver production in Ontario, just issued, the output for nine months was $22,395,163 in gold and $124,731 in silver in the Porcupine and Kirkland Lake camps. At the rate shown for the third quarter of the year, the total gold production from the province for 1925 will reach a total of $30,000,000, as against $25,669,303 in 1924.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Replying to the letter of J. R. H. Kenner of Wednesday's date would say, if the said Principal would stop his bluffing and hedging and give to the people what they are demanding, he would be doing a real service and his duty.

The figures I have given all along were those of January, 1925, as I have stated several times, and therefore were neither misleading nor deceptive. On the other hand, the Principal has been endeavoring to convey a wrong impression, and to construe my original statements to other periods than those intended. Therefore, he is the one who is conveying wrong information.

Neither a Ponzi nor a Webster is required to arrive at the same average of cost on the basis of figures as per last January, and which was correct, namely, $112.00. Only common - sense is required to see that if the attendance is increased, the ratio of cost is decreased. Neither a statistical wizard nor a great intellectual educationist is needed in such a case.

Even though the average cost may be reduced to within $100.00 per pupil, through increased attendance, the public still wants to know why our local cost is so excessive. Why should our cost be about $112.00 per pupil, based on figures of last January, and Guelph only $68.00, Brantford $70.00, Stratford $80.00? This is what the citizens want to know. Surely the pupils in those cities are receiving as good an education, and as many advantages, as those in Peterboro.

This is a large institution, and the shareholders (the citizens) are demanding from the management the explanation of why such excessive operating costs.

No cute sayings, sarcasm or uncalled for phrases, in trying to belittle a citizen, enhances any man's value, and the readers of your paper are surprised that the Principal would stoop from his dignified pinnacle to include in his letter some unnecessary remarks. Public servants should be the last to venture the same. The excessive cost situation was again brought vividly to the ratepayers yesterday as they had to open their money bags to the tax collectors, and dole out their third instalment of taxes, a great deal of which goes for educational purposes.

"Who Broke the Ceiling?" Court Must Settle Disput

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (United Press). — Shimmy-shakers shook down the ceiling on her and caused permanent injury, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Hagarty, who has sued Salvator Rigole for $10,000. A sealed verdict is expected to be opened today. Mrs. Hagarty said the ceiling collapsed as the result of strenuous and steady dancing in the apartment of Rigole after a wedding.

Rigole claims the ceiling fell when Mrs. Hagarty pounded too strongly for quiet with a broom.

This Robbery Trial Reads Like Time-Table

LONDON, Nov. 6 (United Press). — England boasts it makes fast work of punishing its criminals.

For example:—This happened to Walter Leslie and George Purse:

1 a.m.—Broke into a store at Watford.

3 a.m.—Arrested.

10 a.m.—Brought into court and the case set for the following day.

11 a.m. next day—Found guilty.

11.05 a.m.—Sentenced to hard labor.

12 noon — On the way to prison.

BAZAAR HELD AT ST PAULS CHURCH

Ladies' Aid Society Is Holding Very Successful Sale.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church is holding a very successful bazaar in the Sunday School rooms. The big upper interior with its numerous alcoves lends itself admirably to an affair of this type, and the decorations which the ladies have used, combined with plenty of bright lights, make an exceptionally attractive interior. The many different colors that combine in the decorations of the different booths are artistic and effective.

The president of the Society, Mrs. Jordon, acts as general convenor. The "Made in Canada" booth, at the left of the entrance, with samples of all sorts of goods on view, is in charge of Mrs. C. A. White and Miss Lena Eakins; Mrs. Wm. Burrell has the home-made candy counter, a very attractive enclosure done in the Hallowe'en manner with black and yellow, and is assisted by Mrs. C. Sherwood and Mrs. C. Williamson. Sheaves of grain and lighted pumpkin lanterns and red haw berries add to the color scheme of this booth.

The fancy work booth, in purple and white, has a quantity of pretty things on view, and is in charge of Mrs. Jas. Skinner, assisted by Mesdames Bennett, McCaw and Miss Montgomery. Mrs. J. Pulkinghorn is convenor of the sale of handkerchiefs and Indian baskets, assisted by Mrs. J. Savigny, Mrs. H. Dodds and Mrs. T. C. Elliot. Bright blue and rose paper streamers made the decorations of this pretty little alcove.

A sale of quilts, with streamers of pink, white and green, is supervised by Mrs. M. McNab, and a booth decorated with black and orange, and containing many pretty and useful Christmas gifts, is in charge of Mrs. R. W. Davidson, with a bevy of assistants in Mesdames F. Clayton, M. Keazin, F. C. Webber, J. McNab, Lothian, Greer, Lyburn, W. McKee, S. Jordan.

Red and yellow decorate the alcove where aprons and flannelette are sold, under supervision of Mesdames Hancock and Vickers, selling aprons, and Mesdames McLeish and F. White for the flannelette.

Pink and green streamers are on the home-made cooking sale booth, where Mrs. R. H. Hunter is convenor, assisted by Mrs. Garbutt and Mrs. S. Taylor.

Afternoon tea and supper is served in upper and lower rooms, decorated with plams, ferns, cut flower and curtains of red and yellow paper. Autumn leaves and grapes form plaques on the walls at the rear. Over three hundred people patronized the supper tables last night, and the afternoon tea room was also a busy centre. The latter was in charge of Mrs. S. McKee. Ladies in charge of the various tables for supper ncluded Mesdames Vincent, Stenson, Dutton, Gillespie, Madden, Jackson, McKee, Finnie, A. Cameron, Squair, J. Hall, Taylor.

HOTEL ROBBED.

Four Young Men Held Up Night Clerk and Took Valuables.

DETROIT, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—The Palmette Hotel, on the north side, was robbed of $3,000 in cash and $130,000 in jewellery early to-day by four young men, all armed, who compelled Jasper Meacham, the night clerk, to open the safe and hand them the contents. They escaped in a taxi-cab.

KIWANIS HEAR REV. G. I. CRAW

Character of People Is Most Important in Building a Country.

Today was father and son day at the Kiwanis Club and the speaker for the occasion was the Rev. George I. Craw. The prize winners were: Douglas Carruthers, Harold Dawson and Jack McEwen. Messrs. Braund and Smith, two members of the Salvation Army Junior band, rendered some very acceptable musical numbers.

Rev. Mr. Craw in introducing his subject "The sense of duty" said that we are all here for a purpose. The Creator of us all had a purpose in creating each one of us. If you centre your attention on the human hand and on a man's intellect and think of what they can accomplish you will become more and more convinced that these have been bestowed upon us for a purpose. The performing of our duties the observing of our laws are essential to our wellbeing, the keeping of these laws spells the development of our whole being. We are liable to think that the ten commandments are like so many bands placed around us whereas before they were given to Moses, they were moulded into the very texture of man. No being comes to a full development unless he observes God's law. If we are going to develop an all round moral character, it can only become ours through an observance of the laws given to us by God. The sense of duty should be something that each of us should have and until we have it we are not fulfilling our duties in life.

What Is Freedom?

License and freedom are two words sorely abused today. What is freedom? It is the power and privilege of being able to live in the best interests of our whole being. Duty is an old word not often used in these days, and in it's place we find the word privilege. It is not as strong a word nor does it stand for the same thing. The Rev. Alexander McLaren declared that no life would never come into its own without a sense of obligation. The time comes in every man's life when nothing but a sense of duty will sustain him. If you are to know the strength and character of life you must have an intimate acquaintance with your sense of duty. Privilege does not carry with it the same impelling power as the word "duty." The end of education is to make a man fill more worthily the niche in which he is placed. We want to develop in the young men of today an all round character. The strength of any man's life is the strength of his weakest part. The wealth of any country is not in its natural resources—it is in the character of its men. Our aim and end today should be to grow men of character men who stand four square in the face of any wind that blows. The fear of the Lord is the only sure foundation for wisdom.

MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF

stant visitor on Cabinet Ministers urging that he should be given compensation for the loss of his farm.

At one time the Interior Department offered to give him another homestead, and grant him a patent on one year's residence, but Swanson declined to accept this.

Became Violent.

During the last few month it was noticed that Swanson was becoming more and more violent. This morning he endeavored to have an interview with Premier King. It was thought that he might have had some intention of shooting the Premier. He was unable to see him, however, and withdrew from the Premier's office. A moment or two later a pistol shot rang out, and Swanston was found dead. He had gone down one flight of stairs and had walked along the corridor toward Mr. Lapoint's office.

The revolver was an old-fashioned Colt about sixteen inches in length.

No inquest will be held, it is thought.

M'GILL SENIORS WENT THROUGH SIGNAL DRILLS

Gridiron Was Rolled While Players Practised on the Side.

SEVERAL CHANGES.

Alterations in Left Wing Line and in the Backfield.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—McGill's main preparation yesterday afternoon for the Varsity game here at the Stadium Saturday was in fitting the gridiron for the contest. Recently the field at the top of the hill has been in a greasy condition. The mild weather yesterday took the frost out of the ground and gave those in charge a chance to get rollers into action. The playing surface was levelled and, providing there is no heavy fall of rain should be in fair condition for the annual test between the old time rivals.

While the rollers were travelling up and down the field from touch line to touch line, the senior quad was sent through signal drills off on the side of the gridiron. Coach Shaughnessy feels that his players are in sufficiently fine condition and decided against a heavy scrimmage. He kept the candidates pounding away at signals until well after dark, a system of fast, deceptive plays being uncorked with which the red and white hopes to gain victory over the "T".

There will be several shifts in the squad from the line-up which took the field in the last game here against Queen's. The left wing has been altered. Ney Gordon moves up to left outside, replacing Gordie Hughes, who is out with an injured knee. Big Wally Sullivan, former snapback goes to left middle and Cordner Wright takes Sullivan's place at centre. To fill the vacancy caused by moving Gordon up from flying wing Shaughnessy is on a three-pronged dilemma. Herbie Murphy, Blair and Desy Walsh have been fighting for the berth. Blair is in none too good condition as the result of injuries sustained in the game at Kingston two weeks ago, Walsh is suffering slightly from leg injuries and it is likely that Murphy will get the call. The backfield, otherwise, will be unchanged, Mickles starting at quarter, St. Germain at centre half and Joe Cameron and Eddie Hanna as catching halfbacks.

NEW JERSEY BANS BATTLING SIKI

Suspension of African is Ordered By Chief Inspector of Boxing Commission.

TRENTON, N.J., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Battling Siki, Senegalese fighter, has been suspended from boxing in New Jersey by Platt Adams of Newark, chief inspector of the State Boxing Commission. It is said that Adams' ban upon the negro boxer was taken upon the gound that the dusky pugilist was "an undesirable person" to appear in the New Jersey ring.

GRANGE FIXED PLACE IN FAME

Crowd of 65,000 Paid Wonderful Tribute to Hero of Grid.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. — Red Grange's Eastern debut on Saturday was one of the greatest individual triumphs of football. He faced one of the most powerful defensive teams of the year, yet there was no stopping him, and before his afternoon's work ended he had implanted clearly on the Pennsylvania team and on the 65,000 persons in the stands that there was no doubt about his place in football's hall of fame. When he left the field near the close of the second period, the crowd stood as one, forgot the fighting athletes on the field for the moment, and cheered him lustily until his mud-coated form had passed out of sight. It was a wonderful tribute to a modest, brilliant hero of the gridiron.

Pennsylvania takes consolation in the fact that if its record was spoiled and its chance for national leadership lost there was no finer athlete to whom to bow. It was Grange who dominated Franklin Field from the opening whistle until the time when the famous Red made his exit. The splendid work of the entire Illinois team, as well as the heroic efforts of Pennsylvania, were blotted out by Grange, the athlete who drove and roved, slid and glided, squirmed and wormed his way for yard on yard. It was not a Grange day, supposedly, underfoot, but Grange nevertheless made it his day.

Yale regained a lot of lost prestige in its splendid comeback battle against the resourceful Army team. The Army was the favorite, and rightfully so, on its record, but the past performances failed to disclose the inherent qualities of the Yale team coached by Tad Jones. Captain Jass played brilliantly in his team's victory, and it was his severe charging that did much to wreck the Army attack and deprive the cadets of a chance to turn loose some of the brilliant plays which routed Notre Dame only two weeks before. Yale, always strong on the attack, has built up a defence that rates with the best. Yale will rank near the top at the close of the 1925 season if it continues to play the hard football it displayed against the Army.

Columbia failed in its effort to turn back Cornell, but Columbia showed that even in defeat it had a team of which to be proud. Cornell flashed another great team. It was the first time that Dobie's men had been tested, and they came here rested and primed for Columbia, still suffering casualties from hard earlier season games. Captain Pease is entitled to much credit for he fought all the way, despite the fact that he was suffering from an injured shoulder. Only the powerful, sustained attack of Cornell, coming near the end of the last period, kept Columbia's colors waving on top. Coach Crowley showed that he had taught intelligent as well as hard football for two breaks aided in the Columbia scoring, and after all, it is the breaks that decide. Columbia proved alert as well as courageous. A typical Cornell team is a great team and that is the team that represented Cornell on the Polo Ground last Saturday.

NEWS TRENT RIVER

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 5. — Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Garneau and family were "at home" to a large gathering of invited friends and neighbors Monday night. There were upwards of seventy guests who enjoyed the hospitality of the host and hostess. Mr. Garneau has recently placed in a new floor. Music for dancing was supplied by three pieces (violin, guitar and ukulele) of the Campbellford string orchestra, consisting of Messrs. Sargison, Ayrhart and Blakely to the delight of all present. The old time square dance with all the variations, interspersed with the popular fox trot, was the amusement of the evening. Supper was served at midnight and the happy crowd dispersed about three-thirty a.m.

Mr. Will Christie, of Toronto, arrived Monday to spend a few days at the Christie cottage.

Mr. E. Parsons of Toronto, guest at the Cook cottage, while out shooting recently, captured an odd species of wild duck, known as the 'Cowee.' He was successful in bringing down a pair and sent them to Toronto to have them mounted.

The New York Hockey Club seems determined to get somewhere this season, as evidenced by its offer of $10,000 for the services of George Boucher, the star defense man of the Ottawa Hockey Association.

STILL DETERMINED.

Mickey Roach, the popular little sorrel-topped forward of last year's Hamilton N.H.L. club, is back from his trip to the western coast, and still determined not to play hockey this year. His success as a traveler has convinced him that it is better to have steady employment than to toss up a job to play hockey for a few months and then have to look elsewhere for work after the hockey season is over.

BIG TRANSFER FEES FOR SOCCER STARS

Three Scottish League Players and $50,000 Change Hands.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Some wholesale transfers from Scottish League clubs to Cardiff City in the first division of the English League have been effected this week, Cardiff, who were cup-finalists last season, are in a bad position this year, their place second from the bottom of the first string table being none to promising. In an effort to repair their shattered fortunes the Welshmen have been searching for promising material among the clubs north of the Cheviots, and as a result Cassidy of the Celtic has joined Hugh Ferguson, Motherwell's centre forward, into the Welshmen's ranks. MacLaughlin, Clydes' outside right, has also been signed on, and all three will appear against Leicester City in Cardiff on Saturday.

Ferguson's transfer fee was stated to be the largest in the history of Scottish football, while the aggregate of the three Scottish players amounts to somewhere in the vicinity of ten thousand pounds, approximately $50,000.

TRADE IS REPORTED OF BASEBALL STARS

dian Press). — Baseball rumors yesterday carried Wally Pipp and Aaron Ward, first and second basemen of the New York Yankees, to Cleveland in a deal which may bring about Charley Jamieson's presence in New York another season, in spite of Tris Speaker's recently expressed decision to make no trades.

"Pee Wee" Wanninger, who succeeded Everett Scott as shortstop early last Summer, is slated to go elsewhere, according to reports.

Confirmation here, if such is to be obtained, must await the return to this city on Monday of Ed. Barrow, business manager of the club and a huntsman of parts. He has been seeking big game, but not baseball players.

QUEENS TRAINER SUGGESTS GAME WITH MONTREAL

Expected That Big Four Side Will Accept Invitation For November 14.

SATURDAY'S MATCH.

Team From Big City Prepares For Clash With Argonauts.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Montreal Big Four rugby players, who compete in their final tussle of the league series against the Argonauts at Toronto Saturday afternoon, and return to play McGill Monday in the annual Thanksgiving Day game between the two local senior squads, may lengthen their season beyond the holiday. Coach Bill Hughes has wired from Kingston asking for a game between Queen's and Montreal at the Limestone City on November 14 and it is likely that the Montreal players will accept the invitation.

In the meantime Montreal has concluded preparations for their tussle at Toronto against the Argos, which will be a battle for third position in the standing and possibly second, providing Ottawa take both their remaining games from the Hamilton Tigers. Twenty-three players will make the trip to the Queen City tomorrow, the list including: Jeff Russell, Clarrie Booth, Paterson, Whittall, McCaig, Sheppard, Hamilton, Starke, Work, Ryan, Foran, Consiglio, Robinson, Anderson, MacDonald, Colon, Mill, Lewis, Lane, Carruthers, Parkes, Gardner and Weir Wright.

The squad put in its final drill this morning, Coach Nicholson deciding that they had sufficient training for the struggle and resting his men.

The Club is still opposed to Argonauts using Conacher and unless the double executive give notice that they are not going to start the "big train", will formally file a protest to protect the amateur standing of the Montreal men.

WALKER FIXED UP FOR 12 ROUND BOUT

Fight With Sailor Freidman at Newark on November 25.

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—The National Sportsmen's Club to-day announced that it had signed Mickey Walker, welterweight champion of the world, and Sailor Friedman, of Chicago, for a bout here on Thanksgiving eve, November 25.

The match will be a 12-round affair.

THE MARKETS

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—There was no improvement in the export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday, the demand from foreign buyers being of a very limited character, and as the prices bid for wheat were fully two cents per bushel below working basis, exporters found it impossible to do any business. The demand from local and outside buyers for cash grain on spot was also slow, but the tone of the market was steady. Car lots of Ontario and Quebec No. 2 white oats were quoted at 52 cents, No. 3 white at 50 1-2 cents, and No. 4 white at 49 cents, while odd cars of Ontario malting barley sold at 85 cents to 85 1-2 cents per bushel, ex-track.

A fair amount of business was again transacted in spring wheat grades of flour, and prices were unchanged. There was no change in the condition of the market for winter wheat flour, prices being well maintained under a fair demand.

Owing to the continued good enquiry from all sources for millfeed and the fact that millers in most cases have sold their output for some time to come, the offerings at present are somewhat limited and in consequence the undertone to the market was strong, but there was no actual change in prices. A fair trade continues to be done in standard grades of rolled oats, and prices rule firm.

A steady feeling prevailed in the market for baled hay owing to the fact that the demand continues ample to absorb the bulk of the supplies coming forward, with the result that there is no accumulation in stocks on spot. The volume of business was fair.

Owing to the very light supplies of strictly fresh eggs coming forward and the fact that the demand continues to be in excess of the offerings a very strong feeling prevails in the market and prices have scored another advance with sales of special at 70c, extras at 58 to 60c, and firsts at 50c per dozen. The feature of the trade in storage eggs was the demand from foreign buyers for supplies and sales of car lots were made at as good prices made earlier in the season. The consumptive demand was reported steady and a fair trade was done. The receipts were 2,135 cases, as against 1,942 for the same day last week, and 1,674 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of potatoes here yesterday were larger, there being 24 carloads received, which was attributed to the much higher prices ruling. The tone of the market continues strong and prices were fully 25c per bag higher, with sales of car lots of Qebec varieties at $2.75 per bag of 90 lbs, ex-track, and some holders were asking as high as $3 to $3.25 per bag. New York buyers were in the market for supplies, but on account of the higher prices demanded, little business was done in this direction, but the demand from other outside sources was good and this coupled with the buying by local operators, an active trade was done.

The receipts of butter yesterday were 2,257 packages, as again 665 for the same day last week, and 1,612 for the corresponding day a year ago. A steady feeling prevailed in the market under an improved enquiry from outside sources for supplies which, however, did not result in much business being done, but the indications are that the movement will increase in the near future. On the whole the market was quiet and prices were unchanged. The movement in a wholesale jobbing way was fair and prices ruled steady with sales of finest creamery at 43c per lb. in solid packages, and at 44c per lb. in 1 lb. blocks.

The receipts of cheese were 3,883 boxes, as compared with 4,825 for the same day last week, and 3,913 for the corresponding day a year ago, owing to the continued lull in the demand from foreign buyers for supplies and the weaker tone of cable advices, the tendency of prices on spot was downward, and it was reported that sales of Western No. 1 white and colored were made at 112s and 112s 6d per cwt., but the volume of business was small and the market was exceedingly quiet with little or no disposition on the part of spot operators to trade.

Beans were steady at $2.40 per bushel.

JOINS PITTSBURGH.

Herbert Drury, former member of the United States Olympic hockey team and last year one of the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets, is the fifth member of the latter organization to join the Pittsburgh professional team. Drury signed with the local pro. sextet in preference to the New York City organization, handled by Tommy Gorman for Tex Rickard.

SELWYN WINS SOFTBALL CUP

Team From Smith Cannot Be Headed in Lakefield League.

ONE GAME TO PLAY.

Selwyn cinched first place in the Lakefield Softball League last night by beating the Business Men, who had a chance to pull up into first place. This gives Selwyn the Rink Company Cup. The Smith Township boys have shown a well-balanced team all season, and have been popular, not only with their own ctizens, but with the Lakefield fans.

Line-up.

Business Men.—Woodhouse, p; McFadden, c; Tanner, 1b; Wagar, 2b; Fitzgerald, 3b; Sabatino and Hull, ss; Lake, rg; Payne, lf. ....

Score by innings:

Business Men ....010400013— 9
Selwyn ....02142143x—17

Umpires—Graham, at the plate; Morrison, on bases.

The standing of the league now is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Selwyn....	4	0
Business Men..	3	2
Firemen	3	2
Grove....	2	3
Douro....	1	3
Masons	0	5

Tuesday's game, Selwyn vs. Douro has no effect on the standing.

P.C.I. BOYS PLAY U.T.S. TOMORROW

Local Boys Have Been Working Hard For Crucial Games.

LEFT TO-DAY.

The P.C.I. team will play University of Toronto Schools eleven in Toronto on Varsity campus tomorrow morning. It will be the second game of the year for P.C.I. and it promises to be their hardest game of the whole season.

U.T.S. have a splendid team of light, clever players and they smothered Oshawa H.S. hopefuls 45 to 0 and 50 to 0 in the two games they played with them. To beard this outfit in their own den would prove no mere daily dozen for any man's team.

The P.C.I. squad have been practicing faithfully to oppose this strong Toronto team and under Coach Browne's grooming they are in the best of their form for the engagement. They left on the 3.50 this afternoon.

Bowling

CITY LEAGUE.

K. of C. broke into the win column with a vengeance at the Water street alleys last night by taking three from LeBarr's. Thomas turned in high three with 615 with "Bud" Hickey following closely with 612. High singles incuded E. LeBarr 217, Thomas 209 and 26, Colins 203, Hickey 249.

LADIES' MERCANTILE.

Examiner ladies stepped into the Rebeccas for three games at the Water street alleys last night. Miss G. Heath turned in 432 for the three high games and Miss Cadd a close second with 431. Scores in the ladies' league so far this season show that the bowlers lack practice and some of the new teams are expected to cause some upsets before the season is far advanced.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL AT ROYAL — "THUNDER," A WONDERFUL DOG, AND WILLIAM DESMOND ARE STARRED.

The patrons of the Royal are surely getting their money's worth. Last night two big features were presented, either of which could have held its own as the feature part of any programme. William Desmond in "The Sunset Trail," is a Western of the human interest type, taken from Herbert Krubb's novel "Overland Red." The part suits Desmond to a "T."

"Black Lightning," the famous dog story of the Ozark Mountains, is the other attraction.

It has a cast of five men and but one woman with the star role being taken by "Thunder," the Marvel Dog. There are many exciting climaxes in this latest of dog stories. The scenes are laid in the hills of Kentucky. Most of the action centres around a feud between the Howards and Larneds.

Charming little Clara Bow, who is the only woman in the cast, has a part far from any she has ever played.

"Thunder," the marvellous shepherd dog, carries the title role in a manner which would be a great credit to many of our human actors on the screen.

Samuel Sax, who is presenting "Black Lightning," spared no time and expense on the production, and has surrounded his two stars, "Thunder," the Marvel Dog, and Clara Bow with a cast, seldom if ever, equalled.

A new illustrated song was introduced by Sammy Harris, "On the Bam, Bam, Balmy Shore" Remick's latest hit that should become very popular.

AT THE CAPITOL

NO TIME CLOCKS IN CHAPLIN STUDIO.

"The Gold Rush," Great Comedy Drama, Largely Product of Inspiration.

Efficiency experts, time clocks and other modern methods to speed up production played no part in the making of "The Gold Rush," and for this reason Charlie Chaplin took nearly two full years in painting the celluloid panorama of the humorous side of life in the Klondike in his great comedy-drama now showing at the Capitol Theatre under a United Artists' Corporation release.

Every detail from the most insignificant subtitle to the prospector's trudging over Chilkoot pass, 2500 of them in all, in a blinding blizzard, had the personal attention of Chaplin, the man who wrote the story, directed the picture and himself played the star role.

Actual filming of the picture was started by Chaplin on February 7, 1924, after months of preparation, and the final scenes were taken on April 16, 1925. More than five hundred thousand feet of film were used in the making, and the task of cutting and editing required months more.

It is stated that "The Gold Rush" was made by Chaplin largely through inspiration. At times he toiled feverishly on the production for days at a time, calling for utmost efforts from his studio staff to meet his requirements. Again, he rested for days away from the studio until new ideas brought him to activity again.

Usually Chaplin employs very little structure to his comedy, but in 'The Gold Rush' he is the centre of a real drama of the frozen North in the role of a hardluck "sourdough" dressed in the baggy pants, the floppy shoes, the old derby, and the cane of early association.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH NEW PARAMOUNT COMEDY STAR.

Raymond Griffith specializes in risking his good health to provide a laugh. His latest close call occurred during the making of one of the sequences of "A Regular Fellow," his first starring picture for Paramount. This sequence called for a visit to the Zoo and a social call on various wild animals. Griffith was cordially received by the adult members of the lion family but when he started to baby one of the clubs, Mrs. Lion proved she had no sense of humor and started to finish Ray. The timely intervention of an animal trainer saved Griffith for his next picture.

Mary Brian, of "Peter Pan" and "Little French Girl" fame, is featured opposite Paramount's newest star. Edward Sutherland directed the picture which includes Edgar Norton, Tyrone Power, Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Nigel de Bruliere, Kathleen Kirkham and others in the cast. "A Regular Fellow" will be the feature at the Capitol Theatre on Monday. Ray's all dressed up in this one—and just watch him "go!"

AT THE REGENT

"THE LIMITED MAIL."

If you are in search of a thrill, drop into the Regent Theatre and see "The Limited Mail," the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen which opened there yesterday, and you'll get enough thrills to satisfy you and some to spare!

Elmer Vance's old time melodrama, with its romantic story of the engineer who was the disowned son of a millionaire, gains tremendously in effectiveness on the screen. The excitement of the mountain landslides and train wrecks made the audiences gasp with excitement. Then the picture was screened with the majestic beauty of the Colorado mountains as a background — such a background as the stage could never suggest.

Monte Blue is featured in the type role which first brought him into notice in the film world — the husky, virile hero, in this case a railroad engineer.

Vera Reynolds, loaned to Warners by Cecil de Mille for this production, makes an attractive little waitress, with whom the engineer falls in love. Willard Louis, heavyweight master of light comedy, is at his funniest as a happy-go-lucky tramp and is almost unrecognizable with his unshaven, bristly face.

The remainder of the cast, including Tom Gallery, Master Jackie Huff, Edward Gribbon, Otis Harlan and Lydia Yeamons Titus, give ex-was directed by George Hill.

AT THE GRAND

SALE OF SEATS FOR WILLIAM FAVERSHAM ENGAGEMENT

A tremendous demand is indicated for the engagement of William Faversham which is scheduled for the Grand Opera House. The sale of seats will open Tuesday, November 10th, at the box office, and as the mail orders are unusually heavy, the success of the engagement is already assured. The starring vehicle thed istinguished player is using is "Foot-Loose" described as a modern society play and one of the most popular and successful plays ever produced in this country, or in England, for that matter. Zoe Akins is the author, and as she has already distinguished herself by writing "Declassee" for Ethel Barrymore, and "The Varying Shore" for Elsie Ferguson, theatregoers may look foward to an impressive piece of dramatic writing. In the hands of Mr. Faversham, Sir Horace Welby, the leading role in "Foot-Loose" is vivified with intense vitality, and local playgoers can look forward to as fine an exhibition of acting as can be witnessed in the present day theatre.

Mr. Faversham personally directed "Foot-Loose" and supervised in its entirety, every detail of the production.

Did the Creator intend woman only for this?

Does she owe a duty to herself?

Has she a right to her own ideals, her own career?

VOL. LVI., No. 109 PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1925 PRICE THREE CENTS

All Beaten Ministers Except Hon. G. Graham Hand in Resignations

Vacant Portfolios Will Be Given To Members of Cabinet Who Were Elected, Or To Senators After House Re-assembles.

PARLIAMENT MAY MEET DECEMBER 10.

Re-opening Must Be Delayed Until All Election Business Is Cleaned Up—Premier King Will Make a Further Statement of Intentions To-day.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—Premier MacKenzie King announced last night that Parliament would meet on December 10 provided legal requirements can be met. All the defeated members of the Cabinet with the exception of Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, have handed their resignations to the Prime Minister.

The resignations have been accepted.

Portfolios held by the ministers who have resigned will not be filled until parliament meets and the attitude of the members is made known. Instead, the portfolios will be assigned to ministers who were elected, or, holding seats in the Senate, did not seek election.

The Postmaster-General, Hon. Chas. Murphy, will be acting Secretary of State, Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, will be acting Minister of Immigration and Colonization and Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, will be acting Minister of Labor. For the time being, at least, Hon. George P. Graham, will continue to administer the portfolio of Railways and Canals.

Mr. King made no statement as to his own intentions, but promised an announcement today.

The official statement follows:

Text of Statement

"By proclamation published in the "Canada Gazette" September 12, 1925, parliament was summoned to meet on Thursday the tenth day of December, 1925. At a meeting of the cabinet held this afternoon it was decided to have parliament meet on that date unless in the interval it should appear that under the law it will not be possible to have all constituencies represented.

"The chief electoral officer has advised the government that until the end of this month it will be impossible to say definitely whether in some electoral districts delays required under the Dominion Elections Act for recounts or otherwise

Frowzy Looking Vagrant Picked Up By Officer Enjoys Captivity But Won't Face Magistrate

A vagrant was brought into the Police Station at an early hour this morning by P. C. Naples, although it is not likely that she will appear before the Magistrate. For the captive is a somewhat dirty, furry, purry red and white pussy cat, which does not in the least dislike its prison and takes a wholesome delight in the company of the austere arms of the law. The cat was being pursued by a company of canines, when the policeman intervened, literally plucking one of its lives from jeopardy. Now in a haven of comfort, she lies esconsed on a white towel at the head of a lounge or after a luxuriant stretch walks with stately tread to a saucer which P.C. Puffer has benevolently filled with milk. Occasionally she deigns to fence with her guardians, striking out with velvet gloves in a manner seemingly slow but with, in reality lightning-like speed. Most of her time is spent in sleep, doubtless dreaming of noctural conquests and hairbreadth escapes from her sworn enemies.

Irish Came From Eskimos German Professor Suggests

DUBLIN, November 7 (AP)—A theory that the Irish are descendants of the Eskimos has been advanced by Dr. Porkory, a Berlin professor of philology in a lecture at University College.

"There certainly is such a possibility," he said. "In isolated parts of Ireland and Scotland are to be found types with Mongol features, oblique eyes, straight black hair and thick lips. Anthropologically these types could only be connected with the Eskimos."

He expressed the belief that the first inhabitants of Ireland arrived there about 4000 B. C., before which time the country was covered with ice.

The Japanese are very superstitious in regard to lucky and unlucky numbers. Certain numbers are deemed so unlucky that no telephone subscriber would accept them, so they are usually taken by Government offices, schools, police stations, and other public institutions.

French are Harassed by Fresh Druse Revolt Arabs Join the Rebels

Uprising Assumes Aspect Of Holy War— Religious Enthusiasm Inspires Attacks on Occupied Towns and Sporadic Firing in Damascus.

ESTABLISH PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENTS.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press-.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Cairo reports that the rebellious Druse tribesmen have seized Derat (Deraya) about seven miles south of Damascus. The Haifai-Damascus Railway, on which Derat is situated, is said to have been cut.

The despatch adds that there is a severe censorship on all news leaving the region.

French Evacuate Camp.

PARIS, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press). — Mousseifri, a large French fortified camp south of Sueida, in the Djebel Druse territory of Syria, was evacuated yesterday, says an official announcement owing to the regrouping of the French forces. The troops which had occupied Mousseifri left the locality and the day was without incident.

The communique concludes with the statement that there are no other incidents to report in Syria, but information from reliable sources is that the Arabs have joined the Djebel Druse tribesmen in open revolt against the French, and that with Homs, about 80 miles north of Damascus, completely isolated and closely besieged, and Damascus terrorized by desultory firing, the rebellion has assumed an aspect of open warfare.

Arabs Proclaim Holy War.

A holy war, according to this information is what the Arabs are preaching, and fired with religious enthusiasm and an absolute scorn of death, their fight against the French as mandatory nation has taken on the nature of a crusade.

The French under General Camelin have refrained from specactular reprisals, and the opinion in Paris seems to be the problem will be solved momentarily under the rules of civilized warfare, with a verdict eventually by the League of Nations.

Nnofficial information is that the Syrian rebellion is growing that the insurgents have established provisional governments in the zones they occupy, that all of the Homs district is in the hands of the rebels and that Damascus is completely isolated off the outside world, and the railroad and telegraph lines being cut.

TOWERS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL AFTER WITNESSES DESCRIBE KILLING TRAGEDY ABOARD SHIP

Can't Cook Since Ceiling Fell Woman Wins $1,000 In Suit

A sealed verdict opened in Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney's part of the Bronx Supreme Court, awarded Mrs. Esther Faust of 1,473 Bryant Avenue, the Bronx, $1,000 for the loss of her "culinary ability."

On March 12, 1923, Mrs. Faust testified that while engaged in preparing a meal in her kitchen a portion of the ceiling fell upon her. Before the accident she had been a good cook, she said. Since the accident, she said, her nerves have been so upset as a result of the shock that she is unable to prepare a decent meal.

The suit, brought against Abraham Adelson, owner of the premises, was for $10,000.

Police Surgeon States Evidence Indicates Homicidal Mania on Part of Accused.

OFFICER'S DELUSIONS.

Board of Eight Magistrates Included One Woman—Witnesses Look Ill.

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—Thomas Towers, former first officer of the Canadian Pacific liner Melita, was committed by a board of magistrates here yesterday for trial at the Hampshire Assizes, Winchester, on a charge of murdering Captain A. H. Clews, commander of the Melita, on October 21, and attempting on the same date to murder David K. Gilmour, assistant chief engineer of the Melita, and the second engineer of the ship, John Holliday. The alleged crimes were committed while the Melita was at Antwerp.

The magisterial board was composed of eight magistrates, including one woman.

Towers showed no emotion during the police court proceedings, which began on Thursday morning, and were concluded yesterday afternoon.

Evidence was given that Towers admitted shooting Captain Clews and said he was glad he had done so, "because the Captain was talking about Towers and turning his friends against him.

Wounded Officer Testifies.

Holliday, one of the two wounded ship's officers, arrived this afternoon from Antwerp to give evidence for the crown in the case. He was accompanied from Antwerp by another witness for the prosecution, Master-at-Arms Elliott, who had taken Towers into custody at Antwerp, after the shooting. Holliday had been in hospital since October 21, until yesterday, and Gilmour is still in hospital, but is recovering from his injuries.

Attempt to Kill Engineer.

When charged with the attempted murder of David K. Gilmour, assistant chief engineer of the Melita, Towers made no reply. In the case of John Holliday, second engineer of the Melita, whom Towers was charged with attempting to kill, the accused said he did not remember anything about it.

Dr. Ives, police surgeon, said the evidence given before the magistrates in the case indicated a homicidal mania on the part of the accused, because all the victims of the alleged shooting by Towers were friendly towards him.

John Holliday, who was accompanied by Master-at-Arms Elliott,

Dispels Rumor That He Would Accept Seat in Another Riding.

FINISH WORK.

Agrees With Prime Minister To Complete Immigration Business.

Rumours that were current in the city yesterday regarding his taking the representation of another constituency and remaining in the Government were dispelled this morning by Hon. G. N. Gordon.

Mr. Gordon said that he asked the Prime Minister to accept his resignation at as early a date as possible, and the Premier agreed subject to the provision that Mr. Gordon finish certain work already before him in the Department of Immigration

Mr. Gordon said he intended to attend to his practice and give his attention to the needs of Peterboro As the Government is now in control, and would remain in control Mr. Gordon intimated that he intended to see that the public works started in West Peterborough would be finished. He said he would spend most of next week in Ottawa, but after that he hoped to be able to give the rest of his time to his work in Peterborough.

FIRE DESTROYED SUMMER HOTEL AT HALIBURTON

Kushog Inn Was Largest Hotel in the North Country.

CAUSE MYSTERY.

Only Good Work of Villagers Saved Other Property From Blaze.

LINDSAY, Nov. 7.—Kushog Inn, the large summer hotel in Haliburton Village, the largest in the Northland, was totally destroyed by fire shortly after midnight, together with the contents. The inn, which was a large frame structure, of modern design, was built in the year 1919 by the Royal Kushog Hotel Co., a Toronto concern, and had been operated during the summer months by W. Cooper of Guilford. The inn occupied a commanding position on Lake Kushog, and was quite a popular resort for tourists. It had one hundred rooms, and was built at a cost of $40,000. Only the good work of the villagers prevented the blaze from destroying other property. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Armistice Day Should Bring Splendid Memories Says Canadian Commander's Message To Country

MONTREAL, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press). — Sir Arthur Currie's annual Armistice Day message is as follows:

November 11, 1925.

"To every Canadian, Armistice Day should be a day of splendid memories. The time will come when the war will not be even a living memory, but I believe that its great lessons of discipline and labor, comradeship and unselfishness, tranquil courage and true patriotism should not be allowed to vanish with the years.

Above all, we must keep before this generation and before that which is to come, the lesson of love for the land of our fathers, and the lesson of unshakable faith in the ultimate greatness of our country.

"I would not wish to dignify warfare. I know too well that no pomp or circumstance, no waving of banners, no talk of dancing plumes can lend true dignity to war. But it is my profound belief that if the qualities which I have enumerated above, those qualities which made Canadians great in war, were nurtured and applied in peace, our country would advance unfailing to its rightful place among the nations of the world.

(Signed) A. W. CURRIE."

POTATOES COST $3.50 PER BAG AND MAY RISE

Peterborough Market Had Many Buyers and Plenty of Produce.

TURKEYS CHEAP.

Eggs Were Scarce at 60 Cents a Dozen—Butter 45 Cents.

There were plenty of buyers and plenty of produce on the farmers' market this morning. The tables groaned under the weight of the fowl which were available in large numbers up to a late hour. Turkeys, which are supposed to be a costly meat this year, were comparatively low in price, the highest figure quoted being 30 cents a pound, with large twenty-one and twenty-two pounders selling at 25 cents a pound. The supply seemed to run to large birds, some of the geese weighing twelve and fifteen pounds, and several of the ducks running to hefty proportions. The latter were priced at 25 cents a pound, the same price as that of the geese. Chickens were 25 cents a pound, and hens 20 cents.

Butter was quoted generally at 45 cents a pound and eggs at 60 cents a dozen. The latter were scarce.

Potatoes at $3.50 a bag were a spectacular feature of the open market this morning. A price of $5 a bag is forecast by the dealers for the near future. A month ago the same spuds were available at $1.75 a bag.

Honey in five-pound containers was 75 and 55 cents for the light and dark quality.

Pork was 19 cents and 21 cents a pound, and lamb 23 and 26 cents. Live piglets were $12 a pair.

Apples were a prominent feature of the sale. Spies, hand picked, could be bought at $4 a barrel and McMahon Whites at $2.50. Greenings and Baxters were $3 a barrel; russets 25 cents a peck.

A few tomatoes were on sale this morning at 15 cents for a berry box. Pears were 50 cents a large basket. Parsnips were 25 cents a peck, turnips 20 cents, and onions 50 cents.

NO TRACE FOUND OF BARGE WHICH BROKE TOW-POST

It Is Believed To Have Foundered With Crew of Seven.

SEARCH FRUITLESS.

Towing Steamer Is Now Undergoing Repairs at Sault.

SAULT STE. MARIE Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—No trace has yet been found of the barge J. L. Crane, which is believed to have foundered with a los of seven lives off Crisp Point, near Whitefish, in a severe storm which swept Lake Superior on Thursday night.

Steamer Widner reports, however, having seen an overturned yawlboat which is thought to have come from the Crane.

Steamer Herman H. Hettler, which was towing the Crane and which first brought word of the disaster to Sault, yesterday, is now undergoing repairs and Captain Hans Hanson is endeavoring to arrange for a search for the barge and her crew.

The Crane is believed to have turned over in the storm after the tow post on the Hettler had been pulled up, tearing up the dining room floor and breaking a steam pipe which caused the boat to fill with steam and hamper operations.

DOUBT EXPRESSED BY OFFICIALS WHETHER PARLIAMENT WILL BE ASSEMBLED ON DATE MENTIONED

Liberals Say Test of Strength Should Be Made After By-election.

DEPARTMENTS BUSY.

Estimates Will Have To Be Prepared For Earliest Session in History.

OTTAWA, Nov. 7. —(Canadian Press). —In official circles today, there is doubt if it will be found possible to call parliament by Dec. 10. The coming by-election in Bagot may cause delay. The point is taken among Liberals that for a real test of strength in the house, parliament should not be called till Bagot has elected its new representative.

The decision of the Goverment to call parliament for December 10 has caught the public departments by surprise. There will now have to be much hurrying if the estimates are to be ready.

The session to open next month will be without parallel in history of the Dominion. Primarily it will be a test of strength between the Liberals and the Conservatives for there is little public business beyond the usual supply so far indicated. Ratification of the trade treaty between Canada and the West Indies, however, still remains. The treaty has been signed by all parties but still needs the approval of the Dominion parliament and of the West Indies Legislature.

Premier King vigorously defended the treaty during the election campaign. Mr. Meighen criticized it. Approval of the treaty may provide a lively issue.

When the house opens the cabinet ministers will be reduced in numbers. Premier King and Hon. G. P. Graham, who of the defeated ministers alone remain in the cabinet, will have to find constituencies before they can take their seats in the new house. Should they be unable to do so before the house opening, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, would in normal course of events, being senior member of the Government, lead the Liberals.

WEATHER

Temperature this morning, 32 degrees; highest yesterday 45 degrees. A year ago to-day it was up to 66 degrees, and the day was classified as "warm." At present zero temperatures are common throughout the northwest, 6, 8 and 16 below zero being experienced at different points. Some days ago I quoted a few lines of a poem in one of the old school readers. A number have spoken to me and written regarding the same. Herewith are a few verses descriptive of the present season:

"The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year,
Of wailing winds and naked woods, and meadows brown and sere.
Heap'd in the hollows of the grove, the autumn leaves lie dead;
They rustle to the eddying gust and to the rabbit's tread.
The robin and the Wren are flown, and from the shrubs the jay,
And from the wood top calls the crow through all the gloomy day.
"Where are the flowers, the fair young flowers, that lately sprang and stood
In brighter light and softer airs, a beauteous sister-hood?
Alas! they are all in their graves, the gentle race of flowers
Are lying in their lowly beds, with the fair and good of ours.
The rain is falling where they lie, but the cold November rain
Calls not from out the gloomy earth the lovely ones again"

There are three other verses along the same line but space is limited. I thought they were by Mrs. Hemans, but apparently they are not. Can any reader tell me the name of the author or authoress?—W. P.

PAPER DECLARES MURDER PLOT PART OF PLAN TO ABOLISH KING AND SET UP ITALIAN REPUBLIC

Plot Was Discovered By Fascist Secretary and Suspects Were Shadowed.

SCHEME LAID BARE.

To Former Deputy Was Delegated the Task of Shooting Mussolini.

ROME, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press).—Already aroused by the thwarted plans to assassinate their Premier, the people of Rome were further stirred yesterday when it became known through a detailed report published by the usually well informed Epoca, that the assassination was only a detail of a general conspiracy calling not only for the death of Mussolini and the overthrow of the Fascist government, but the fall of the House of Savoy and the setting up of an Italian Republic.

The Epoca's statements are made with such apparent assurance as to indicate the newspaper is sure of its ground, although the source of its information is not made public, and there is not even a hint that it came from governmental sources.

Fascist Secretary's Discovery.

According to the paper, Roberto Farinacci, secretary of the Fascist Party, was the first to learn of the existence of the plot. He gave all the information he had to the Minister of Interior, Luigi Federzoni, who assumed personal direction of the plans to detect its origin and follow its developments.

From the moment the Minister became aware of the plot some time ago, he ordered that all those suspected of being implicated be shadowed by detectives. On Saturday, says the report, the former Unitarian Socialist deputy Zaniboni, who, the police assert, was to have fired at the Premier, left Mantua in the company of three men. The automobile, driven by Zaniboni himself, proceeded in the direction of Rome, followed by another car occupied by detectives.

Plotters Practice Shooting.

Zaniboni and his friends, who are not named, but who are said to have been identified by the police, stopped along the road a few miles from Rome. They disappeared into a thick pine grove, where Zaniboni practiced for a long time shooting at a target with a specially equipped rifle, the target being placed about 100 yards away.

The practice succeeded so well, the report goes on, that the others

Patriotic Turks Visit Star and Crescent Child

CONSTANTINOPLE, November 7. — Devout and Patriotic Turks are making pilgrimages to the home of a poor peasant coupe to whom has been born a son with a birthmark on his right leg said to resemble Turkey's national emblem, the Star and Crescent.

Believers say this is a certain sign of future greatness.

The phenomenon has also excited interest in Turkish medical world.

MOTHER BROKE UNDER STRAIN STOLEN CHILD

Four Months Old Baby Taken From Carriage in Toronto Store.

NO ENEMIES.

Parents Unable to Explain Mysterious Theft—On Shopping Tour.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press). — Baby Robert Muldoon, four months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Muldoon, who was stolen from his carriage in the vestibule of a downtown departmental store yesterday while his mother was shopping, has not been found.

To-day Mrs. Muldoon collapsed under the strain. Mr. Muldoon stated that he could not account for the disappearance of the infant. Neither he nor his wife had any enemies. The husband stated that Mrs. Muldoon had been married before and was divorced from her former husband three years ago in Detroit. One child, a girl six years old, by her first marriage, is living with Mrs. Muldoon's mother in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Muldoon are Catholics, but were married by a Protestant minister because the Catholic Church does not recognize divorce.

WORKMAN CRUSHED.

Pole Working on Provincial Highway Killed By Heavy Bucket.

PRESCOTT, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—A fatal accident occurred Thursday night, about three miles above Prescott, when a Pole, about 34 years of age, engaged in the construction of the Provincial highway, was crushed by a bucket of cement weighing over a ton.

ITALIAN AVIATOR WELCOMED BY HIS COUNTRYMEN

FLEW 33,000 MILES.

Crowds Fought For Space Along Tiber To See Him Light.

ROME, Nov. 7 (United Press).—Welcomed with all the fervor accorded war heroes, Commander de Pinedo, Italian aviator, reached here today, completing his 33,000 mile flight. A crowd of 100,000 Romans greeted him wildly, fighting for space along the Tiber, as his hydroplane, accompanied by a squadron of Italian planes, swooped down and landed between the Marguerita and Risorgimento bridges. Later, he was driven to the Campidoglio through lines of cheering countrymen massed in flag-draped avenues.

JUNIOR TEACHERS MET SEPARATELY

Miss Stella Bennett Presided Over Meeting of Primary Teachers.

The teachers of the Kindergarten Primary, the Primer, and Book I classes met for the Thursday afternoon session of the convention in the Central Kindergarten. Miss Stella Bennett ably presided.

The first time on the program was the report of the O.E.A. given by Miss Anderson. Miss Anderson dealt first with the paper presented by Miss Maude Ross of Windsor.

Many useful suggestions on reading and educative seat work were gleaned therefrom.

A description of a nursery school in Detroit, by Miss Emma Henton was touched upon. This school was composed of children from twenty months, to five years of age. Miss Henton believes that a great deal of the trouble in school may be averted, by the proper guidance of the child's activities and surroundings. She believes that we can be taught to realize the gravity of his faults by pondering over them, and then be led to discipline himself. Childish offences are often grievous to grown-ups only.

Miss Anderson gave to the teachers many good points gathered from papers given by Inspector Benson on "Rotary Schools"; Miss Bain on art works; Miss Williams of Walkerville on projects leading out of the wonderful nature work of Jack Miner; Miss Adair on "The Value of Games", and Dr. Hutton on "The Science of the Times." The report throughout was most interesting and very comprehensive.

The next topic on the program, that of "Silent Reading" was introduced by Miss Bennett, who gave some excellent devices and tests used in her work. This was followed by an open discussion by the primary teachers.

Silent reading from the standpoint of Book I teachers, was dealt with by Miss Stubbs, who gave a clear and concise outline of methods and tests. This paved the way for questions and further discussion.

Miss Pilling then favoured her audience with a vocal selection given in good voice, with piano accompaniment by Miss Smith.

A very interesting address by Miss Outram followed. Miss Outram, who has just returned from a year's exchange work in England, brought back many new ideas. One need listen to her but a few minutes before realizing that she had grasped with wonderful skill, the entire educational working of the school in which she had been engaged. She gave a vivid description not only of the better class of school, but of her experiences in the slum sections. She was able to give a very helpful outline of the work in the various subjects, dwelling especially on reading and composition.

She showed many samples of work done in the English schools, thus allowing the teachers to form comparison as to progress.

Miss Outram, by her animated descriptions, made her address not only one of profit, but one also of real enjoyment.

The afternoon's program was concluded by a talk on "Junior Red Cross Work", given by Miss Dix. This organization already has 8,000,000 members, 36,000 of these belonging to Ontario.

The aim in view, is to improve health, to prevent disease, and to help humanity. Health games are much in evidence, and health generally may be emphasized when the authority of an organization is behind us.

Some may argue that there are enough and to spare of "extras" in the schools, but the reply is that this "Junior Red Cross Work" is only the means of carrying on more effectively a work which is ever present, namely, that the cleanliness of body and mind, and the spirit of charity which impels one to reach out and help suffering humanity. By being members of this organization, children are anxious to keep the twelve rules laid down, in order that they may be worthy members. Thus, they are being trained then look after their own welfare as well as the welfare of others. In other words, they are becoming true citizens.

An afternoon of interest and profit was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

THREE MILLION RUSSIANS HOPE FOR FREE RUSSIA

Emigres in Many Countries Look Forward To Their Return.

ANTI-BOLSHEVIK.

They Will Send Delegates to Great Congress To Be Held in Paris.

By RALPH HIENSEN.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(United Press)—The three million Russian emigres scattered over the world outside of Russia's borders, who feel that some day they can go back to a restored Russia, freed from Bolshevik domination, will be represented at the first Pan-Russian Congress, to be held in Paris this month, at which a program of action, leading, they hope, to the reopening of the doors of their home land, will be outlined.

The Russian generals who have not hesitated to enter New York's kitchens by the back doors and earn their living at dishwashing; the Countesses who have opened dress-making or millinery shops in Paris, Pittsburgh or Peking, the thousands of ex-officers of the once Imperial army who are keeping their families alive with the earnings of taxi-cabs, and the countless Russian singers, dancers and musicians who, although saddened by the years of exile, have contributed to the gayety of every large city—all these will be represented at the November Congress.

The Paris Congress will be the first great anti-bolshevist meeting ever held. The fact that France, during the ministry of H. Herriot, recognized the present Government of Soviet Russia makes it difficult for the organizers of the Pan-Russian Congress to go about their work too openly. There is little doubt that M. Krassin, Soviet Ambassador, Paris, will lay a protest upon the desk of H. Briand, minister of Foreign Affairs, but it is unlikely that the French Government will forbid the gathering. The rules of refuge and hospitality to political emigrants are law in France.

The cost of sending delegates is too great for the "emigres" living at present in North and South America and the Far East, but it is expected that they will send mandates to representatives among the Russians in France and their votes will be cast in that manner. The selection of delegates is being carefully made, with a view to obtaining political, industrial, literary and scholastic representatives of high position. Eight hundred delegates are expected.

"This is primarily a political convention, the first meeting of the organization which is to include 90 per cent of the Russians who fled from the country with the Revolution," said M. Serge Treitiakof, leader of the Congressists and before the war one of the greatest of Russian industrialists.

"Our program is anti-bolshevik and we are determined to do everything we can to wreck the Third International. By obtaining the support of the principal powers this can be done, and once it is accomplished Bolshevism will fall in Russia. The situation in Russia is such that the time is opportune for action. But if our efforts are to be effective we must act in unison and the congress is for the purpose of uniting interested Russians in one body."

Although General Denekin is in Belgium and Baron Wrangel whose "White Russian" army is scattered overe several Balkan States, is in Bulgaria, neither will come to Paris for the Congress. Grand Duke Nicolas, chosen by practically all of the groups of "emigres" as their leader, will not come to Paris from the chateau in the suburbs where he has remained virtually a prisoner of his friends for the past two years. Respect for the inconvenience the presence of these leaders would cause the French Government has led the Congressists to decide to keep such figures away from the meeting.

There will be delegates representing Russia, but, naturally, their activities will be kept carefully guarded in fear of reprisals.

Ask Your Druggist For It It Relieves Weary Spines

LONDON, Nov. 7. United Press. — British druggists have just put on the market a new drug rejoicing in the name of: Dimethylaminobenzoyldiethylethycarbinol.

It represents a hydrochloride used as a spinal anaesthetic. Its inventors are now considering a shorter name for their product. Up to date they have not been able to pronounce it themselves.

STOP DIVERSION OF WATER SAYS MICHIGAN MAN

Refers To Proposal Made Of Sixth Great Lake in North.

NO COUNTER ACTION.

Says Chicago Must Be Stopped From Taking Water.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—R. J. Maclean, Michigan, director National Rivers and Harbors Congress, wired as follows: "Detroit, Mich.: Regarding a news despatch regarding the sixth lake proposed in which $200,000,000 expenditure was recommended by a speaker before the Associated Boards of Trade convention to overcome the situation produced by the Chicago diversion, the situation should be stopped, not overcome. Chicago is permitted to divert lake waters to another watershed. Why not other ports to the same extent on both sides of the international line until absolute anarchy prevails and the great lakes cease to function as a navigation system? United States and Canada must insist that waters flowing into the Great Lakes shall follow their natural channel to the sea."

BABY STOLEN ON TORONTO STREET

Child Had Been Left In Carriage In Store Vestibule.

CARRIAGE FOUND.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press). — When Mrs. T. Muldoon went to shop yesterday afternoon she left her four-month-old son, Robert, in his carriage in the vestibule of a store on Albert Street. When she came out of the store some time later she was horrified to discover that both baby and carriage had disappeared. The empty carriage was found later standing on a sidewalk up Yonge Street. The child has not yet been recovered.

The Mutual Life Pays its Claims Promptly

DELAYS in the settlement of life insurance claims add financial worry to the distress of the bereaved family. The Mutual Life of Canada has always made a special feature of prompt payment of claims, being the first company to waive the 30 to 90 days time limit for settlement, which was the custom in pioneer days.

It is not the desire of the Mutual Life to take advantage of technicalities to postpone or contest settlement of claims. The purpose of this company is to be a refuge and a comfort in time of family trouble and stress. The widowed and the fatherless receive the full benefits provided for them by Mutual policies at the earliest possible moment, and with the least possible worry.

SCHOOL BY-LAW LEFT TO COUNCIL OF NEXT YEAR

Hastings Councillors Refused To Submit Question to Ratepayers.

BY-LAW NOT FOUND.

Trustees Said Council Had It But Clerk Couldn't Find It.

(By a Staff Reporter)

HASTINGS, Nov. 7—The village Council at the November meeting Friday night, received another request from the School Board to submit to the people a by-law to raise $15,000 by the issue of debentures to defray the cost of a new three room public school. After considerable discussion the matter was laid on the table the majority of the councillors being of the opinion that the question was for the 1926 Council to deal with.

There were other reasons for this action. The councillors maintain that the bylaw sent them by the trustees was not properly worded as in one place it spoke of building a public and in another spoke of building a continuation school. A correction was written into the document by Secretary C. P. Doughty of the School board and Mr. Doughty claims that the by-law was returned to the Council. It could not be found among the papers of Clerk Wilson last night so that the councillors had nothing before them.

Another objection to the proposition of the trustees was that the seal of the school board was not attached and no resolution was sent in to show that the trustees had actually passed such a by-law. Nothing was said as to where the school was to be built or what was to be done with the old building.

Trustee Harry Dodd, who was present, stated that he had been informed by Secretary Doughty that the by-law had been corrected and was now in the hands of the Council. He also understood that the document had been approved by the Department of Education. He asked that it be produced and read but it could not be found.

Reeve Hess Explains.

To Trustee Dodd, Reeve Hess said that he (the Reeve) had been accused of blocking this proposition from the beginning. He was not opposed to a new school, but he did insist that before $15,000 of the people's money was handed out to the trustees, that every step in the procedure was legal. Further, he did not think that the present council in its dying hours should load up its successor with such a matter.

On motion of Councillors Doxsee and Dodd the communication from the trustees was laid on the table. Which means that this dispute of more than six months' standing will be carried over to the Council of 1926.

Election by Ballot.

The trustees sent in another communication asking that provision be made for the election of members of the School Board by ballot. A letter from Chief Inspector Greer was forwarded, in which Section 67 of the School Act was quoted, showing that, provided such a request be sent in before October 1, the council had no aleternative but to comply. As the specified date is past, and no change can be made in time for the approaching election, no action was taken.

Advertising Hastings.

Ex-Warden Walter M. Fowlds, as second vice-president of the Trent Waterways Development Association, appeared before the Council to ask for a grant of $30 as Hastings' share of the cost of the exhibits sent by the Association to the Motor Boat Show in New York. Mr. Fowlds dwelt on the value of these exhibits as an advertisement for the village, one of the best summer resorts in the Trent Valley.

Councillor McDonald told of a trek made by J. C. Breithaup of the Tannery Company to New York, when he was surprised to see on a moving picture screen, scenes from Hastings, which was acclaimed as one of the best fishing places in Ontario.

On motion of Councillors McDonald and Doxsee, the request of Mr. Fowlds was granted.

The usual accounts were passed.

TOWERS COMMITTED

arrived from Antwerp yesterday, and both men gave evidence for the prosecution. Holliday looked somewhat haggard, and he was permitted to remain seated while testifying. He vividly described the tragedy on the Melita. He said he heard Towers ask Gilmour about the ship's list, and Gilmour replied: "Won't you stop aboard and look after the ship?" Subsesuently, Holliday said, he heard a shot and ran out in the direction of the noise. He heard Gilmour cry "murder," and then he ran back to his own room for his revolver, which, however, he was unable to find.

He then hurried to Gilmour's room which Towers was leaving at the moment, Holliday continued. He jumped at the accused, who warned him to staud back. The witness advanced towards Towers, however, and the latter drew his pistol and fired twice. He tried to fire a third time, Holliday continued, but the pistol missed fire. The witness then realized that he had been hit in the chest. He saw Gilmour sitting on his bed, his face covered with blood.

As Towers was retreating from the room, Holliday said, Towers fell and he sprang at him, grasped the pistol with both hands and called for help. Towers was eventually overpowered.

GOLDEN JUBILEE KEENE CHURCH

Former Methodist Congregation Celebrated Its Fiftieth Anniversary.

SOUVENIR BOOKLET.

KEENE, Nov. 7.—The golden jubilee anniversary of the former Methodist Church of Keene held last Sunday was a huge success. The preacher for the occasion was the Rev. L. S. Wight of Belleville, who gave two very powerful addresses, morning and evening. Mr. Wight was a former pastor of Keene, 1917-1918. A feature of the morning service was the reception of the first two members of the United Church of Canada, locally, Tom and Wilena Hope, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hope, have always been good workers in church and Sunday school.

Another feature of the occasion was in the form of a booklet, giving the history of the church during the past fifty years, which included pictures of the old and newer church photos of former pastors, an historical sketch by the Rev. A. McLachlan, B.A., B.D., the present pastor, and the names of all superintendents of all departments, including recording stewards, Sunday school superintendents, secretaries of Trustee Boards, Epworth League officers, missionary collectors, juvenile collectors, deeds, the parsonage, church furnishings, the former organists and choir leaders and present members of the choir.

The following are the officers for 1925:

Minister—Rev. Andrew McLachlan, B.A., B.D.
Recording Steward—W. D. Edwards.
Secretary-Treasurer of Church and Trustee Board—Wm. Stewart.
Stewards—John Edwards, David Edwards, Andrew Rennie.
Society Representatives—R. J. H. Short, Chas. Mather, Gordon Taylor.

The choir was assisted by a quartette from the United Presbyterian Church: Miss M. Bryce, Mrs. F. A. Eason, Mr. Wm. Drummond and Mr. D. D. Brown.

The fowl supper and concert on the Monday evening following was also a huge success, the best that has ever been held in this vicinity. Through the kindness of the officers of the United Presbyterian Church, the supper was held in the basement of their church, and from five to eight p.m. there was a continuous procession of people.

The concert, held in the town hall, which was crowded to capacity, some unable to get in, was the finale to the best anniversary that has ever been held at the Keene appointment.

Local talent was assisted by others from Peterboro', Norwood and Colborne, and letters of congratulation were received and read from the former pastors: Rev. J. J. Liddy, 1895-1898; W. D. P. Wilson, 1895; W. D. Harrison, 1906-9; Wm. Johnston, 1909-13; A. K. Edmison, 1913-17; W. E. Honey, 1918-22.

A coincidence is that the town hall, where the concert was held, was also built fifty years ago.

Business Matters Were Discussed—Chapter Donated $10 To Public Library.

CAMPBELLFORD, November 7. — The Bemerside Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held their monthly meeting on Thursday evening in the Public Library. A few business matters were discussed and the remainder were postponed till their next meeting which will be held on Thursday, December 3. The Chapter donated $10 to the Public Library for the purchase of books.

Hallowe'en Social.

The ladies of the United Church at Meyersburg held a successful Hallowe'en social in their hall last Friday evening. The hall was suitably decorated for the occasion and a splendid programme was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served.

Personals.

Mr. George Mason and Mr. John Cornelius left Wednesday morning for Apsley, on a hunting trip. Mr. Mason will stay with his daughter, Miss Hazel Mason, who teaches school at Apsley.

Miss Florence Shannon, who has been in town for the past week, leaves today to spend a few days with her cousin, Mr. William Shannon at Smith's Falls, and will then resume her training as nurse at New York.

T. J. Upton, of Sebastopol street, who was seriously injured some time ago, is not making the progress his friends would wish.

D. C. Monkman, of Toronto, has accepted a position in the barber-shop of Lang and Jarvis during the absence of Mr Jarvis who is ill in the military hospital in Toronto.

Miss Norah Jones of Meyersburg, is visiting at the home of her brother Mr. James Jones.

Mrs. Rollo and two children arrived in town from Scotland on Sunday, and are at the home of Chief and Mrs. Brown. Mr. Rollo has been in town working for some time.

Mrs. De Gruchy, Miss Curry and Mrs. Lennox of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. G. C. Clarke at the Rectory.

Miss E. M. Frame is spending a two weeks vacation at her home in Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dunk, Mrs. D. J. Lynch and Miss Jean Clarke, the latter of Detroit, motored to Peterboro on Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Baker have returned from their wedding trip and are at home in their residence on Front street.

FRENCH REGARD ITALIAN PLOT AS A POLICE PLANT

Reported Plan to Kill Mussolini Preparatory Move To Obtain Power.

DISQUIET FELT.

Only Fear is of What He Will Do When He Becomes Absolute.

PARIS, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press). — The plot to assassinate Premier Mussolini, announced with much stage setting of congratulatory letters from the Royal Family and the diplomatic corps and accompanied by demonstrations for Mussoline, is regarded in France as merely a preparatory move for a new exercise of his dictatorial power. Doubt is thrown on the plot—considered a Fascist police plan—and the only emotion aroused is disquiet of what Mussolini will do with absolute power as soon as he has the Opposition entirely destroyed.

An expose of the Italian - Soviet agreement to leave a free hand which has been cabled back and printed in the leading European newspapers with the exception, of course, of Italy, has increased the belief which has existed for a long time in serious political circles that Mussolini is going to try to re-create the Roman Mediterranean, especially the eastern portion.

The discovery of the plot is supposed to be the first move towards a series of events, the Paris Hour comments. Mussolini has just accomplished another coup de force. Probably he is preparing more. Zaniboni, who was arrested as the principal plotter, was a Unified Socialist, but was excluded from the party on account of his too frequent visits to the King. Nevertheless, the Government tries to implicate 25,000,000 members of the Unified Socialists who have twenty-four deputies in the Chamber. The party is dissolved and no longer has the right to meet.

There is talk of dissolving all political parties which are opposed to the black shirts, the suppression of the newspapers and the establishment of an even worse dictatorship.

might not prevent the official return of members-elect in time to attend the opening of parliament if it were to meet on December 10.

"On November 30, therefore, the Government proposes to advise His Excellency either to call parliament for the dispatch of business on the date already fixed, or on such later date as, having regard to the circumstances as they then appear, it will be possible for all the members elect to have been officially returned and all constituencies duly represented:

"All of the ministers holding portfolios who were defeated in the general election on October 29, have tendered their resignations to the Prime Minister, to take effect immediately or at such time as may best serve the public interest. With the exception of the Minister of Railways and Canals, the resignations of all have been accepted to take effect within a week.

Positions Temporarily Filled

"Until parliament has met and the attitude of the Parliamentary representatives toward the question raised by the numerical position of the respective parties is ascertained the respective portfolios will not be filled but will be assigned to other ministers. The Postmaster General Honorable Charles Murphy, will be acting Secretary of State; the Minister of Finance, Honorable James Robb, will be acting Minister of Trade and Commerce; the Minister of the Interior, Honorable Charles Stewart, will be acting Minister of Immigration and Colonization; the Minister of Public Works, Honorable Dr. J. H. King, will be acting Minister of Labor.

"It was felt by the Prime Minister to be in the public interest to ask Mr. Graham to retain, for the time being at least, his administration of the portfolio of Railways and Canals. Mr. Graham has consented so to do."

OBSERVING ARMISTICE DAY.

Thanks to the Great War Veterans' Association, Peterboro is being provided with a fitting programme tomorrow in commemoration of the signing of the Armistice, which ended hostilities in the Great War seven years ago, and the citizens are urged to co-operate with the G.W.V.A. in making the observance of the anniversary worthy of the occasion.

The programme commences with an impressive ceremony at the cenotaph at G.W.V.A. headquarters at 2 o'clock, after which there will be a parade of ex-service men and the local militia units to the Grand Opera House, where the Armistice Day service will be held, with Col. W. D. Sharpe, past President of the G.W.V.A., as the principal speaker. Addresses will also be given by Rev. Father Costello, His Honour Judge Huycke, Hon. G. N. Gordon and Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P. The member-elect for West Peterboro, Mr. E. A. Peck, is out of the city and will be unable to take part in the programme.

In the evening there will be a special Armistice Day concert by the band of the Peterboro Rangers.

The public generally is asked to do its part in making the local observance of the end of the war an eloquent demonstration of the city's gratitude to the men who dared all for the Empire and of the community's faithful memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

POLICE COMMISSIONS.

The Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, in session at Kingston, turned down by a large majority a resolution fathered in Kitchener and recommending a change in the composition of Police Commissions by which the Police Magistrate would be rtplaced by an appointed or elected member.

From time to time similar proposals to convert the Police Commission into an elective or practically elective body have cropped up, but, fortunately, the folly of allowing the control of police departments to become a matter of municipal politics is so apparent to the majority of people that suggested changes have made no headway.

The present method may not be ideal, but it is so far ahead of the United States plan of handling police departments on a political basis that few thinking Canadians would be willing to take a chance on a change to anything suggestive of the policy followed across the border.

Put the police department into politics and the door is open for constant interference with the police in the discharge of their duty.

The experience of United States cities is so thoroughly indicative of that fact as to make Ontario people very chary about considering the abandonment of the Police Commission as at present constituted in the urban centres of this Province.

A MEMORABLE DAY.

Seven years have passed since the sword was sheathed. Seven years ago the sidewalks were packed with watchers while the streets contained lines on lines of marchers, all giving vent to emotions of greatest joy. It was an outburst from people who had lived a century in those few years of anxiety and uncertainty. Thank God it was over. Soon the troops would be homeward bound and many a mother's anxious heart would be comforted by the return of her boy.

The troops are marching again. The roll-call has found many missing. Some rest "where poppies grow" "over there." Others have since gone to join the great majority, but their comrades march to remind us of that memorable day in 1918 when the long roll of the artillery was stilled.

Men went from their families, from their firesides, to unknown lands to endure innumerable hardships. The forced marches, the lonely vigils in the trenches, the heat of battle and the horrors of war were endured that a better understanding between nations might be made possible and the way made smooth and safe for lasting peace. Now, with mutual confidence grounded on the higher principles of right, the mental snarls of millions are being untangled and added years of prosperity and interchange of commerce will give assurances of renewed friendships and enlightened days of broader vision.

Love of country has meant many sacrifices, but it has also produced many martyrs, heroic men and women whose generous and noble patriotism has done much to raise the life of a nation to the level of its privileges; and, though centuries pass, their names are ever remembered in loving gratitude for their unfailing support by word and deed of the home land and through the realization of what it means to assume the duties of true citizenship.

The experiences of the past should be sufficient to convince us that true patriotism—not a blind and irrational impulse, but a deep and sincere loyalty to our government and its aims, liberal support of its principles and the voicing of right where the necessity occurs for correction of mistaken views—should be our bounden duty and we should accept this obligation fully conscious that it is a debt we owe to our country.

A nation is no stronger than the patriotism of its people. There can only be a home, a business or a nation as we accept our responsibilities and place a proper valuation on what it means to be citizens of a glorious country.

In the great work of nation building it is of the utmost importance that we be loyal to our cause and that we pledge our sacred honor and our lives to further the cause of citizenship, so that it may represent all that is good, noble and true.

THE MYSTERIOUS MR. FORKE.

The mystery of the present political deadlock is furnished by Mr. Robert Forke, leader of the Progressive Party, who so far has refused to issue a statement or give his views of the situation.

Premier King has announced his intention of remaining in office and meeting Parliament. Right Honourable Arthur Meighen has denounced that policy as an usurpation of office by Mr. King, but Mr. Forke remains silent as to the course his party will follow.

In the light of the speeches made by the Progressive leader before the election, his refusal to discuss the situation now adds to the uncertainty as to what the political developments of the next few months are likely to be.

His address in Winnipeg on September 18th contained a declaration that is being recalled now in view of the peculiar position of the two old parties as a result of the election.

"Absorption of the Progressives by the Liberal Party," said Mr. Forke, "whether in or out of office and under whatever gise effected would postpone for a generation the attainment of necessary reforms, the re-shaping of national policies and the infusion into Canadian public life of that moral courage and idealism which slavish partisanship has well nigh destroyed."

Apparently two months ago the Progressive leader had no thoughts of a working alliance with the Liberal Party.

Less than two weeks before the election H. W. Wood, head of the United Farmers of Alberta, issued an equally significant statement, in which he said:

"There is no basis of adjustment between the Progressives and the Liberal or any old-time party government; their purposes and methods are too far apart to be reconciled, except by some unforeseen and impossible concessions on the part of the government."

These specific declarations on the part of Progressive leaders make the task of political prophecy even more difficult than usual.

If Mr. Forke's views on the absorption of the Progressives by the Liberal Party are the same today as they were in September and Mr. Wood's theory that there is no basis of adjustment between Progressives and either of the old parties still holds good, what stand will the Progressives taken when Parliament meets?

Mr. Forke up to the present has declined to say—so the people generally are left to do their own guessing.

STUDY OF CLASSICS.

A Classical Association was formed at a meeting held in Toronto on Monday, when the chairman, Professor DeWitt, expressed the hope that other centres, not only in Ontario, but throughout the country, would follow the lead of Toronto by establishing similar institutions. It would be a great gain to the national life if the movement which has been inaugurated in the Queen City could be made general throughout the Dominion. There are still plenty of people, unfortunately, who regard the study of "dead" languages as so much waste of time; whatever is valuable in the ancient literatures can be read, with much less trouble, in translations, while few attain to a sufficient mastery of the originals to be able to appreciate them at anything like their actual worth. That is the kind of argument which is heard from the apostles of "utility," whose sole idea of efficiency is a capacity to accumulate cash. But, popular as that doctrine is, there are cheering signs of a reaction. In the United States increased attention is being given to the great civilizations of the past upon which our own is founded. The real need of the age is a balanced education—not too great an emphasis on the practical, nor too exclusive a devotion to the ideal. "Ne nimium." Undoubtedly there has been too violent a swing in the direction of the material; a love of learning for its own sake—a revival of pure scholarship—would redress the balance.

Though Latin and Greek are no longer spoken tongues, it is a misnomer to call them "dead." The depth of thought and beauty of expression contained in the writings of those master minds of Rome and Athens remain for humanity "an endless fountain of immortal drink, Pouring unto us from the heaven's brink." But the Pierian spring is not so easy to get at, as nothing really worth while is easy. To speak of the time and labor involved as wasted, however, is to display an ignorance of or, at any rate, a contempt for true human values.

It is very satisfactory, in this connection, to note that Hamilton educationists are not wanting in their appreciation of the classics and in their efforts to make them more popular with students. For proof of this reference may be made to the special publication produced by the local Central Collegiate Institute, Virginibus Puerisque, the second number of which, for the fall term, has just been issued. It is an excellent little sheet, which should certainly have the desired effect of stimulating the interest of students by providing topics of discussion and entertaining exercises in the classical tongues. The modern opinion of teachers is that these so-called "dead" languages should be made to live, by bringing them up-to-date. And the idea is not so modern, after all. In the Middle Ages Latin was the universal medium of communication between scholars and in some of the English schools a definite attempt is being made today to revive the custom. The editors of the Hamilton Collegiate leaflet apparently have the same end in view. We find clever Latin versifications of Mother Goose Rhymes, for instance, done by the late Professor Browne of Johns Hopkins University, and other "quisquiliae," in addition to serious appreciations of the great classical authors. One notes the regrettable absence of any contributions printed in the Greek vernacular, for the reason, presumably, that only sixteen of the 3,200 pupils enrolled in the local Collegiates and the Technical School are studying that language. It is to be hoped that the commendable efforts of the school authorities will have the effect of greatly increasing that proportion. The grateful tributes paid to the worth of the classics by Mr. J. A. Martin, an honor graduate in classics of Toronto and now the manager of an Ontario manufacturing establishment, and by Dr. Renison, who declares he owes "more to the classics than all other departments of knowledge combined," are a sufficient answer to those who fondly wonder whether they are "worth while."—Hamilton Spectator.

The Y.W.C.A. is a community organization doing a most valuable community work and deserving of most generous community service.

Sir Henry Drayton had the biggest majority of any candidate in the Dominion—over 16,000 in West York. You can get an idea of what that means from the fact that in this district the seven ridings of West Peterboro, Durham, Victoria, Hastings-Peterboro, Northumberland, South Hastings and Ontario, all of which were carried by the Conservatives, returned a popular majority against the Government of approximately 12,000, and still were 4,000 short of Sir Henry's lead in one constituency.

A THOUGHT.

YOU CAN BE A GENUIS.

So often you hear someone say, "He has such wonderful talent; he is a regular genius." They feel, of course, that talent and genius are one and the same. They do often go hand in hand, for talent is a requisite of genius.

Talent is the ability to do a certain thing. Genius depends on how well the thing is done. One may have a fine musical talent, yet not be a genius. It is what he does with his talent that determines his position as to genius.

1. Perhaps we might say that talent is the form of an athlete, while genius is his ability to stick in and fight in such a way as to win—not just an ability to stick in and fight.

A writer may have the talent that enables him to write copiously and fairly well, but it will be genius that will make him give you real thoughts in perefct literary form. It is what he does with his ability to write at length on a wide range of subjects.

Talent is ability; genius is results. If you have a talent for your work you might just as well be a genius. A Thought

W.M.S. MEETING.

Hastings United Church Society Held Its Regular Gathering.

HASTINGS, Nov. 7.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United church was held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe on the Norwood Road.

The date chosen was the sixty-ninth birthday of Mrs. McConnel, Mrs. Metcalfe's mother.

After the opening exercises a short programme was given as arranged by the programme committee. Readings by Mrs. W. Waye, Miss Richardson and part of the study book of India by Mrs. Rev. Hinton. Solos were rendered by Mrs. J. M. Baker and Miss J. Wilcox. Lunch was served by the hostess, and a three storey birthday cake, decorated in white, holding the candles was cut and served during lunch time.

NEW EMBASSY IN TOKIO.

British Building To Be Of Reinforced Concrete to Withstand Shock.

TOKYO, Nov. 6. — (United Press).—Great Britain soon will begin construction of a new "million dollar embassy" in Tokyo. The building will be on the site of the present embassy and will be of reinforced concrete, two stories high, and specially designed to withstand severe earthquake shocks. The old embassy was severely damaged in the great earthquake of September 1923. It is estimated the new structure and outbuildings will cost more than $1,000,000.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—Canadian egg markets remained generally firm yesterday with the exception of Vancouver, where a further price drop was noted. Fresh quotations continue to advance on American markets and future prices remain steady.

Toronto — Egg market is unchanged, with the exception of fresh firsts which are quoted at 47-50. Good quality dressed turkeys, jobbing at 38-42, geese 20-22.

Calgary—Egg market is firm. Jobbing extras $12.95, firsts $12, seconds $9.00. Poultry market is steady. Chickens 13, heavy fowl 11, light fowl 8. Turkeys and geese not quoted.

Edmonton.—No fresh eggs are arriving. Jobbing, storage extras 45, firsts 40, seconds 35. Live poultry, steady and unchanged.

Vancouver—Egg market is easy and unsettled with supplies increasing. Dealers paying country points, extras 60, firsts 58. Jobbing, extras 65, firsts 63, seconds and pullets 53.

Halifax—No change in egg or poultry markets.

St. John—Jobbing, fresh extras 55, firsts 50, seconds 43, storage firsts 47, seconds 42. Fresh killed chickens wholesale 35, fowl 30. There is a fair quantity arriving.

Chicago—Spot 47-51. December refrigerators 35 1-8.

New York—Fresh extra firsts 58-61. Fresh firsts 52-77. December refrigerators 36 1-2.

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—The only business of importance transacted on the domestic market here yesterday was sale of a few loads of Canadian Western No. 3 barley at 9 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg November option, and No. 4 grade at 6 cents per bushel over, c.i.f. Montreal. There was some demand from local and country buyers for car lots of oats, and sales of Ontario and Quebec No. 2 white were made at 52 cents, No. 3 white at 50 1-2 cents, and No. 4 white at 49 cents per bushel, ex-track.

A feature of the flour trade was the stronged feeling that developed in the market for winter wheat grades and prices were marked up 15 cents per barrel, which was attributed to the higher figures asked by the Ontario millers, the very limited offerings from them and the small supplies available on spot.

There were no new developments in the spring wheat flour market, prices being well maintained with a steady business passing with local and country buyers. The trade for export account was quiet.

Prices for all grades of millfeed were well maintained owing to the continued good demand for domestic consumption, and the fact that the offerings are none too large to meet the present requirements. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was steady, and prices were unchanged.

The condition of the market for baled hay was unchanged. Prices for all grades being steady under a good demand from all sources.

There were no further developments in the market for strictly fresh eggs, but the undertone was strong at the late advance noted, owing to the continued small supplies coming forward, and the good demand for the same. A good steady trade was reported in storage eggs for immediate consumption, and the market was fairly active with a steady undertone. The receipts were 1,704 cases, as compared with 1,942 for the same day last week, and 1,572 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The strength which has characterized the market for potatoes all this week still continues to be the main feature of the situation and prices have scored a further advance of 25c per bag, which is attributed to the keen competition between Canadian, American and Cuban buyers for supplies throughout the country and the impression of some in the trade here is that values will reach a still higher level. The market was active with a large volume of business passing and sales of car lots of Quebec varieties were made at $3 per bag of 90 lbs., ex-track, and broken lots of 50 and 100 bags at $3.25 to $3.50 per bag.

The receipts of butter were 1,068 packages, as compared with 665 for the same day last week, and 2,584 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no actual change in the condition of the market to note. Business being still rather quiet for the reason of the year, but the feeling was steady and prices were unchanged.

The receipts of cheese were 5,506 boxes, as against 4,825 for the same day last week, and 7,293 for the corresponding day a year ago. A weaker feeling has developed in the local market, and prices were reduce 1-4c to 1-2c per lb. There was no improvement in the demand, business was generally quiet.

Beans were selling at $2.40 per bushel.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling, demand $4.84 3-8.
Sterling cables $4.84 3-4.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—Beginning of the harvest in the Southern hemisphere yesterday was accompanied by a downward swing in the wheat values here. Reports both from Argentina and from Australia said cutting of wheat in the more Northern districts of each country was underway. Closing prices for wheat were unsettled, 7-8 to 1 3-4 net lower, new style, December 149 1-8 to 149 1-4 and May 145 7-8 to 146, with corn 1-8 to 1-2c down; oats unchanged to 1-4c off and provisions unchanged to 20c up.

It was especially made plain in the reports from Argentina that the wheat harvest there had commenced under favorable conditions. On the other hand, some rain was noted in Australia, supposedly an adverse circumstance. The general trend of the market, however, was downward almost from the outset. Rallies served only to bring about heavy profit-taking sales and to result in numerous rapid changes in the price difference between the December delivery and May. At the last, the spread between the two months had narrowed 1c, as compared with yesterday's finish.

Threshing conditions in Canada were represented as having improved with clear cold weather and with farmers marketing their wheat as rapidly as possible. Increased movement of domestic winter wheat was also noted, three leading south-western centres having received virtually as many cars yesterday as on the corresponding day a year ago. Announcement that a sizeable amount of spring wheat, though, was being shipped from Duluth to Minneapolis aroused considerable interest as indicating lessened likelihood that wheat at Duluth would come to Chicago.

Corn and oats finally eased down in response to wheat weakness, notwithstanding that earlier both the feed grain were relatively firm owing to a forecast of unsettled weather in the corn belt.

Provisions displayed an upward tendency as a result of better cash demand.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 3,000; best bullocks offered at 11.50; long yearlings upward to 10.75; bologna bulls strong to 10c higher; vealers steady at 11.00 to 11.50.

Hog receipts 24,000; active; bulk good and choice 11.60 to 11.75; better grade largely 11.70 to 12.00; majority packing sows 9.90 to 10.40; bulk better killing pigs 12.00 to 12.25; shippers took 6,000; estimated holdover 9,000.

Sheep receipts 7,000; bulk desirable fat lambs 15.00 to 15.35; top 15.50; bulk cull natives 11.00 to 12.00; most better grades fat ewes 7.00 to 7.50; few loads medium feeding lambs 13.75 to 14.25.

HOLD GAMES AGAIN.

Tailteann Festival Successful Last Year To Be Repeated in 1928.

DUBLIN, Nov. 6.— (Associated Press.)—The festival of the Tailteann Games, which proved successful in Dublin last year, is to be repeated in 1928, and preparations are well under way.

Lieutenant Bell of the United States' Army, who last year had charge of the American team, recently visited Dublin and conferred with Postmaster General Walsh, who is the Chairman of the Tailteann Council. Lieutenant Bell reported much American interest in the festival and said American teams will be organized for the 1928 festival.

OFFICIALS TRY TO FIND FRIENDS OF DEAD FARMER

F u neral Arrangements of Man Who Committed Suicide in Parliament Buildings Held Up.

RELATIVES IN U. S.

Swanson Had Often Threatened Shooting Himself To Make Case Public.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—Officials of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are somewhat at a loss as to what to do with the body of Auguste Swanson, 68-year-old Scandinavian, formerly of Piney, Man., who committed suicide in the Houses of Parliament here yesterday. No inquest will be held.

Swanson asserted that he was swindled out of a farm in Western Canada, and for fifteen years has been trying to have what he considered a just claim against the Federal Government settled. His claim concerned a homestead in Manitoba which he lost some years ago, and which litigation through all the courts to the Exchequer Court failed to restore to him.

The shooting occurred within a short distance of the office of the Minister of Justice, the spot being chosen by the aged man for his deed as a final protest against the injustice which he believed he was laboring under.

No funeral arrangements have been made pending location of relatives of the dead man. He is known to have relatives somewhere in the United States, but they have hot yet been reached. A sister is thought to be living in Minneapolis, Minn.

James Doad, of the Union mission, who often helped Swanson, and R. B. Sinclair, a lawyer, had often been threatened by Swanson, who said he would shoot someone or himself "in order to bring my case before the public." His appearance had caused nervousness in various government departments, it is stated, his attitude being often truculent.

THRESHING IN WEST DRAWS NEAR CLOSE

Two Weeks' Work Will Finish, Reports Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

EDMONTON, Alta., November 7.—Canadian Press. — Another two weeks' work will practically bring threshing operations in Alberta, to a finish, reports I' A. Craig, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, on his return from a trip to the southern part of the province. Threshing is going on under difficulties in most sections, but it is still going, and good progress is being made with the crop, considering the weather conditions. The snowfalls of the past few days have gone, and in most cases there is only a sprinkling of snow on the ground, the blanketing under which the north is lying not having touched the south.

SEEKING LOST GIRL MOTHER ASKS HELP

Mrs. Heal Decides To Request the Aid of Department of Justice.

SARNIA, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Charles Heal, whose daughter Florence has been missing for nine months, has decided, on advice, to enlist the aid of the Department of Justice at Ottawa in her search for the girl. She will proceed to Ottawa next week to interview the Minister, her decision being made following a consultation with the county judge here. Mrs. Beal has received a wire from Sheriff M. L. Endrew of Omaha, containing a description of the girl whose hacked remains were found in the Missouri River, and whose identity had been coupled with that of Florence Heal. The general description tallies with that of her daughter, Mrs. Heal says, the only discrepancy being in the weight.

JUDGE SCORED CITY COUNCIL'S POLICE PROBE

Two Chatham Constables Charge Their Chief With Irregularities.

CAUSTIC COMMENT.

"Crass Ignorance" Was Description Given of Municipal Body's Resolution.

CHATHAM, Ont., Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—Judge Ward Stanworth and Magistrate S. B. Arnold, constituting a majority of the Chatham police commission yesterday hurled defiance at the City Council on its attitude with regard to the local police controversy which began with a commission probe of charges of irregularities against Chief Daniel MacLaughlin preferred by Constables Henley and Sinnott.

It was expected that the meeting today would bring a decision on the evidence advanced at the enquiry, but statements of the judge and magistrate were almost entirely confined to criticisms of the city council on its alleged interference.

Mayor Sulman moved that the chief of police be asked to tender his resignation at once but it found no support. The magistrate almost immediately moved that the session be adjourned sine die and it was declared carried by the judge, who is the chairman of the board.

In his statement, Judge Stanworth points out that he decided to treat the resoluion, passed by the city council two weeks ago, with silence. The resolution contained a suggestion to the commission that the resignation of the police chief be demanded.

In the light of the discussion of police matters at a subsequent meeting of the council the judge stated he could not allow the council attitude to go unchallenged. The resolution of the council the judge termed "an exhibition of gross ignorance."

OBITUARY.

MRS. ZIMRI BLODGETT.

The death occurred on Friday of Margaret McWilliams, widow of the late Zimri Blodgett, at the family residence, 213 Antrim Street. The deceased was in her 81st year. She leaves to mourn her loss, six sons: Thomas, Arthur, Ambrose, Justice, John and George, all of this city, also one grandchild, Sarah Hounsell of Kingston. The funeral will take place on Monday morning at 8.45 from the home of her son, 18 Lundy's Lane, to the Sacred Heart Church, thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

SOCIETY LEADER GAINS OFFICE

Elected Alderwoman From "Silk Stocking District" By 3,000 Majority.

HAS 5 CHILDREN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Ruth Pratt, society leader and social worker, has been elected New York's first Alderwoman from Manhattan's "silk-stocking" district.

She defeated James O'Gorman, son of the late Senator, her Democratic opponent, by close to 3,000 majority, leading the Republican ticket. Her husband, John T. Pratt, was a college mate of President Coolidge at Amherst.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt are personal friends of the President.

Mrs. Pratt is the mother of five children. She is the coleader of the most powerful and one of the scrappiest Republican districts in the city — the Silk Stocking Fifteenth District.

Mrs. Pratt, always smartly dressed, went the rounds of the fifty-five polling places in her district from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. She was undemonstrative, but her eyes snapped with even more than their usual fire. Throughout the afternoon she gained confidence in her election. Well known wherever she went, she was received with enthusiasm.

Mrs. Pratt campaigned many weeks in a vigorous attempt to reach every corner of the district. The whole campaign appealed to her as an extraordinary experience.

COLLIERY AREAS ARE INSPECTED

Duncan Royal Commission Visits Mines of the British Empire Steel Corporation.

"NOTHING TO SAY."

SYDNEY, N.S., November 7. Canadian Press. — Continuing their schedule of inspectional visits of the various mines of the British Empire Steel Corporation for the purpose of fully acquainting themselves with the physical aspects of the situation the information so obtained to be the ground work of the evidence taking session, which will open next week, the Duncan Royal Commission spent the greater part of yesterday at Reserve Mines.

Sir Andrew Duncan, the chairman, personally inspected No. 10 mine, the "wettest" colliery in the district, while Rev. Dr. H. [illegible] MacPherson and Major Hume Cronyn made a careful survey of living and housing conditions.

The members of the Commission are keeping their own counsel as to their impressions of the Cape Breton colliery districts, and have nothing to say for publication.

To-day they visit the four mines in the New Waterford district.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

Robert Gray Got $37 In Car Accident Claim Against W. Haggarty.

MARMORA, Nov. 7. — At the 10th Division Court, held in Marmora Town Hall on Thursday before Judge G. E. Deroche, judgment was given Robert Gray, of Marmora township in his action against William Haggarty of Allen's Mills for damages amounting to thirty-seven dollars caused to Gray's car through a rear end collision with Haggarty's truck at Devine's Corners on July 13th last. At this court judgment was also awarded the Pearce Co. in a claim brought by them against the Allen Lumber Co. of Millbrook.

Personals.

JOHN RENFREW NOT PRINCE OF WALES

Name of Aquitania Passenger Put Pressmen on Wrong Scent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Ship news reporters subjected passengers aboard the liner Aquitania to more than ordinary scrutiny yesterday when they found the name, John Renfrew, on the ship's passenger list. The name suggested a relationship with Baron Renfrew, the incognito often assumed by the Prince of Wales.

Six passengers were picked for their resemblance to the British Royal Family and plied with questions, but all denied relationship with the Imperial Crown other than that of being loyal British subjects. John Renfrew was disclosed as a ruddy-faced Scotch youth on his way to Canada with his mother.

JAIL SENTENCE AFTER ACCIDENT

Six Months Term Given Driver Whose Car Collided With Truck.

ONE WAS KILLED.

MELFORT, Sask., November 7. — Canadian Press. — Howard A. Gunnis was sentenced to six months in jail by Chief Justice J. T. Brown, at the assizes here after conviction by a jury of manslaughter, arising out of the death of Vera F Mitchell, who was killed in an automobile collision recently Gunnis had Miss Mitchell as a passenger in a truck which he was driving home from a Galician wedding without headlights It was admitted there had been liquor consumed at the wedding

The truck collided with a car driven by Isaac Segal, and Miss Mitchell was instantly killed and half a dozen others injured

The judge told Gunnis he was not to consider himself a criminal in the ordinary sense of the word.

ARCH TO MARK PLACE OF DEAD

Sixty Thousand Men Who Laid Down Lives at Ypres Commemorated.

LION TO FACE FOE.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press Despatch)—Sixty thousand men who laid down their lives in the Ypres salient, and whose resting-place it has been impossible to trace, will be commemorated in the Menin Gate, which is now in course of erection. The names of all those fallen who are buried in these unknown graves will be engraved upon the memorial.

Designed by Sir Reginald Bloomfield the arch will form part of the old ramparts of the town, adjoining the Menin Road, and will thus bridge the very roadway along which those sixty thousand men passed into battle. The arch will be surmounted at one end by a lion looking in the direction whence came the invading foe, and immediately below will be inscription:

"To the Armies of the British Empire who stood here from 1914-1918, and those of their dead who have no known grave."

In a similar position at the other end of the arch, beneath a sarcophagus will be the further inscription:

"Here are recorded the names of officers and men who fell in the Ypres salient, but to whom the fortune of war denied the known and honoured burial given to their comrades in death."

The arch is expected to be completed in about a year. Sixty thousand does not nearly exhaust the long list of those who were reported missing in the sector, but it was all that could be accomodated on one memorial; so another memorial is being erected in the cemetery at Tyne Cot, near Passchendale, on which the remainder of the names will be inscribed.

ORGANIZE PARTY FOR WOLF HUNT

Number of Sportsmen Leave For Gatineau Hills District.

WILL COMB WOODS.

OTTAWA, Ont., November 7. — Canadian Press. — A large party of sportsmen, incuding Morris Ackerman, noted hunter, angler and author of Cleveland, Ohio, and several other Americans and Canadians, left here to take part in an organized wolf hunt in the Gatineau hills district, 100 miles north of here.

Reports state a number of wolves are ravaging the stock on the Gold Note Stock Farm, 20 miles from Burbidge, Que. The animals are located in a stretch of woodland, practically surrounded by the waters of Hollick Lake, and have been prevented from reaching the mainland by the stock farm settlement situated at the neck of the peninsula. The wolves were trapped on the peninsula when the ice broke up last Spring.

The hunters hope by combing the woods to drive the animals into the open and secure a good bag.

THE COLD WEST.

WINNIPEG, Man., November 7.—Canadian Press. — Sub-zero temperatures continue to hold western Canada in its grasp to-day. Prince Albert was one of the coldest spots in the Dominion, reporting 6 degrees below zero. At Saskatoon and North Battleford the mercury dipped to 4 below.

By allowing women to compete in the first class examinatioins of the British civil service, opportunities are now open to them to reach the highest positions in the Government service. This means that women may become under-secretaries for war or for foreign affairs or other departments, posts that carry with them salaries ranging up to $15,000 a year.

"I know exactly what is the matter with you, Jack. You have lost confidence.

"YOU were getting along fine until you had that nervous breakdown, but since then you have been worried and anxious.

"Now you have got discouraged and down-hearted, and it is no wonder you cannot make sales.

"The salesman must have lots of energy and vigor as well as confidence in himself and what he has to sell.

"But you cannot have confidence in anything so long as your nerves are weak and you spend the nights worrying instead of getting good, refreshing sleep.

"Take my advice, boy, and go straight to the drug store and get half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Then make up your mind that while you are using this you will get out into the fresh air all you can and forget to worry.

"Now, you may feel pessimistic after all the treatments you have been taking, but I know what I am talking about.

"My nerves were in a worse condition than yours ever were. I could scarcely get a wink of sleep, and did not care whether I got anything to eat or not.

"Besides, I got so irritable and down-hearted that nothing seemed to go right.

"The experience that I had enables me to sympathize with you now, and also to say that I am certain that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you.

"It is entirely different to most medicines used for the nerves, because instead of merely stimulating the tired nerves to over-exertion, it nourishes them back to health and vigor.

Now, Jack, you must give the Nerve Food a trial, and I know you will consider me your best friend for telling you about it."

Here is an interesting letter from another business man who had a similar experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food:

Mr. W. J. Wilson, Grocer, Perth, Ont., writes: "In fitting up this building for a grocery business I worked very hard, and after putting in my stock I continued plugging away, good and hard, too. I commenced to feel myself going down—my weight went from 180 pounds down to 154 pounds. My appetite began to fail, and, of course, upon retiring I could not get a good night's rest. Sometimes after going to sleep my nerves would twitch, and I would waken up with a start, and then lie awake for hours. I remembered having used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food before, so I started in again, and took a good treatment, using about half a dozen boxes. I soon felt my appetite returning, I could sleep well, and commenced gaining in weight, until I felt like a new man. From the benefits I have received from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I cannot speak too highly of it."

"They Shall Beat Their Swords Into Plowshares"

They March Again With Us.

ONCE more they come our way.
And through the years how quickly we forget,
Until at last we come upon their day,
To yield again one moment of regret,
To know old memories of tent and field
As haunting ghosts of vanished autumn pass,
Where they have found their peace beneath the shield
Of God's eternal coverlet of grass.

ONE at a time they come,
Old mates forgotten from the somber hunt,
Where one can hear far off the rolling drum
Of cannon thunder on the battle front;
Old mates with shining eyes and welcome hand,
Who ve come again from distant fields and streams,
Where they have lingered in an alien land
As we came home and left them to their dreams.

BLOWN from a shell-swept track,
They look at us and smile, without a word.
To let us know, in passing, if they've heard
The eager welcome of an oldtime friend
Who has forgotten through the busy years,
But who to-day stops at the journey's end
To pay the feeble tribute of his tears.

THERE are the guns again.
The bitter music of the brazen gong,
The sudden clash within some nearby glen,
Where, after darkness taps must sing its song
To speed the marcher on his endless trail
Beyond the home road that he hopes to find,
Where night, at least, still casts its mantling veil
Above the broken body left behind.

THERE is the grinding spade,
The iron hat and rifle at his side,
And over him there falls the last deep shade
Of upturned earth, where one more cross must ride;
And yet from no-man's-land of fog and mist
The phantom corps swings out across the foam,
Shoulder to shoulder for their ancient tryst,
To hold review beneath the skies of home.

WE ONLY know to-day
Vague shadows cross our path and ghostly hands
Are stretched again in welcome out the way
As silent marchers come from distant lands
To leave behind the poppies' flaming sweep
And find once more some unforgotten track
Before they leave at dark to face their sleep
In autumn woods which mark their bivouac.

HOW WAR ENDED FOR CANADIANS ON BATTLE FIELD

People of Mons Welcomed Their Deliverers and Sorrow Over Dead.

SERVICE TO-MORROW.

All Citizens Invited To Join With Veterans on Sunday Afternoon.

Tomorrow's ceremonies in connection with the Veterans' commemoration of the Armistice will recall to everyone in Peterborough the clanging bells and screeching whistles that announced the signing of the fateful pact in 1918. Here in Canada and in other peaceful countries removed from the war zone the rejoicing was more uncontrollable than at the front, where tired Canadian troops rested their arms at Mons. Spectacular feats were accomplished during the war, but none approaches in dramatic value of that last assault at dawn on November 11, 1918, when the Canadians attacked again over the ground made historic by the splendid stand of Britain's "Old Contemptibles" four years before. And then, before the troops had consolidated their positions, came the news of the Armistice. Here is the message that silenced the guns:

"Hostilities will cease at 11.00 hours on 11th November aaa Troops will stand fast on the line reached at that hour which will be reported to Corps H.Q. aaa Defensive precautions will be maintained aaa There will be no intercourse of any description with the enemy."

The War Was Over

The people of Mons welcomed the Canadians as the avengers of the retreat of 1914. They strewed the streets with flowers and at three o'clock welcomed Sir Arthur Currie and Hon. Phillippe Roy, Canadian Commissioner in Paris. The Prince of Wales was a guest at Canadian Headquarters for the dinner which closed the day's celebration.

All along the line Canadian soldiers rested after the tiring advance that marked the last days of the conflict.

Honor the Dead

Two days later, came another and sadder ceremony, a ceremony in honor of those who had given their lives on Armistic Day or during the previous night. There had not been many casualties just at the end, for the advance had been made carefully with a view to avoiding all unnecessary loss of life. Officers had approached the Burgomaster with a request for permission to bury in the city cemetery, those who had died, and this was gladly given, with a return request from the Municipal Council that the people of Mons be allowed to honor, by a public service, those who had kept their rendezvous with death in the taking of the city.

The bodies were laid in state in a silver and black draped room in the City Hall and thousands of people paid tribute to the dead, heaping the room with flowers. Practically the whole city followed to the graves in the old cemetery on the hillside looking to the west and among the multitude which formed the funeral cortege, one of the most touching groups was that of the veterans of the Franco-Prussian War. They were old men in faded uniforms, wearing decorations won almost half a century before, but none marched forward more bravely than they to honor men of another tongue who had fought with their countrymen in a common cause.

"The life of a man, flashing out between two eternities, takes its significance and its value not from the number of years that it may last, but from what it contains in noble aspirations and unselfish acts," said the representative of the Province of Hainaut, speaking before the open graves. "He it is that has truly lived, he it is that truly lives after death, who has known how to leave in his passage through this world an act deeply imprinted on the heart, be it of only one of his comrades, as a mark of gratitude and affectionate remembrance. Such was the life of those whom their brothers in arms now lay to rest amongst those whom we have loved, and whom we always love, that their remembrance may be blended."

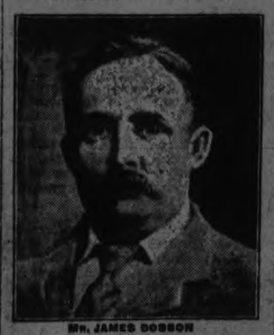
Here Tomorrow

A similar service takes place in Peterborough tomorrow. The open graves cannot be seen; they are long since overgrown with the flowers a thankful country has planted. But the memory of the men who fell is still green in the hearts of hundreds who will tomorrow give expression to their love and gratitude. All citizens are invited to the service in the Grand Opera House at 3 o'clock, to join with the Peterborough veterans as did the citizens of Mons seven years ago.

Now in her eighetieth year, Anna Katharine Green, the celebrated novelist, is winning new success as a writer of stories for the films.

AGONIZING RHEUMATISM

OF 5 YEARS STANDING COMPLETELY RELIEVED BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"



MR. JAMES DOBSON

"Be good enough to publish for the information of Rheumatism sufferers how "Fruit-a-tives" relieved my Rheumatism which had at least five years' standing. "The trouble was in my right hip and shoulder; the pain almost unendurable. This kept up until I started to take "Fruit-a-tives". After a continuous treatment for about six months, I am now in first-class condition. This, I attribute to my persistent use of "Fruit-a-tives."

The above is the letter which Mr. James Dobson of Bronte, Ont., wrote after trying the wonderful Fruit Treatment — "Fruit-a-tives" — which consists of intensified fruit juices combined with tonics. If you suffer with Rheumatism, "Fruit-a-tives" will make you well and keep you well. 25c. and 50c. at dealers.

K. S. WIGHTMAN HEADS TEACHERS

Central School Principal Is New President of Institute.

FRIDAY'S SESSION

The nominating committee recommended the following as officers of the Peterborough Teachers' Institute for the year 1926:

President—Mr. K. S. Wightman, B.A.

Vice-President—Mis Ross.

Secretary-Treasurer—Miss Walker.

Executive Committee—Mr. Wagar, Miss Johnston, Miss Buckham, Miss Lees, B.A., and Sister Josita.

Social Committee—Mr. Deyell, Miss Black, Miss Buck, Miss Eagleson, Miss Pilling, Miss Stenton, Miss MacIntosh and Mr. Miller.

Reading Course—Mr. Clark, Miss Outram and Miss Stout.

Auditors—Mr. Wagar, Mr. Park.

The Friday morning session met in the Collegiate Institute hall and was opened with the singing of God Save the King.

Mr. Munro, the president, gave an address. He spoke of the rating of teachers that is often discussed and advocated in many cities. The time to judge a teacher's value is years after the teaching is done. Too often restrictions are placed on many due to the failings of the few. Many teachers do not improve after teaching a few years. Teachers should check up themselves. They should help one another in this matter as they know the need better than outsiders. They should quietly and seriously consider whether they are improving, and might make up a series of questions to be a test for themselves. Some suggested were: "Do you get up early enough to make proper preparation for school? Do you blame the pupils for what is really your fault? Do you read the Bible, pray, and do other opening exercises with earnestness? Do you require pupils to do their own thinking? Can you establish the common emotions in literature? Do you build on the work of others etc.?

Mr. Munro referred to many subjects and asked the teachers if they were really promoting what was the essence of each. "Do teachers ask advice? Do they tend to emphasize certain subjects at the disadvantage of others? Are they chums or friends of the pupils? Does a teacher keep his voice properly modulated? Does he know the home conditions of pupils? Does he punish with justice and discretion? Does he worry? Does he work too long hours? Does he pity himself? How does he spend his spare time? Is he subject to the demands of too many orzanizations that sap his energy? Does he recognize that self-criticism is really of more value than that of an inspector?"

Miss Dix and Miss Eagleson, accompanied by Miss Smith, gave two much appreciated solos.

In Friday morning's session Miss Outram gave an address on "Impressions of English School Life."

Elementary schools are divided into three departments. There is the infant school and then come separate departments for boys and girls. Age seems to be the chief basis of promotion. Pupils must be out of the infant school at eight years of age. Dull pupils are expected to pass without any exceptions.

At eleven years of age every child tries a very important examination. A few scholarships are given to those who pass highest. A scholaship permits a boy or girl to go to a secondary school without payment of fees. Those who fail in securing a scholarship are likely to remain in the same school until fourteen years of age when they go out into the world. They largely mark time in the interval. Fees in secondary schools are a high as $95 for 39 weeks.

Intermediate schools have now been instituted. These are filled with pupils whose marks are next to those obtaining scholarships. The training is similar to that given in the secondary school but no special certificate is given. These schools are established to do away with class distinctions which are very noticeable in England.

There are a few high schools where fees are very high. No scholarship pupils attend these. They are held in high esteem by the upper classes. Council schools are not held in esteem as only the poorer children attend these. The rich send their children to private schools.

The appearance of too many schools is not attractive. The infant schools are squatly one-storey buildings surrounded by high fences. The small school-yards are paved, thus affording little chance for play. The noise in these small yards with so many children is almost deafening. Many are the bruised knees on the hard pavement.

The class-rooms are much like Canadian but lack as full equipment. Blackboards are small and there are not felt erasers such as are used here, but cloths are used instead. A school has one common cloak-room so that there is not the chance for orderly lines going to class-rooms. Each school has an assembly room where the pupils meet for the opening exercises. Canadian schools use the National Anthem as part of the opening exercises but Miss Outram never heard pupils sing it at school. A child reads a Scripture lesson, a hymn is sung, and pupils worthy of special commendation or reproof are singled out.

English teachers have very pleasant voices. They have specialized in many subjects. In physical training children are taught to swim under special teachers. Competitions for cups are held between different schools.

Children in England read widely. Even factory girls read excellent literature and enjoy it. There are no set readers used in school but a bountiful library is provided and pupils are happy to add books to it. Poetry is much studied and Seemingly literature is the great subject. Geography and history readers are very fine but few facts are demanded of the pupils in these subjects. Ideas of Canada and the outside world are vague.

The standing of a school depends on the head master or mistress. Each head master has his own scheme and methods. Teachers visit other schools for ideas and inspiration but there is no teachers' convention. The head master or mistress does not teach but looks after the interests of the school. All teachers aspire to this position. The head master is paid according to the number of pupils enrolled so he is very keen in keeping up the attendance and in getting new pupils. A member of the board comes once a month and checks up the register. The head masters and mistresses are often very remarkable and superior persons. They need to be for they have many difficult situations to deal with.

Teachers are not respected in England as in Canada. This seems to be due to the fact that the country pays much of the cost of their training.

The teachers have a union through the whole country. They have no guilds and no meetings with teachers of other schools hence are not well acquainted with one another.

So many people are looking for positions in England that those having them are in constant fear lest they might be replaced by others. This condition applies to the teaching profession as well as to others.

The interchange of teachers has helped the British Empire and has led to a better understanding between its various parts. It is an education to the teacher. Trips are arranged for overseas teachers to various parts of the continent as Italy, France, Holland, and others.

Miss Black gave a paper on "The Importance of Character Formation in Our Schools."

To the teacher is given the pleasure of forming, perfecting, and bringing to a perfect unfolding, the youth, the greatest of God's creatures.

Too often education is measured by successes or examinations. These really do not represent the sterling worth of the individual, his normal character, his moral character, his refinement and other virtues. Hosts of people graduate who are often deficient in personality. Character must be developed and the aim of education should be to produce the best possible character marked by strong individuality, high moral principles, strength of mind and morality. "All lasting and true principles are founded on self-control; all real training is self-training. "What kind of men do we want children to become?" she asked. "We are not just training for the present but for a man's full life. The child must take himself in hand to attain real worth. It is the privilege of the teacher to help him to do this for himself. All external training is only provisional. There is too much tendency to make all conform to one model. Pupils must be taught to be self-reliant, to select proper choices."

"The raw material is not selected by the teachers. They must take the children as they find them. They must instruct, discipline and show example. The child must learn that certain things are to be done and others not done, not just according to his particular likes or dislikes. Teachers should put themselves in the pupil's place. At all times they should practice the Golden Rule, cultivate the social virtues, associate pupils with beautiful things in poetry or whatever else they may be found, exhibit the virtues of naturalness, lack of vulgarity, simplicity, charity, kindness and others. Lives of great persons will furnish examples of these qualities.

"Example is the greatest factor in promoting character," she continued. "What teachers do is copied and admired. Be a real hero to the pupils. Have sterling qualities yourself and set a good example. A moral personality is the greatest thing a teacher can bequeath.

"In after years much will fade from the pupils' minds but the character of the pupil will remain. Things planted will grow stronger and the child will become more cultured through the years."

Thirty-five women students are taking engineering courses this year at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

ANNUAL SESSION TEACHERS OVER

Addresses Featured Closing Meeting of Institute on Friday.

GOOD SINGING.

Friday afternoon's session began with an address on "The Sunny South," by Miss Thomlinson. Some people love the South; no one is indifferent to it.

The woods of Alabama are mostly of pines, she said. The country is flat; the buildings are low and wide. Leisure is very evident; people seem almost indolent. The people are always sociable and hospitable.

The roads wind, and their color is such as to suggest warmth. Beautiful trees are everywhere; the foliage is often glossy. Many shrubs are of Japanese origin. The live oak is the most beautiful, large, graceful and spreading, often draped with Spanish moss, a parasite that ultimately may kill the tree. The lanscape suggests untidiness.

Sunniness pervades everything, yet the brightness does not dazzle. There are few dull days. A peculiar magical light seems soread over everything just before sunset. The skies are low; the stars seem close. There is little difference in the seasons; the temperature varies just a little.

Negroes everywhere, she continued. They do most of the work. Children are placed in care of Negro "Mammies."

New Orleans, the chief city in that part of the country, is often called the Paris of America. It is historic and one is reminded of French and Spanish influences. Palms are found here. The main streets are wide. The French quarter seems a series of dirty shops. Cemeteries are cities of the dead, as few people are buried underground, owing to the washing of the waters.

Negroes are always evident in conspicuous dress. They stroll and lounge, and too often are shiftless. They live in huts beautifully situated in amongst tree. There is a great intimacy between the white and the blacks.

The Sotherners remember the Civil War and suspect Northerners. The Negroes do not expect social equality. A white man always commands a black. The Negroes have separate schools, churches, and compartments in street cars and trains.

The language of the South is flavored by the Negro dialect and customs. Ladies are called by their first names by Negroes; thus Miss Annie would be used, instead of Miss Jones. Peculiar expressions are constantly heard as "Yes, um," "mighty" "done gone," "tolable," "aint," "reckon," etc. Voices are musical tones are soft and crooning.

Miss Thomlinson enjoyed very much her sojourn in Alabama.

Mr. C. S. Browne, B.A., led the community singing. Miss Smith presided at the piano. There are many good singers amongst the teachers. It seemed a misfortune that there was not a audience to hear the beautiful melodies.

Mr. D. Walker.

Mr. D. Walker, B.A., gave some valuable suggestions on "Hints on Teaching Arithmetic."

Lack of accuracy is due to lack of proper attention, he said. It is always present. Pupils constantly make mistakes and seem satisfied with wrong answers. The elementary processes are really simple. One adds, subtracts, multiplies just two numbers at a time. Children do not interpret properly. The problem should be a life problem applied to a local condition. If children had to go out and measure up a building they would soon learn to do all questions on that line of measurement. Arithmetic is not difficult if linked up with processes of daily life.

Accuracy is a habit. A child must have a motive for being accurate. Competitions in classes, beating your own record, all provide motives. The motives must appeal to the child's own desires and experience. Establish play conditions, he said. Repetition of facts is necessary, but it must be done with attention. Attention is lost by humdrum exercises. Drill must vary, but the form of the process must remain the same. Make a list of peculiar difficulties of pupils and drill on these. Supervise the child's work so that he cannot make mistakes and thus learn a bad habit.

Drill must ge kept up at intervals as memory fails. Work must not be too difficult; exercises must be graded to pupils' needs and be reasonable. A long series of work outside of pupils' needs is not conducive to accuracy. There are always individuals who will be inaccurate in nearly all stages because of lack of sufficient interest on their part.

Mental arithmetic is a very valuable aid to accuracy. Speed tests are good.

Teachers must put down legible figures in correct form, so the pupil will not have to stop to think, as thinking breaks up the habit and spoils accuracy.

Mr. Walker took up with the teachers many of the simple processes to clear up difficulties.

Three of the largest industries in the City of Piqua, Ohio, are headed by women. Thre three concerns, which together employ about 2,000 workers, are engaged in the manufacture of wool blankets, oil machinery, and stone-marble products. Their combined valuation is estimated at $12,000,000.

Children's Colds

Are best treated externally. Check them overnight without "dosing" by rubbing Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime.

MRS VALENTINO MAY OBTAIN A DIVORCE

Rudolph Is Unwilling To Go Along Without Any Home Life.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—The Herald and Examiner says that Rudolph Valentino is willing that his wife, the former Winifred Hudnut and Natcha Rambova may have a divorce; indeed, unless she gives up her Pekingese dogs and "settles down, sh had better get one

The film "sheik' announced this stand, the paper says, while here yesterday on his way to New York.

Mrs. Valentino arrives there on the Leviathan next Monday, and he will sail on the same boat, November 14.

"I am wondering myself if I will see her in New York. The divorce question I leave to my wife. I am not willing to go along this way, with a wife determined upon a career of mothering a flock of Pekingese dogs, and not having any homelife.

PARIS, November 7 — Is the modern young woman of the fashionable set stronger minded than man? Such is the question now becoming the topic of Paris because of two intensely human cases in which prominent young matrons—Mrs. Rudolph Valentino and Mrs. Charles Nungesgesser—are proving adamant against the entreaties of their husbands to call off their "marriage vacations."

Although softened by a few weeks of separation, Mrs. Valentino recently decided to let bygones be bygones, has changed her mind and declines to shorten by one day the delay she set before agreeing to a full reconciliation.

"I gave Rudolph one year to make good. He hasn't yet, so he must wait."

This Mrs. Valentino confided to a friend last week on arriving here.

Doomed to Bachelorhood.

Thus the big welcoming party which Valentino had planned joyously to take place at the Sixty Club in Los Angeles to solemnize his wife's return to Hollywood this month must be postponed indefinitely while Rudolph is doomed to ten more months of bachelor life.

Mrs. Valentino sailed on Monday on the Leviathan, but her journey will end in New York, where her mother, Mrs. Hudnut, who accompanies her, will remain just long enough to see her daughter comfortably installed in her Park avenue apartment.

Mrs. Valentino, while declining to discuss the details of her plans, willingly concedes that she will re-enter the movies on her own account.

Finds it Lonesome.

Running somewhat parallel with the Valentino case is the story of Consuelo Hatmaked, who was married a year ago to the famous ace Nungesser. She recently decided on a marriage vacation because her aviator husband would not give up work to live a life of luxurious leisre on her millions.

Three weeks of separation apparently was enough to melt the heart of the war hero, who counts more than 50 personal victories over enemy planes. Three weeks was enough to convince him that solution of knotty problems of wind resistance or warping wings is dry as a bone when not shared by his sweet companion and he is visibly longing for a reunion with his pleasure-loving girl-wife.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS AN EXCELELNT REMEDY

For Any of the Many Minor Ailments of Infants and Young Children.

No mother can expect that her child will escape all the ills to which babyhood and childhood are subject, but she can do much to lessen their severity and to make baby's battles for health easily won.

Nine-tenths of the minor ailments which afflict babyhood and childhood are caused by some derangement of the stomach and bowels. Regulate the stomach and bowels and these troubles will disappear. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which through their action on the stomach and bowels never fail to banish constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fevers; expel worms and make the dreaded teething time easy.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets Mrs. A. Koshan, Hamilton Ont, writes: "Kindly send me your booklet, 'Care of Baby in Health and Sickness.' I have two little children four and a half and three years old and have used nothing else for them but Baby's Own Tablets. I think the Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WAGE HOLY WAR AGAINST FRENCH

Arabs Have Joined Druses in Rebellion to Drive Out Mandatory Power.

RAILWAY CUT.

PARIS, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—A holy war against the French in Syria threatens. The Arabs are reported to have joined the Djebel Druse tribesmen and are prepared to fight to the death in a crusade against the mandatory power.

Unofficial advices relate that the rebellious movement is increasing in strength ,and that provisional governments are being established by insurgents in various sections of the country, where they are in control. At Damascus, it is said a provisional government has been set up.

The French have evacuated the fortified camp of Mousseifri in the Djebel Druse territory south of Suedia. The Heifa-Damascus Railway has been cut and the town of Derat, seven miles south of Damascus is in the hands of the Druses.

To the north of Damascus a large part of the country is reported to be under the control of the rebels.

GRAFTERS SHOT BY THE SOVIET

Officials in High Places Who Steal Are Summarily Dealt With.

MOSCOW, Nov. 7.—Shooting "as the highest measure of punishment" as the Soviet law calls it, is being applied with increasing frequency to high placed grafters in the Soviet State business enterprises. This explains the following story:

A young man of considerable charm named Ivan Sergovich, who fought in the Red Army in the civil war, subsequently held an important secretarial position in a Soviet business enterprise formed after the introduction of "Nep" (new economical policy) in 1921. In 1923 Ivan, who was not a member of the Communist Party, thought he would make more money as a private business man and quit his post.

Unfortunately, he was a fervid gambler and such profits as he made vanished at the roulette houses, then wide open throughout Moscow. But he managed to pick up a living around the "black" or non-legal stock market.

There accused dealing in foreign issues, the newly instituted Soviet Government loans, etc.

On Saturday he met a friend in the employ of a co-operative who mentioned that it was too late for him to bank the sum of several thousand rubles entrusted to him for that purpose, and he asked whether Ivan could not handle the money "usefully" during the week-end. To Ivan this friend was as a brother, but that did not prevent him from telling the friend that he knew of a wonderful chance of doubling the money without risk in twenty-four hours. It did not prevent him from taking it and it did not prevent him from losing every last cent at roulette.

On Sunday evening the friend came, all full of enthusiasm, to share the 100 per cent. profit, and, as Ivan relates the story, "When I told what had happened I could see in his eyes that he felt the cold wall of execution coming close behind his back."

It was a depressing situation, but accidentally that same evening Ivan heard that his former boss in the State enterprise was on the verge of arrest for graft. Without hesitation he told his too trustful friend to retire to bed with smallpox or some equally infectious disease.

On Monday morning Ivan went to interview his former boss. The latter, who expected to be arrested at any minute, was in no receptive mood. Ivan, undaunted, said bluntly: "You hold a most responsible position — you Communist — you grafter—you surely will be shot."

The boss, less receptive than before, growled assent.

"All right," said Ivan. "I will take your misfortunes on my shoulders. I will plead guilty to everything and you can say that you had misplaced your confidence in me on account of my war record. It will cost you so many thousand rubles—cash down."

The boss agreed and Ivan got the money, which he promptly transferred to his friend; he declines to say whether a margin of profit for himself remained. Then he went to make a voluntary confession of 'his' previous graft as an employee of the State enterprise.

His former boss testified that young Ivan was an excellent secretary, but unfortunately a gambler and light minded, perhaps due to the wound in the head he received in his glorious service for the Red Army.

Ivan got a sentence of five years' imprisonment, which was reduced to two years in view of his record as a soldier.

He recently emerged from prison, plump and without complaints against the Soviet prison regime.

There is neither a Communist nor a capitalist moral to this story.

Bishop Temple Admits That Average Level of Intellect is Higher.

SPOKE AT MANCHESTER

Church Should Make Known the Work Which Engages It—Supply News.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 4.—(Canadian Press Despatch).—According to Bishop Temple, of Manchester, (son of a former Archbishop of Canterbury, and destined himself, in the opinion of many, to succeed some day to that office) the world is not producing great individuals in the present era. Bishop Temple admits that the average level of intelligence, and possibly of character, may be higher than usual, but "we are sadly lacking in people who have struck their own roots, and who are drawing out of themselves their own mental, moral and spiritual nourishment."

These sentiments were uttered when the Bishop addressed a gathering in Manchester on "The Church and Publicity." The adopition of methods which made no appeal either to the intelligence or the moral sense might be legitimate in commerce, he said. They might be effective, though they were certainly not legitimate, in politics, but they could be neither legitimate nor effective in religion. It was extraordinarily difficult for the church to find an effective publicity which did not on the whole mihister to the restless spirit.. If publicity had to be striking, arresting, it must to some extent make people jump. Yet, the first duty of the Church in an age like ours was to persuade people to stop jumping—to sit still, or to kneel still and to appreciate those enternal things from which the bustle of the world was diverting their attention.

The Church ought, said the Bishop, to do more than it did in making known the work they were engaged on. Their notices might be more impressive than they were, and the written information they supplied more interesting. But they must always strike that note of calm in which alone religious work could be done. Religion could not be worked by stunts. The whole purpose of religion was to appeal to the higher side of human nature, and if an attempt were made to attract people by making it seem that religion merely made an exciting appeal a state of mind was created in which it was more difficult than ever to appreciate what the Church had to say. Religion was not exciting. It was absorbing and it was adventurous. But it was not the kind of thing that was best served by making the nerves tingle.

ADJOURNMENT IN TWO DISPUTES

Keene and Lakefield Church Cases Had To Be Postponed.

DECISION REFUSED.

In the claim of the non-concurring Presbyterian minority against the United Church authorities at Lakefield, heard at the Court House yesterday before the Commission entrusted with the decision in such cases, because of a statutory difficulty, relating to titular rights, which arose after listening to counsel. Chairman Falconbridge conceded the impossibility of settling the matter without further careful research.

Adjournment was also granted in the case of the Keene re-adjustment.

In the Westwood church case, in which various counter proposals were advanced, including a proposition that the Methodists sell their church to the non-concurring Presbyterians for $1,000, or that the non-concurrents buy the Presbyterian church and pay over $2,000 to the Unionists, the Chairman recommended that the Continuing Presbyterians assume control of the Methodist church property and pay $500 for the transfer. N. S. MacDonnell acting with R. R. Hall, K.C., in the interests of the Continuing Presbyterians informed the Commission that the Presbyterians would not take the Methodist Church under that consideration. The respondents were represented by G. W. Mason, K.C. and R. B. Whitehouse, both of Toronto.

Following the postponement of the Lakefield question, discussion was continued on a general trend. The type of ballot used was the subject of considerable controversy. Definitions were quoted to establish the properties and uses of the ballot especially with regard to the custom employed, of having the votes signed. During the course of argument it was pointed that the signing of the ballot removed its character of secrecy.

A feature of settlements was the fact that anti-union lawyers ceased to press charges of irregularities and sought relief solely on the grounds of hardship or inability to secure adequate places for worship.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchical asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or 'flu.

Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. As your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PRINCE SUES FRANCE DEMANDING CASTLE

Felix Youssoupoff Wants Castle Left By Grandmother as Museum.

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(United Press)—Prince Felix Youssoupoff, Russian nobleman, amateur art dealer, and the man who dared to draw a gun on Rasputin, has taken another bold plunge in litigation to replenish the family fortune. This time he wants to obtain possession of Keriolet Castle, in Brittany, which was left to the department of Finistere by his grandmother, Princess Zenelde Narischkine, for a muscum.

The prince is a man of courage, and in his veins is the blood of the old Russian ruling class that took what it wanted. This blood can no longer command, so Prince Youssonpoff turns confidently to courts of law, as was seen in his dispute with Joseph E. Widener, financier and art collector of Philadelphia, over two Rembrandts. He lost his case and filed an appeal. He has pending in Paris a libel action against an English language newspaper for publication of an alleged quarrel he had with a local collector of snuff boxes.

Behind the latest legal step of the Prince is an involved story that recalls the old days of Russian nobility. Princess Narischkine was connected with the house of Romanoff.. After the death of her husband, Prince Youssoupoff, grand father of the present Prince, she was married to Cout de Chauveau, whom she met at the French Embassy in St. Petersburg. The marriage proved unhappy and after residing in France the Princess returned to Russia, leaving Keriolet castle to a woman who was supposed to have been the chief cause of her unfortunate married life.

In later life the Princess returned to Brittany and brought back the castle and lived there until her death. She bequeathed the castle to the Department of Finistere on condition that it be preserved exactly in the state in which she left it Prince Felix now alleges that changes have been made in castle, that some of its finest objects have been removed, and that the terms of the contract have been violated. As his grandmother's heir he claims the castle and the property. When he testified in New York in the Widener case he listed as family assets this famous Brittany estate, setting its value at 15,000,000 francs, and said then that he hoped to recover the property. He is now taking steps to do so.

DUNSFORD NEWS.

DUNSFORD, Nov. 7.—Threshing is speedily drawing to a finish. Mr. Sheriff reports only two more barns to thresh out, while Mr. Myers has only four or five west of the village.

The roads are very bad at present. However, Mr. Myles has ordered the county roads to be dragged well before the freeze-up.

The members of the Curling Club held a meeting in the rink one evening recently for the purpose of getting the teams together for the coming winter.

Hallowe'en Party.

The Young People's League of the Union Church held a Hallowe'en party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Walter Brien. There were sufficient witches and ghosts and such things present to give a creepy feeling. Everyone spent a most enjoyable evening amd went home feeling the better of the tasty sandwiches and pumpkin pie served by the hostess

Car Ran Into Fence.

What might have been a serious accident occurred on Sunday night just west of Omemee when Mr. Mossom Corley, driving a car, which he was not at all used to, tried to turn around on the side of a hill. The back seat was empty, the rear end of the car slipped around, backed over the ditch and went into a wire fence. No serious damage was done, except the car, which had a badly bent fender, and Mr. Corley went home with a pair of muddy hands.

Obituary—S. Kennedy.

The very sad news spread over the community recently of the death of Mr. Sherman Kennedy of Lindsay. Mr. Kennedy was well known and highly respected by the entire countryside, being a partner in the co-operative store of Kennedy and Toban, Lindsay.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the parents and only sister.

Laid Up With Rheumatism.

Friends of Mr. Walter J. Thurston are sorry to learn that he is not able to be around these days, due to rheumatism in one knee. We hope he will soon be alright again.

Personals.

Walter Burgess and W. B. Kennedy were business visitors to Woodbridge this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burgess visited Pontypool friends for a few days the beginning of the week.

Miss Laura Kennedy and Miss Doreen McGahey visited Miss Margaret Middleton of Omemee over the week-end.

Sam. Brien and Miss Dorothy Welsh, also Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Welsh, of Fenelon Falls, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brien on Sunday.

Miss Nellie Thurston has returned home from Toronto where she has been working during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Thurston were business visitors to Toronto this week.

The deer hunters have gone on the chase again, some of them going on Wednesday, while others had gone before.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kennedy, of Lindsay, visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kennedy, on Sunday.

Mrs. R. G. Robertson, Lindsay, is the guest of Mrs. Walter Robertson this week.

RADIO ANNIHILATES SPACE IN ARCTIC

Wireless Sttaion Links Northern Metropolis With Outside World.

EDMONTON, Alta., November 7 (Canadian Press).—Three hundred miles north of Edmonton there stretches a vast inland empire, running nearly 1,700 miles north and until it reaches the Arctic. It is a lone, wild country, with few inhabitants; a land of great lakes, wide rivers, and silent expanses of rolling to raip, with an outpost here and there, housing the personnel of a police or trading post, and scattered camps of wandering Indians and Eskimos.

Thousands of square miles of territory—and only a few years ago it meant months of slow, hazardous travel to establish contact with civilization.

Today, science through the medium of the radio, has annihilated time and space, with the result that the inhabitants of this northern clime can now enjoy the current news, while the solitude of the northern night has been materially changed with the leading performers filing in endless procession on the ethereal stage, providing entertainments for an invisible audience numbered in the millions.

By the erection of a wireless station recently at Aklavik, the northern metropolis of the Arctic has been linked directly with the outside. Commercial messages may now be sent via the telegraph and Edmonton Government radio station clear through to the Mackenzie delta at Aklavik.

Lieut. Young is in charge of the Federal Government's string of wireless stations in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. The Aklavik station makes four wireless posts which the Dominion Government has established in the North. Fort Simpson, Fort Smith and Edmonton are the other three.

English railways employ nearly 1,800 women as switchmen, crossing tenders, porters, painters, yardmasters, and station agents.

Pale, Tired Mothers Should Beware of Chronic Fatigue

Many a discouraged mother thinks that her thin, pale, tired-out condition is due to exhausting housework and care of children—when as a matter of fact the real cause of all her distressing ailments is chronic fatigue.

Don't confuse chronic fatigue with the ordinary fatigue you feel after a good long walk. Chronic fatigue comes from within. Your organs and muscles have become debilitated due to lack of sufficient organic iron in your blood.

To conquer chronic fatigue you must strengthen your system by restoring this organic iron to your blood. But don't take the older mineral iron medicines which many doctors now say do little good. Take organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like that in spinach and lentils. Unlike ordinary mineral iron it will not injure the teeth or disturb the stomach, but is promptly assimilated.

Take Nuxated Iron for just two weeks and you'll be astonished how much stronger and better you feel. Money back if not improved. All good druggists.

4.4 IS A FAILURE FROM 3 ANGLES

Govt. Dissatisfied With Revenue, Vendors With Sales, Patrons With Quality.

SOME STOP SELLING

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 7.—A press despatch yesterday contained the information that the members of the Ontario Government are disappointed in the matter of revenue received from the 4.4 beer, as the receipts so far have fallen far below expectations. This should make it unanimous so far at least as this district is concerned, as the feeling of disappointment is shared by the vendors and consumers. One Campbellford hotelkeeper who went to the expense of remodelling his premises, secured a license, but gave up the sale of the much tooted beverage after a few weeks' trial, as there was no demand for it by his patrons.

The hotels at Hastings and Warkworth and the only hotel here that handles the new beer have given up the purchase of the beverage in kegs as the sales were so slow that once a keg was tapped the contents would spoil before it was disposed of. The local agent has had a number of these containers thrown back on his hands. The hotels referred to are still handling bottled beer, but the demand is so light that the revenue derived from the sales is less than what was formerly taken in for the 2½ per cent. brand which the Government replaced with so much clanking of cymbals by their own decoction. Besides this, the vendors say that the new beer has driven patrons away and has interfered with the sale of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and soft drinks.

The proprietor of one of the leading hotels in Cobourg, counting up his receipts for the day at closing time the other night found the total amount recorded by the cash register was 75 cents.

FOR CABINET.

Alfred Speakman, Progressive-elect for the Alberta constituency of Red Deer, who is being mentioned as a possible member of the reorganized King Ministry. He was first elected in 1921, succeeding Dr. Michael Clark.

PAPER DECLARES

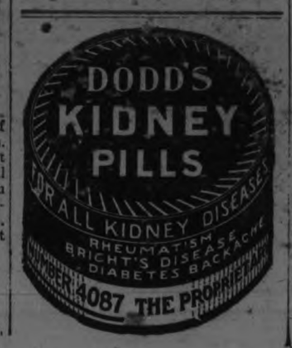
congratulated Zaniboni on his marksmanship. He then drove the car into Rome and took lodgings in an obscure rooming house near St. Peter's. He remained there for a few days, changing his appearance by various disguises.

Meets General Capello.

Later it was noticed by the detectives that an accomplice of Zaniboni had the habit of meeting General Capello, who has been arrested, charged with having a part in the plot. The meeting place usually was on the Cavour Bridge, over the Tiber, where Capello always arrived in a public cab. They usually strolled about for a few minutes, and, the Epoca says, it is supposed that General Capello handed over money to the accomplice, who returned to Zaniboni. The last time that General Capello met this man was Tuesday, after which the General left immediately for Turin.

It was only on the eve of the armistice day celebration that Zaniboni claimed his room in the Hotel Dragoni, which had been previously engaged by an accomplice, and in which he was arrested. Later it was learned that a room had been engaged not only in this, but in two other hotels nearby, because there was no certainty as to which balcony Premier Mussolini was to use to review the victory parade. After it was learned the Premier would appear on the balcony facing the Corso, instead of the one facing the Piazza Colonna, that Zaniboni decided to occupy the Dragoni Hotel room.



More Arrests.

The semi-official Stefani Agency announces that some additional persons suspected of complicity were arrested yesterday, but does not state how many. Epoca denies the report that two plotters were arrested in Milan. The documents and papers which were seized from Zaniboni's valises as well as in his apartment in Rome and the room he occupied is a hotel at Turin have been examined by police judges. Nothing, however, has been made known concerning the contents.

Premier Mussolini is continuing to receive thousands of telegrams from all parts of Italy and abroad, congratulating him on his escape. His followers are busy carrying out orders to prevent disturbances among the excited population.

Drastic Measures.

Since Zaniboni was taken into custody by the authorities, events have followed in quick succession. Five persons have been arrested thus far on the charge of complicity in the attempted assassination, the Unitarian Socialist Party has been dissolved, the Socialist organ Giustizia and the Anti-Fascist newspaper La Voce Repubblicana have been suspended and all the Masonic lodges, both in Italy and the colonies, have been occupied by the military.

The Fascist authorities are keeping guards at the plants of all the Opposition newspapers to prevent sporadic attempts at vandalism.

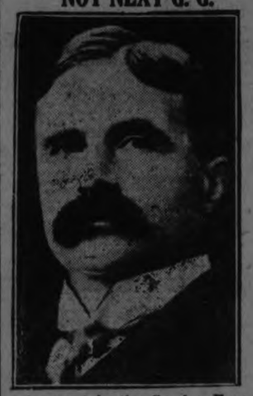
NOT NEXT G. G.



A report in the Sunday Express that Lord Peel would probably be the next Governor-General of Canada, in succession to Lord Byng, is emphatically denied by Lord Peel. "I have not heard a word about it," His Lordship says. "It is entirely incorrect."

ARMISTICE SERVICE NEXT WEDNESDAY

Millbrook Clergy Are Holding United Service at Memorial.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 7.—The local clergy have united in planning a Community Armistice Day Service to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 11, at 10.40 a.m. sharp, at the Soldiers' Memorial in front of the Town Hall.

If the weather is unfavorable, the service will be held in the Hall. The music will be led by the Millbrook Band. The following is the programme:

"Lest We Forget."

Hymn—"Lead, Kindly Light."

Hymn—"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Scripture Lesson—Rev. D. R. Dewdney.

Prayer—Rev. Joseph Wilks.

Address—Rev. Canon Allen.

11 A.M.—Two minutes' Silence.

Last Post—Sounded by G. E. Burnham.

Hymn—"Nearer, my God, to Thee."

Benediction—Rev. F. H. Howard.

God Save the King.

About one-half hour is the time the service will last.

The Wide Awake group of Canadian Girls-in-Training, held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening, with ten members in attendance.

The President, Jean Burnham, was in the chair, and among the business items to recieve attention was the appointment of an assistant leader, the contribution of $2.00 to the China Testament Fund, and the date for the postponed basket social, Wednesday, November 25, being the time set.

Wilma Fallis gave a missionary talk on Miss Cartmell, the first W.M.S. missionary to Japan, during the devotional period.

Pearl Davis and Jean Stinson were the games' committee, and a jolly time was spent during the recreational period at the close. A treat of apples was the final item in the evening's programme. Next week practice will be held on Wednesday evening for the basket social.

J. W. Hutchison, R. Stone, Ir M. Nattrass, Dr. Ellis are among the local hunters who have gone north for deer hunting this week.

Mr. W. Fred Fallis, Superintendent of the United Church Sunday School is in Hamilton this week attending the Diamond Jubilee Convention, undes the auspices of the Ontario Religiour Education Council. Centenary Church is the one in use for the convention, and a programme with many special features has been planned as this is the sixtieth annual gathering of the Sunday School workers of the province.

DX DEFINED.

Fairfax Downey, a newspaperman who should know better, sends me this little epic:

"Father made a radio receiving set out of an oyster container, some old wire that had been used for hanging pictures, a box of paper clips and the kitchen doorbell that was out of commission. By a triumph of tuning he got Des Moines.

"Uncle Joe constructed a set from a second-hand self-starter, a tomato can, a cane seat from a broken-down chair and the temperamental shower bath in the guest-room. He got Havana.

"Sister with ingenuity quite remarkable for her sex put together a set from material comprising a burnt-out cake pan, a prune box, short lengths of clothesline wire and a package of hairpins for which she had no earthly use since bobbing her hair. Would you believe it?—she got London.

"Little brother, not to be outdone, manufactured all by himself a most remarkable radio from mother's curling iron, father's toothbrush, Uncle Joe's umbrella, sister's full perfume bottle and the cook's favorite meat knife. He got Hell."

TAKE THE WORD OF YOUR NEIGHBORS

People Living in Every Part of Canada Highly Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a System Building Tonic

You cannot afford to experiment with your health and before trying any remedy you are justified in demanding proof of what it has accomplished in cases similar to your own. Many people are in need of a tonic at this time of the year to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. But it must be a safe tonic. It must give strength, not merely afford temporary relief It must build up the system, and enable the various organs to act as nature intended, so that when the treatment is finished it will not be necessary to take medicine of any kind so long as the ordinary laws of health are followed.

For many years Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a household remedy not only in America but throughout the civilized world. The world-wide use of this great Canadian remedy can be accounted for by the merit these wonderful blood-making pills possess. Thousands of statements from grateful patients have been published. All of the people who made these statements were somebody's neighbors, perhaps your own, and what they said about this great remedy could easily be verified, and you can safely take their word for the benefit they have found through the timely use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills.

For Rheumatic Sufferers.

Sufferers from rheumatism who have found their condition unrelieved or actually growing worse while using other remedies, would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The tonic treatment with this medicine has proved in thousands of cases that it builds up the blood to a point that enables it to cast out the rheumatic poisons through the regular channels, the bowels, kidney and the skin. When this is done rheumatism is banished, and as long as the blood is kept pure and rich the patient will be immune from attack. This is fully proved by the case of E. E. Davis, J.P., of Dinsmore, Sask., who says:—"I feel it my duty to sufferers from rheumatism to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Some years ago I was a great sufferer from this trouble and was confined to my room. I tried two doctors without relief and had become despondent. Then I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills recommended for this trouble and got six boxes. Before they were all gone I was able to get around on crutches, and when I was on the eleventh box I started to work.. I have not missed a day's work since on account of rheumatism. On two occasions since I have had light touches of the trouble, but a box of the pills soon put me right, I strongly recommend rheumatic sufferers to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Nearing a Breakdown.

Many women give so much of their time to the cares of their household that they neglect their own health and sometimes reach the verge of a breakdown before they realize that their health is shattered. Often the heart palpitates violently at slight exertion, the stomach fails to digest food and discomfort follows. The nerves become weak and headaches grow more frequent. The body grows weak and they are always depressed. This condition requires immediate treatment with such a reliable tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich and build up the blood, carrying renewed energy to every part of the body. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a rundown condition is proved by Mrs. Alex McInnes, Bowsman River, Man., who says:—"About a year ago I had a serious illness which left me very anaemic. I was not able to get around to do my work; in fact I could scarcely walk. I was troubled with palpitation of the heart with the least exertion. One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they had done her much good. I followed this advice and took the pills for some weeks when I felt as well as ever. I have since been able to attend to all my household duties. The dizziness and palpitation have left me and I bless the day I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are just the medicine for those who are weak and run-down."

Blemishes of the Skin.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema or scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and leave it still weaker. What is needed when the blood is out of order is a tonic which will restore its missing elements and leave the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. R. E. Bishop, Hawthorne Ave., Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what these pills did for her. She says:—"I was suffering terribly from scrofula. I doctored with several doctors but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps, called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

Strength for Weak Girls.

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when weakness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there comes headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness, heart palpitation, a constant weariness and a tendency to a decline.. All these symptoms may not be present in any particular case, but the presence of any one of them shows the necessity for prompt treatment. And the very best treatment is through the blood-making tonic qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and woman of mature years.

Here is a bit of strong proof:—Miss Matilda Brean, King Highway, Newcastle, N.B., says:—"I was in an extremely run-down and nervous condition. I was losing flesh, had a poor appetite, always pale, and suffered frequently from headaches. In fact my condition can best be described as miserable. I had tried several treatments but they did not help me in the least. Then reading one day about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to try them. After using three boxes I was much improved, but continued until I had taken six boxes, with the result that I am now well and strong, with good color and a hearty appetite. In view of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me I cannot recommend them too highly."

Was Very Pale and Weak

A condition of anaemia calls for a tonic, one that will enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves, and for this purpose nothing can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills give the blood those missing elements necessary to give strength to the nerves, color to the cheeks, and nourishment to starved organs and tissues. Miss Margaret J. Fraser, R.R. 2, Thessalon, Ont., has proved the value of this treatment. She says: 'I was very pale and weak. My blood was poor and I was very nervous. I lost my appetite, my feet and ankles were swollen and I was in a very miserable condition. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got two boxes, and found before they were finished that they were helping me. I continued the pills until I had taken a half dozen boxes, with the result that I am now enjoying the best of health, all symptoms having disappeared. I feel confident that what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me they will do for others, if given a fair trial."

A very useful book "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box Try them today.

TOW BARGE LOST IN STORM ON SUPERIOR

Became Separated From Steamer Which Was Towing Her.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—The small wooden steamer, Herman Hettler, locking down here yesterday afternoon, reported the tow barge J. L. Crane, carrying seven men lost during Thursday night's storm on Lake Superior.

The Crane broke away off Crisp Point, west of Whitefish Point. The Hettler, while manoeuvring to rehover her town, lost her entire deck load of pulpwood, and was forced to seek shelter behind Whitefish Point. The Crane has not been seen since.

"THE LIGHT THAT LIES—"

By Eleanor Hope

Copyright, 1925, by Newspaper Feature S. Ltd.

The words of the wonderful old poem ever come into his mind when he looks into the eyes of his adored one. And who can blame him? There is no need to ask any questions when she turns her eyes to him—filled with love and trust and faith. In one long, steadfast look she gives into his keeping all that is hers of Life and Love. And guard it well. Keep ever in her wonderful eyes the lovelight that shines so gloriously now or you. Nothing in the world is worth risking if you lose the love and the trust and faith that are yours. Keep love always there with Trust and happiness to chase away the shadows that may fall.

The Secrets Of Charm

By Lucrezia Bori

Do you know how to swim? If you do, this breast-stroke exercise I am going to recommend will come as second nature to you. If you do not, you may find it difficult to master at first. But you will master it and then you will wonder how it could have been hard.

At the same time you will be giving invaluable exercise to your chest, your legs and your hips and abdomen as well.

You see, swimming is a perfectly wonderful exercise in itself. If you do swim, you gain the benefit of the exercise, and at the same time you get the bracing bath and the contact with air and sunshine which makes your body and your spirits fairly glow. This exercise will give you the benefits I have enumerated above and, besides, it will be the first step in teaching you how to swim if you do not already know how.

When I learned to swim we were all taught the breast stroke, as it was considered the best learning stroke. What is more, we were taught to know the breast stroke to perfection by trying it on dry land before we ever went into the water to try it in its proper element. When you learn to co-ordinate the movements of your arms and legs, as I am going to tell you to do here, you should be able to go into the water and swim. If you are a little fearful of the water at first, have a good swimmer go in with you.

Of course, the proper season for swimming is practically over in most parts of the country. All the more reason this will make a good Winter exercise. Anyway, there are always indoor pools where one may swim all through the Winter if one is ambitious.

First, procure a small stool or bench. A piano bench is ideal.

Now take your position, lying on your stomach over the bench. Your stomach and abdomen only are supported by the bench. This leaves your arms and legs free to move as you direct them. At first your arms should be extended straight out in front of you and your legs straight out behind.

Next bring your arms forward, so that the palms of your hands meet directly in front of your chest. Your elbows will, of course, be bent, and your finger-tips should point straight forward.

Now, as you push your arms forward straight in front of you, palms still together, bend your knees well up until you bring your feet together.

Next, separate your palms, which have been stretched as far in front of you as possible, taking your arms as far out from the sides of your body as you can and bringing them back to the starting position. At the same time kick your legs out wide and bring them together again sharply as your hands begin to shoot out in repetition of the movement.

This exercise will help make your body strong and beautiful.

This Exercise Will Make Your Body Strong.

RETURNED SOLDIER SUDDENLY BLINDED

Keith Barnett Was Dancing at Armory When He Was Stricken.

HARRISTON, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—While attending a dance in the Armouries here after the annual inspection of D Company, Wellington Rifles, Keith Barnett, a returned soldier, was suddenly stricken with blindness. He was removed from the dance to his home and has not yet regained his sight.

COMPANIONSHIP IS YWCA ATTRACTION

Miss Thelma Paxman is Enthusiastic About Its Many Advantages.

"The main thing that interests me in the classes and clubs at the Young Women's Christian Association is the companionship afforded with so many different types of girls. The contacts are of great advantage to all of us. It is a fine thing to meet people of different sorts. It broadens one's viewpoint."

Miss Thelma Paxman is, like Miss Eva Outram, another teacher member of the 'Y' classes, very enthusiastic about the manifold advantages of membership in the big institution. For years she has belonged to the Association, and has taken up many of the courses and sports, including swimming lessons, aesthetic dancing, home nursing, basketry, basketball and Badminton. Miss Paxman admires the minor classes in academic work which supplement a general knowledge of the subjects taken up, such as English, French and arithmetic. The Bible study classes were also eulogized by this very loyal member of the 'Y'.

Today's Fashion

By Vera Winston

A Lavish Use of Fur Trimming Distinguishes Fall Coats.

No season in many years has offered so many variations in the matter of Winter wraps. Perhaps the most popular of all are those which are clever combinations of woolen stuffs and rich fur.

This coat is fashioned of suede-like cloth of a deep royal blue. The collar may be buttoned closely around the throat against penetrating winds, or allowed to open gracefully as the sketch illustrates.

Japanese mink is the fur which is used. The unusual length of the fur godets at the side give the wrap distinction, as well as the repetition of the godet effect on the sleeve. Almost without exception coats are fastened quite definitely on one hip.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

My girl friend and I have kept company together for a few years. Until recently neither of us had a boy friend. A short time ago I met a young man whom I admired and in return he wished to keep company with me. I repeatedly refused his invitation to go out with him, because in so doing I would leave my girl friend alone. After doing this for her she broke a very, very important promise to me, and after she did this I have went out with this young man who has never broken an engagement. I consider him first and her second in his matter. She thinks me unjust.

Please advise me.

HONEST AND TRULY.

HONEST AND TRULY: I think you had better keep on considering him first. Your girl friend appears to be rather an exacting young lady. Why not look around and see if you can find some young man who might make up a party of four, and you could all go out together. However, even if you can't manage this, do not neglect your admirer for her. Give her any spare time you may have, when you are not out with him, if she wishes it, and if she doesn't do not pay any attention to her..

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a boy seventeen. One night I took my boy friend and his girl for a drive. When she was leaving, she kissed me good-night. She is the first girl who ever kissed me. I enjoyed it, and it tasted "like more." What shall I do to get more?

BLACK CAT.

BLACK CAT: Possibly another drive would turn the trick. And, by the way, why not think up something more original the next time you want to see a letter of yours in the paper?

PARCEL POST SALE.

Ladies of St. Luke's Church Held Very Successful Affair.

The Women's Guild of St. Luke's Anglican Church held a very successful social evening and parcel post sale in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening. Mrs. H. Butcher, the President, was assisted by Mrs. Charles Butcher, as general convenor, Mrs. H. Butcher and Mrs. T. B. Maniece having charge of the parcel post sale. A very pleasing programme, for which Rev. Mr. Bousfield acted as chairman, included vocal solos by Mrs. A. A. Perrin, Mrs. W. Hepburn, Mrs. William Davies and Mr. F. Lindley, readings by Miss Queenie Hope and instrumental selections by Miss Lucille Doris. At the conclusion of the programme, refreshments were served.

ONCE UPON A TIME

THE THREE LITTLE ELVES—VI

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

The Yellow Cat crowd of boys, over on the other side of town, had challenged the Merry Men of the Greenwood to a football game.

The usual line of boasting was given full swing on either side, so that everybody expected almost anybody to win, but under the exterior show, the truth was this: The Yellow Cats challenged Robin Hood mainly out of jealousy; and would have been glad if the Merry Men had been afraid to play, but now that the game looked like a real thing, several of the cats had run true to form and had played a sneaky trick on their master, by not showing up for the game.

Friar Tuck and Little John were already in their football outfits and telling far and near that four good men of the Robin Hood team could defeat the whole of creation.

"Why there's me," said Jimmy Britton, the proud Friar Tuck, striking his chest with his fist, "and there's Little John, who ought to be bigger than the Don Bonter that he is, but he makes up in other ways, and there's Robin Hood and almost any one else you care to pick for the fourth, and if we four can't beat any whole team our size, then I'm the Sheriff of Nottingham."

"Who was the Sheriff of Nottingham?" asked Ned-the-Red. "I just forget who he was. Wasn't he a bad egg of some kind?"

"Bad egg!" exclaimed Little John. "Why that guy was the meanest and lowest down garter snake in Robin Hood's list of enemies."

"You don't mean to say 'garter snake'," corrected Presto-Chango, which is the new name tacked onto Roy Preston. "The garter snake is not so bad after all. I suppose the poor little wiggler is seeking safety under the ground for the winter. Why don't you name a wicked hawk as a likeness to that Sheriff?"

"Well, all right. He was a wicked, low down hawk then. Does that please you, Presto-Chango?" said Little John, prepared to go on with the history of the Sheriff.

"No!" shot back Roy Preston, with some spunk, "and you will just have to presto-chango it again, Mr. Smarty. The real Little John would never mix all the hawk family with the wicked Sheriff tribe."

"Very well, Mr. Presto-Chango," smilingly replied Don, with a sweeping bow and all that sort of thing. "Can your presto-chango beano suggesto the besto chango?"

Even Roy Preston himself had to laugh at that, and it saved Little John's dignity, while permitting him to accept advice.

"Out of all the hawks, you know, only about four are what men call harmful," announced Presto-Chango. "If you want to liken the Sheriff of Nottingham to a hawk, why not pick a real bad actor? Say the Sharp Shinned Hawk! He destroys many of our best and sweetest birds."

"Sharp Shinned Hawk!" repeated Little John several times, as if trying the sound of it. "That is a wicked sounding name all right. It will be bad for you, Friar Tuck, if you can't make good your boasting. We won't call you Friar Tuck any more, nor a good hawk nor anything, but Sharp Shinned Hawk, the Sheriff of Nottingham."

All this side talk was very important, though nobody knew it at the time, or they wouldn't have talked so much.

The clear blast of Robin Hood's horn stopped all the little conversations, and brought every boy to his Merry Man elf.

Robin Hood picked the team. Himself, Friar Tuck, Little John, Ned-the-Red, Big Bill Davis, and so on. They all, team and spare men, left the Greenwood for the other side of town, where they expected the Yellow Cats would be, by this time, on the field and ready for the game.

Robin Hood was known to all the town as Wess Johnson, a boy of clean sportsmanship, and the best player in sight. Friar Tuck, Ned-the-Red, Little John and Bernie Brown were also very much respected players. Bernie Brown was now called Burn 'Em Down, in the woods, but someone named him Bear 'Em Down for the game, as he was long legged and could catch almost any swift runner, if there was any chance at all.

To make a long story short, the Merry Men arrived at the field, but four of the Yellow Cats had not turned up, which put the whole game in danger of going on the rocks.

Tom Catt, the leader of the Yellow Cats, was a real manly lad and wanted to play, although his tribe of cats were showing fright. So Tom and Robin Hood went away and whispered a lot, and then more whispering to the followers, and then Robin Hood announced that he would pick four boys from the Merry Men team to assist the Yellow Cats and so make a good game.

That looked good, until Robin Hood appointed Friar Tuck, Little John, Ned-the-Red and Bernie Brown, four of his best players, to play on the side against their hero leader.

There was plenty of grumbling, but, as Robin Hood said, "It is no use playing against a team you know you can lick. The thing is to play a team you think or feel sure you can lick; and Robin Hood took on a battle with his own followers at times, just to try them out; and we the Merry Men, can beat you four boasters and your cat team."

"Ah, have a heart!" whined Little John. "Why should I be shoved on this team, without a chance against you and Big Bill Davis and all, just because Friar Tuck boasts himself into the shoes of the Sheriff of Nottingham?"

"The real Little John defeated Robin Hood," said Wess, "and even if you are not so tall, what's the matter with doing your best to make good, whatever side you are on?"

This shot from the bow of Robin Hood struck the four loaned Merry Men right in the centre of their pride. They said not a word. They turned and went over to where Tom Catt was waiting, grim determination on each face; and the heart their sportsmanship seemed to put into the cat leader made a new and wild desire to defeat the Merry Men, enter into all the cat men.

"We will have a tough time beating that mixed team," warned Robin Hood. "I am sure they are still weak, as they can't make up new signals so soon, but with four of our best men on their side, look out!"

And it was a great game. The Yellow Cats had no signals and no system, but the desperate four knew the Merry Men signals and got real loyal support from the cats, and, in a mixture of mud and astonishment, Robin Hood and Big Bill Davis and the Merry Men went down to defeat before the cats, assisted by the fierce fighting four; and Friar Tuck's name was saved. The Yellow Cats took courage and demanded another game, with all cats present.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

DOTTY CHATS WITH A QUEER LITTLE AUSTRALIAN.

"Oh dear!" Dotty cried when she peeked through the wires at the little animal, "What a funny little bear."

"Where's the bear?" questioned the little animal coming up to the wire nearest Dotty. "Where's the bear?"

"Why, I meant you," Dotty laughed. "Aren't you a bear?"

"Me!" exclaimed the animal, "why, I'm no more a bear than you are. I'm Wompy Wombat. I've heard folks say I do look something like a bear."

"Well, Mr. Wombat, I'm glad to know you. I'm Dotty Day," and Dotty bowed very politely. "May I ask where you lived before you came to our Zoo?"

"I'm from Australia," chuckled Mr. Wombat. "But I wouldn't go back to the old life for the world. Have you seen my family this morning?"

Dotty shook her head.

"I wouldn't know them if I did see them," she laughed. She was just about to ask what they looked like when another animal came shuffling out from behind a big stone.

It was just about a yard from its funny little snout to its tiny tail and looked for all the world like a tiny bear shuffling over the ground. She had terribly big claws and when she grinned at Dotty, she showed a mouth full of great strong teeth.

"Where's the family?" Dotty asked after Mr. Wombat had introduced her. "I was in hopes I could meet them too. I don't mean to seem rude, but I have never seen a Wombat before. Where are the babies?"

Mr. and Mrs. Wombat laughed merrily and Mrs. Wombat called softly.

Out of a pouch-like pocket tumbled three of the cutest little furry animals Dotty had ever seen and she grabbed one up into her arms.

"Well of all things," she laughed. "I never would have suspected you had a pouch like Mrs. Kangaroo. But aren't they just lovely? You can take the children with you every place you go and don't have to worry about them."

"We think it is lovely," laughed Mrs. Wombat. "I had my choice when Mother Nature made me, of having either a long beautiful tail or a pouch, and—"

"You mean, your ancestors had their choice," interrupted Mr. Wombat. "That is the story handed down. The first Wombat was given its choice between a long beautiful tail or a pouch. That Wombat took the pouch."

"And mighty glad I am of it too," laughed Mrs. Wombat. "I always know what my youngsters are doing when I have them with me. Of course here in the Zoo, nothing can harm them, but when we lived in our burrow in Australia, they were in constant danger. Then we never ventured out only after dark. Here, we run about any time. Come on, Daddy Wombat, it's time for dinner."

"I'm mighty glad I've met you," laughed Dotty, "and I'll come back and see you again some day. It's my donner time, too," and bidding the Wombat family goodby, Dotty ran on home.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A gentleman living in the great Northwest wants an article on "Parkinson's disease." He has been told that this is his trouble.

My correspondent, who is past sixty, says that for some time, in putting on his coat, he noticed a little pain in his left arm. After a while his doctor said his bad teeth and tonsils must be removed to relieve what was called neuritis. Having them out did no good.

Then the pain began to move about, but always the left side was the one involved. The arm or leg and sometimes both, were painful. Next he noticed trembling or tremor in his arm and now it is in the leg.

The victim says he isn't afraid to die, but doesn't want to be crippled. Naturally, he inquires as to the cause and what can be done to relieve Parkinson's disease.

The common name for this disease is "shaking palsy." It is known to the doctors as "paralysis agitans." First described by Dr. Parkinson, it is called Parkinson's disease.

One particular feature of the ailment is known as "Parkinson's mask." This is an early indication of the approach of shaking palsy. The eyebrows are drawn up all the time, the lips move slightly and slowly in speaking, and the face is almost without expression. It is as if the features had been cast into a motionless mask.

Slight pain, weakness of the muscles and general stiffness are observed. Muscular movements are made slowly and with deliberate effort. Short, hurried steps are characteristic. One writer has said that the victim acts as if he were "running after his centre of gravity."

The trembling or tremor is the significant symptom. For years it may be in one leg or in one arm or both. The hands are apt to be most affected. One writer calls attention to the peculiar movements of the forefinger and thumb, as if the afflicted person were rolling a pin.

Unfortunately there is little to do to relieve the symptoms. The ailment lasts for years and years. There are periods when there seems to be improvement, but in the end the disease slowly progresses.

Fortunately the mind is not disturbed. The mental processes are just as good as ever. There is almost no suffering from the worry of what may happen, but the cultivation of a patient philosophy, with submission to the annoyance of the trembling and the disturbed gait, will help a lot to bear the inevitable.

We are hopeful that the glandular extracts may prove useful. Some progress is being made in this direction. What is known as the "para-thyroid extract" has been used with some benefit.

The family doctor will add to the comfort of the patient by meeting symptons as they appear. The important thing, however, is to get fresh air, sunlight, simple food and as much systematic exercise as can be taken without undue fatigue. In short, the victim of Parkinson's disease should live as near to the normal life as possible. By so doing he will live out his normal expectation.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A DAILY READER. Q.—I am a girl of 18, 5 feet 5 inches tall. What should I weigh? How can I gain weight?

A.—You should weigh about 126 pounds. Build up your general health and you will not only gain in weight but benefit throughout your entire system. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

MRS. C. B. R. Q.—How many weeks after a child starts coughing with whooping cough is there danger of contagion?

2.—My little girl has been coughing since March? Is it safe to take her among other children now?

A.—There is danger of contagion while there is any discharge.

2.—Yes, if the above condition does not exist.

A.—A restricted diet as regards fats, sugars and starches and regular intestinal elimination should prove helpful for this condition. The family doctor should prescribe whatever medication may be necessary.

FAMOUS FORTUNES

By Barbara Bayne

MARSHALL FIELD—THE WORLD'S MERCHANT PRINCE.

Pronounced a failure and an incompetent by his first employer, Marshall Field became Chicago's foremost millionaire. Born in Massachusetts in 1835 and beginning life as a farm-boy, he died the greatest merchant prince the world has ever known.

Just entering his 22nd year he went to Chicago and secured employment with Cooley, Wadsworth & Co. There was a reorganization in 1862 and Field was admitted to partnership under the firm name of Farwell, Field & Co.

Levi Z. Leiter was connected with the concern and when Field sold out to Farwell in 1865, he and Leiter acquired an interest in Potter Palmer's store. Palmer finally retired and the firm became Field, Leiter & Co. Both young fellows began buying up land and eventually became the two largest land owners in Chicago.

Field was the first merchant to establish a "bargain" basement in 1887. Leiter withdrew in 1881 and the firm of Marshall Field & Co. became the biggest dry goods manufacturer in the world. The looms in its factories in America, Russia, China, Japan, Australia and South America turn day and night, giving employment to hundreds of thousands.

Besides his land holdings on the South Side, Field owned many blocks of valuable land north of Congress street and near the Chicago University to which he gave the piece known as Marshall Field. He gave $8,000,000 to Field Columbian Museum. He became one of the nation's greatest philanthropists. Besides the millions he gave to charities he placed hundreds of his old-time friends on pensions.

Field was twice married and left a daughter who married Admiral Beatty of the English Navy. The accidental death of his son, Marshall Field, Jr., had much to do with hastening his own end. His death occurred in New York in 1906. The executors of his will placed the value of his real estate in Chicago, New York and elsewhere at more than $40,000,000; stocks and bonds at $55,000,000; and bank deposits at $4,500,000.

His will set aside $72,000,000 in trust for his grandson, Marshall Field III., until the year 1954. With the income of a prince, Marshall Field III. enlisted as a private in 1917. He was "over there" and participated in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne operations.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, November 8, 9.

Sunday's horoscope is not a propitious one either for business or personal interests. The nature may be solemn and depressed and care should be taken of the health and employment. Also protect domestic affairs.

Those whose birthday it is are urged to care for their health, their employment and their domestic circles, since anxiety menaces. A child born on this day should be equipped to overcome many obstacles in its affairs.

Monday's astrological forecast is for trials and complications in business as well as in personal matters. The health should be looked after and social or affectional interests safeguarded. Guard against losses.

Those whose birthday it is have the prospect of a year of setback and disappointment with the health a possible disturbing factor. There may be concern in heart or home affairs. A child born on this day may be energetic and active but will be subject to deception and fraud unless taught to be on guard against duplicity.

French Poke Fun at Writers Who Seek Seclusion Of Monastic Establishments To Perfect Novels

PARIS, Nov. 7

Pierre Benoit, the distinguished French novelist, having retired to the Monastery of the Grande Chartreuse to finish a new book—as he himself puts it, "in peace and quiet, and free from the interrupting temptations of worldly life"—M. Paul Soudray, another noted journalist, has acclaimed the idea with enthusiasm and improved on it. In perfect seriousness he proposes creating "lay monasteries" for writers to retire into to do their work so great is the pressure of society become on literary lions, and so weakened, apparently, is their power of refusing the invitations showered upon them.

In the proposed monasteries everything would be carried out as in a religious community except for the continuous celebration of masses. The rules should be the same as those of the Trappists and the Chartreuses and each writer would live in his own cell.

The idea has excited much mirth in France. Some of the papers suggest that the same result could be obtained much more cheaply for the author if he would resort to the simple expedient of stealing some trifling article and going to prison at the expense of the state. This would have the disadvantage of depriving the writer forever of the hope of earning the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. But then that might be a comfortable excuse for him in case it should never be offered anyway.

Attention is also drawn to the case of journalists, dramatic and literary critics, and it is asked what steps shall be taken, under the new regime to protect them, since their work demands that they go abroad among people and so are almost defenceless against invitations and such subtle attempts to influence their judgment on men and things.

Padded cells and an armed guard at the theatre, are suggested for dramatic critics, while the ever humorous Oeuvre feels that literary critics should all have keepers to see that they really read the books they review. As for the ordinary reporter his case is harder, but it is felt that it might be met by a special nursing sisterhood whose duty it would be to prevent strangers from talking to him.

To such desperate straits the writers of Paris are driven nowadays by the celebrity hunter.

Baroness de Alcahali, a noted Spanish painter and newspaper correspondent, who is now in America, is one of the two honorary captains in the Sapnish army, the Queen being the other. First as a newspaper correspondent and then as a Red Cross nurse the Baroness spent months in Morocco with the army. She was twice wounded once shot down from an aeroplane and again during an infantry engagement. She bears the Military Medal of Merit, presented to her by the Queen of Spain.

ARTICLE No. 7

In the preceding article, the writer referred to several hands that were misplayed and asked for criticism. The first hand was as follows:

	: Y :
	:A B:
	: Z :

Hearts—6
Clubs—K, Q, 9, 8
Diamonds—7
Spades—A, Q, J, 9, 7, 6, 2

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid four spades (a fine preemptive bid, by the way). A doubled, Y passed and B bid five hearts. Z and A now passed and Y doubled. When all passed, what should Z have opened? This hand offers an excellent example of the proper opening lead after a double. If a player doubles after his partner has made a bid, he expects his partner to lead the suit he has bid. If a player has made a bid of his own and later doubles, he expects his partner to lead that suit. In this example hand, Z has bid four spades and his partner, Y, has doubled five hearts. Under these conditions, Z should have opened his ace of spades. This opening would have set the contract one trick. Y had a singleton spade and doubled with the expectation of a spade opening. Z, however, thought of none of these very good reasons for a spade opening. He opened the king of clubs and AB just made their bid and thus scored game and rubber. This hand is a fine example so study it over carefully.

The following is another fine example:

Hearts—5
Clubs—9, 8, 6, 3
Diamonds—7, 6, 2
Spades—A, K, 8, 7, 6
	Hearts—K, 6, 2
: Y :	Clubs—K, Q, J, 4
:A B:	Diamonds—K, 8
: Z :	Spades—Q, 10, 4, 2

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid four hearts, A bid five diamonds and all passed. Y opened the king of spades and B's hand, the dummy's in this instance, was placed on the table. Z played the three of spades and A the five. Y should have reasoned somewhat as follows: "What sort of hand did Z have to justify a four heart bid? If he had wanted a heart lead, he probably would have doubled. His four heart bid probably consists of at least eight hearts with four honors and very little side strength. He also probably has a singleton spade and bid four hearts in the hope of shutting out a spade bid. Therefore, my best play is to lead the ace of spades and hope that Z can trump the third round of spades." If Y had followed this line of reasoning, he would have set the contract one trick. He failed to do so, however, and led a heart at trick two, which A trumped. A then led trumps and scored game and rubber, losing only two spade tricks. This is another hand that should be carefully noted.

The play in the following hand should be easy but sometimes the easy ones are the ones that go wrong:

	: Y :
	:A B:
	: Z :

Hearts—K, Q, 9, 8, 4
Clubs—A, 4
Diamonds—J, 7, 6, 2
Spades—9, 5

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one heart, A and Y passed and B bid one spade. Z and A passed and Y bid two hearts. The final bid was four spades due to the fact that Y raised the heart bid twice more. He also doubled four spades. What should Z open? This hand is similar to the first one in that Z has bid a suit and his partner Y has doubled. Under the rule set down in the analysis of that hand, Y certainly expected a heart lead by Z. Irrespective of that fact, however, Z should have led a heart in the endeavor to set up a trick in that suit before he lost his reentry in clubs. Instead of doing so, however, Z opened the ace of clubs and then led the four, hoping as he said, for a ruff. This lead gave AB a game that they couldn't have scored if Z had opened the king of hearts. Note all three of these hands very carefully for they are typical hands and involve points that come up in every session of play.

Problem No. 5

	Hearts—3
	Clubs—A, 6, 5, 4
	Diamonds—Q, 10
	Spades—9, 7, 2
Hearts—Q, 8, 7, 6		Hearts—none
Clubs—K	: Y :	Clubs—10, 9, 8, 2
Diamonds—none	:A B:	Diamonds—J, 9, 8, 7
Spades—10, 8, 6, 4, 3	: Z :	Spades—K, J
	Hearts—K, J, 9, 5
	Clubs—Q, J, 7, 3
	Diamonds—none
	Spades—A, Q

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win nine of the ten tricks against any defense? This is a tricky little problem that has just arrived from England. Solution in the next article.

CITY OF LOTUS-EATERS SOUGHT IN OCEAN OFF NORTHERN AFRICA

Paris Louvre Will Examine Ancient Town Off Coast.

SEVENTY FEET DOWN

Archaeologists Think It May be "Enchanting Ground" of Odyssey.

By WALTER LITTLEFIELD

The finding late last Spring of a Roman galley of the first century, B.C., presumably laden with the loot of Athens, in the mud of one of the two channels which separate the island of Jerba from the African mainland of Tunisia at once unfolded to archaeologists a most alluring vista of investigation. For, whatever treasures of Attic art the wreck may be found to contain, more valuable, possibly, was the discovery that it had not sunk further because it had been caught on the still intact roofs of an ancient submerged city, all record of which has been lost.

In archaeological halls speculation began respecting the identity of each. Both legend and topography almost at once identified the submerged city as the metropolis of the Lotus-Eaters of the Odyssey, and experts plausibly advanced the theory that because of the probable disappearance of the city and of the material which engulfed it its state of preservation would rival that of Herculaneum, or that of Pompeii.

And recently Count Byron Khun de Prorok, who until last June was occupied with the excavations at Carthage, has offered a plausible identification of both galley and cargo. He has just announced in Paris that plans for a study of the sunken city and of the superimposed galley have been about completed. The months of April, May and June, the Count announced, will be devoted to the sunken city and the galley. The investigations will be under the direction of Alfred Merlin, Conservateur of the Paris Louvre, and Count de Prorok, and the scientists associated with him will cooperate. The discovery seems to warrant highly elaborate preparations. Two forms of search have been suggested: Direct examination by diving and the drainage of the area occupied by the city.

Prorok to Use Diving-Bell

Count de Porok would, at least until subsequent discoveries shall inspire the second and more expansive plan, follow out the first. He is now negotiating for the charter of a ship equipped both as a diving base and with apparatus for raising the galley. The other scheme would be complex engineering. The channel could be cofferdammed at both ends; then the mud would be drawn up by suction dredges such as those which effectively disposed of the mud of the Charles River Basin at Boston a few years ago. And so with comparatively little toil with pick and shovel the ancient city would be laid bare and in all the detail of its architecture and possibly with the contents of its buildings far better preserved than were even the fragile papyri at Herculaneum. For there may be ruins just as clear of mud as those at Herculaneum were found to be of lava and volcanic ashes.

The force of the tide, sweeping through the narrow channel between the Isle of Jerba and the mainland, prevented a satisfactory study of the city last Spring. In the coming exploration Count de Prorok hopes to have the services of a diving bell and be able to take submarine photographs of the ruined houses which sponge divers have reported finding seventy feet under the sea. Then, perhaps, archaeology may absolutely solve the intriguing question of the identity of this lost city. It may be found that it is not the metropolis of the Lotus Eaters Homer sung about, but the old Roman town of Tepasa, which flourished when Rome was mighty and then vanished utterly, perhaps a victim of the encroaching sea, which has wrought much change in the shore line off Northern Africa and obliterated many of the tracks of history.

To Unearth Galley for Museum

The problem of the old Roman galley is less a mystery than that of the city, but quite as interesting. History contains a reference to a galley which left Greece in the first century B. C. loaded with loot from the sack of Athens, which was to have adorned the villa of the Roman General Sylla. It was swept out of its course in a storm and never was heard of afterward. Its deck was piled with marble columns and in its hold were statues and vases of marble and bronze. It is supposed that the ship foundered under the weight of its topheavy cargo, overturned, perhaps, by a sudden blast of wind sweeping from the Tunisian coast.

"The wreckage of an ancient galley was found in 1908 by Greek divers," said Count de Prorok. "Beside it lay some fifty columns, and within the gaping hull of the old war vessel were numerous objects of art. Many of these have been removed and placed in museums. They include signed works from the school of Praxiteles.

"We investigated this wreck last spring and there is great ground for belief that it is the ship which never arrived from Greece. The wood of the hull, such of it as remains, is now petrified by the chemical action of the water during the twenty centuries it has lain at the bottom of the sea. The French Government has now given permission to the Franco-American Committee of Carthage to raise the galley and bring up the remainder of its art treasures. I am negotiating for a ship capable of doing this. Professional divers will be employed to unearth the remaining fragments of the ship's skeleton for installation in the museum. It is now forty meters under water and probably covered once more with sand.

"Our exploration of the submarine city and the sunken galley will take place after our return from the Hoggar, after our work off the Tunisian coast, Utica and the Temple of Tanit."

Jerba lies 250 miles south and a little east of the site of Carthage and 150 miles northwest of Tripoli—between what was known to the ancients as Syrtes Minor and Syrets Major.

"The Father of History," in the 177th chapter of his Fourth Book, identifies the people of the Syrtes as the Lotophagi, or Lotus-Eaters, whom Ulysses described at the Court of Alcinods:

The "Enchanting Ground"

Nine days by cruel storms I thence was borne
Athwart the fishy deep, but on the tenth,
Reached the Lotophagi, a race sustained
On sweetest fruit alone . . .
And then the effect of this fruit:
Lotus the name; divine, nectareous juice
(Thence called Lotophagi); which whoso tastes,
Nor other home nor other care intends,
But quits his house, his country, and his friends.
The three we sent, from off the enchanting ground
We dragged reluctant, and by force we bound;
The rest in haste forsook the pleasing shore,
Or, the charm tasted, had returned no more

The area of Jerba is about 425 square miles, and in a score of primitive towns, villages and hamlets dwells a population of 35,000 to 40,000, most of whom are Berbers. When history began its records the successors of Herodotus tried to be precise where he had been general and identified what had come to be known as Jerba as "the city of forgetfulness," although no city had ever been there. The persistence of the error was natural enough; the lotus fruit of the Odyssey had carelessly been identified as the jujube fruit (Zizyphus lotus) on which the people of the coast and island still feed and from the juice of which they make an alluring beverage. So the island was called Jerba, or Juba from the popular fruit.

Actual City Was Sunk

The name of the island, before which there is no record of any other, first appears in the works of Sextus Aurelius Victor in the fourth century, and more recent investigation has proved that it did not come from the fruit at all, but from the Arabic word "jerba" meaning "water skin." And the rounded, smooth and, for the most part, arid surface of the island exactly meets this description.

Another obstacle to the identification of Jerba as Lotophagipolis was the fact that, save for the remains of the comparatively modern Port of Meninx, the work of imperial Rome, there have been found no vestiges on the island denoting a more remote civilization. But while the legend about Jerba continued to thrive through the centuries, receiving a new vigor in the Victorian era through Tennyson's poem "The Lotus-Eaters," there, sunk in the mud behind the island, slumbered the actual Lotophagipolis.

Over the galley which today might be said to have been its buoy there raged the conflicts of the ships of Norman, Turk and Spaniard, the last to be obliterated by the corsair Dragut, who built a pyramid ten feet broad at the base and twenty feet high with the skulls of the Spanish garrison of Haumt-es-Suk, capital o tthe island today, as it was in the Middle Ages. The modern Greek and Roman, just as the contemporaries of Herodotus and Livy had done, continued to use the expression "eat the lotus" to denote forgetfulness. And either the Syrtes or Jerba has been remembered or the Lotophagi of Ulysses considered a legend with no foundation in fact.

Jerba is separated from the mainland by two channels: There is the western strait, opening into the Gulf of Gabes, which is a mile and a half broad in the centre; and there is the eastern strait, which is wider but shallow, and by it at low water one may cross to the mainland by what is called the Tarik-el-Jemi, or the Road of the Camel. The ancient galley was found in the western strait, where a succession of abnormally low tides had brought it near the surface.

How City Slid From Foundations.

The first person to indicate the nature of the city beneath the galley was Sir Edward Denison Ross, director of the School of Oriental Studies, London, and formerly identified with certain special Oriental collections of the British Museum. From bits of information that had reached him he imparted to The Morning Post the information that while investigating the galley it had been discovered that the vessel rested upon the roofs of a city which had apaprently sunk in the mud of the channel until it had struck a stratum of rock and could sink no further.

The discovery confirms a Berber legend that once, somewhere in the vicinity of Jerba, there had existed a wealthy and populous city which had "suddenly disappeared." It also enabled topographers to reconstruct the physical features of the coast, for they had long maintained that Jerba had once been connected with the mainland. It is therefore conjectured that where the western strait now is there was once a high mound which supported the metropolis of the Lotonhagi with a beautiful harbor, which still remained so down to the time of the corsair Dragut, and craftily hidden from the Mediterranean by the once luxuriant vegetation of the island, which sloped toward the north.

The information imparted by Sir Edward, fragmentary though it was, is quite sufficient to arouse scientific London. While awaiting further details a topographical and an archaeological reconstruction based upon this information were presented and parts of them are reproduced here. One is taken from an article in The Daily Telegraph by Major Gordon Home, the African traveler, author, painter and topographer, and the other is from an interview from Sir Ernest Wallis Budge, formerly keeper of the Egyptian and Assyrian antiquities of the British Museum.

Sir Ernest remarked:

"The City Under the Sea between the ise of the Lotus-Easters and the coast of Africa is talked about by Arab geographers. Let us consider the days before the Phoenicians. It should be made clear that as each city was built on mud, the likelihood of its sinking was great. The Phoenicians obviously came along and rebuilt this city in the form of a port rather like Port Said. It then became the headquarters of the cedar shipbuilding trade, which made the Phoenicians so famous. The Phoenicians learned this art from the Egyptians. It would have been a port bustling with life and energy.

"We must now suggest how it was washed away. The water along the coast varies greatly in depth. The swift current would little by little have pushed this city along with it, foundations and all, with the result that the whole thing would have slid to a lower bed a few yards further on.

"This movement of slipping mud and sand may be illustrated by an analogous case. There was once a city called Teni at the mouth of the Nile, ninety miles from what is now Cairo. It was a prosperous city with vineyards. One day, at the end of the seventh century, the mud gave way and the city slid out into the sea.

"That is what must have happened to Jerba."

BRITISH FARMS START NEW DAY

Co-operative Movement Gives Hope to Languishing Rural Districts.

LONDON, November 7 — British farmers think they see in co-operation a hope of rescuing their industry from the slump into which it has fallen.

One of the questions frequently asked is: "How can Danish farmers furnish half the bacon and eggs that appear on the British breakfast tables?" And when the British ministry of agriculture investigated the reasons for the success of Danish agriculture, it reported that the secret lay in co-operation.

Since the war British farmers have undertaken co-operative enterprises with a good deal of success. Indeed the idea gained so general acceptance in the boom years following the war, that its application rather outran good business judgment. More societies were formed than could be maintained and as a consequence a year or two later there was a setback.

But recent reports indicate co-operative societies are settling to a firmer basis. Those organized without sufficient demand have disappeared; those that remained are better financed, are growing in membership and are adapting themselves to the needs of their supporters.

Campaign Started.

Soon after the signing of the armistice the Agricultural Organization Society put on a campaign of propaganda advocating the formation of large scale co-operative institutions with competent and adequately paid managers. The time seemed ripe for the movement for during that year 40 societies for the supply of agricultural requirements were registered.

As might have been expected the British farmers developed their organizations upon somewhat different lines than those by which the Danish farmers have succeeded. The Danes have developed their co-operative enterprises along strictly specialized lines. They believed that to succeed each organization must be managed by specialists. A Danish farmer may belong to as many as 20 or 30 different co-operative societies.

But the co-operative organizations in England and Wales developed a multiplicity of functions. They engaged in the buying of all sorts of farm supplies and in the marketing of all the farmers' commodities. This came about naturally since they followed the business methods to which the farmers had been accustomed for generations. This gave rise to the practice of the new societies taking over long established general businesses.

Part of Economic System.

As the scheme adapted itself to the peculiar needs of the community, it came to form a larger and larger part of the economic system and may now be said to be firmly established. So far as can be ascertained the number of farmers' societies trading mainly in agricultural requisites is about 200. The annual turnover exceeds $40,000,000. The membership of these societies is considerably above 60,000, and they have a share capitalization reported at more than $5,000,000. The actual capital investment is estimated at nearly twice the latter amount. How general is the acceptance the co-operative principle among the British farmers is indicated by the estimate of Professor D. H. Macgregor, of the Agricultural Tribunal of Investigation that one British farmer in every four is associated with some co-operative organization.

Some of these organizations have succeeded rather remarkably. The following statement recently was published by officials of a Yorkshire farmers' bacon factory: "The factory has been working since 1912. The share capital issued and fully paid amounts to $147,500. During the past three years no less than $155,625, or 107 per cent. of the paid up capital has been distributed as bonuses to members, and at the present time the total assets are more than $100,000 in excess of the total liabilities, among which, of course, the share capital is included.

AMERICAN MANDATE APPROVED BY ARABS

Insist, However, That It Be Along Lines of Irak Agreement.

JERUSALEM, Nov. 7. — (United Press). — Arab quarters are discussing approvingly the possibility of an American mandate for Syria. They insist, however, that it should be based on the lines of the British mandate in Mesopotamia, where in 1921 Emir Feisal was elected King, a Cabinet was chosen and Britain entered into treaty relations with the country, with the understanding that later Mesopotamia should come into the League of Nations. Meantime, it is reported that French agents are offering a policy in the French mandated territory of Syria, similar to the British in Mesopotamia. To the French, however, the Syrians are replying that they want independence.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SANATORIUM RECEPTION HOSPITAL

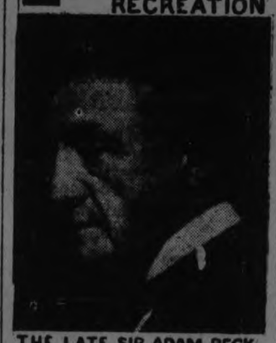
VOCATIONAL TRAINING AND RECREATION HALL

THE BECK NURSES' HOME



THE LATE SIR ADAM BECK FOUNDER OF THE "SAN"

A heart-gripping paraphrase of Col. McCrae's "In Flanders Fields" is found in the death-bed appeal of Sir Adam Beck to the people of Ontario to carry on the work of Queen Alexandra Sanatorium for the tuberculous, which he and the late Lady Beck established.

Voicing the soul of the dying Canadian soldier, the poem runs: "To you, from failing hands, I throw the torch. Be yours to hold it high."

When he realized that his cherished hope to lead this campaign must be denied by death's intervention, Sir Adam imposed this "spiritual will" upon his friends:

"To the people of Ontario I entrust those poor sufferers from tuberculosis, who in their affliction turn for aid to Queen Alexandra Sanatorium. God forbid that their poverty shall ever bar the door. My Course is ending. Carry on!"

This magnificent institution, now worth a million dollars, has expanded its effort, both in the treatment of sufferers and in preventive campaigning, to every part of old and Northern Ontario. Every third patient treated, and their numbers are now nearly 4,000, has been the double victim of disease and poverty. The deficits resulting, averaging $25,000 to $35,000 a year, will be taken care of by the endowment fund, the earnings of which will lend in perpetuity the support of all who contribute between November 20 and 28.

NICOLAS STATES STILL HOPE FOR A R EHABILITATION

Says Capital Assistance of U. S. Is Essential To Development.

Knows Russian People.

Country of Immense, Undeveloped Resources, Investment Would Be Repaid.

By RALPH HEINZEN
(United Press Staff Corresondent)

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(United Press). —"American capital and Russian peasants hold the key to Russian's future" declared Grand Duke Nicolas, leader of the "National Russia" movement in summing up the opinion of three million Russian emigres who have chosen him as the leader of their cause.

"Without the one or the other, any attempt to reconquer Russia from the Bolshevists would be a failure.. But giving the material assistance without which we can do nothing, America can take no part in the re-establishment of a national Government in Russia.

"Russia must work out her own salvation. Any attempt to establish an entente of powers to provide a massed army to sweep through Russia, would meet with failure. The Russian peasant would misunderstand the motive and would meet the intending rescuers as invaders.

"It is with an all-Russian army and on Russian territory that the battle would be waged. We are three million, determined to give our lives to that cause, but any effort in that direction until we are organized and fitted would only cause rivers of blood to flow uselessly."

Although during the years immediately succeeding the Russian revolution, Nicolas sought to dissassociate himself with the political ills of his country, the Grand Duke, since accepting the mandate of the three million emigres, has made a thorough study of his problem. His diagnosis, after feeling the pulse of Russia, is that although Russia is sick almost to the death, she can be resurrected.

"I have had a lifelong admiration for America, her people and her instutions", Nicolas said.

"Americas' refusal to treat with the present terrorists in Moscow has earned my esteem, and I might say that as long as America withholds her recognition, Soviet Russia cannot advance. The Russian peasant is today living under a greater system of slavery than at any time in history, and only America can help..

"The revolution which could substitute a 'national' for a communiste Russia is possible only when the world decides that in the interests of international peace and economic progress the nefarious Third International and its leaders in Moscow must go.

"I know the Russian people so well as to say definitely that any attempt to change their government by outside interference would meet with failure. I know also that the longer an attempt is delayed, the more difficult will be the task.

"I know that the rule of the International in Russia is today like a house of cards. It needs only a single blow to knock it down. That shock, organized and carried out by Russians with America's material and moral support would inspire the peasants' confidence and would succeed. America need not shed a drop of blood.

'It goes without saying that it is during our misfortune that we always learn the value of our friends. The country which shows its friendship towards Russia by assisting millions of Russians to re-establish national Government can count on our gratitude in the future

"Russia is a country of immense undeveloped resources. Any material support granted us would be repaid immediately after her resurrection. Then, in the next stages of its redevelopment Russia would need immense capital. We would repay our faithful friends with every favor it is in our power to bestow.

"There is a great opportunity there awaiting America in capital; there is an oportunity to recapture the great Russian market lost to world trade.. We would repay eventually, many times over whatever financial support America would give us.

"As each day passes it becomes more and more apparent that the political and economic disorders of the world are traceable direct to the Third International. Therefore, the world is interested in the delivery and recovery of Russia, and America as the greatest financial power in the world today cannot remain indifferent to a situation which becomes increasingly threatening each day and which, if unchecked, may even proved her political undoing one day."

HOW MANY BEDS DID NAPOLEON DIE IN ON ISLAND?

Four Beds Are Claimed by Proud Owners as Being Genuine.

THE LATEST FIND

Countess of Laperouse Offers Proof That She Owns Right One.

How many beds did Napoleon die in at St. Helena? the Paris press is asking. It has been supposed that the genuine deathbed was the one at Chateau de Chambly, belonging to Prince Murat. It was left to Queen Caroline by Napoleon's mother, and has never been out of the possession of the Murat family. Its authenticity is vouched for by many experts, among them M. Jean Bourguignon conservator of the Malmaison Museum, who has made a special study of Napoleon relics.

There had been at different times two other claimants to the distinction of owning the first Napoleon's deathbed. Now comes a third, the Countess de Laperouse, who was born at Montholon. She had been selling some family possessions by public auction at Deauville. The first item on the list was described as follows:

"A bed, surmounted by a crown and a carved gilded eagle, with silk curtains and old Maline lace; period —Empire. This bed is an heirloom of the Montholon family; it was left to General the Count of Montholon by the Emperor Napoleon I, who died in it on the Island of St. Helena on May 5, 1821.. This bed was in the Emperor's bedroom at Longwood. He used it from the time of his arrival at St. Helena till his death. And it was only after his death that his body was removed into the Longwood drawing room, converted into a mortuary chapel. The traditions of the Montholon family, as well as certain documents which will be submitted to the eventual purchaser of the bed, establish the absolute authenticity of this historical piece."

The reserve price put on the bed was 100,000 francs. No one would bid that high for it on the day of the auction. After the facts had been published, discussion relating to the bed at Chambly caused the Countess de Laperous to issue, through the antiquary who has charge of the sale for her, a further defense of the authenticity of her heirloom.

It is asserted that the Murat bed is the camp bed on which the Emperor's body was laid out in the mortuary chapel after the autopsy. According to testimony and the book written by the Emperor's servant, Bertrand, this second bed was not the deathbed, and the room in which the body was laid out was not the death chamber.

The Countess has produced an autograph will of Napoleon, dated 1819, which bequeathed the bed in question to the General Count de Montholon. Montholon had given it to the Emperor in 1816, on the latter complaining of the discomfort of the one at Longwood when he arrived. Various letters and an inventory are offered to prove that the bed never left the possession of the Montholon family after Napoleon gave it back. The Countess is the great-granddaughter of the General.

The controvery has created a stir among antiquarians. It is urged that if the genuineness of this bed should be established a public subscription should be taken up to buy it and present it to the French Nation in order to prevent its going to America. So far no American has bid for it.

There are still more than a dozen widows of the War of 1812 on the pension rolls of the United States.

Here is the way to glistening teeth that dentists now advise

It removes that dingy film from your teeth. It clears cloudy teeth and Firms the Gums. Start today — why wait?

MODERN science now tells us how to brighten dingy teeth and give toneless gums a healthy coral tint. A new way widely urged by leading dentists of the world. Different in formula, action and effect, it does what no other method has yet attained — removes and combats, without harsh grit, the dangerous film that covers teeth and which old type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth. You will feel that film. Under it are the prettier, whiter teeth you envy in others. If you combat that film your teeth will quickly glisten delightfully. Ask your druggist for a tube of Pepsodent. Results will amaze you.

The enemy of teeth and gums

Film is the great enemy of teeth and gums; a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of pyorrhea and most tooth and gum troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Mail the coupon now. Don't expect the same results from old type dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth today.

HOPING FOR WIN OTTAWA ARRIVE AT HAMILTON

All the Players Are in Good Condition Except Connell.

TWENTY-SIX MEN.

Even if Beaten, Senators Still Have Chance for the Pennant.

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—While the vanguard of the Ottawa Rugby team left at noon yesterday for Hamilton two or three players who were unable to leave then, departed last night together with club officials and a fair sized crowd of supporters. The main body reached Toronto last night, spent the night there and proceeded to Hamilton today where the Senators engage Tigers in a crucial Big Four battle. Last night's detachment went straigth through to Hamilton.

A full roster is available for the big tussle today. Twenty-six players will be in the Ottawa party at Hamilton and while the regular team will take the field, Coach McCann will leave his sub list open until the last minute, in order to have as large a field as possible to draw from.

With the exception of Connell, the team is in first class shape and ready to put up a battle royal. The back field star is in none too good shape and may not be included in the starting dozen, but this will depend on his condition at game time. The rest of the squad is fit and ready for the fray.

The plan of attack to be employed was still insecret when the management was consulted yesterday. It is more than likely, however, that the locals will work the aerial attack wherever possible, concentrating their line attack only when necessary. Ottawas have great respect for the Tiger line, but are by no means slighting the Bengal back fields trength. In Karl Quinn and Bert Gibb they figure that they will meet with the toughest opposition of the season.

With so much depending on the result of the game, the players are all keyed up to a very high tension. They have only one common ambition and that is to trim Tigers in Hamilton today. Should they lose they still have a chance for the pennant by defeating the yellow and black here a week hence.

Prior to leaving at noon yesterday the management announced that the team would start out as follows: Flying wing, Emerson; Halves, Connell, Miller and Tuohman; Quarter, Lynch; Snap, Bruce; Insides, Humphrey and Curry; Middles, Timmis and Monohan; Outsides, Starr and Young; Subs, Cote, Pritchard, James, Ketchum, Herbert, Wright, Chevrier, Buells, Kirby, Mulroney, Ault, Grey, Anderson and Short.

MONTREAL SEEK SECOND PLACE

Nicholson Will Reply On Open Field Play Against Argonauts To-day.

CONACHER ABSENT.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—Montreal Big Four rugby players left last night for Toronto, where they meet the Argonauts today in the final game for the two teams in the Interprovincial season. The teams are battling for third position in the standing, and a possible shot at the second berth.

Yesterday it was decided by the Argos not to play Lionel Conacher, the Toronto officials informing Montreal that since they objected to the playing of Conacher on account of his affiliations with the Pittsburgh pro. hockey club, they would withdraw their request that he be permitted to enter the game.

The local squad hopes to break the "jinx" which has followed them when on the road this season, but realize that Argos on their own field will be a different proposition from the Double Blue here last week-end.

Coach Nicholson took up his entire squad last night, and reported all of his twenty-two players fit for a hard tussle. Once again it would seem that "Nick" will rely on the open field play and the kicking game. Argos have a strong front rank, but their backfield is none too steady and it is through this department that Montreal hopes to take advantage.

FORMER WHITE SOX SHORTSTOP DIES

Harvey McLelland Passed Away Yesterday After Five Months' Illness.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—Harvey McLelland, 31, former short stop of the White Sox died at a hospital here yesterday, after an illness of five months. McLellan started his baseball career on the small boy nines of Harrison County and later performed with the Cynthiana team of the Blue Grass League, and in the Western League before joining the White Sox. He was slated for the regular shortstop job this year, but illness prevented him from reporting.

CANADA TO PLAY UNITED STATES IN SOCCER GAME

Championship Title of North America is at Stake To-morrow.

IN NEW YORK.

Match Is Second Fixture in International Series—Canada Won Last Year.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—Teams representative of Canada and the United States clash at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, tomorrow with the supremacy of soccer on the North American continent at stake. The Dominion now holds the title of continental soccer champions by virtue of the Canadian victory at Montreal last year when the United States' eleven was defeated 1 to 0. Tomorrow's game marks the resumption of hostilities and is the second fixture of the international series.

When the starter's whistle calls the teams together at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon the roomy stands at the National League Baseball Club's Park are expected to be packed. A large following of the soccer game in the Dominion is expected in the city tomorrow and groups of fans from Maine, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania are already trickling in for the match.

The teams are expected to line up as follows:

Canada—Halliwell, Toronto, goal; Williams, Toronto, r. full back; Dierden, Toronto, r. half back; Clark, Montreal, l. full back; McKean, Montreal, l. half back; Faulkner, Toronto, outside right; Burness, Toronto, inside right; Moir, Toronto, outside left; McKenzie, Montreal, inside left; McLain, Montreal, centre forward; Cartwright, Hamilton, centre; Buchanan, Montreal, sub.

United States — Steel, Boston, goal; Robertson, Brooklyn, r. full back; Fryer, Fall River, r. half back; Wilson, New Bedford, l. full back; Herd, Brooklyn, l. half back; Brown, New York, outside right; McGuire, Brooklyn, inside right; Floris, Providence, outside left; Millar, Indiana, inside left; Stark, Bethlehem, centre forward; Kelly, Newark, centre; Davis, Philadelphia, sub.

ROSENEATH NEWS

ROSENEATH, Nov. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown attended anniversary services at Baltimore on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Braithwaite visited with friends in Cobourg on Sunday.

A few local sportsmen have gone deer hunting.

The anniversary services were held in the Methodist church last Sunday and were largely attended. Next Sunday the Presbyterian congregation will hold its anniversary services. On Sunday, November 8th, the two congregations unite and will become the United Church of Canada.

A few from here took in the fowl supper at Baltimore on Tuesday night and report a very pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nichol returned on Tuesday night from their honeymoon with friends in Eastern Ontario. His many friends in the village and community extended a hearty welcome to Mrs. Nichol.

Mrs.. (Rev.) Lovelace and daughter are visiting relatives in Napanee.

Rev. John Blodgett, Toronto will preach the Thanksgiving service in St. James' church on Sunday afternoon, November 8th. On Monday afternoon a dedication service will be held at 2.30 p.m., when an organ and bell will be dedicated to the church. In the evening a dinner will be held in the Orange Hall, Roseneath, followed by a program in the Town Hall.

Hallowe'en was very suiet around the village. The kiddies and a few of the young people masqueraded and made social calls and were treated to various edibles but there were no pranks or mischief done.

Mr. and Mrs.. W. Waldie and son, Earl, paid a visit to friends in Bowmanville on Monday.

Mrs. George Clarke is improving in health.

Howard Lapp has been accepted as an assistant in the Royal Bank here.

There were many visitors in the village on Sunday who attended the anniversary services.

Miss Eva Thompson visited her friend, Mrs. E. Braithwaite, over the week end.

Election passed very quietly in this vicinity.

The Women's Institute was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. A. Brown. A goodly number were present and enjoyed a very interesting and beneficial program.

The farmers are taking advantage of these beautiful days and are busy taking in their root crop.

A number of boys from the village and vicinity gathered at the home of Mr. J. Nichols on Tuesday night and serenaded the bride and groom. A luncheon was served and a good time spent and the boys left for home happy and contented.

Miss Hildred Taylor has resigned her position as clerk in Mr. G. A. Dawe's store. Miss Laura Sherwin is taking her place.

Anna Starc, of Newark, is the first Ohio woman and one of the first of her sex in the entire country to become a certified public accountant.

New Men For Pittsburgh.

Paul Waner, at left, former outfielder of the San Francisco, Cal., baseball club, who has been puchased along with Shortstop Hal Rhyme, at right of the same team, by Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburg Pirates, winners of the 1925 world series championship, for $100,000.

2 TYPES OF PLAY WILL BE TESTED

Contrasting Systems of Strategy Will Be Attempted in McGill-Toronto Game.

SIDES ARE EVEN.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—Diametrically opposite styles of rugby are expected to be shown when the University of Toronto rugby squad meets McGill at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium here today. Varsity has been working on a system of strategy based on offensive line play, with a fair sprinkling of backfield work. McGill has shown a fair amount of line play in their games to date, but have, as far as they were allowed by Queen's in their two games, attempted to force the attack by punting and open field work by the backs. The two types will be tested this afternoon on what should prove a fairly even basis, as both squads, taken man for man are judged about equal in strength, this despite the fact that Toronto showed woefully weak last Saturday against the champion Queen's players.

Varsity's Alibi

Varsity were led into Montreal this evening by Coach Biddy Barr, and took up headquarters at a local hotel. It was a determined lot of clean-cut athletes, who, in the lobbies last night, stated that they were out to show the football public of the east that last Saturday was a decidedly off-day for them and that they are able to perform much better than their game against Queen's would indicate. The players, practically to a man, held that the luck of the schedule mitigated against them. Three weeks without a serious struggle was too long a lay-off and this, coupled with the nervousness of a number of the younger players on the squad who suddenly found themselves thrust into the limelight in a most important struggle, proved too severe a test. If the team had been allowed by the schedule to have gradually worked up to their big struggle with Queen's they believe the result would have been different.

BETHANY NEWS

BETHANY, Nov. 7.—The attendance at the Young People's League on Wednesday evening was very small. The chair was taken by the president, P. C. Brown. After singing the opening hymn the Scripture Lesson was read followed by prayer by Rev.. Poulter. Miss V. B. Lee, 1st vice president then took the chair and the following programe was given. The topic "Devotion" was taken by P. C. Brown. Miss Violet Jackson gave a reading, Miss Hazel Jackson and Miss Jean McKinnon sang. Several others gave readings and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Wm. Lee is visiting her sister, Mrs. Richard Howden at Fairmount.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Fallis were visitors to Peterboro on Wednesday.

Miss Myrtle Fallis and Miss Violet Jackson were visitors to Millbrook on Wednesday.

Mr. Richard Howden of Fairmount was a visitor to the village on Wednesday.

Rev. and Mrs. Poulter, Mrs. T. Jackson and P. C., Brown motored to Port Hope on Thursday to attend the Young People's rally, being held in the United church.

Several car loads of young people attended the dance in Cavan Community Hall Thursday evening.

BETHANY, Nov. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Waram motored to Toronto on Saturday to spend the week-end with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wake and daughter, of Lindsay, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wake.

Mrs. Richard Fallis was a week-end visitor to Toronto.

Mr. Louis Staples was a visitor to Lindsay on Sunday.

Messrs. Wellington Card and O H. McGill left on Monday evening to join a company of friends at a hunting camp north of Bonar Law.

The quarterly tea in connettion with the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church will be held Tuesday, November 10, instead of in December, as formerly planned, owing to the annual bazaar of the Adult Bible Class of the Sunday School being held early in December.

Messrs. Norman Steer and Ernest Cavan were business visitors to Toronto on Tuesday.

Mr. Geo. McCartney, who recently sold his residence in the village, moved to Peterboro on Monday. Both Mr. and Mrs. McCartney have been residents of this village for many years. At one time Mr. McCartney carried on a very successful business as a carriage maker. Both of them were always ready to help in anything that was to the betterment of the village. Mrs. McCartney was a great helper in Institute work, while Mr. McCartney was a loyal Orangeman and staunch Conservative, and was very active in the last campaign. They, with their daughter, were very active workers in the Presbyterian Church, and while they will be greatly missed in the village, best wishes go with them to their new home in Peterboro.

ROSENEATH NEWS

ROSENEATH, Nov. 7. — Mrs. Wm. Neal, of Peterboro, who has been attending her sister, Mrs. Geo. Clarke, has returned home.

Mrs. Clarke is gradually improving after her illness.

Measles seem to be the order of the day, several houses bearing the card of warning.

Mr. John Nichol was united in marriage to Miss E. Bradley of Kingston on Wednesday. The service was performed by the Rev. J. C. Wilson of Brighton, at the Brighton parsonage. After a motor trip to Smiths Falls, Ottawa and other eastern points, the happy couple will take up their residence on the groom's farm, one mile east of Roseneath.

The election passed over in this township very quietly, with F. J. Slade, the Liberal candidate, having a majority of 23 over his successful opponent, M. E. Maybee, the Conservative standard bearer.

The election returns were received on Wednesday night over Messrs. Brisbin and Dawe's radios and were very much appreciated by the large numbers who waited until midnight to get all possible and then went home without supporters of either party being entirely satisfied that their party was either defeated or elected although the Conservative party was conceded the victory.

The people have been treated to an early winter in this locality. Some potatoes are still in the ground and hardly any turnips at all are under shelter. Barrels of apples are hanging on the trees, the owners never looking for such frosts so early, and the majority of these are entirely ruined, while a few may be used for cider.

The Sherwin Bros. are doing a wholesale trade this fall grinding apples for cider.

The car owned by Leslie Down in which he and his brother were hurt, is a total wreck, practically the only things of any value left being the tires and wheels.

A case of scarlet fever is reported from the west end ow the township.

Mr. Fred Turner is doing nicely after his motor accident in Colborne, where he was engaged picking apples. He had one rib broken, while three others were crackd.

Mr. Howard Lapp has been taken on as junior with the local Royal Bank staff.

On Tuesday last the W.M.S. of the Methodist church entertained the ladies of the corresponding societies from the Presbyterian church and St. James' Anglican church. Miss Paul, returned missionary from British Columbia, addressed them and proved a very interesting speaker, she having spent so many years among the Indians and foreigners.

This sufferer literally covered with skin disease—15 years of suffering—then his whole body cleared off in 45 days—a new skin grown—no pain, no itching, no irritation.

This story seems incredible as do hundreds of other cases relieved by the powerful liquid for the treatment of skin diseases.

YOUNG PAINTER HIGHLY PRAISED

Robin Watt, Formerly of Victoria, B.C., Exhibits in London.

GREAT WAR HERO.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).— The Press here speaks well of the work of a young Canadian painter, Robin Watt, formerly of Victoria, B.C. During the earlier part of the war Mr. Watt held a commission in the Yorkshire Regiment (the Green Howards) and subsequently became aide to General Currie. He was wounded four times, and holds the Military Cross and bar.

Mr. Watt's latest work is on view at the exhibition of pictures and drawings by ex-officers now being held at the Royal British Art Club. "He is a clean incisive draftsman," says the Sunday Times. "His oils, particularly his self-portrait, show genuine ability and great promise"

The Daily Express speaks of Mr. Watt's strong portraits showing distinctive work of high merit. The exhibition was opened by the Duke of Connaught, and all receipts will be devoted to military charities.

Reprieve Displeased Negro Nearly Cost Chicken Dinner

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(Canadian press). — Campbell McCarthy, a negro, who was to have been hanged this morning, was not entirely filled with happiness yesterday when he received word of an eleventh hour stay of execution until next month while his case is taken to the Supreme Court.

"That's mighty fine," he smiled when the news reached him. Then his face sobering, he added: "But captain, I've got just one favor to ask. I want to stay here in the death cell until I get the chicken dinner they bring to all condemned men."

The request was granted.

It was decided to hold the weekly meetings on Tuesday at 7.30 o'clock.

BUILDING BETTER.

Big Increase Shown Throughout Dominion, With Quebec Leading.

Total awards for Canadian construction for the month of October, as compiled by MacLean Building Reports, Limited, were $29,647,400 in September. The total for October 1924 was $21,066,800. This year's figure is an increase of 40.8% over the corresponding period of last year. Residential building accounted for 29.8% of the October building, amounting to $8,826,700. Business building amounted to $5,314,900 or 18%; industrial building $7,535,800 or 25.4% and public works and utilities $7,970,100 or 26.8%..

The activity was distributed among the provinces as follows: — Ontario 26.7%; Quebec 57.1% Prairie Provinces 5.8%; British Columbia 8.5% and Maritime Provinces 1.9%. Contemplated new work in October aggregated $22,163,500.

Total construction started from January 1st to October 31st has amounted to $238,324,900 compared with $222,779,100 during the corresponding period of last year, an increase of 7%.

The above figures speak for themselves. They need no comment, especially when it is remembered that up to the end of July the total value of contracts awarded were several millions less than for the corresponding period of last year. In other words during the past three months the volume of work started has been increasing steadily instead of falling off as is usual at this season of the year. It is particularly gratifying to note the increase of industrial work. For the year this amounted to twenty-six millions of dollars while for the corresponding period for last year the total was less than thirteen million Residential building also shows a total increase of sixteen millions of dollars for the year to date.

Quebec Province shows the greatest portion of increase in general construction, the Maritime Provinces are holding their own while the Western Provinces show an increase of approximately 8%.

CASTLETON NEWS.

CASTLETON, Nov. 7.—All roads lead to Morganston on Sunday, November 8th, to hear Rev. A. H. Foster of Madoc who has charge of the anniversary services at 2.30 and 7.30.

Castletons' chicken pie supper is being staged for November 18th in the United Church. Plans are under way and particulars will be given next week. The proceeds are to be applied exclusively toward the church community shed fund.

The recent heavy frosts have played havoc with the balance of the apple crop in this section. Hundreds of barrels of apples have been frozen on the trees and some of the farmers have lost very heavily.

Mr. P. A. Thompson is confined to his home through illness.

The Women's Institute debating team, consisting of Miss Agnes Loyst, Marion Tait, Evelyn Bowen, meet Brighton team Wednesday of this week in the Assembly Hall of Brighton High School. The subject is "Resolved that the optimist does more for humanity than the pessimist."

One of the oldest citizens of this township and community, Mr. William Poole, died in the Cobourg General Hospital on Saturday night, October 31st. He had been ill for some time with a cancer and his passing was not unexpected. Mr. Poole was born in Saree Bridge, Scotland, nearly ninety-four years ago.. When a young man twenty years of age he came to Canada and settled at Grafton and rince that time has lived in and about Castleton. He was never married and made his home in different places and wherver he went he made lasting friends. For years he taught school in Cramahe township. He was a fine penman and was clever at etching and drawing on linen. Having no relatives in Canada certain of his friends took a real interest in him and did much for his comfort and care. The funeral service was held in the Castleton United church on Monday, November 2nd, conducted by Rev. J. E. Beckel, assisted by Rev. J. Edwards. The pallbearers were old friends and were: Messrs. Fred Jones, Frank Cowie, Judd Finn, Hiram Moore, Fred Wolfraim and John E. Wolfraim. Interment took place in Castleton cemetery. Many of his old pupils and friends paid tribute to the influence of a wise teacher and an educated, kindly, true nobleman

TITANS FIGHT FOR HEAD PLACE

Tigers Are at Full Strength For First Time This Season.

HAMILTON AGOG.

HAMILTON, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Hamilton has for the first time this season started to take football seriously. Tickets are much in demand, and the cause of it all is the annual clash between the Bengals and Ottawa, which will be staged at the H.A.A.A. field this afternoon, commencing at 2.45 sharp, and Tigers, for the first time this season, will be at full strength. Bert Gibb and Bryan Timmis, injured in the opening game of the season, are fit and ready, for Marriott expects to play an important part in Marriott's predicted victory for the Bengals.

Tigers must win to stay in the running. A defeat means that they will, as Argos and Montreal have done, pass out of the picture. Victory will tie them with the Senators and the championship will be decided in Ottawa when the two teams clash there one week from to-day. Indications are that the important tilt will be played on a bare and fast field. Friday's drying wind helped put the field in fair shape, and the weatherman's promise for to-day is fair and cooler. This, it is expected, will help the Bengals. The light backfield, composed of Quinn, Walker and Gibb are fast and naturally like the dry going. It will also help the line, as there are some speedy men on the front guard.

Ottawa Confident.

Ottawa, accompanied by some fifty rooters, reached the city late last night and took up headquarters at the Royal Connaught Hotel. Coach Dave McCann, in charge of the squad, felt confident that victory would be his to-day. He does not care what kind of a field the teams have to play on, as he figures his squad can show class, be it wet or dry. Joe Connell, reported in early despatches as a member of the hospital squad, was with the Ottawa team, and there is a strong possibility of him playing in to-day's game.

Line-up.

Tigers—Timmis, flying wing; Quinn, Gibb and Walker, backs; McKelvy, quarter; Hannon, snap; Shinbin and McBride, inside wing; Baker and Elford, middle wing; Bowman and Veale, outside wing.

Ottawa—Emmerson, flying wing; Connell, Tubman and Miller, backs; Lynch, quarter; Bruce, snap; Pritchard and Humphrey, inside wing; J. Timmis and Monohan, middle wing; Young and Anderson, outside wing.

WINDSOR TEAM IN SENIOR O.H.A.

Osgoode Hall and T. C. C. Will Also Play Senior Hockey.

ORDERS TO VARSITY.

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press)—The Border Cities hockey club of Windsor was admitted to the senior series of the O.H.A. at a meeting of the executive held last night but cannot draw on players from Walkerville or any of the other border cities and must foster a junior team in accordance with the constitution of the Ontario Hockey Association, which compels all senior clubs to foster junior hockey. Osgoode Hall and Toronto Canoe Club were also taken into the senior series, Osgoode Hall to use only law students and members of the law society. Walkerville and Wingham Clubs were admitted to the intermediate series while the Durham club will be allowed to play in the sae series if its rink comes up to the O.H.A. specifications. The application of the Dunnville Maple Leafs was referred to the Dunnville A.A.A. which operated the team in Dunnville last season. Windsor Maroons and Windsor Monarchs will continue in the intermediate series and with Walkerville will play as a group.

It was decided by the executive that if the University of Toronto wishes to play in the O.H.A. senior series it must take its chance in the Allen Cup play-downs through that body. This decision means that if Varsity should be beaten in the O. H.A. and win the Intercollegiate championship they cannot take part in the Canadian championship series or if they win both series they must go through as an O.H.A. team. Of course if Varsity decides to play in the Intercollegiate and wins the championship of that league they may take part in the Allan Cup games.

Alfred Cole, who played with Stratford seniors last season, was refused a certificate to play in Toronto.

There will be another meeting.

GREYHOUNDS MAY STAY WITH SAULT

Situation in International League Is Not Yet Known.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 7 (Canadian Press).—There is a big possibility, it is reported in local athletic circles that the Greyhounds will wear a Sault uniform during the coming hockey season after all. Just what the situation in regard to the International League will be is not known, but the probability that Pittsburgh will play in the Eastern instead of the Western group may possible have affected the situation.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

BIG DOUBLE PROGRAMME.

Two Features—Wm. Desmond in "The Sunset Trail" and Thunder the Marvel Dog in "Black Lightning."

Patrons of the Royal are getting an extra treat this week-end. The two above-mentioned features are both high-class entertainment and have been drawing large crowds. To-night is the last opportunity to see them.

"A WOMAN'S WOMAN" HAS SPLENDID CAST.

Mary Alden, Famous For Mother Roles, Heads Notable Players in Picture Drama.

Seldom do motion picture enthusiasts find such an all-star cast as that in the Charles Giblyn production, "A Woman's Woman," which is announced as the feature attraction coming next Monday to the Royal Theatre under release by Allied Producers and Distributors Corporation, and certain it is that theatre goers are in for a rare treat from the first to the very end of this photoplay.

In the first place there is Mary Alden in the leading feminine role. That in itself is almost enough, but when it is explained that Miss Alden will be seen at her very best in her very own type of character, the quality of the entertainment is made doubly certain.

In the role of the woman, who after twenty years of marriage, finds herself but an unpaid domestic drudge for husband and family, and is seeking a way out, Miss Alden never gave a better example of her splendid artistry.

In her support are such widely known and popular film players as Louise Lee and Dorothy MacKail, who portray the two young daughters of the heroine? Holmes E. Herbert and Albert Hackett, in the respective roles of husband and son, Others in the cast are Rod La Rocque, Horace James and Cleo Madison. The last named is one of the real emotional stars of the screen, and in 'A Woman's Woman' plays the role of the elocutionist-widow who so readily 'understands' the philandering husband of the heroine who has reached what some people term the "dangerous age of forty" and is doing his very best to cosceal the fact from even himself. Donald Hall and J. Barney Sherry are also in the cast, the former in the role of gentlemanly villain and the latter as the dignified United States Senator.

"DRUSILLA WITH A MILLION," The adaptation of Elizabeth Cooper's popular novel of the same name, proves how beautifully a best seller may be transplanted to the screen if Scenario and Director co-operate in turning out an Artistic and Finished Job—It comes to the Royal Theatre soon.

With Mary Carr in the title role, cast most fortunately as the little old lady, a charity patient in a Home who suddenly inherits great wealth; and with Priscilla Bonner and Kenneth Harlan bearing the brunt of the interpretation of love's young dream, the Associated Arts production which was directed by F. Harmon Weight, is crammed with charming comedy, wistful pathos, and drama of the most perfect sort. Seldom if ever has a more powerful scene been staged than in the court room where the frightened little woman is arraigned in defence of her philanthropic work in befriending orphan babies. Here, too, the lawyer who is acting for the disinherited young Colin Arnold in trying to oust Drusilla from her new ly found wealth is confronted with Collin's wife, young mother with babe in her arms for whom Collin has long searched in vain. Tense drama and a thundering wallop vie in the production with tears and laughter.

The comedy of the servants in the Arnold home, ministering to the simple soul, who has so lately been a slavey in a charity institution, is beautifully developed, as well as the laughable situations which arise from the injection of a score or so of babies into the menage. The picture is one long delight; fresh, wholesome and thoroughly human.

This picture played at Massey Hall Toronto, for two weeks, and at the Trivoli for a third. It will be presented locally under the auspices of the Peterboro Women's Council, of whom tickets may now be obtained.

AT THE CAPITOL

"A REGULAR FELLOW," RAY GRIFFITH HIT.

First Paramount Starring Comedy Termed Real Side-Splitter.

Very much akin to the poor little rich boy, who gazes from the rear seat of the family limousine with envious eyes on the ragged urchin playing ball is Raymond Griffith in his first starring production for Paramount, "A Regular Fellow," which tells in a screamingly funny manner of a European prince, who abhors display parades, social affairs and the like and who just wants to be one of the common people.

Always he is on display. He is shown here and he is shown there, always "on dress parade."

In desperation he goes to his father and serves notice that he is either going to quit the job of Prince or else take a vacation. The King laughs the idea off telling him he cannot even escape from the palace grounds. He is just about out of the palace when he is swept in again in the midst of a crowd of Cook's tourists. A bright idea comes to him and he manages to have the tourists ejected from the palace, concealing himself in the midst of them to be sure to be thrown out.

In the group he has seen Mary Brian, and he falls in love with her, but she abuses him because she blames him for not seeing the Prince—Griffith starts to explain to the girl but is grabbed by several members of his staff and dragged into the palace again.

Then things do happen and the picture comes to an end with the most novel twist and the most highly humorous situation ever seen in a Griffith picture.

"A Regular Fellow" opens at the Capitol Theatre on Monday with two shows on the holiday evening at 7 and 9.

"WHITE DESERT" BARKER'S NEXT

Noted Maker of Thrillers Uses Continental Divide as Background.

SNOW AVALANCHE IN FILM

Claire Windsor, Pat O'Malley and Robert Frazer Head Great Cast.

Up in the "Top of the World" country, with its wind-worn peaks and desert-like stretches of snow and ice, was born what is reported to be one of the greatest out-door pictures of the year, "The White Desert," which will open at the Regent Theatre on Monday.

Reginald Barker, who has gained fame with the picture-going public for plays of this type, directed the production for Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer. It is said to surpass his recent picture, "The Great Divide," which was heralded as one of the greatest pictures of its kind.

A Great Cast.

Claire Windsor, who plays the role of Robinette, is said to have made one of her finest characterizations in this production. Pt O'Malley portrays the part of Barry Houston. He has made some fine screen contributions recently, but in this role that called for real he-man stunts, he is said to have surpassed anything that he has done on the screen before.

Robert Frazer is said to have given a finished performance in the role of John Keith, and Frank Currier as Saul McFarlane, and Matthew Betz as Buck Carson are reported to live portrayed their roles in convincing fashion. Snitz Edwards and Trixie Friganza contributed the comedy relief.

The supporting cast includes William Eugene, Eidney Bracey, Priscilla Bonner, Roy Laidlaw, David Dunbar, Sojin, Milton Ross, and Bert Sprotte.

AT THE GRAND

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM IN "FOOT-LOOSE."

Acclaimed as one of the really great actors of the present day, William Faversham, who will appear in the comedy drama, "Foot-Loose," at the Grand on Thursday, Nov. 12, has to his credit so many fine achievements that to enumerate them is like calling off a list of the high lights in an American theatre. He has climbed to a position supreme and unassailable. Whatever this player undertakes commands the keenest interest, more than any other star or actor of today, of that large class of theatregoers who appreciate the best in the theatre.

Always a name to conjure with, Mr. Faversham has enriched the gallery of famous portraits with numerous fine portrayals. Mr. Faversham first won favor with the presentation of such plays under the Frohman banner as: "Sowing of the Wind," "The Masqueraders," "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Under the Red Robe," "Lord and Lady Algy" and "Diplomacy." In these he played the leading role.

He originated in this country the leading male roles in such famous plays as "Letty," "A Royal Rival" and "The Squaw Man," and he produced as actor-manager and originated or appeared in the important roles in such ambitious productions as "The Fawn," "The Hawk," "The World and His Wife," "Herod," "Othello" and "Julius Caesar."

And new we are to have this distinguished actor at the head of his own organization of brilliant players in "Foot-Loose." Mr. Faversham's appearance here will assuredly be the cause of much rejoicing on the part of his many admirers, and especially those who appreciate the best the drama affords, since his Sir Horace Welby in "Foot-Loose" is reported to be an ideal Faversham role.

As to the play, it is from the pen of Zoe Akins, the brilliant young woman who so ably authored "Declassee" for Ethel Barrymore and "The Varying Shore" for Elsie Ferguson. The piece is declared to be a modern European society drama of intrigue, one of the most fascinating and successful plays ever produced in this or any other country. Its leading roles in the hands of Mr. Faversham and Sarah Truax, Mr. Faversham's leading feminine support, should assure theatregoers of a treat so brilliant it will long be treasured in memory.

In cast, too, this delightful offering is a veritable treat, as Mr. Faversham, who staged "Foot-Loose," has surrounded himself with a list of notables in keeping with the high standard of excellence for which he is famed.

In the super-excellent cast to appear here, besides Mr. Faversham, will be: Sarah Truax, Edith Campbell, Ann Warrington, Antonio Salerno, Dennis Cleugh, Beatrice Vert, Milton C. Herman and others.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR. 6

Those who are slaves to erroneous creeds, and consequently are color blind, cannot or do not see the glorious truths pertaining to the Kingdom of God. Many of these very ones have been called to the high honor of being joint heirs with Jesus Christ. They have not responded to the call, and therefore not fulfilling the necessary conditions, they have not been chosen, and will not be engaged jointly with Jesus in the restoration of Adam and his posterity. The few chosen out of the world of mankind, who do the will of God, will comprise, and be called, the "Bride of Christ." Associated with Jesus they will call all to partake of the water of life. Methinks there will be few only that will not heed the call. All will have a fair, full trial for endless life endless life on earth, not in heaven. This trial will be under the most favorable conditions. There will be no tempting devil, no teachers of error. All shall know the will of God. The time is drawing near, when all who mourn now shall be comforted.

"Y" FINANCE CAMPAIGN

The Young Women's Christian Association is much pleased with the kindly response and interest of Peterboro citizens in its finance campaign and its work. Several subscriptions have come in unsolicited to the office and this is a help to the collectors. The campaign will be extended another week or two in order to give the ladies time to call on everyone.

The following are extracts from three letters which accompanied subscriptions:

"We enclose herewith a cheque for $50.00 annual subscription to help your campaign along."

"I am enclosing a cheque for the Y.W.C.A. and hope that you will be successful in collecting a large amount, to carry on your work, which is a credit to Peterboro.'

"I will be out of the city for two weeks, but upon my return will be pleased to send you a cheque for the same amount as last year. I did not realize the Y.W.C.A. did so much community work. I am indeed glad to contribute."

CHOIR VISITED AT PROTESTANT HOME

St. James' Songsters Put On Programme of Music and Recitations For Old People.

Yesterday evening the Protestant Home was visited by the choir of St. James Church, F. W. Chenhall, organist, and Frank Pratt, chairman who put on an excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music and recitations. This was very much appreciated by all, especially by one old gentleman who, having been a member of a choir himself, was quite insatiable in his demand for the songs he knew.

The visitors also served dainty refreshments at the close of the programme and when they left they carried with them the hearty thanks of those to whom they had given such a pleasant evening.

JAPAN OPPOSED TO CHINESE PROPOSALS

Interim Tariff Cannot Be Higher Than Authorized By Tariff.

PEKING, Nov. 7 — (Canadian Press).—China's proposals for interim tariffs, to be levied prior to the restoration of full tariff autonomy, met with Japanese opposition yesterday in the Chinese customs conference's second committee ,charged with the framing of interim measures.

Eki Hioki, of the Japanese delegation ,said that interim levies higher than those authorized by the Washington tariff treaty (A 2 1-2 per cent general surtax and 5 per cent advelorem) would be beyond the competence of this conference.

WRECKAGE ASHORE.

Debris From Foundered Barge Drifts to Land—Broke From Tow Steamer.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press). — The wreckage from the barge J. L. Crane, lost in a gale on Lake Superior Thursday night, has come ashore three miles west of Whitefish Point. The barge, with a crew of nine, including a woman cook, broke from her tow steamer Herman Hettler in Thursday's storm.

FURTHER ARRESTS ?

Army General and Socialist Deputy Are Reported Arrested in Rome.

ROME, November 7. — United Press. — The Popolo Di Rome, without confirmation from other sources, brings a persistent rumor that another army general, as well as a United Socialist deputy, have been arrested in turn in connection with the plot to kill Premier Mussolini.

DECK HAND DROWNED.

Thomas Echlin Fell Into Lock Near Cornwall Yesterday.

CORNWALL, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Thomas Echlin, aged 23, of Perth, Ont., a deck-hand of the freighter Shirley Taylor, was drowned in Lock 20 above Cornwall yesterday.

TOURISTS BEATEN.

British Bowlers Lost Fourth Straight Match in Australia.

LAUNCESTON, Tasmania, Nov. 7. — Canadian Press. — The British Bowlers who are touring Australia and have been defeated three times by South Australian teams, were defeated here to-day by a team of Tasmanian bowlers by a score of 166 to 119.

A Little Trio From France To New York To Play At Friend's House Is Nothing To British Cellist

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (United News).—Sheridan Russell, a British 'cellist, has come all the way from Europe to keep a promise. Arriving here yesterday afternoon, he kept the promise and will sail back to France today. Earlier in the year, Russell assured his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Thomas of New York, that he would come here in November for a private recital in their home. His visit, one of scarcely twenty-four hours was necessarily cut short because in the meantime he had contracted for a French concert.

"No one thought I would do it," he admitted, "but I thought I might as well. I had fifteen days with nothing else to do."

K. OF C. CLUB HOUSE TO RE-OPEN MONDAY

Knights Have Prepared Ambitious Programme For Occasion.

The Knights of Columbus have planned an ambitious programme for the reopening of their recently enlarged club house ,on Monday, Thanksgiving Day. At nine o'clock, Mass will be celebrated at St. Peters Cathedral with a special sermon by Rev. J. McAuley of Ennismore. At 10.30 a.m. there will be a reception and inspection of the club rooms, with bowling, cards and billiards.

At noon, a Thanksgiving Dinner will be held at the Empress Hotel when State Deputy R. A. Jeffrey of Arnprior and other State officers will be present, and a programme of speeches and musical numbers will be given Visitors are also expected from Toronto, Cobourg and Lindsay.

The day's celebration ends with a social evening of cards and dancing.

More Arrests In Italy In the Mussolini Plot

ROME, November 7. Canadian Press. — Further arrests and detentions were reported in various parts of Italy to-day in connection with the plot against the life of Premier Mussolini. The new arrests as detailed by the Messagerio, and the official Fascist organ, Popolo Di Rome, were made at Mantua, Genoa, Turin and Naples. One of those taken into custody at Naples is a former postal director, a brother of General Cappelle.

U.S. Steel Reaches New Peak In Early Show Of Strength

NEW YORK, November 7. — Canadian Press. — Stock prices reacted sharply to-day after an early demonstration of strength had swept away many industrial issues, into new high ground for the year, on gains of 1 to 4 points. With U. S. Steel selling at the highest price in its history, heavy buying was attracted from many quarters quickly elevating it to a new peak at 139¼ before it crumbled under an avalanche of week-end realizing sales. Short selling also developed in considerable volume, promoted by professionals.

Lack Of Buyers' Support Causes Chicago Wheat Sag

CHICAGO, Ill., November 7. Canadian Press. Wheat prices underwent a decided set back to-day soon after the opening. Selling in houses with an eastern connection took the lead, and disclosed that the market was devoid of any aggressive support from the buyers. On the break that ensued in values, a number of standing orders to let go of holdings, if necessary, to stop the losses, were automatically forced into action. The opening 3-4c lower to ¼c higher, new style, was followed by a sharp drop all around, December touching 147 3-8 and aMy 144¼.

Wet weather likely to delay the crp movement gave an upward swing to the corn market.

Oats took their cue from wheat, rather than from corn. After opening 1-8c down to ¼c up, December 38½ the oats market underwent something of a sag.

Provisions were weak, influenced by lower quotations on hogs.

Toronto Stocks Trading Takes Easier Movement

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—With the trading scattered over a broad list, but light in volume, the market trend on the Toronto stock exchange was definitely easier. Smelters and Brazilian were the only stocks dealt in to any extent, though Tractions received some attention, fluctuating very narrowly. Brazilian at 78 closed a quarter lower and Smelters a full point lower at 160 1-4. C.P.R. and Atlantic Sugar were other issues easing a point at 148 and 29 respectively. Fractional declines were scattered freely throughout the list.

OLD COUNTRY SOCCER.

MAIDSTONE, England., Nov. 7.—Canadian Press. — England defeated Ireland by six goals to four in an international amateur soccer match here to-day.

Buffalo Detective Enters Ranks Of Plane Sleuths

BUFFALO, Nov. 7 (United Press). — Detective "Stormy Bill" Jordan makes his bow today as the first member of the local force to recover a stolen airplane. The machine, a Curtiss Oriole, was found in a West side garage. It had been stolen two months from the Olean Aviation Field at Hinsdale, Cattaraugus County. According to Jordan, the plane was stolen by a flying instructor of Erie, Pa., who is now under arrest in Pittsburgh for the alleged theft of an automobile.

The Gobbler Of Yesterday Is a Trimmed Fowl To-day

The market tables to-day groaned with the weight of fat turkeys whose lives were sacrificed that the people of Peterboro might in some material way manifest the spirit of thankfulness for the blessings which have been accorded them during the past season when old Mother Earth gave so freely of her produce. Smiling market ladies stood proudly near their wares. All through the summer they watched their lordly gobblers stalking proudly across the yard.

Should they wish to blame anyone for the severe fate which pursues them, the turkeys must hark back to the days of the Pilgrim Fathers, who after the first crop was safely housed, took their favorite blunderbuses under their arms and proceeded to stalk the wild turkeys with which the forests were plentifully supplied.

The succulent turkey viands together with much pumpkin pie and huge supplies of nut meats formed a meal which the Pilgrims might well have taken as an indication of excessive gratitude. The custom has continued to this day, and although the occasion of thanskgiving may be somewhat clouded by the passage of years the day is none the less recognized as one of the greater feast days of the year. This is more especially true since the incorporation of Armistice Day. Now the spirit of thanksgiving is blended with that of a tender sorrow because of the association of war time memories.

NEW KHALIFA FOR SPANISH MORCCO

Muley El Hassan, a Boy of Fifteen, To Be New Ruler.

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, Nov. 7, Canadian Press. — General Prime De Rivera, head of the military directorate in Spain, arrived here last evening.

Preparations are proceeding for the proclamation next Monday of a new Khalifa (supreme Moorish authority) in the Spanish zone. Muley El Hassan, a boy of 15 years, is to be inaugurated.

AN INSPECTION MONDAY MORNING

General Elmslie Will Inspect Rangers at Rifle Ranges.

The annual general inspection of the Peterboro Rangers will be held on Monday morning. General Elmslie, G.O.C., M.D., 3, is the inspecting officer.

The inspection this year will take the form of a company attack competition at the rifle ranges, and the various companies will start for the ranges at intervals, commencing at about 8.00 o'clock. This is district competition and the local companies have a chance to win a cup and other handsome prizes. There is keen rivalry between the four companies of the ranges, and the efforts of the men will be made even keener by the opportunity to be known as the banner company of the district.

Captain Pefley, district paymaster, will accompany General Elmslie to the city.

Around The City.

Peter Perdue of Downeyville escaped injury by a narrow margin when a car he was driving south on Rogers Street smashed into a Cooney and Jopling truck proceeding east on Hunter. The car belonging to Perdue suffered a general dismantling of the forward section including radiator and fenders while the top was hurled to the curb.

At 10.29 last night, the fire brigade received a call to the Canadian General Electric Company. The fire was caused by oil mixing with heated filings in the tray of a boring machine. The damage has not yet been ascertained.

WEDDING BELLS.

MACKENZIE—MORGAN.

The marriage took place to-day, in Peterboro, of William Angus MacKenzie, of Toronto, son of the late Kenneth and Agnes MacKenzie of Hamilton, to Isabella, daughter of the late Richard and Margaret Morgan, of Peterboro, Rev. R. Bamforth officiating.

LIPSETT—JOHNSON.

The marriage was solemnized at St. James' Chapel, Kingston, on October 24th, by Rev. T. W. Savary, of Edna Muriel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Johnson of Kingston, and John B. Lipsett, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lipsett of this city.

Mr. Lipsett, who is a member of The Kingston Standard Publishing Company staff, was presented with a souvenir of their regard by his fellow-employees, prior to his wedding, the presentation being made by W. R. Givens, president of the company, who proffered Mr. Lipsett the sincere wishes of the whole staff for his happiness, and referred to the splendid service given by Mr. Lipsett to The Standard.

OBITUARY.

MARY ELLEN STARR.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Ellen Starr took place from the family residence, 655 Roger Street, on Friday afternoon. The many floral tributes and large number of friends who attended the funeral showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held by the community. The pall-bearers were, Harry Starr, Robert Starr, Geoge Akes, E. Hollingsworth, T. O'Connor and William Mowry. The remains were laid away in the Little Lake Cemertery, the Rev. G. J. Bousfield conducting the funeral service.

MRS. ALLEN ARMSTRONG.

The death occurred on Friday afternoon of Emma Russell, beloved wife of Allen Armstrong, 76 Sophia street. She was born in Douro township but had lived in Peterborough most of her life. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, three sons, Ernest, of Toronto Edmund, of Detroit, and William, of Peterborough, and two daughters Mrs Frank Barrie and Miss Dorothy at home.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 76 Sophia st., on Monday afternoon. The service will be held at two o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. J. W. Gordon. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear sister, Ellen May Lonsberry, beloved wife of Charles Baker, who passed away November 7, 1922.

We grieve for you, dear sister,
But not with outward show.
For hearts that mourn sincerely
Mourn silently and low.

LADY BOWLERS FORM SCHEDULE

New Alleys at Knights of Columbus Rooms To Open.

136 IN LINE.

An enthusiastic and largely-attended meeting of the lady bowlers who will take part in the winter schedule of games at the new bowling alleys to be opened at the Knights of Columbus rooms on Monday, was held in the assembly hall of the club building last night. The majority of the lady bowlers, who total one hundred and thirty-six, with twenty teams, were in attendance at the meeting, which was presided over by Mr. S. Hickey. The captains of the various teams and their players were presented with neatly typed schedules of the games, which commence next Tuesday.

The ladies may use the new alleys from five to eight o'clock every day, with the exception of Saturday. Tuesday evening will be ladies' night, when the alleys will also be available for feminine players from eight to eleven o'clock. An ambitious schedule of games has been drawn up for the coming season.

Mr. Hickey explained the schedule and its workings to the ladies, and Rev. P. Costello and Mr. J. J. Duffus, the Grand Knight, both of whom were present, also spoke briefly, urging upon their hearers the necessity of co-operation and of attendance at the games in which they were scheduled to play. Father Costello extended his congratulations to Mr. Duffus and to the different men, with particular reference to Mr. S. Hickey, who had spent so much time in perfecting arrangements with regard to the bowling alleys. Mr. Duffus announced the award of prizes at the end of the season for the high single score and for the high three games, also practically committed himself to the promise of a banquet to the lady bowlers at the conclusion of their schedule.

The names of the teams and of their captains are as follows: Regler Fellers, Miss Florence Giroux; Orioles, Miss Alma Fontaine; Blue Bells, Miss Gertrude Doyle; West Ends, Mrs. J. J. Doris; Buttercups, Miss Margaret O'Toole; Morning Glories, Miss Marion Hayes; Larks, Miss Margaret O'Brien; Sunflowers, Miss Helen Lynch; Owls, Miss Katherine McDonald; Daisies, Miss Geraldine Collins; Pansies, Miss Ada Shaughnessy; Daffodils, Miss Florence Murray; Orchids, Miss Marita Collins; Tulips, Miss Josephine Hunt; Roses, Miss Mamie Archambault; Marigolds, Miss Norah Shevlin; Shamrocks, Miss Helen Quinn; Bluebirds, Miss Carmelita Fitzgerald; Poppies, Miss Katie Radey; Wrens, Miss Myra Moloney.

War Veterans Honor Comrades Who Have Entered Into Rest

Annual Armistice Sunday Memorial Service Held in the Opera House—Attended by Returned Men, Militia Units and Citizens of Peterborough.

COL. W. D. SHARP PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Past President of G.W.V.A. Dominion Command Tells of Work of War Graves Commission—Speaks of Sacrifices Made by Canada.

Five hundred soldiers, including veterans of the Great War, of the Fenian Raids, Northwest Rebellion and Boer Wars, and members of the militia units of Peterborough, attended memorial services at the Cenotaph and at the Opera House, in honor of those who enlisted from 1914 to 1918, and made the great sacrifice for their country, their homes, and their friends. Addresses were delivered by Col. W. D. Sharp, of Brampton, Past President of the Dominion Command of the Great War Veterans Association, Rev. Captain Paul Costello, Hon. G. N. Gordon, W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and His Honor Judge Huycke.

In charge of Captain Sidney Whatley, Secretary of the G.W.V.A., and Lt.-Col. W. Gordon Hall O.C. Peterborough Rangers, the veterans and militia units mustered in front of the Veterans hall. After an address by Father Costello, the men were inspected by Col. Sharp. The flag was then lowered to half-mast by Capt. Whatley, and those who wished placed flowers at the base of the cenotaph, while the pipers played Lord Lovatt's Lament, and Bandsman Thirnbeck of the Rangers sounded the Last Post. The flag was raised to the top of the staff again, the parade was formed, and the men proceeded to the Opera House.

The Opera House was speedily filled after the Veterans had marched in. Major Winterbottom, Commander of the Peterborough Branch of the Great War Veterans Association was chairman, and with him on the platform were the speakers, members of the City Council, and officers who had taken part in the parade. The Rangers' Band played "O Canada," after which a moment of silence was observed in honor of the comrades who had answered the last call. Two verses of "Onward Christian Soldiers" were then sung.

Major J. G. Winterbottom

Major Winterbottom, in opening his remarks, thanked the veterans and citizens for turning out in such good numbers, and for the loyal support given in the sale of poppies. He reminded the citizens that the G.W.V.A. needed the support of all the people, and said that while the association might fall short of what it tried to accomplish, it could do more if given whole hearted support. Speaking on the question of unity, he said that the organization stood four-square for unity among all the returned soldiers, and that the men should join in order to help the proposed union along. With such a fine building given by the citizens for the use of the veterans, he said that it was strange that so few of them made any use of it.

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.

Mr. Bradburn assured the veterans that the citizens were behind them, and would be always willing to help them. He referred to the small contingent which had represented Canada in the Boer war and the much larger one which went overseas in the recent war. He said that Canadians, if they were not willing to back up the Mother Country, should pull out and form a separate nation or join the United States. He expressed a hope that the rising generations would never be allowed to forget the deeds of the Canadian troops in the Great War.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

In calling on Mr. Gordon, Major Winterbottom referred to an incident in his school days when he had been given good advice by his teacher, and then he introduced Mr. Gordon as the teacher. Mr. Gordon said that only recently had men awakened to their responsibility for their fellow men, and that this awakening had been followed by the formation of an organization, the League of Nations, to enforce peace. The heredity enemies of Europe, France and Germany, he said, had also entered into a solemn pact, to which Great Britain and Italy stood sponsors, not to fight each other and had signed the Treaty of Locarno.

The recent great war, said Mr. Gordon, had cost ten million lives and has crippled ten million more men. Besides this, a great deal of wealth has been lost. It brought on, however, a great era of peace which was possible only after the Germanic powers, which believed in force, rather than arbitration, had been defeated. Britain had advocated arbitration for over a century and a half, and now the nations have joined in an organization to end wars. The great sacrifice that was made by the nations has made possible the sense of security and the carrying out of British ideals is assured now more than ever.

Led by the band, the audience then joined in singing two verses

Man's Last Stronghold Lost Girl Wears Brown Derby

LONDON, Nov. 10 (United News).—Man's last stronghold has fallen before the flapper advance. A girl appeared in a local theatre Monday not only wearing a close cropped hair, a collar, necktie and a mannish suit, but with a brown Derby riding on her ears.

A Change Is As Good As a Rest, Says Issavo Bey; He Has Divorced Sixty Wives In Fourteen Years

CAIRO, Nov. 10 (United News).—Issavo Sheriff Bey is believed to have divorced more wives in the past 14 years than any other man in the world. Issavo was arraigned at Tanta Monday, charged with divorcing sixty wives at the rate of just more than four a year. The complaint against Issavo was not that he changed his wives so frequently, but that he obtained his divorces by means of forged documents.

Severe Quake Recorded By University Instrument

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press)—One of the most severe earthquakes of the year was recorded today on the seismograph at Fordham University. The exact distance of the disturbance could not be given, but experts of the University said it centered more than 5000 miles from New York. The first tremors were recorded at 9.25 a.m.

FRENCH FORTIFY CITY AND ORDER RESIDENTS OUT

Are Preparing For Siege of Damascus By Guerilla Forces.

SURROUNDING CITY.

Druse Tribesmen Are Conducting Widespread Raids Near Lebanon.

DAMASCUS, Via Jerusalem, Nov. 10. — (United Press). — The French are fortifying Damascus on all sides and are evacuating all the inhabitants they can in preparation for a possible siege by guerilla forces.

These are already tending to encircle the city from the north and west, while their companions to the south and east are gaining ground despite the French successes in bombing them.

Druse tribesmen are conducting widespread raids in the Lebanon region, harrying the French, whose forces at some points are reported to be inadequate.

FRENCH READY FOR OFFENSIVE

Attack on Syrian Rebels Will Be Started Tomorrow.

AVIATORS BUSY.

PARIS, Nov. 10. Canadian Press. —The French troops in Syria will take the offensive against the rebels to-morrow, La Liberte's Cairo correspondent declares. A great encircling movement was under way to-day while two regiments of cavalry were directly pressing the forces of the bandit chief Bakri, who was recently procalimed "President of the Syria Republic." French aviators were bombing the insurgents within plain sight of Damascus.

FINE BUCK SHOT BY LOCAL MAN

C. F. Hayes Brought Down Deer Weighing Over 200 Pounds.

CARCASS ON VIEW.

One of the first local hunters to report results was C. F. Hayes, 219 Park Street. He was successful in shooting a buck weighing over 200 pounds. The carcass, which is a particularly fine specimen, is on view at Jopling's south store. Reports from Fred Jopling's party indicate that on Friday last they had six deer, but as yet none of them have reached the city.

PROVENCHER IN PROGRESSIVE RANKS

Last Doubtful Seat in House Has Been Decided.

LAPOINTE WILL ACT AS LEADER DURING SESSION

Senior Member of Government Will Lead Liberal Forces.

SMALL CABINET.

Only Nine Ministers in the House and Two in Senate at Present.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—It is assumed here that Hon. Ernest LaPointe, Minister of Justice, will lead the Government in the House of Commons at the approaching session. The Minister of Justice will be the senior Cabinet Minister in the House, and has been a member of the administration since 1921, and a member of the House of Commons since 1904. Mr. LaPointe represents the constituency of Quebec East, which was held by Sir Wilfred Laurier at the time of his death.

The Minister of Justice will have with him in the House eight other Ministers, making an unusually small Cabinet of nine. In the Senate Hon. Charles Murphy will be acting Secretary of State as well as Postmaster-General, while Hon. Dr. H. S. Beland will probably continue as Minister of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

PROHIBITION LAW DEPOSITED WITH RUMANIAN HOUSE

First Draft of New Legislation Introduced By Government.

REDUCE SALOONS.

Alcoholic Content of Liquor Will Be Gradually Cut in 12-Year Period.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—The first draft of a law for the control of the liquor traffic in Rumania has been deposited with Parliament and the Government will attempt to secure its passage during the present session.

The bill contemplates an immediate drastic reduction in the number of saloons and stipulates that the production of alcohol for beverage purposes will be curtailed progressively over a 12 year period, at the end of which the country will have prohibition.

As soon as the bill is enacted no liquor of an alcoholic content exceeding 25 per cent can be sold, this content being gradually reduced during the 12-year period. Community temperance societies are expected to co-operate with the authorities in the enforcement of the law.

REMAND MADE IN CHARGES OF ABDUCTION AGAINST M'MILLANS

Ebenezer MacMillan and Wife Will Appear on November 24.

ARE OUT ON BAIL.

Daughter, 14, Will Come Up On Nov. 18, and is Being Held.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Charged with abduction of four months old Bobby Muldoon, whose disappearance Friday afternoon caused considerable anxiety and provided the leading topic for two days, Ebenezer MacMillan and his wife appeared in the women's police court to-day and were remanded until November 24. Their daughter, Anne, fourteen years of age, held on a similar charge, appeared before Judge H. S. Mott in the juvenile court, in this case the hearing being put forward to November 18. Anne is alleged to have taken the baby from his carriage in front of a downtown departmental store on Friday afternoon. The baby was returned to his mother early Sunday morning. Bail for Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan was renewed, but their daughter is being held in the detention home. Before Judge Mott to-day the little girl broke down and admitted that she took the baby.

T. H. PRESTON LAID TO REST

Well Known Newspaper Owner Was Buried Yesterday at Brantford.

MANY PRESENT.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—The remains of T. H. Preston, proprietor of the Brantford Expositor, and widely known newspaper man, who died suddenly on Saturday last, were laid to rest in Farington Cemetery here yesterday afternoon.

Prominent citizens from various parts of the province, including many newspaper men, attended the funeral. Among them were Sir John Willison, Dr. A. H. U. Colquhon, Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario; Hon. Newton W. Rowell, K.C.; Dr. P. D. Ross, proprietor of the Ottawa Journal, and George Scroggie, president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association.

Embalming Fluid Really Drunk By Many People

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 10.—(Special by United Press).—Formaldehyde is ordinarily used to embalm dead bodies, but many Chicagoians are drinking it in their whiskey.

That statement by Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist and toxicologist, caused a flurry to-day among those who make and sell bootleg liquor and among those who drink it.

Dr. McNally has proof of the assertion both in the liquor he has recently analyzed and in the post mortem examinations he has made.

He added the information that deaths from alcoholism were on the increase and cited verifying figures. A death a day due to alcoholicism is now the rate.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM ACCIDENT

S. H. Preston Ran Into Ditch on Detour, Knocking Railing Off Culvert.

ROAD WAS SLIPPERY.

While coming from Toronto to spend the holiday week-end with his parents in the city, S. H. Preston struck a bad spot on the detour this side of Bowmanville, and ran into the ditch alongside the road, taking off the railing from one side of a culvert. Mr. Preston ascribes his escape from a serious accident to the fact that his car, a Ford touring, was heavily loaded with sample cases used in his trade as a commercial traveller, and did not overturn. Damage was done to the fenders and running boards, but no serious harm was done either to the car or the goods.

HOTEL DESTROYED.

Fire At Early Hour Nearly Trapped Proprietor and Family.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—On Saturday morning fire broke out in and completely destroyed the Latonia Hotel at Kaladar. Walter Vileneff, the proprietor and his family just escaped with their lives. The origin of the fire is unknown.

ITALIAN FLAGS BURNED BY MOB

Jugo-Slav Demonstrators Protest Treatment of Countrymen in Trieste.

ROME STIRRED.

BELGRADE, Jugo Slavia, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—The Jugo-Slavian authorities are taking every precaution to prevent further anti-Italian demonstrations such as those which occurred throughout the country on Sunday. A great mass meeting called for Thursday at Agram has been forbidden.

Foreign Minister Ninichitch was received by the King after an interview yesterday with the Italian Minister, General Bodrero, who protested against the burning of Italian flags during the demonstrations in Laibach, Spalato, Agram, and Belgrade.

The Foreign Minister faced interpellations in the Skupstina (national assembly) today on the subject of Fascist treatment of the Jugo-Slav minority population in Triest, which caused Sunday's outbreaks.

Fascisti are alleged to have attacked the Jugo-Slav consulate in Trieste and also the offices of the Slovianian newspaper, Ediost, which had characterized Italian accounts of the plots against the life of Premier Mussolini as pure inventions.

Wants Satisfaction.

ROME, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press). — The Italian Government has asked "fitting satisfaction" from the Jugo-Slavian Government for Sunday's anti-Italian demonstrations and the defiling or destruction of Italian flags in various cities of Serb, Croat and Slovene States. An announcement to this effect was made today in an official communique.

MANY ATTENDED SUNDAY CONCERT

Opera House Was Filled For Armistice Day Programme of Rangers Band.

SPLENDID MUSIC.

The annual Armistice Sunday band concert of the Peterborough Rangers Band drew a capacity crowd to the Opera House. A splendid concert was given by the band in charge of Lieut. W. H. Peryer. The first number on the programme was the popular war-time march, Colonel Bogey, which was played at the request of the veterans. Other numbers by the band which were highly appreciated, were the overture, "Marsinello," by Auber, the selection "Souvenir de la Russia" by Harris, and the grand fantasia, "For King and Country," by Ord Hume. This last selection embodied a number of bugle calls and some of the war time songs.

The band was assisted by a quartette, consisting of Messrs. A. Lee, H. Turner, J. Warrell, and E. Baldry, who sang "Comrades in Arms," and "Still With Thee." Mrs. E. Foster, violiniste, played Vieupenps' "Ballade and Polonaise," accompanied by Mrs. Fenwick, and was compelled to respond to an encore.

A cornet solo, 'Pandora Polka," by Bandsman C. Thirnbeck, was also encored.

DROWNED SKATING.

Harold Maistri, 11, Went Through Hole in Ice.

MOOSE JAW, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Eleven-year-old Harold Maestri was drowned yesterday when he skated into a hole in the ice.

BRITISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN DIPLOMATS DRAWN TOGETHER AT DINNER OF LONDON'S LORD MAYOR

Brilliant Company at Historic Guildhall Banquet—Symbolic Induction Procession.

EMPIRE PAGEANT

Conspicuous Evidences of International Goodwill — Spanish Tribute to London.

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—The ancient ceremonies attending the induction of London's new Lord Mayor, including a long symbolic procession through the streets, which from time immemorial has been a feast for the eyes, were carried out Monday in wintry, but bright sunny weather, and attracted the customery great crowds. The new Lord Mayor, Sir William Robert Pryke, is 78 years of age, but is still so sprightly that he is referred to by the city record in his speech as "like Peter Pan."

The procession itself was on this occasion a sort of miniature Wembley Exhibition of wheels—a pageant of Empire trade. The feature was Australias' giant plum pudding, guarded by a kangaroo and a nodding cow, with six white horses driven by Father Christmas with a bobbed beard.

The ceremonies culminated with the historic Guildhall banquet, with its great baron of beef and turtle soup, its city trumpeters to welcome the important guests, and other ancient rites of London's City Father.

Gesture of Amity.

The banquet is a traditional occasion for political oratory and there was a brilliant company of ministers of the crown, diplomatic representatives, and prominent men in all walks of life. There was a hint of Locarno in another Franco-German gesture, the French Ambassador, M. Fleuriau, making it a point of specially geeting the German Ambassador, Dr. St. Hamer, and chatting with him for several minutes at the reception preceding the banquet.

Among the guests were the United States, Spanish, Portuguese and Brazilian Ambassadors, Admiral Lord Beatty, the Archbishop of Canterbury and Dean Inge. In passing the loving cup, Mrs. (Mistress) Baldwin, on the one side, and Austen Chamberlain on the other, drank with Dr. St. Hamer. After the royal toasts were honored, Mr. Chamberlain toasted "The Ambassadors and Ministers."

Hope from Locarno.

Expressing the belief that peace prospects were better than a year ago, the Foreign Secretary devoted himself to the events at Locarno. He was convinced that what was done there responded to the conscious need of the whole world and would be ratified by every country, for, he added, "no statesman would dare assume the responsibility before history of dashing from our lips the cup of hope that Locarno has presented, and no nation dare face the obloquy which would followe denial to the world in the hour of its greatest need and its deepest and profoundest hope."

Mr. Chamberlain continued: "But it is not the written treaties of Locarno which alone will work the changes we desire. It is the spirit of Locarno that the world needs and must cherish.

"My Lord Mayor, thanks to your hospitality I have drunk tonight a loving cup with the German Ambassador. What he and I have done

Scottish Distillers Hit By Competition Of American Illicit Stills

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press)—Scottish distillers will cut their 1926 production 25 percent because of decrease in United States trade through rum-running channels, according to George Watson, a large importer of Canadian and United States grains, arriving Monday on the steamer Caledonia.

The decrease is caused by failure of United States citizens to deposit in London during the last few months money to cover advance purchases upon which the distillers may schedule their output. Scotch distillers attributed much of the decrease in their trade to the fact that illegal distillation in the United States is reaching a more efficient status.

Also arriving on the Caledonia were L. P. Duncan and A. W. Montgomery, Scotch cattle breeders, who will judge livestock shows in Toronto and Chicago.

TRYING TO KEEP PEOPLE ON LAND

Ontario Agent in London is Conferring With Premier on Immigration.

WANT FARM HELP.

TORONTO, Nov. 10. Canadian Press. — W. C. Noxon, Ontario Agent-General in London, conferred with Premier Ferguson, and members of the Ontario Government to-day, on the question of immigration, the matter of bringing British farm workers to the Province being discussed at length. An effort will be made to solve the problem of keeping such workers on the land and prevent withdrawal to the urban districts in winter.

WEATHER

Highest temperature yesterday — (Thanksgiving) — was 45 degrees; lowest 25. On the same date last year the temperature was up to 61. The lowest last night was 28 degrees. These weather notes have appeared in the Examiner continuously for 29 years, not every day, but usually when anything of interest in the weather line has occurred. Lately, at times, I have inserted little verse or two. This feature has been so favorably received that I hope to give occasionally a few quotations from some author, poet, philospher or preacher, of an inspiring or helpful nature. That people read these notes I have had abundant proof. In answer to a query as to the author of certain verses in Saturday's issue, I had a goodly number of replies. The poet whose identity was wanted, was William Cullen Bryant. For a beginning I present the following quotations.—W. P.

"The Price of Fame. — The tallest trees are most in the power of the winds, and ambitious men of the blasts of fortune."—William Penn.

* * *

"Four things that never come back —the spoken word, the sped arrow, the past life, and the neglected opportunity."—Anon.

* * *

"Absence of occupation is not rest. A mind quite vacant is a mind distressed."—William Cowper.

"A broken friendship may be soldered, but it will never be sound."—Anon.

GOLDEN ROSE TO BELGIANS' QUEEN

Pope Delegates Papal Nuncio to Present Decoration to Elizabeth.

A RARE HONOR.

ROME, Nov. 10.—(United Press). —The Pope has chosen Queen Elizabeth of Belgium to receive the Golden Rose, the greatest gift which the Pontiff can bestow on a Catholic Sovereign.

The high honor to the Belgian Queen was made known to-day when Pope Pius delegated Papal Nuncio Micara to present the decoration to Elizabeth when the Royal couple should return from their voyage to India. The presentation will be made on the King's and Queen's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The Golden Rose is the finest work of the goldsmith's art, consisting of one hundred leaves of purest gold, elaborately engraved. It rests in a silver vase.

The Pope rarely bestows the Golden Rose. Leo XIII. was the last Pontiff to honor Belgium in that way. Queen Mary was the recipient.

Pius X. did not bestow a single rose. The last award was by Pius XI. to Queen Victoria of Spain.

YORK COUNTY WON IN STOCK JUDGING

Took Highest Number of Points For Three Years, Winning Doherty Cup.

GUELPH, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— York county stock judging team walked away with the inter-county judging competition championship for 1925 at the opening of the 42nd Ontario Provincial Winter Fair yesterday. Incidentally the Victors take possession of the Doherty cup, which goes to the team winning the highest number of points three times at the Provincial show.

The contest opened in the Arena with 27 counties represented.

1 SOCIALIST PAPER IS STILL PUBLISHING

Lavoro, at Genoa, is Only Radical Paper Not Yet Suppressed.

ROME, Nov. 10 (United News).— Every Socialist paper but one has been silenced as a result of the plot against the life of Premier Mussolini.

The Prefect of Milan Monday suspended The Avansi and The Unita, organs respectively of the Maximalist and Communist parties. With the suspension of The Giustizia, which was ordered as soon as the plot became known, the only Radical paper now issuing in Italy is the Socialist Lavoro at Genoa.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

ANSWER TO "W.P."

Editor of the Examiner:

In Saturday's issue of the Examiner, W.P. quoted several verses of the poem which describes the autumn season so well, and asked any reader to give the name of the author. This poem is called "The Death of the Flowers." The author is William Cullen Bryant, who was born 1794 and died 1878. He was editor of the New York Evening Post for half a century, and wrote "Thanatopsis," which was his finest poem. In purity of sentiment and beauty of expression he ranks as one of the most eminent of American poets. If this information is of any value to "W. P." I gladly give it. Yours truly,

A Reader of Examiner.

PRAISES MR. GREENE.

To the Editor of The Examiner,—

Sir,—It is high time that Mr. Greene or somebody else called attention to the way people are being soaked about education. Nothing can be learned by a child which that child does not make its own and nothing can be of any use to a child which the child does not make its own. With "no homework" as the present day motto, children are becoming simply echoes of their masters and their "education" is a perfect farce.

Fads! Fads! All is vanity and fads that isn't paid uplift. Children who are in most cases not fit for it and should be allowed to follow their bent for more practical purposes are actually compelled to go on at what they are not adapted to till 16 years of age and it teachers them to loaf, that is all. Here's where the tremendous expense comes in. Just as the union of churches founded on the expediency of economy, instead of as of old on faith, was proved a bankrupt failure in the West, so will all forms of compulsion in matters of moral conscience and mental liking prove a failure and ten times worse under compulsion.

Will people ever learn that not even God Himself can make people good by compulsion? Ontario is in the hands of the paid uplifter. The general secretary for Canada of the Y.M.C.A. says that muscle is the true basis of character and that sport is the best means of developing it. If people were but cattle that could be driven, compulsion would be the proper method, but if they are to be treated as human beings it is a fatal and as we see, a most degenerating and expensive blunder in Peterborough, as elsewhere. Ontario is the most backward of all the provinces.

ROTARIANS ARE COUNSELLED TO STUDY HISTORY

Rev. Jas. W. Gordon Discusses Experiments of the Present Day.

THOUGHTFUL ADDRESS

Canadians Have Especial Reason To Be Thankful.

That Canadians had an especial reason for thanksgiving in the fact that their's was a new country and, therefore, its institution were not fixed and their actions were not confined by tradition, was the message giv by Rev. Jas. W. Gordon of St. Andrew's Church in a most thoughtful address before the members of the Peterboro Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon today.

Rev. Mr. Gordon, before touching upon the many experiments that were being tried out in the world today, all of them directly concerning Canadians, urged his hearers to read history. It was impossible, he said, to really know a man or a nation unless one knew the history of that man or that nation. He wondered whether the radio and the rapid air mail service in bringing men closer together were tending to make it impossible for men to think Men rubbed elbows so closely nowadays that there was not the opportunity or the inclination to think that formerly existed.

The speaker then dealt with some of the things he characterized as experiments. The present system of government public ownership, Church Union, prohibition, efforts to promote world peace, the day of one newspaper towns, missionary efforts which, he said, were certainly an experiment to the people of other lands to which our missionaries went. All these experiments were affecting Canadians, the speaker pointed out, as he sketched the development along these lines that had t'k'n place.

Rev. Mr. Gordon's address was followed with appreciative attention and at its conclusion he was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

Among the visitors today was Rotarian Wm. Flavelle of Lindsay.

Leo Fontaine, charged with selling liquor under Section 40 of the Ontario Temperance Act and found guilty, was today sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment, and was fined $400 dollars and costs or an additional three months. His solicitor, J. O'Brien, is appealing the sentence, and the appeal will be heard on Saturday at 3 o'clock.

CAN'T ERECT WORKS OUT IN ST LAWRENCE

Bed of River Is Provincial Property, Says Privy Council to Harbor Board.

LONDON, Nov. 10. — (Canadian Press).—The constitutional question involved in the appeal to the Privy Council in the case of Tretreault vs. the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal, the Attorney-General of Canada and the Attorney-General of Quebec, was decided today by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, in favor of the Province of Quebec. The bed of the St. Lawrence River in the extended part of the harbor is declared by Their Lordships to be provincial property, and the Harbor Commissioners have no right to erect works there.

Hail In Argentine Helped Cause Small Rise In Wheat

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—Influenced more or less by reports of appreciable damage from heavy hail storms in Argentina, the wheat market averaged a little higher today during the early dealings. Besides, unwelcome showers were noted in northern Argentina, where the cutting of the new wheat crop has just started. There were also advices at hand that British millers are buying wheat in larger quantities and that the demand from this source is expected to continue throughout the remainder of the year. Opening prices, a half cent lower to 1-8 higher, new style, December 148 1-2 to 148 3-4, and May 143 1-2 to 143 3-4, were followed by a moderate general setback and then by upturn, with December touching 149 1-8 to May 144 3-8. Corn was inclined to sag owing to bearish forecasts of the Government crop report. After opening unchanged to 3 3-8 cents off, December 75 1-4 to 75 3-8, the corn market showed slight losses all around. Oats were steadied by the firmness of wheat, starting unchanged to a shade lower, December 38 1-4 to 38 3-4, the market held near to the initial figures.

Lower quotations on hogs acted as a weight on the provision market.

Active Trading In Mines Kirkland Lake Leader

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—After holiday trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was active this morning, transactions totalling 324,000 shares. Kirkland Lake, under heavy buying, featured, advancing 16 points to 92 1-2, while Teck Hughes declined nine points to 05. Lake Shore advanced 47 points to 865, while McIntyre sold 30 points higher at 20.90. Wright Hargreaves also displayed strength, selling 20 points up at 670. Beaver was 6 3-4 higher at 56, and Dome Mines five points in advance at 16.00. Castle Trethewey at 139 was three points up. Tough Oakes declined two points to 51 1-2, Vipond three points to 117, and Crown Reserve 2 1-2 points to 15 1-2. Premier and McKinley Darragh each sold one point lower at 222, and 17 respectively. Argonaut and Barry Holly were fractionally lower at 12 and 28 respectively.

Sudden Collapse In Prices Of Many New York Stocks

NEW YORK, November 10. Canadian Press. — A dramatic collapse in stock prices took place on the New York Stock Exchange shortly after midday when a flood of selling orders was hurled at the recent speculative favorites, more than a dozen issues being carried down 5 to nearly 30 points. Chrysler Motors fell 27¼ points, Dupont 18¼ and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Hudson Motor about 10 each before the end of the third hour. The raising of the Boston Reserve Bank's re-discount rate, after the close yesterday, which was regarded in many quarters as the forerunner of a similar action by the New York Federal bank within the next few weeks, created a feeling of uneasiness among both professional traders and outside speculators and investors at the opening of the market. Bear traders were quick to sense the situation and they immediately threw tens of thousands of shares into the market, which was unable to absorb them except at material recessions in quoted value. The rapidity of decline touched off scores of stop-loss orders, and this selling was augmented by heavy profit taking induced by commission house suggestions to take profit in stocks which have enjoyed large advances.

Smelters Was Run Down Almost Six Points To-day

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—Activity in tractions, the slump in Brazilian and the heavy dealings in Smelters, which ran that stock down almost six points, were features of the week's opening session of the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Trading centred around Smelters, which sold down to 154 and recovered only a quarter, closing at noon five and three-quarter points below Saturday's close. Brazilian, very lightly dealt in, was market down to 75 3-4, two and a quarter points lower. Tractions, with the exception of Brazilian, were active and strong. Twin City gained two points at 71 and Winnipeg one and a half at 46 1-2. City Dairy and Barcelona were also strong, the former advancing a point and Barcelona three-eighths. The active Dome Mines improved five cents. Bank of Commerce eased a half at 227.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

ABOUT THE P.C.I.

To the Editor:

Mr. Greene's letter of November 6th contains some misleading figures which should be explained to the public. Mr. Greene says that the yearly cost per pupil in Guelph Collegiate is $68.00. Here is the statement of the Secretary of Guelph Board of Education of date of October 23rd, 1925.

"I beg to state that the cost per pupil in the Guelph Collegiate Institute for the year 1924, apart from the Vocational School was $145.34 on total expended and $60.24 on City Appropriation."

You will note that the actual amount expended per pupil in the Collegiate for the year was $145.34 and yet the cost to the city was only $60.24 per pupil. What accounts for the low cost to the City Taxpayer?

This Guelph School is a combined Collegiate and Vocational School and therefore receives the grants from The Department of Education on salaries and equipment for its Vocational School . The Board also collected last year from the County Council $14,941.16 as the county's share of maintenance.

These Departmental Grants and County Payment when deducted from the total maintenance expense of the School left only $60.24 per pupil as the City's share.

Mr. Greene says "Surely these children are receiving as good an education and as many adventages as those in Peterborough." The Guelph pupils have a far wider opportunity and greater advantages in education than our Peterborough pupils can be given at present. It is true the cost per pupil is higher $145.34, but the interesting thing to us is that the cost to the taxpayer of Guelph in 1924 was only $60.24 per pupil.

Is it any wonder that our Local Board of Education feels that both time and money are being lost in delaying the building of the proposed Combination Collegiate and Vocational Extension?

If Mr. Greene knew that the Guelph taxpayer is paying only a portion of the cost of Collegiate Education he should have made that clear in his letter. If he did not know it then his method of dealing with educational matters is extremely superficial and he should not presume to criticize the Board of Education in its conduct of affairs in this City.

Equally interesting facts could be given concerning Brantford but this letter is long enough. I may state that I have not found any Secretaries of Boards of Education willing to give 1925 figures before the year closes. Men of business training will not guess at figures.

Yours truly,

(Mrs.) W. R. Morris.

CAPITAL LEVY COMES UP AGAIN

Socialist Leader Demands Vote in Committee, Which Rejects Scheme.

IN CHAMBER NEXT.

PARIS, November 10 (Canadian Press).—A capital levy described as a fifteen per cent tax on securities was defeated today in the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, which is studying Premier Painleve's plan for the financial restoration of the French treasury. This was considered a heavy reverse for the Government.

The Socialist leader, M. Blum, demanded a vote in the finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies on the Socialist proposal for a capital levy. The committee rejected the proposal by 16 to 12, upon which M. Blum declared the Left bloc was dead. He said he would bring the question up in the Chamber of Deputies and oblige the various groups to assume their responsibilities before the country.

Efforts to effect a compromise between the conflicting elements in the Painleve majority failed this morning, and the bloc of the Left is now thought to be disrupted beyond repair. A Cabinet meeting has been called for 5 p.m. to consider the situation.

GERMAN OFFICERS CONDEMNED TO DIE

French War Council Sentenced Two For Cruelties During First Year of War.

AMIENS, France, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—The Council of War has condemned to death by default the German Colonel Wiege, commander of the Fifty-Sixth Infantry, and Lieut. Schultz, of the Seventeenth Artillery, for cruelties during the first year of the war. Colonel Weige, it was testified, used twelve inhabitants of the villages of Berthencourt and Alaincourt as shields for his troops, several being killed. Later he permitted his men to pillage and burn villages. Schultz was declared to have ordered a wounded farmer shot and to have assisted in looting his farm.

The Y.W.C.A. Finance Campaign has been extended. There are still many subscriptions needed to reach the objective of $1,500.00. The Board of Directors wish to thank all who have already contributed and trust that when all the contributions are in the total will be well over the $1,500.00.

World Fellowship Week.

The second week in November is set aside by the Young Women's Christian Association as World Fellowship Week.

The following is a sentence from a letter written by Lady Parmoor, World's Y.W.C.A. President, to members everywhere: "Once again we unite in the Week of Prayer and Fellowship; the week which unites us more closely together than any other time of the year, in a common service of faith and love." Short services of World Fellowship will be held in connection with all the classes and clubs at the local Association and each member is asked to attend if possible. All services for Junior members will be held before the regular classes and the Seniors will meet immediately after class.

During this week each member is asked to contribute 5 cents to the World's Gift, which is the only income of the World's Committee.

GO U.S. RAILWAYS HAVE MI BANNED POTATOES

Too Many Shipped Into Cities on Reports of Shortage.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press). — An embargo has been placed on shipments of potatoes from Canada to Boston, New York, and Pittsburgh. Notice of this embargo was given to the Canadian railroads, through the car service section of the American Railroad Association, Washington. The reason given is that as a result of reports of a potato shortage, the large markets in the United States have been glutted with the tubers.

AT THE CAPITOL.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH IN "A REGULAR FELLOW."

The Capitol Theatre had two shows last night, and was well filled for each performance. An excellent programme was provided, with a rather out of the ordinary picture in "A Regular Fellow," featuring Raymond Griffith. This portrays the trials and difficulties of a young man who didn't want to be a king and burlesques to some extent the manifold disadvantages of wearing a crown.

As Crown Prince Alexis, of a small out of the way kingdom, Raymond Griffith gets away with a lot of funny stuff and does it well. He is a well-meaning prince, who strives to please everybody and has a good deal of trouble in presenting the proper appearance at all times. He has a rapid-change curtained car and a dexterous valet, who gets him in and out of the proper attire for different occasions. His troubles with his hats on different occasions heighten the effect of absurdity given to the burlesquing of his role. The episode of the laying of the cornerstone is only one of a series of fantastic incidents in which the prince is a peculiar type of hero. Even when he falls madly in love with a beautiful lady and essays to win her affections, he takes an occasional header and finally engages in a mock revolution to rid himself of a troublesome throne. It is a daughable bit of foolery, and exceptionally well acted.

Something very interesting in the programme are the pictures of travels in Borneo, for which the Capitol orchestra provides excellent descriptive music. Wild animals which are merely a name to many of the onlookers are pictured here in their native habitat, in a very entertaining fashion.

The comedy, "A Misfit Sailor," is another fantastic bit, with Billy Dooley as the hero of a series of misadventures that include a mad chase of an automobile enclosed in a travelling garage.—Jeannette.

THE VANISHING DEER.

A motor car bearing an Ohio license number and carrying the carcass of a fine deer was noticed in Peterboro on Sunday, evidently the automobile of a hunter from the United States who had already made his "kill" and was on his way home.

The deer country is not "away up in Canada" now to our cousins over the line—it is only a few hours away by motor car from the border points—and more and more American hunters are realizing that fact.

The increase in the number of hunters from the United States is hastening the day, already too rapidly approaching, when deer will be as extinct in Ontario's woods as the dodo.

The automobile has caused a new condition of affairs in regard to deer hunting, and the authorities wil lhave to face the situation before long.

Already old hunters are beginning to advise a close period of several years to give the deer a chance, and before long such a policy will have to be seriously considered.

It will not do to wait until the damage is beyond repair—and by present indications that time is not far ahead.

THE CASE OF THE VETERAN.

Col. W. D. Sharpe, past President of the Great War Veterans' Association, in his Armistice Day address on Sunday in the Grand Opera House uncovered the chief grievance of returned soldiers against the administration of pensions in this country when he urged a more sympathetic attitude towards those who had suffered from the Great War.

The scale of pensions paid in Canada, while not princely, is adequate and is acceptable to ex-service men, but the chief complaint is found in the lack of elasticity in the regulations by which the Board of Pension Commissioners is governed.

Guarding the public funds against impostors is commendable perhaps viewed from a business viewpoint, but there is a feeling that in the administration of Canada's pension scheme too much stress on this point crowds out that kindly consideration that should be given to men who fought and suffered for this country.

If the Examiner senses public opinion correctly, the people of this county want Canada's disabled veterans dealt with as men who have special claim to sympathetic treatment, not regarded as individuals with a doubtful case that must be thoroughly proven.

If there is any doubt Canadians want the men who fought to have the benefit of it—something they have not been getting under the hard and fast red tape of the regulations under which the Pension Board operates.

ARMISTICE DAY.

[illegible] again Peterboro has to thank the Great W[illegible], ea[illegible]erans' Association for affording an opportun[illegible]ines, bu[illegible]e community to participate in a fitting ob[illegible]conclusio[illegible] of the anniversary of the end of the war, and to pay tribute to the memory of the men who did not come back.

Sunday's ceremonies, the impressive scene at the cenotaph and the equally stirring service at the Grand Opera House, were a reminder of the triumphs and sacrifices of the World War such as it is desirable that every Canadian centre should have at least once a year.

There are too many people who blate about "forgetting the war."

Why should Canada forget these four years of struggle and suffering and mourning and finally triumph, those four years that demonstrated that the young men of this country could fight and win and die as bravely as men ever fought and won and died anywhere at anytime in the world's history?

Why should Canada forget the bravery of her sons?

Why should Canada forget the 65,000 gallant Canadian lives that were sacrificed in overcoming German militarism!

Forget the war!

If the day ever comes that Canada does forget, if Armistice Day comes to mean nothing to Canadians, then Canada will have become a country without a soul—and Canada will perish.

A NATIONAL LOSS.

The sudden death on Saturday of Mr. T. H. Preston, editor and publisher of the Brantford Expositor, removed one of the best known newspapermen in the Dominion and brought to an end a career that was crowded with activity in the service of the public. Mr. Preston was not only a great newspaper man, but he was a great Canadian, a citizen of the type that his home city and his country can ill spare.

For nearly three score years he had been connected with Canadian newspapers, beginning his career as a printer's apprentice on the Woodstock Sentinel and finishing his apprenticeship with the Stratford Beacon. 1871 found Mr. Preston a compositor in the office of the Toronto Globe, a position he left to go to the United States, where he remained three years. When he returned to Canada in 1874 he left the mechanical side of the newspaper game for the editorial department, joining the staff of the Ottawa Free Prco, representing that paper in the Press Gallery at Ottawa. Ten years after he had been a compositor in the Globe office Mr. Preston returned to the Globe as night editor in 1881, and the following year became managing director of the Winnipeg Sun, where he scored a conspicuous success, particularly in the enterprise shown by the Sun during the Northwest Rebellion.

When the Sun was sold in 1890 Mr. Preston became publisher of the Brantford Expositor, and for the past thirty-five years had directed the affairs of that flourishing newspaper with splendid judgment and success.

He was a facile powerful writer whose articles [illegible]ys created a fine impression and revealed a [illegible]rand of Canadian patriotism.

[illegible]eston was not content to serve his fellow-men, however, for he filled many positions of importance. For three terms, commencing in 1899, he represented Brantford in the Ontario Legislature; he served as President of the Board of Trade, as Governor of the hospital, as member of the School Board. In a wider field he was for two years President of the Canadian Press Association, and represented the press of Canada at the Delhi Durbar in 1911. He was also a member of the Parole Board of Ontario by which body his judgment was always highly valued.

Canada has lost a very useful and able citizen in the passing of Thomas Hiram Preston.

PEACE RIVER.

What's the trouble in Peace River riding? The election took place last Thursday and here it is the following Wednesday and the returns are not all in yet, says the London Advertiser.

Truth is that it would take fairly fast work to gather them in ten days or two weeks because Peace River is a land where spaces are great, where distance means a long distance, and transportation is primitive for the most part.

It sometimes takes such a thing as the holding up of election results to make us get our eyes off Ontario and look at the rest of the Domvinion. In Peace River there's a great deal to look at. It is a new inland empire in the making. Across the northern part of Alberta and British Columbia there is a great area where a few years ago only the more adventurous went. We didn't know much about it, but we do know more today.

The Peace River district contains 115,762 square miles, and that's more than the combined area of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. It is three and a half times the size of Austria; more than seven times the size of Denmark, a country that supports a population of three and one-half million people. Peace River district is almost as large as Norway, and larger than New Zealand; from its area could be made a country the size of Greece, another to accommodate Bulgaria, and there would be enough left over to make Austria. So it's not difficult to understand that it is a serious business running around there gathering up election returns.

Not only is it great in size, but farmers have found that its greatness extends to the crops. Already the Government has experimental farms in operation and some of the official figures show Red Fife wheat 64 bushels to the acre, Marquis 69 and Huron 62; in oats Banner has gone as high as 153 and Tartar King 125. It is quite conceivable that with such figures as these to be totaled up the returning officer may have been too busy to put a "rush" sign on election returns.

The Peace River itself runs for a distance of 800 miles, and is navigable almost the entire distance. That's as far as from Toronto to Fredericton, N. B., or from Winnipeg to Calgary. In that country they have found gold and silver bearing gelena, bituminous and anthracite coal, natural gas, tar and oil, gypsum and salt. There are unmeasured timber limits and sixteen varieties of fur-bearing animals.

We are given at times to speaking about the "last great west." The building up of Western Canada has barely been commenced. If Austria can support a population of six million, Peace River can double that figure. Railways, boats, settlers and hard work will tap a source of wealth the six of which we could not possibly estimate.

INJURING THEMSELVES.

The futile and ruinous nature of the strike methods for settling industrial differences has again been demonstrated in the case of the anthracite coal miners of the United States. Without going into the merits of that dispute, neither the operators nor the miners have any cause for satisfaction over the outcome. The longer a settlement is deferred the worse becomes the position of the interests involved. The calculations of those who were confidently depending upon a long-suffering public to "pay the shot" have gone astray in this instance. The public has discovered an effective way of protecting itself which is likely to lead to permanent changes, not altogether to the advantage of those depending upon the mining of hard coal for a living. Necessity, that great teacher, has shown the consumer that he can do without anthracite, if it is not to be had, without suffering serious inconvenience in pocket or in heating arrangements. The substitutes available have been given wide trial and have been found to be entirely satisfactory. The panic which used to be worked up over the possibility of a failure in the supply of United States' anthracite is a thing of the past. Locally, with the Hamilton plant turning out ample quantities of coke, lower in price than anthracite and a fuel in every way satisfactory for domestic purposes, householders are in a peculiarly fortunate position. The movement to establish similar plants throughout the Dominion, in view of the immense supplies of native coal suitable for coking purposes, should prove the solution of Canada's fuel problem.

In the United States itself consumers are being weaned away in like manner from the use of hard coal. In New York City a campaign is being vigorously carried on for the substitution of soft coal, coke and oil fuels for anthracite, and it is reported to be meeting with great success. Not only are the authorities advocating, by advertisements and other forms of printed propaganda, the adoption of such measures, but they are compelling the dealers to co-operate in the effort. If they find that they are not being supported by sellers, it is the intention of the municipality to open coal depots where the sale of substitutes will be conducted on a cost basis. In furtherance of this scheme the smoke laws are being held in abeyance in New York and a remarkable response on the part of the consuming public practically guarantees the success of the plan. "What is taking place, the weaning of the consumer from the use of anthracite," says the Saginaw, Mich., News-Courier, "is more likely to present a problem that the hard coal people will before long devoutly wish they had never created. For not only are the people learning to do without anthracite, but there is a lot of intensive study and engineering going on with the object of making people independent of these perpetually recurring coal strikes.'"—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Even defeated candidates had something to be thankful for yesterday. They didn't all lose their deposits.

With Sunday bathing and daylight saving as important issues, Peterboro's municipal campaign promises to develop unusual interest.

The readiness with which poppies were purchased on Saturday showed that Peterboro people are always eager to assist the ex-service men.

Give Credit Where It Belongs

We all live in an empire of emotion, and to me the amazing thing about human emotion is that we seldom analyze it.

The passions of people, the experiences of emotion are always, when you stop to think, a thrilling pulsating, soul-stirring subject. Human emotions make us tingle with living influences.

1. You can recall some one hour in your life when emotion left a deeper impression than a whole year of other experiences.

Generally speaking, people hide their best emotions. People are often better than they advertise, but occasionally their emotions excuse the truth and elect some independent candidate.

When you are vindictive, you allow whole tragedies of insult and injury to be put on by excusing your emotions with a sense of indignation.

When weak, you probably try to make treaties with passion and purchase success with counterfeit coin, offering as an excuse that this is customary.

When virtuous, it may be because you have never been attacked by temptation, therefore deserve no tablet of praise.

When courageous, it is possible that you are blind to danger.

Educate yourself with reference to your emotions and you will give more or less credit where it belongs.

WAR VETERANS' HONOR

of "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Col. W. D. Sharp

Col. W. D. Sharp, of Brampton, Immediate Past President of the G. W.V.A. Dominion Command, was the next speaker. He said that a past president always went down into oblivion which was worse than if he had never held an office and that a more fitting speaker could have been chosen. He referred first to the movement for unity among the returned soldiers. He said that the creed of the British people, wherever they might be, was "For the welfare, of the Crown, and for the unity of the Empire" and that if the soldiers could not get together in little things how could there be unity in the Empire so that it might prosper. He said that the G. W.V.A. had been the only Canadian veterans' organization that had belonged to the British Empire Service League, and that it had seen the necessity of union. There is now a greater need than ever for soldier organizations, he said, although they are getting away from some of the needs of the past. He referred to a case of a soldier who had been in several wars, including the last one, but whose death from cancer, while probably hastened by his service overseas, could not be proved due to that, so his widow had been refused a pension. Col. Sharp said that the veterans need unity so that they may speak with one loud voice asking that the pension board should prove that such cases were not due to overseas service, rather than forcing the veterans and their friends to prove that they were. The men didn't hesitate to go into the terrible battlefields and they deserved some measure of sympathy.

He asked that the pledges made in wartime that the men should not be forgotten should be made anew, and that the civilians should get behind the men to help them take the part they might be able to fill in the life of the city and of the country.

"In meeting in remembrance of this eleventh of November, the day of days when a worried, sorrowing aching world ceased its inhuman strife and turned to peace," said Col. Sharp, "the long desired day when in the midst of intense suffering there was joy and when aching hearts refrained from pain and overflowed with gladness, we meet with a two-fold purpose in view—to promote good will, fellowship, and helpful co-operation between men and nations and a mutual love and affection among ourselves, and to commemorate the noble deeds of the famous men who did so much for us, for Our Canada, and for the Empire.

"The sixty-five thousand golden-hearted heroes who sleep beyond the seas have had added to them over seven thousand who sleep in Canadian cemeteries as a result of their war endeavors. These must not be forgotten, their efforts must be recognized, and their achievements retold in order that a lofty example may be emulated by oncoming true Canadians. Every succeeding year lessens the number of survivors and adds to our riches in the great beyond. We must at least yearly turn aside from toil and take thought of those we have loved and lost awhile. They were our in life, linked with us in a common purpose, each giving his best. They are yet alike ours in death—all raised to the same level in their heroic passing. They rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

"By following their example of patriotism we may come to the full manhood of our influence in the idealism of a better Canada. Our Dominion depends especially upon its ex-service men to give new vitality and new reality to the ideal of service, sacrifice, and unselfish devotion of these principles by which our nation thrives.

"To the better understanding of what we are calling to memory today and that I may give some comfort to those who have loved ones over there, I wish to enumerate the losses and explain the care of their resting places."

Col. Sharp then quoted the verses: "How sleep the brave who sink to rest,
By all their country's wishes blest."

War Graves Commission.

Col Sharp explained the work of the Imperial War Graves Commission, which is charged with marking and caring for the graves of the Empire's dead. These total more than a million, but so far only 619,000 graves have been registered. The cost of caring for them is borne proportionately by the different parts of the Empire, Canada paying about 8 percent, and the offer of the French Government to care for the graves in France was refused. There are 800 gardeners employed in about 1200 cemeteries.

At every grave whose occupant is known there is erected a stone, with the name, rank, and date of death of the man buried there, and a text from the scripture, "Their name liveth forever." There is no difference made between officers or men, nor are friends allowed to erect larger or more costly stones. In every cemetery there is erected a cross of sacrifice, and the stone of remembrance. The latter is a huge rough stone hewn from English quarries, and symbolizes the fact that the cemetery is a little bit of Britain. Crosses and stones have been put up in a number of Canadian cities, including one at Halifax for the soldiers and sailors whose last resting place is the Atlantic ocean.

Wherever the grave is that of an unidentified soldier the text placed on the stone is "The Lord knoweth them that are his."

The opposition to the uniformity of the stones was set aside by Mr. Burdett-Coutts in these words: "The solid and united effort of the whole British Empire, embodied in forces drawn from every continent and island that holds allegiance to the King, fused and welded into one, ready to die, and dieing in common for the great cause that all understood. It is that union of all, in motive, in action, and in death, that the commission seeks nobly to commemorate, and to make perpetual, in its policy and design."

"Maeterlinck says," said Col. Sharp, "that total annihilation is impossible. We are the prisoners of an infinity, wherein nothing perishes.

Wherein everything is dispersed but nothing lost.
They are not dead except in body.
Their spirit, precept, principle, conquering, still lives.
The world shall tell how they stood fast
And how the fight was won
As long as faith and freedom last
And earth goes round the sun."

"We are thankful," continued the speaker, "for those who saw the vision of duty, of loyalty to King and country, of devotion to the liberties of mankind. We are thankful they turned from home and friends; from all the alluring prospects and hopes of honorable careers amid loved ones and in the land they loved; and accepted exile, the hardships, cold and hunger of camp and trench life; bravely faced danger, wounds and death rather than embrace safety and selfish ease. We rejoice that they maintained and exemplified the standards and traditions of the British race, with high souled devotion to duty, and exhibited patience under suffering and heroism, in the midst of unthought-of dangers. Of those who were called from labor to rest and have not returned we have great reason to rejoice in their noble lives and heroic passing. Their names, their faces, and even their voices and manners come back vividly to us on this and similar occasions. Thoughts of their high courage are as bright lights gleaming through darkness to guide the way-torn traveller. Their names are forever blessed; the story of their life and heroism will be a family's sweetest treasure handed down from generation to generation that children yet unborn may call them blessed and emulate their splendid service and high ideals."

Col. Sharp also referred to the sacrifices made by those who are not dead but are only broken fragments of their former selves, saying that there are 300 blind men and 4,500 tubercular veterans in Canada, besides many who suffer minor disabilities. He also quoted the following lines, saying that the sacrifices were not all made by the soldiers of the battlefields:

Soldiers Back of the Lines.

"The bravest battle that was ever fought!
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you'll find it not—
'Tis fought by the mothers of men.

"Nay, not with cannon or battle shot
With sword or noble pen!
Nay, not with eloquent words of thought
From mouths of wonderful men;

"But deep in the walled-up woman's heart—
Of woman that would not yield,
But bravely, silently, bore her part—
Lo, there is the battlefield!

"No marshalling troops, no bivouac song,
No banner to gleam and wave;
But, Oh! their battles, they last, they last,
From babyhood to the grave.

"Yet faithful still, as a bridge of stars,
She fights in her walled-up town—
Fights on and on in endless wars,
Then silent, unseen, goes down.

"Oh! ye with banners and battleshot
And soldiers to shout and praise,
I tell you the kingliest battles fought,
Were fought in those silent ways.

"Oh! spotless woman in world of shame,
With splendid and silent scorn,
Go back to God as white as you came—
This kingliest warrior born."

Col. Sharp also quoted Kipling's lines as a comfort for those who lost friends:

"They will come back—come back again,
As long as the red earth rolls,
He never wasted a leaf or tree,
Do you think He would squander souls?"

No greater tribute could be paid to them, he said, than to say, "They loved, they served," and in conclusion he quoted R. W. Lillard's lines, America's answer:

"Rest ye in peace, ye Flanders dead.
The fight which ye so bravely led,
We've taken up. And we will keep
True faith with you who lie asleep
With each a cross to mark his bed,
And poppies blowing overhead,
Where once his own life-blood ran red.
So let your rest be sweet and deep
In Flanders fields.

"Fear not that ye have died for naught;
The torch ye threw to us is caught;
Ten million hands will hold it high,
And Freedom's light shall never die!
We've learned the lesson that ye taught
In Flanders fields."

Rev. Captain Paul Costello

Father Costello opened his address with a reference to the uniform which he wore, and said that he had at one time felt far more comfortable in it. He also produced a laugh at Captain Layfield and Major Winterbottom, whom he said had grown since their uniforms formed their daily attire, and he advised Major Winterbottom to follow the advice of the church and get married.

Putting all frivolity aside, he went on to say that the occasion being celebrated was a very solemn one, and that he considered it a privilege to be there when he thought of the thousands of dead lying in France, many of whom he had stood by at the last moments.

When the men marched away the people cheered and said they would send the last man and the last dollar to uphold the cause. Some of the blood that was spilled in those great battles was Peterboro blood. Peterboro and Canada owe a debt to those men who deserve much, as they stood at the threshold and gave their lives for the safety of their homes and their friends. The men who were in the audience, he said, had by God's mercy been spared to return, and they deserved help, especially the cripples, and the widows and orphans of those who died.

Have the soldiers received that which was due them?" asked the speaker, who went on to say that many who had remained had filled their coffers, and had forgotten the men, who, now that they have returned, are required to help bear the cost of the war as well as having fought in it. He urged the soldiers to stand together as one man at home as they stood together in the army in wartime.

His Honor Judge Huycke.

Judge Huycke referred to the veterans of the Fenian raids who sat in the front of the hall, and said that when the call had come in the Great War the Peterboro boys had rushed to the colors and had fought gallantly, showing themselves worthy successors of the men who had fought for Canada in 1866.

He said that the people were behind the veterans, and that he thought it a serious mistake that all the veterans were not members of the G.W.V.A., as they should stand shoulder to shoulder now as they had in wartime. "You fought to save Canada," he said, "See that it is made worthy of saving. "He said that the men wanted justice, not charity, and should stand behind each other and behind the city.

Some people, said Judge Huycke, say that the men went overseas for a lark. They may have had smiles on their faces as they said goodbye, but there were tears in their eyes, and sixty thousands of them remained over there. "Where they lie," said the Judge, "is Canada. All that is mortal of them goes to make a little part of Canada, but the immortal part remains and they are here urging and influencing us to higher things."

The band played "Abide With Me", after which the National Anthem was sung.. The troops marched up to the Armories and were dismissed there.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (Canadian Press).—Wheat prices averaged lower today, influenced a good deal by selling ascribed to a prominent Eastern trader. An increased estimate of the prospective export surplus in Argentina tended also to bring about a downturn in wheat values. The wheat market closed unsettled the same as Saturday's finish to 1-8c off, new style, Dec. 148 3-4 to 148 7-8, and May 143 7-8 to 144, with corn at 1-8c decline to an equal advance, oats 1-8c down, and provisions unchanged to 12c higher.

According to a Chicago crop expert who is at present in Argentina, the new wheat harvest there which has just begun, will probably yield 270,000,000 bushels, suggesting an exportable surplus of 195,000,000. This surplus is about 10,000,000 bushels larger than a generally accepted estimate hertofore current. Aside from the bearish character of Argentine crop figures, selling was apparently more or less due to gossip about likelihood of increased imports of Canadian wheat by United States millers.

Rallies in wheat prices developed when selling pressure dwindled, especially in the last part of the day. The December delivery in particular became relatively firm owing to buying that was credited to various Chicago interests. Unexpected steadiness of quotations at Liverpool received attention here at the opening and were explained here as result of 800,000 bu. decrease in the amount of wheat on ocean passage. There was also a falling off of 722,000 bushels in the United States visible supply, leaving the total much below one-half of the aggregate a year ago.

BREAD PRICE REDUCED.

Cornwall Bakers' Gift Offset By Dearer Milk.

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 10. —(Canadian Press.)— Local bakers offered their consumers Monday, as a Thanksgiving gift, a general reduction of one cent a loaf, commencing yesterday. The price of a wrapped loaf is now 10 cents. Milk vendors, on the contrary, advanced the price of milk two cents a quart. The new price for milk is 12 cents a quart.

DOCTOR PLEADS THAT HE DIDN'T SLAY DAUGHTER

Unable to Recall Events of Day of Tragedy in His Home.

SUBJECT TO SPELLS

Feared Imbecile Daughter Might Become a Charge on Public.

LITTLETON, Colo., Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—For four, long gruelling hours Monday an old wearied father occupied the witness stand and defended himself against the charge of slaying his 34-year-old daughter, Hazel Blazer, the first born and a helpless cripple and imbecile almost from birth.

When court opened Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer was sworn as a witness and for the major portion of the court day continued his testimony before a crowd.

"I believe in immortality; I believe my daughter had a soul and I did not slay her," the elderly country doctor declared on direct examination by H. W. Spangler, of his staff of defence counsel.

In the face of cross-examination by prosecuting attorney Joel E. Stone, Dr. Blazer maintained his composure, although often admitting that he "didn't remember" when confronted with apparently conflicting statements made by himself during the coroner's inquest several months ago and in direct examination yesterday.

Not Responsible.

Blazer pleading that his "spells" rendered him unaccountable for his acts, found support in the testimony of Dr. Daniel E. Phillips, professor of physiology at the University of Denver. In response to a series of hypothetical questions, Dr. Phillips declared that he did not believe that Dr. Blazer on the day of the crime was able to "distinguish between right and wrong." Dr. Cyrus H. Pershing, Denver alienist, made a similar answer.

"I suffered these spells, which made my head heavy and my tongue numb, often and they recurred more and more frequently after my wife's death, early in 1924," Dr. Blazer declared. "I could think at these times, but I was not sure that my conclusion were correct. Because of this, I gave up my practice fearing that I might prescribe for many patients incorrectly.

"I knew that I suffered from high blood pressure and feared that I might be taken away suddenly by a stroke of apoplexy. I abhorred the though that my daughter Hazel might become a burden on others or be placed in an institution. I never mentioned this to my wife, but I worried over this eventuality more than a little."

Only One Recollection.

On the day of the tragedy, the defendant declared, he had clear and plain recollection of but one thing—of "helping with the washing in the morning," reduced circumstances brought about by the failure of an invention of his to materialize caused this condition, he asserted, adding that "everybody had to pitch in and help out."

His recollection of the events surrounding the death of the "child woman" were confused he said repeatedly and declared that he could not "differentiate between what I knew and what they told me."

TWO BROTHERS FOUND GUILTY

Serious Charge Brought Against Four Members of One Family.

SENTENCE TOMORROW

COBOURG, Nov. 10.—Two of the four Crawford brothers who were arrested on a serious charge were found guilty and remanded until tomorrow for sentence. The four men were charged with an offence against a young girl of thirteen years, who lives in Cartwright Township. John Crawford pleaded guilty, and another brother, Roy, was found guilty. The two others were found not guilty. They came before Judge McGlade in the County Judge's Criminal Court.

The price of coke has advanced here from $12.00 a short time ago to $14.00. This is attributed to the advance in the price of soft coal at the mines.

Mrs. E. Worth.

The funeral took place here on Saturday of Mrs. Worth, wife of Ed. Worth, C.P.R. station agent. Mrs. Worth, whose maiden name was Lavina McCloherty, had only been seriously ill since Saturday, although her health had not been good for some time. Her husband and a grown-up family survive her. Interment was in Cobourg Union Cemetery.

David Lightte.

David Lightte, for many years a well-known resident of Hamilton Township, residing at Bethel Grove, died quite suddenly on Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Fulford, Jr., Port Hope. He had resided in the locality all his lifetime, and was in his 71st year. The funeral took place Friday afternoon, interment at Bethel Grove. Mr. Lightte is survived by four daughters: Mrs. H. Jewell, Toronto; Mrs. Applegath, wife of Rev. C. S. Applegath, Hamilton; Mrs. Fulford and Miss Lily Lightte, Port Hope.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Bleakheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds — and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

GRAIN GROWERS EXPECT TARIFF TO BE REDUCED

Price of Progressive Support to Liberal Party Suggested From Manitoba.

PAPER'S OPINION

United Farmers' Official Organ Welcomes Conclusive Decision in 1926.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press)—Commenting editorially on the political situation, created by the recent Federal election, the Grain Growers' Guide, official organ of the United Farmers' of Manitoba, has the following to say in the latest issue of its weekly publication:

"If in this crisis of Canadian politics, Premier King can see his way to pursue a genuine Liberal policy, there is reason to believe he will be assured of sufficient votes to support his ministry and policy.

"First, as of primary importance, it will be expected of the Prime Minister that he will proceed to arrange for moderate and practical reductions in the tariff, which amounts to a direct tax on most of these western provinces. It should be accepted that in a house where the high tariff party will be aggressive, and new reductions in the tariff will be sharply challenged. Let it be so. There can never be a better time to try conclusions than in 1926 on the issue which presses for a settlement more conclusive than was given in the recent election.

"The Progressives could reasonably expect that Mr. Mackenzie King will be agreeable to adopt the alternative vote as a Government measure in the approaching session of Parliament. On the basis of the support he received on the Prairies, it is also reasonable to hope that if the Liberal Party remains in power, that at least a few miles of the Hudson Bay Railway will be built.

"The future of the Progressives is the main feature of the present political speculation. The one certainty is that the Progressives must decide whether or not the Liberal Party will carry on. Another certainty is that the future of the Progressive Party depends in great measures upon the action of the Progressive group in the next House."

RAIDS DISTURB IRISH CAPITOL

Republican Agitators Seize Film of Battle of Ypres in Dublin Theatre.

GANG WAS ARMED

DUBLIN, Nov. 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Three raids by armed men carried out in Dublin Monday, these being attributed to a recrudescense of Republican activities brought on by the preparations made to celebrate Armistice Day. The Republican agitators believed a pro-British political color may be given to the celebrations.

Seven armed men yesterday afternoon entered a motion picture theatre where a film of the Battle of Ypres was being shown and seized eight reels, the manager being forced to refund the audience's money. Six men raided the offices of the British Legion, an organization of ex-service men, and seized some books, presumably with the intention of obtaining the names of collectors for the "Flanders Poppy Fund."

Yesterday morning Patrick Sheehan, once a supporter of Eamonn de Valera, but now a member of the Free State Prisoos Board, was kidnapped and held for an hour as a protest against the treatment accorded Republican prisoners.

Civic guards are scouring Dublin and its suburbs, but so far have made no arrests.

JUDGE WAS DENIED TAX ADJUSTMENT

Portsmouth Recorder Wanted To Deduct Traveling Expenses From Income Assessment.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—The House of Lords as a judicial body has dismissed the appeal of George Ricketts, Recorder of Portsmouth, who raised the question of whether he was entitled to deduct his expenses from his official salary in making a return of his income tax. Recorders in England correspond somewhat to the county court judges in Canada and are usually appointed from among the barristers who can reasonably hope eventually to receive full judicial honors.

Recorder Ricketts claimed a reduction on account of travelling and hotel expenses in attending to the sessions in Portsmouth from London and also for the wear and tear of his gown and court suit. The House of Lords ruled that travelling and hotel expenses did not fall within the right of deduction, but allowed the ten shillings deduction granted to him for wear and tear of his gown and court suit to stand, also three shillings for stamps and stationery.

A recorder's salary is rarely more than two hundred pounds.

'PUSSYFOOT' JOHNSON SEES EUROPEAN PLOT AGAINST PROHIBITION LAW OF U.S.

Says Liquor Interests of Central European Countries Pooling Funds for "Wet" Drive on America—To Be Launched in December.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—St. Paul and Minneapolis were named yesterday by William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson as distribution centres for liquor bootlegged into the United States.

Johnson made his assertion in a report given out by the World League Against Alcoholism, and in which he charged that a "European plot is forming against the United States Prohibition Law." The "plot" is to be launched, he said, at a wet gathering at Washington on December 16.

The temperance lecturers' report continues:

"Finance committee is now at work gathered funds for this purpose. The committee is made up of Wilhelm Rosenkranz, Franz Braum and Wilhelm Kiesoche of Berlin, but the liquor dealers of all of the Central European countries will combine their funds for this great drive into America.

"The leading brewery interests behind the scenes is centered around the Schultzis Brewery concern of Berlin. Mr. Fritz Schultzis, director of this concern, and his nephew, Otto, have engineered several bootlegging enterprises in America, some of which have come to grief recently.

"Otto has made frequent trips to America recently but never gets farther than the Atlantic Coast, though his real disposing agents are chiefly in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

"His goods have been mostly landed along the Delaware Bay and thence sent to Minnesota."

FRENCH CRISIS OVER FINANCES

Solution Anxiously Sought, But Wide Divergence as to Methods.

LOTTERY LOAN?

PARIS, Nov. 10.— (Canadian Press).—The deadlock between Premier Painleve and his majority in the Chamber of Deputies on his measures for financial restoration has created a situation closely resembling a cabinet crisis. The issue last night seemed squarely defined between inflation, with a sinking fund commission and forced refunding of short term bonds with a capital levy as an accompaniment.

Leon Blum, Socialist leader, announced that he would today force a decisive vote before the delegations of the different groups of the majority. The finance committee partly forestalled this move Monday by a vote on counter-proposals presented by Vincent Auriole, Socailist, which resulted in a tie, 15 to 15, this being considered a Socialist defeat.

The different parties of the chamber discussed the situation yesterday afternoon while M. Painleve conferred with the Regents of the Bank of France. All agreed that an early solution must be found, but the opposing conceptions are still far apart. The premier maintains his stand against changes in the principal of his plan, while willing to discuss modifications in detail.

The proposed lottery plan is steadily gaining favor, and is supported by such financial authorities as former Premier Francois Marshal and Deputy George Bonnefous, many Conservative and moderate papers and some radical organs. They advocate a loan with a small rate of interest and daily drawings of prizes. Their reply to accusations of immorality through daily drawings is that it is more immoral to take capital outright than to ask for voluntary subscriptions which would give subscribers a guarantee that they would get back the better part of their investment, anyway, and a chance to get it all back, or more.

DIPLOMAT FIRED AFTER INQUIRY

Sensational Charges Were Made by Both Parties in Consular Dispute.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—It was announced today that Walter Annesley Stewart, former counsellor of the British Embassy at Rio Janeiro, has been dismissed from the diplomatic service.

(A foreign office board of inquiry was named a year ago to investigate sensational charges made by both sides in a dispute between Mr. Stewart and his chief, Sir John Tilley, British Ambassador to Brazil. The nature of the charges was not made public, but it was indicated disciplinary action against Mr. Stewart was to be expected).

THANK OFFERING OF NORWOOD SOCIETIES

W.M.S. and Y.W.A. of United Church Held Joint Meeting.

NORWOOD, Nov. 10.—The Presbyterian groups of the W.M.S. and Y.W.A. of Norwood United church held their annual Thankoffering service on Thursday evening, November 5th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson. There were over fifty members and their friends present. Mr. John Weir, president of the Y.W.A. occupied the chair. An interesting reading from extracts on the life of John Geddes and G. L. McKay was given by Miss Stella Burgess. Mrs. H. Robb read a letter of acknowledgement from the Round Lake Indian school in Saskatchewan about the arrival of two bale of clothing from the Peterboro Presbyteri.'. After a few remarks Mrs. Robb presented a life membership certificate to Mrs. Thos. Clarke in memory of her son, Dr. Mortimer Clarke, a medical missionary in China who died some few months ago. This certificate was from the members of both the W.M.S. and the Y.W.A. Mr. Clarke also presented Mrs. Clarke with a Life Membership badge and thanked the societies on behalf of his wife. A very interesting address on missions was given by Rev. R. F. Stillman after which Rev. T. M. Wesley closed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were then served and a social time enjoyed by the members. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson for their hospitality.

P. BLAND WON RACE AT CAMPBELLFORD

Perseverance After Previous Defeats Earns Herald Trophy.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10. — There were only four starters—Leo Bush, P. Bland, L. Nelson and A. Culkein—in the Marathon race held here yesterday, the cold weather and the condition of the roads probably accounting for the small number of starters. The runners were taken three miles down the Gravel Road and started from there, running up Front Street to the Fair Grounds, and finishing at the intersection of Front and Bridge Streets. On their way through town on the first lap, Culkein was in the lead, but Bland overhauled him and finished an easy winner, with Bush second, Culkein third and Nelson fourth. Bland has started in this race in previous years, but this is the first time he has won the cup. Bush, one of the best sprinters and long distance runners in town, won this race in three successive years, and now is permanent owner of the trophy, a new cup for the winner having to be put up this year.

The distance covered was exactly five miles, as measured by an auto, and the time made was 31 minutes and 15 seconds.

LIQUOR DISCOVERED ON FRENCH VESSEL

Was Concealed in Bulkheads and in Secret Panels in Cabins.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press)—Fifteen Federal agents raided the French liner Rousillion docked at the foot of West 50th Street today and seized 231 bottles of champagne, cognac, liquors and whiskeys, valued at bootleg prices at about $5,000. The French line will be subject to a fine of $1,085 for contraband found on the vessel, it was announced. No arrests were made. A three-hour search of the liner discovered the liquor concealed in the bulkheads and in secret panels of third class cabins.

U. S. GRAIN EXPORTS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Grain exports from the United States last week were 2,721,000 bushels as compared with 2,733,000 bushels the previous week

Canadian grains exported through United States' ports amounted to 1,784,000 bushels against 2,822,000 the previous week while total wheat flour exports from North America were 415,000 barrels as compared with 365,000.

Good Health In Old Age!

AS WE grow older the body needs more and more help in warding off sickness. Sleeplessness, loss of appetite, impoverished blood, loss of vitality, all show that the body needs help in restoring the vital energy it is using up, and before health returns this vital energy must be restored.

Medical research has definitely proved that one of the causes of a run down condition of the body is a shortage of certain mineral elements, including iron, potassium, calcium, sodium and phosphorus, and until a sufficient supply of these minerals is restored to the body, good health is impossible. Wincarnis contains every one of these elements in addition to other health giving ingredients and in a form in which they are most rapidly absorbed into the blood and carried to every part of the body to be converted into vital force.

Wincarnis has been recommended by over ten thousand physicians in cases of nervousness, anaemia, sleeplessness, and the general debility that accompanies a run down body. For fifty years this strength giver and nerve restorative has brought new life and happiness to weakened men and women.

Buy a bottle of Wincarnis today from your druggist—try it and see the difference just a few days will bring.

ARMISTICE SUNDAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Sermons and Solos in Presbyterian and United Churches

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10—The bronze tablet in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, upon which are inscribed the names of the young men of the congregation who lost their lives in the Great War was beautifully decked with flowers and with a large wreath of poppies for the Sunday services when fitting observance was made of Armistice Day.

The special feature of the musical programme in the evening was two selections by the Junior Girls' choir of ten voices, these youthful singers also joining in an anthem with their seniors.

Services in St. John's

The services held in St. John's United Church on Sunday, Oct. 8th, were in keeping with Armistice Day and Thanksgiving. Mr. Carl Maguire took the solo part of the anthem in the morning and Mrs. F. J. Smith, Dr. L. Young and Mr. Geo. Lucy gave a trio. Rev. Wesley Elliot spoke mainly on Thanksgiving and recalled facts leading to Armistice Day in 1918.

In the evening the ladies of the choir gave a chorus, "Scatter the Flowers," followed by an anthem by the choir. Mr. W. Henson sang "The Trumpeter" accompanied by Mr. Walter Lowe, cornetist. The choir sang, "O Canada" and the service closed with the congregation singing "God Save the King."

Hardware Stock Sold

D. A. Owen, who purchased the hardware stock in the Turner store last week has disposed of it to Arthur Reddin, who will carry on the business. Mr. Owen who has had experience in that line has been retained as manager.

POLICE DOUBTING BOY'S CONFESSION

Arraign His Parents on Charge of Murder at Hull.

HULL, Que., Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Honore Fleury, farmer of Duclos, Que., and his wife will be arraigned in Hull Police Court today, and formally charged with the murder of the former's mother, Mme Mathilde Fleury, aged 63, who was shot to death at their lonely farmhouse in the Gatineau Hills on Friday. The police are sceptical over the alleged confession of 14-year-old Ovilla Fleury, son of the accused, and are of the opinion that the statement made by the boy was to shield his parents. At the inquest Sunday, the lad testified that he entered the kitchen on Friday afternoon and saw his grandmother lying on the floor and that he called for his parents to render assistance. After the arrest of his parents, he is alleged to have confessed to the police that he had accidentally shot his grandmother with a .38 calibre revolver belonging to his elder brother. He is being held by the police as a material witness.

WILD DUCKS FEWER.

Thousands of Young Birds Dead in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 10.—A tragedy of the marshes of Manitoba has been revealed by hunters returning to Winnipeg from their favorite shooting hunts.

As a result of the unseasonable weather which has prevailed throughout the province during the past month, it is reported that thousands of ducks and other game birds have died from the cold. The birds, which are mostly young, are said to have frozen in the water of the marshes, when their ice-covered wings prevented them from flying to shelter.

WEDDING BELLS.

BURLEY—McCONNELL.

A very quiet wedding took place at St. Paul's church, Lindsay, at five-thirty, November 5, when Sara Irene youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McConnell, of East Emily, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, to James Burley, of Fenelon. The bride looked charming in navy blue ensemble suit of poirct twill and henna canton, with black satin hat, and shoes to match. The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Violet McBain, dressed in brick canton with hat and coat to match, while Mr. W. Burley, nephew of the groom, acted as best man. The wedding party then journeyed to the Benson house where they partook of a sumptuous wedding repast. The happy couple at eight thirty left for their new home in Fenelon. The Rev. Canon Marsh officiated and presented the bride with a beautiful leather-bound prayer book.

SIMPSON—HOWSON.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Saint Paul's church, Peterborough, on Saturday afternoon, November 7, the Rev. William Allan officiating, when Marion Poole, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Howson, was united in marriage to Francis William Simpson, of the First State Bank, Detroit, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Simpson of Peterboro, Ont.

The bride wore an ensemble costume of midnight blue with trimmings of grey squirrel, with satin hat of silver and blue.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left for Toronto en route to Detroit, where they will make their future home.

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed on" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action: internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

Suffered for years with acute rheumatism

HAD RHEUMATISM FOR YEARS— FOUND HELP AT LAST

Tells how simple home treatment brought relief

Thousands of rheumatic sufferers who have tried remedy after remedy in vain, report that they have got quick, complete relief from a very simple home treatment.

"I have suffered with acute rheumatism for years," writes a man from Winchester, N. H. "After having tried various remedies, Sloan's Liniment was recommended to me, and it stopped the pain. I am quite old—past sixty years."

A little Sloan's patted on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood is sent tingling through pain-ridden tissues. No rubbing! The medicine itself does the work.

Soon the swelling and inflammation go down. The aching stops. Almost suddenly you find yourself really free from pain, really comfortable at last. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

ANGRY AT PARENTS.

Two Little Boys Overtaken in Flight.

GANANOQUE, Ont., Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press.) — Arnold and Clinton Bodier, two lads aged 12 and six years disappeared from their home at Pitt's Ferry, six miles west of here on Saturday. Monday afternoon they were found in a park in this town by Chief of Police Chevis. They told the official that they had lived in the woods since they left home. They were conserving a small amount of money they had, having only spent 24 cents. They said they were angry at their parents and had run away, intending to make their way to Montreal.

Louis Agassiz, famous zoologist and Harvard professor, was a champion fencer.

BARGE CREW MISSING.

Lost in Thursday's Storm on Lakes.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—The sinking of the barge Crane in the storm of Thursday last when she broke away from the steamer Hettler was confirmed Monday by the locating of the wreck about a mile off Risp Point in four fanthoms of water. The boat was intact and apparently sunk head down.

A broken mast gave mute evidence of its location to coast guard crews patrolling the vicinity. The stern rail was also visible at times as the big waves, which still run high, washed back and forth over the spot.

There was no sign of life and no bodies have yet been recovered. As soon as the weather will permit effort will be made to ascertain if any of the crews remains are still in the hulk.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

Rev. P. Butler, speaking from the Gospel of St. Matthew 9, 18 to 26, at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday, related the account of the miracle performed by Christ when He raised the daughter of Jairus from the dead, after the earnest solicitation of her father.

The reverend speaker referred to the anxiety caused all parents by the sickness or misbehavior of children, and also spoke of the duties owed by children to their parents, and the responsibility incumbent upon them of honor, reverence and respect, to those parents. "The first duty of children is to honor, reverence and respect their parents, and the child that does not respect its father and mother is indeed an unnatural child. This is the reason why so many old people spend their days in sorrow, because their children have despised them. Old people may have their faults, and cause irritation by their peculiar ways, but the young also have their faults. Is our boasted civilization reverting to the manners of paganism, when the old were permitted to be rejected and despised? How sane is the advice, how wholesome are the warnings of those who have grown old and who stand on the verge of the grave. Some children think their better education makes them more competent to judge than their parents, but there is one thing that education does not give, and that is the experience that comes with years."

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl, speaking at the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Sunday morning, exhorted his congregation to be mindful of the benefits of membership in the Altar Society. In this society, one of the greatest benefits is the offering up daily of Masses in remembrance of members and their deceased relatives.

"Christ died on the Cross to atone for the sins of the world—yours and mine—and when hanging on that Cross, do you not think that He would have forgiven the greatest sinner in the world, if He had been asked to do so? The sacrifice of the Mass commemorates His crucifixion and death, and it is when assisting at this holy sacrifice that God lends the most willing ear to the supplications of His people. Even the most holy need God's help and assistance. And, on the other hand, what if some member of your family is going down to eternal damnation and will surely do so unless you pray for him or her. The best way to help the black sheep is to join the Altar Society and give them the benefit of the Masses offered up daily, so that they may repent of their sins and refrain from breaking the hearts of their families.

"In spiritual trials and in temporal difficulties, the same thing applies. The business man needs help and assistance just as much as the one who is removed from the temptations of the world. He needs God's blessing, and receives it when he assists at Mass.

"When we work for the salvation of any person's soul, we are working for the glory and honor of God, and we are also helping on our own eternal salvation."

ST. PAUL'S.

Thanksgiving services in St. Paul's on Sunday were largely attended.

The morning discourse of Rev. Mr. Allan was founded on the 23rd verse of the 15th Chapter of Exodus, pointing out God's deliverance of the Children of Israel, as a gladsome experience, the curse of a bad memory when they forgot His goodness and the cure for all ills, in those days, and the present—the Cross of Jesus Christ.

The evening theme, "A Dream, a Laugh, a Song," was built on the words of verses 1-3 of Psalm 126.

Mr. Allan said these words might be considered as history and a prophecy. It looks forward to what is called the Kingdom age. It was a great deliverance. The Lord turned again the captivity of Zion—the place the people, the temple, for worship, praise, service and communion. Through sin these had been ruined—now there is silence and death. When the Lord turns again, it means conversion. Life is no picnic these days. There have been multiplied troubles, our own sinning; there has been depression of spirit, worried with many things; miserable backsliding, tying our hands, and closing our lips, instead of showing our colors; and there has been grievous doubt. All things are possible to those that believe.

A happy deliverance was theirs; their mouths were filled with laughter, their tongues with singing. We, too, should be full of joy in serving; there should be no room for gloom and solemnity. God intends us to be light and cheerful in His work.

It was an acknowledged deliverance—"Then said they among the heathen, the Lord hath done great things for them." Many instances are in the book where God was in the midst of the people, and His presence and goodness was noised abroad.

It is a blessed thing when saints set sinners talking of God's loving kindness. And it was acknowledged by the Israelites themselves. "The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad." It is poor modesty, said Mr. Allan, which is ashamed to own its joy in the Lord. Do we fully realize our many blessings—privilege of birth, the joy of being alive, when so many sleep on foreign fields, health of body and mind, the Word of God, the life and land beyond this—when every every worth-while ambition will be realized, when all the broken cords will be caught up again, when all that is crooked will be made straight, the day when dreams come true, when all earth's minor notes will be lost in the grand major of accomplished redemption? This should be our aim.

The Roll-Call.

At the conclusion of his sermon, Mr. Allan amid silence and bowed heads, read the names of those of St. Paul's church, on the honor roll, who had made the supreme sacrifice, and asked the congregation never to forget their memories.

The Decorations.

The pulpit and choir loft were the admiration of all, with the fall tints of leaf and flower, miniature sheafs of grain and corn stalks, and palms, the work of a few ladies, under the guidance of Mrs. H. Clayton. These were artistically arranged, and added much to the services of the day.

The Music.

The choir numbers, under the leadership of Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., were appropriate anthems and solos of thanksgiving lending their part, morning and evening. Martin Chenhall, Jr., assisted with his 'cello in the evening.

MARK STREET.

Special anniversary and thanksgiving services, with a special programme of music, under the leadership of Mr Victor Boorman, were held at the Mark street United Church, on Sunday. In the morning the sermon was preached by Rev. J. W. Gordon, M. A., of St. Andrew's church, and Rev. A. Brown, D. D., of Cobourg, preached the evening sermon.

Last evening a fowl supper was served in the church hall to a large number of parishioners and their freinds. Receipts for the occasion will total in the neighborhood of $200.

The musical programme in the evening was very successful. An orchestra, directed by R. Gliddon, gave several fine selections, with numbers by several of the orchestra's members. Mrs. P. Hooper and Miss W. Evans giving violin numbers and Mr. J. Minicolo a cornet selection. Readings were given by the Misses A. Throop, Reynolds, P. Petrie, vocal solos by Messrs. Petrie, and V. Boorman and Miss Johnson, and a vocal quartette number by Messrs. Smith and Boorman, Mrs. Smith and Miss Fern Stenton.

Her Rheumatism Vanished!

After two years of agony, this woman thanks Tanlac for restoring lost health

*For two years, Mary Arpentigny, had rheumatism in her right arm and hand so bad she couldn't lift a comb to her hair. Indigestion made matters worse.

Finally her brother urged her to try Tanlac and improvement came with the first bottle. "Now," writes Mrs. Arpentigny, "my appetite is fine, my indigestion is gone and every sign of rheumatism has left me. I only hope others will profit by my experience."

*Authentic statement; address on request.

KAISER SHOULD HAVE FOUGHT IN FRONT TRENCHES

If He Had Entered Line Sentiment Would Have Been With Him.

TAKING A CHANCE.

General Groener's Advice, Given in 1918, Was Not Heeded By Emperor.

MUNICH, Nov. 10. — (Canadian Press). — That former Emperor William should have gone into the trenches in November, 1918, and thus saved the monarchy, is the opinion expressed by General Wilhelm Groener, who during the closing days of the World War succeeded General Ludendorff as Quartermaster-General.

"I told the Emperor's adjutants at the time," said General Groener, "that His Majesty should leave immediately for the front, not merely to review his troops or to distribute iron crosses, but to fight. It was to be no dash for death, but His Majesty should go into the trenches like any common soldier, leaving it to chance whether a bullet should end him. If he fell, I said it would constitute a beautiful death. If he were wounded national sentiment would have reverted in his favor."

General Groener added that his advice was not heeded. He further said that Ludendorff told him on September 25, 1918, that peace must be made by Christmas of that year as the German army could not possibly hold out any longer.

COMMUNISTS TRY TO KILL FERDINAND

Band Captured Lying in Wait at Inn to Attack Rumanain Monrach.

VIENNA, Nov. 10. — (Canadian Press).—A Communist attempt to assassinate King Ferdinald of Rumania has been thwarted.

Lying in wait at a country inn for the King to return from hunting, a band of Communists was captured by troops after repulsing gendarmes with revolvers and hand grenades yesterday. Advices to-day from Galatz, Rumania, describe the affair.

One soldier and one gendarme were wounded.

CHRISTMAS DANCE PLANNED BY I.O.D.E.

Peter Robinson Chapter Will Hold Annual Ball December 28.

The regular meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. was held on Saturday afternoon in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association. In the absence from the meeting of the Regent, Mrs. F. Hooper, the chair was taken by Miss Geraldine Glover.

The sum of $15 was voted from the Chapter funds towards the Y.W.C.A. financial campaign.

Discussion took place of arrangements for the annual Christmas dance, which will be held on 28th of December. Mrs. Ho... will act as general convenor, Mayme Montgomery as convener the decorations, Mrs. J. McNabb refreshments, and the Misses and Gladys Mulholland for invitations.

Three new members were added to the roll of the Chapter: Misses Mildred Morphet, Eva Tudhope and Marjorie Turner.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

When a girl is keeping company with a young man is it "wrong" for her to come home with other boy friends of hers. I am in my 'teens.

Looking for your reply. Thank you,

TOPSY.

TOPSY: That depends on circumstances, Topsy. In any case, it is hardly wrong, but it may lead to trouble with your "steady." If you think it is good for him to have a little competition once in a while, go ahead, but if you know you are hurting his feelings, and he wouldn't treat you in the same way, don't do it.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES

CIRCLE SUNBEAM A. O. F.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Terrace, who kindly gave her home a masquerade party was held for the Sunbeam Circle, A.O.F. A good gathering of the younger folks gathered together, mostly all in costume and singing and games were indulged in by the younger girls and dancing for the older ones.

There was about thirty-five present, and also members of Queen Alexandra Circle, who assisted in helping to make the evening a success.

Miss Wiggins, Chief Companion of the Adult Circle, said that it was a splendid way to keep the younger ones together and that there would be more gatherings of the same kind throughout the coming winter and thanked Mrs. Terrace and the other companions for the interest they take in the younger ones.

The companions who helped were, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Pink, Mrs. Dainton, Mrs. Simmons, Miss Wiggins, Miss Patterson, Mrs. Lang, Miss Townsley, Mrs. Eggerton, Mrs. Young, Miss Shurity.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA CIRCLE

On Hallowe'en night a masquerade party was held at the home of Mrs. Pink McDonnell St. in honour of the eleventh anniversary of Mrs. Pink's wedding. Considering that it was Saturday night, it was a great success. Those in costume were.

Mr. R. Townsley, Irish washerwoman; Miss Townsley, Belgian soldier; Mr. E. Freeman, tramp; Mr. R. Barnes, hobo; Mrs. Barnes, gypsy; Mrs. Jackson, sheik; Mrs. Leggett, Spanish lady; Mr. Leggett, lady; Mr. Jackson, old woman; Miss J. Patterson, grandma; Miss Shurely, little girl; Miss E. Freeman, old maid; Mr. Scott, tramp; Miss Simmons, gypsy; Mr. Montgomery, lady; Miss Spence, pierrot; Mrs. Terrace, Aunt Dinah; Miss Johnston, pierrot; Miss Eggerton, gent.

Others who were not in costume were: Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Simmons, Mr. Terrace, Mrs. Dainton, Mr. Dainton, Mrs. Freeman.

After, games and dances were indulged in, light refreshments were served, after which Mr. Dainton spoke a few words of thanks and congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Pink and Mrs. Simmons presented a beautiful china bread dish. A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close at midnight.

WHEN the world started expecting more of women, the old-time "sanitary pad" had to go. Doctors urge a new way. Millions employ it. You wear sheerest frocks without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day unhandicapped.

It is called "KOTEX" . . . five times as absorbent as the ordinary pad!

Thoroughly deodorizes . . . thus ending ALL fear of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy simply by saying "KOTEX," at any drug or department store. Costs only a few cents. Proves risky old ways a folly.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11.

Excellent conditions are to obtain on this day, according to the auspicious rule of important planets. The major benefic, Jupiter, holds sway both by Solar and Lunar aspect. This prospers all ambitions and undertakings, expanding the business and making for increase of wealth. Saturn assists in the reward for industry and perseverance, also promises substantial friends. But it is warned that removals, changes or journeys are not advantageous. Those in employment are in line for recognition or promotion, if qualified.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of excellent fortune, with increase of money and business, fulfilled ambitions and return for industry. Change and travel are risky. Those in employment are under promising sway for preferment or advancement. A child born on this day should be ambitious and capable, and should make a good success of its undertakings, rising in life to good position.

REMEMBRANCE

SEVENTH CELEBRATION OF ARMISTICE DAY.

By James Abraham.

MY MIND wanders back to the 11th of November, 1918, when the tents were struck, and the great caravan of humanity was once again on the march. The dust and bustle of the march are apparent, but to what goal is it tending? On the one hand the ancient allurements of personal and natural ambition are forever beckoning power, wealth and dominion towards which may press in a greedy and un-heeding mob, nation after nation, siezing its brief day of glory, and falling back in disaster, and on the other the Great Master is still calling on the nations to follow Him in unity and as comrades along the one road which leads to happiness and peace. We are celebrating tomorrow the seventh anniversary of the signing of the Armistice. We might have said at that time, in answer to the question "whither marching," that we are going to pay tribute to the heroic dead, and there to build a better world. Since that time memorials to our brave comrades who had made the great sacrifice had been erected throughout our country, but there are more than that—they were the voices of comrades who were speaking to us and asking "whither marching?" whether along the road of self-sacrifice which led to the city of universal comradeship, or along the path of self-satisfaction and selfishness, which leads to the plains of dissension, unrest and disaster, on the battlefields of the Great War in different parts of the world were unmistakable proofs, that men could rise to great heights of heroism, devotion and self-sacrifice.

There are men to-day who were working for the betterment of those around them. In those days men had died for the sake of mankind and men and women were engaged in devoted and unselfish service for their fellows, without a thought of, or desire for reward. Man is selfish, but nevertheless he could and would rise to great heights if given the chance. There are cries of those who ever saw evil and despair, but owing to the achievements of science the world is to-day one great neighbourhood, and why should we not be able to call it one great brotherhood? It is a great ideal—a noble and lofty ideal; but the progress of the world was built upon ideals and the constant striving for a better state, struggles there must ever be, but, not with the weapons of greed and selfishness. Let our struggles then be those of high and lofty ideals.

The Chartist had ideals and their struggles for those ideals resulted in their visions becoming realities. The people of Canada, and the remainder of the British Empire are a great people, and members of a great race. The pages of this Empire's history and development might be stained with greed and selfishness, but our enemies cannot deny that the flag is symbolical and stood for freedom and justice within the Empire.

"Whither then are we marching?" Is it along the road of high and lofty ideals which eventually will lead to peace and happiness, goodwill and a brotherhood, or along the road of distrust and hatred, which endeth in disaster and despair. The desire for service made a people great—liberty and freedom can only be established by co-operation. Thus alone could the opportunity be given to man to develop his best in the interests and for the benefit of mankind. The all-important thing to remember was that it is not what a citizen gained, but what he gave, that counts.

Freedom and justice can only be secured and maintained by co-operation. Freedom was the negative that might was right, it was not to might but to justice we must appeal, if it is possible for individuals within a nation by co-operation and unselfish service to rise to great heights. Is it a mere dream of visionaries that the nations of the earth could so deal with one another and work together in the common cause of humanity without selfishness, but with self sacrifice, courage and endurance, so as to make those high ideals, a reality?

The cause of peace demands self-sacrifice, lack of co-operation among men resulted in discord. Lack of co-operation among nations spelt war, with results we are now witnessing, in this country and all over Europe. The interest of individuals necessitated co-operation, and it is equally necessary for nations, if they are to be free to develop their own best talents and resources, for the benefit of mankind and for peace and a life of happiness.

There must be goodwill between individuals and nations. They must be prepared to sink their differences and go hand in hand like one great brotherhood. They must be prepared to choose the path along which they must march, and like true comrades, and march along the path of freedom and justice, like true patriots serving their country and their fellowmen, in order to attain the promised land, wherein brotherhood, born of co-operation should reign supreme. Then our children and grandchildren would do honor and pay tribute to our memories, just as we are to-morrow going to pay honor and tribute to our brave and noble comrades, who had lived and died that this country of ours and the rest of the British Empire, and the world might be free. The world at the present time is calling out from the bottom of its heart for Peace, Happiness and Security. And it is only by the said co-operation of individuals and nation, properly worked, and intelligently organized, could attain to this wonderful state when there would be no war, then we shall know the Great War was not fought in vain ..

Some very comical things take place in the world of wild things, if we only could hear about them all.

The migrating season always provides strange and very entertaining stories for somebody. Here is one.

Not long ago, a man got up one Sunday morning, and ran down stairs in his pajamas, to the front door, to get the newspaper which had been left there late the previous night.

As he put his hand to the door knob and looked out through the small squares of plate glass in the door, to locate his paper, hoping that the wind had not scattered the funny sheet all over the street, he drew back in astonishment.

There, pacing up and down the front veranda, was a young Great Blue Heron. And every time it reached the newspaper at the door, or what was left of it, young Mr. Stop-and-Stab would give the paper a wicked jab and tear, look at himself in the shining glass, for he saw reflected there another gentleman in feathers like himself, and, after getting no satisfaction in the way of conversation, would start to pace up and down again, as though thinking it over.

The paper was forgotten, also the funny sheet. The children, Tommy, aged four, and Ruth and Ruby, the twin girls, were almost unable to dress, for watching that bird. It was determined to get into the house, or through that glass in any case. The children wanted to feed it, as their father said it was probably exhausted from flying and was in want of food, "But" said he, "they eat frogs and fish, and we have nothing to give him, so he will have to go elsewhere."

After breakfast, the bird was still there, and the baby, Tommy, seemed strangely silent. He could not be located in the house. Surely he did not go out.

The twins and their parents all rushed to the front door, to see that Tomy was not being gobbled up alive by that big bird, and to their terrible surprise, there stood Tommy, feet apart, hands behind his back, and the goldfish bowl at the feet of young Mr. Stop-and-Stab. The four fat goldfish were gone and Tommy and the bird appeared to understand each other. Where the bird went, will be told tomorrow.

MAROONS WORK NEW RECRUITS

Kitchen, Stewart and Seibert Given Once Over at Montreal.

STEWART GOOD

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—Making their debut with a professional hockey squad, Kitchen, Stewart and Seibert worked out Monday with the members of the Montreal Hockey Club before a crowd of over three hundred fans at the Forum. The members of the team of last season who were in uniform were Dunc Munro, Reg. Noble, Punch Broadbent, Sammy Rothschild, Dutch Cain and Lowrey.

The players were kept going at top speed for the full period by Manager Eddie Gerard, who served as referee.

The club, in the opinion of many experts who witnessed the practice, will start the season with a much brighter outlook this winter than last, the first season in the National Hockey League. The team is better balanced, there being two men for almost every position, while the amateurs signed during the summer months are larger men and have had more experience than some of those signed last winter.

Outstanding among the forwards was Nelson Stewart, who has played for the past five seasons for Cleveland in the United States Amateur Hockey League. He created a good impression by his work.

Seibert, who played on the opposite wing to Broadbent, also worked well. He has a fast, hard shot and can shoot from either side of the rink. He worked well with the centre, and shower marked inclination to pass the puck to a teammate when headed off. Stewart, Broadbent and Seibert were lined out against the regular defence of Dunc Munro and Reg. Noble. They worked in close, and shot from almost all angles. On the opposite line Lowry, Rothschild and Kitchen were worked together. Kitchen showing to good advantage on the defence as well as on the line. The only absentees from the workout were Benedict and Dinsmore. They arrive in Montreal this week.

From the present outlook comes the prediction that the regulars will be: Benedict, in goal; Dunc Munro and Reg. Noble on the defence; Stewart at centre, with Broadbent on the right wing, and Seibert on the left. The reserve defence players will be Kitchen and Cain, while the reserve forwards will be Rothschilds, Dinsmore and Lowery. The players will work out each morning this week in preparation for the opening game of the season on Monday night, when the Maroons play Victoria, Stanley Cup holders, in an exhibition game at the Forum.

SENATORS RETURN IN GOOD CONDITION

Came Through Tie Battle Against the Tigers.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Ottawa Senators returned from Hamilton Sunday, little the worse for thier gruelling game against the Tigers on Saturday. The Ottawa team is in good condition and resumed practices Monday afternoon.

Starr and Tubman were the only casualties, and injuries sustained by both were of a minor nature. Starr was knocked out in a tackle, while Tubman received a bad shaking up in the final minutes of the game.

Club officials were loud in their praise of the showing made by both teams in the terrible going and predict a terrific battle when the two come together here next Saturday.

INSIDE GOLF.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

By CHESTER HORTON

In all golf swings the wrists must be permitted to go "clear out" as the clubhead takes the ball. By this I mean that the wrist action is complete through the ball, so that if the club was stopped at the instant of hitting you would find the hands fully extended, in line with the shaft. If this wrist action doesn't take place it indicates the wrists are stiff and that the shot is a stiffarm jab at the ball. Failing to let the wrists reach out often results in persistently half-topped shots, which cause the ball to roll along close to the ground. Tee shots that fail to rise as they should have their trouble in the fact that the club face fails to get under the ball properly, due to stiff wrists.

(Copyright, Chester Horton, 1925—reproduction in any form strictly prohibited.)

Letting the wrists clear out at the instant the ball is hit brings into play instinctive timing. Instinctive timing is timing that you feel—that sensation of solid crack against the ball by which you know you have hit it correctly. When using a club in practice, letting the wrists out at the ice spot, you can sense a slight waiting for the clubhead to reach the hitting arc of the down swing. This is the instinctive feeling you want when you swing at the ball, and the purpose of "waiting back with the body," as the old rule goes, is to give the club-head time to work the wrists. The clubhead will work the wrists itself if you just give it time and hold back from lunging in with the body.

HOCKEY PROSPECTS DIM IN BELLEVILLE

Outlook Uncertain Also in Kingston and Brockville.

BELLEVILLE, November 10. — The hockey situation is as still as a pond in Belleville to date. Whether ripples of enthusiasm will later ripple the peaceful surface is doubtful. At all events there is nothing doing here now or yet.

Of course with summer sun and fine weather less thought is given the winter pastime here than in the big towns where artificial ice skating opened this week with big crowds and the blare of band music in popular melod.

Mr. Ed. Thomas, who has been managing Belleville Intermediates and Juniors in past seasons, was not certain this morning whether he would be at the helm or not.

Dim Prospects.

There were dim prospects of an Intermediate team and nothing definite was yet known about material for a Junior O.H.A. team. Asked if any new men had come to the city during the summer who were hockey players. Mr. Thomas said he did not know of any new players.

Bill Green, defence stalwart, is leaving the city and goaler Nurse will doubtless retire. Other players who should be available are Vern Weir, Stan Hagerman, "Daw" Whalen and Bill Finkle. Townsend, the most promising junior, is now out of town. He is at O.A.C., Guelph. There should be material for a good junior team though.

Peterboro Intermediates and Oshawa Juniors are the only two district aggregations showing activity as yet. Former team players are in the gym. and on the track, and meetings have been held at Oshawa.

Not a Word.

It does not appear as though Kingston Intermediates or Brockville will have teams this year. Not a word has been heard yet from either town.

There are two reasons and neither one is the fact that the game is being abandoned. The first reason is industrial stagnation throughout Ontario, where nothing good may be offered players who are anxious to work through the day. The second reason is the intended reason of the powers that be, O.H.A. officials having grown tired of the migratory tendencies of Ontario puck chasers.

By May 15.

Whereas formerly the residence rule was August first for hockey players in Ontario, starting this year, the rule was that any player who was not in town before May 15 could not play O.H.A. hockey there that season. This clause has had its required and natural effect, and is made binding inasmuch as the player and his employer must sign papers proving that the law has been obeyed.

"Bouncer' Holway, who previously played for Belleville and Brockville Intermediates, but who has been working in Kingston during this summer, is now at his home here, but it is not expected that he will remain here during the winter.

SOFTBALL FINAL PLAYED TONIGHT

But Clash With Douro Will Not Affect Selwyn's Claim to Cup.

LAKEFIELD, November 10. — The last scheduled game in the Lake field Soft Ball League will be played to-night when Selwyn and Douro meet for the first time this season. Local interest in the game is strong, and there is no doubt that loyal fans from both sides will attend in large numbers to cheer on their favorite teams. The result will not affect Selwyn's claim to the cup, as they have already won four games which is one more than an other team has won in the league. C. O. Northey is Selwyn's manager, and B. Allen fills a similar position for Douro.

The popularity of the games has justified the efforts of the rink company in providing the village and vicinity with entertainment for the long fall evenings. anything btu kindness in the other

DOG DERBY COURSE TO BE REDUCED

200-Mile Stretch May be Lessened to 50 Miles—Strain on Competitors.

THE PAS, Man., Nov. 10—Plans to replace the 200-mile dog derby, which has become known as Canada's winter sporting classic, are being considered by officials who in past years have promoted the event. It is proposed to stage shorter races, to be run off over a 50-mile course, on three or four successive days. The long grind over the 200 mile stretch, involving often hardship to the dogs and drivers, is primarily responsible for the projected change.

McGILL STAR HURT.

Eddie Hanna Seriously Injured in Rugby Game.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—Eddie Hanna, star McGill halfback, who was seriously injured in Saturday's game against University of Toronto while tackling Warren Snyder, who was charging for a Varsity touchdown, is reported as resting comforably and in better condition than was first thought.

Hanna received a severe wrench of the neck, which affected the vetebral column and especially the branchial plexus. His left arm is most seriously affected by the derangement of the nerve track, but it is expected that time will soon work a cure. However, Hanna is definitely lost to the Red and White this season.

WINTER HALTS RUGBY.

University of Alberta Team Out For Season.

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 10. — (Canadian Press.)—On account of wintry weather conditions the Rugby match between the University of Alberta and Regina, in the playoffs for the Western Canada title scheduled for Edmonton Monday afternoon was called off. The students have officially withdrawn from the competition and Regina and Winnipeg will play for the title.

FANS LIFTED FLAGS.

Montreal Rugby Fans Pursued By Ottawa Police.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Ottawa was gaily beflagged yesterday for Thanksgiving Day. Fans, accompanying the Canadian National Railway rugby team from Montreal, desiring to add a patroitic zest to the cheering for their home team, appropriated 14 of the civic flags and flag poles which lined the streets. The flags were valued at $10 each, but the police recovered them all at the grand stand at Lansdowne Park. There will be no prosecution.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS FORMALLY REPOPEN ENLARGED CLUB ROOMS

Celebrate Thanksgiving Day With Round of Activities—Dinner at Empress.

MANY VISITORS

Officers of Provincial Executive Were Guests—Hold Meeting Here Today.

The Knights of Columbus of this city fomally re-opened their enlarged club rooms on Simcoe street yesterday with a varied programme of events beginning with High Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral in the morning, Thanksgiving Day dinner at the Empress in the afernoon, and concluding with a dance in their new and spacious assembly hall at night. An outstanding feature of the long day's round of activities was the presence of the provincial executive who are meeting in conference here today with the twelve District-Deputies and Mayor R. A. Jeffrey of Arnprior, Deputy; J. J. Duffus of Peterboro, treasurer; T. E. Brown of Ottawa, secretary; G. Parnell McHugh of Toronto; Advocate; and the District Deputies representing sixty K. of C. Councils of Ontario, are: A. E. Corrigan, Ottawa; Dr. Gibson, Kingston; T. J. Begley, Lindsay; James McManus, St. Thomas; J. R. Donohue, Sarnia; R. L. Woodcroft, Hamilton; Dr.. Kearns, Phelpston; G. L. Bush, Guelph; M. J. McDonald, Port Arthur; Jos. Sheedy, North Bay; J. P. Duff, Pembroke; P. J. O'Gorman, Sudbury.

The High Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral commencing at nine o'clock was sung by Rev. Paul Costello assisted by Rev.. Father Guiry as deacon and Rev. John Finn as subdeacon. Rev. J. J. O'Brien was present in the sanctuary. The sermon was preached by Rev. J. V. McAuley of Ennismore whose text was the 16th verse from the fifth chapter of the gospel of St. Matthew—"So let your light shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven."

Father McAuley commended the Knights of Columbus upon their attendance at Mass as a first act and expression of thanksgiving to God with which they began their celebration of the day set apart for the nation's thanksgiving.. He sketched the history of the orders of chivalry in the flowering of knighthood, emphasized their Catholicity and skipping the centuries outlined the aims and ideals of Columbianism. Father McAuley said that these ideals of pure religion, active patriotism, warm and generous charity and ardent fraternity challenged the highest nature of men. He dealt with each subject separately and asked the members to search their hearts as to whether they were measuring up to these ideals, the fulfilment of which would realize the promise of the Gospel.

Official Opening.

Returning from the cathedral to their club rooms the first of the day's secular events was proceeded with in the official opening by Provincial Deputy Jeffery who prefaced that formality by a brief speech on the general subject of good sportsmanship. The members had assembled in their new bowling room, and the first balls down the four alleys were rolled by Mr. Jeffery, Rev. Father McAuley, Rev. Father Costello and T. J. Begley. There were neither strikes nor spares in that initial contest from which Mr. Begley emerged with the best performance.

The Dinner.

The Thanksgiving Day dinner at the Empress was well attended, and would no doubt have been more prominent as an attraction had not the house-warming dance in the evening been included in the program of festivities.

J. J. Duffus, Grand Knight, presided, and announced that toasts would be dispensed with except two which he proposed. In offering the first he linked the names of Pope Pius and King George, and the second toast was to Canada's soldier dead with a special rememberance of departed members of Peterboro Council.

In welcoming the visiting provincial and district officers, Mr. Duffus extolled Peterboro as a progressive city and a fine community to live in. The Catholic people had borne a full share of public obligations and were proud of their contribution of churches, schools, convents, hospital, and institutions for the care of the aged and orphans. In this progress the Knights of Columbus had not lagged. The extension and alterations to their club house were evidence of their growth, and with the increased facilities for recreation the society expected its most active season this winter.

Other Opportunities.

Monsignor McColl, following the chairman, said that the K.C. departure into boys' welfare work appealed strongly to him. He hoped that it would be launched in Peterboro, and promised every possible support he could render.

Provincial Deputy Jeffery congratulated the K.C.'s for beginning Thanksgiving Day by showing their gratitude to God and asking Him for a renewal of His grace and blessings. Referring to boy welfare work he stated that seven Canadians were now taking the special course at Notre Dame University in what was called "boyology." A short course had been held in Pembroke last year under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and was attended by Rotarians, Kiwanis, Boy Scout leaders, and representatives of other organizations. The movement would be gradually extended, and there was no reason, Mr Jeffery said, why Peterboro K.C.'s should not have their own leader in the great work of guilding boys during their teenage to the threshhold of manhood.

Mr. Jeffery appealed to Catholic men to help every community service organiaztion, to interest themselves in the affairs of their municipalities, and also to study the questions and problems of today.

"In short, Catholic men should be well read," Mr. Jeffery advised. He concluded with a reference to the first results of the Ontario Knights of Columbus scholarships for the professions and complimented Peterboro K.C.'s upon their material signs of advancement.

Presentation to G.K.

F. J. Overend interposed with an unscheduled speech in which he praised Mr.. Duffus for the time and attention and leadership he had given to the work on the club house as chairman of the building committee. The Grand Knight's surprise was capped by the presentation of an engraved gold-headed cane by Mr. H. T. Hickey.

Mr. Duffus in reply gave the credit for this year's work to his assistants of the committee and Mr. Hickey, himself, as contractor.

Brief congratulatory speeches were made by Rev. Father McAuley, Rev. Father Costello, Parnell McHugh of Toronto, T. J. Begley of Lindsay, George Bush of Guelph, M. J. McDonald of Port Arthur, A. B. Collins, Grand Knight of Belleville Council, and J. J. Doris, lecturer of Peterboro Council.

L. V. O'Connor's Memories.

Mr. L. V. O'Connor of Lindsay Past Provincial Deputy, awakened old memories that haunt the minds of veteran members of Peterboro K.C.'s by recalling the days when Judge Daniel O'Connell now of Toronto was the first Grand Knight of the society here, Mr. O'Connor was deputy Grand Knight and among the charter members were the late Richard Sheehy, Michael O'Brien, John Corkery, Sr., George Giroux, James Lynch and others.. From a remote back room on Hunter street to the present commodious club quaters was a measure of the society's growth in Peterboro. Mr. O'Connor said, and the members of today were indebted to these founders for the comforts and recreational advantages afforded by the new club quarters.

A vote of thanks was tendered, on a motion by J. J. Doris, to Rev. Father McAuley for his morning sermon and to the choir of St. Peter's for singing the high Mass.

The dinner's courses were sandwiched with choruses, Arthur Costello acting as song leader and T. H. Theobald as pianist.

A Cosy Home.

In their expanded club house the Knights of Columbus have one of the cosiest and most commodious community homes in Peterboro. It is a splendid "frat house", to borrow a student fraternity phrase, and should amply provide for the society's growth in the next ten or fifteen years. The four bowling alleys in a long, wide basement room are of the latest equipment and best materials obtainable. Already two leagues are starting, one for ladies and the other for the members. There is a separate outside entrance to the alley and cloark and toilet rooms have also been included in the facilities for the hundred or more young women who have formed their own league. The assembly hall has been transformed its walls pushed out for greater length and its ceiling raised. Last night its fresh whiteness offered a gleaming background to the color scheme of yellow and brown in which bronze "mums" stood out in their beauty, and ferns touched off the scene with their verdant fronds.

The assembly hall will be used for meetings and initiations. Included in the extensions are new quarters for the resident steward, a larger billiards room with two new tables, extension to reading and card rooms, an additional sitting room of the main drawing room, also new lavatories in the basement.

The committee that has had charge of these changes and enlargement was composed of J. J. Duffus, convenor, W. S. Merrell, J. R. Corkery, F. J. Overend, J. E. Sullivan D. A. McDonald, S. S. Shaughnessy, C. A. Wolff and J. J. Dorris.

The personnel of the dance committee was J. J. Dorris, convenor, J. J. Hanrahan, C. A. Wolff, B. A. Hickey, W. S. Merrell W. H. Hickey and J. McCarney and the dinner committee was: Dr. J. F. O'Brien, chairman, J. E. Sullivan S. S. Shaughnessy and Dr. J. F. O'Brien.

Mr. Claud Melanson, Castleford, Ont., writes:—"In regard to your remedies I have to say that B.B.B. was the only medicine I could get to relieve me of my boils and carbuncles.

BRITISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN DIPLOMATS

this evening, may our nations do tomorrow. We will work in the spirit of Locarno that the peace of our world may be kept and civilization recover from its wounds."

Mr. Chamberlain concluded with the hope that the same spirit of mutual good-will would hover over the treaty Powers conference at Peking. Bringing new fellowship between the East and the West. He coupled the toast with the name of Senor Merry del Val, the Spanisch Ambassador, Dean of the diplomatic corps, whom he described as the "representatives of a sovereign closely allied with our royal house, well-known and admired in our country and of a nation with a great history and a great future."

Tribute to London.

The Spanish Ambassador, responding, paid high tribute to the City of London, which, he said, "amid all storms, political and other, stands serene and immovable a pledge to humanity of all most sacred and precious in life, a guarantor and trustee of peace."

He paid high tribute also to Mr. Chamberlain's accomplishment at Locarno. It was not only at Locarno that Great Britain evidenced her will for peace, but she had sent the Prince of Wales half around the world as a messenger of peace, who had journeyed indefatigably in many countries and among many races, bearing in the folds of his mantle that "pax Britainnica" founded less on force than on the power of justice.

Premier's Optimism.

The Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin replying to the toast to His Majesty's ministers warmly praised Mr. Chamberlain's efforts at Locarno, saying: "Everyone of his colleagues is proud of him."

Apart from this reference, Premier Baldwin's speech mainly concerned home and dominion affairs and British trade and industrial prospects, in which he expressed tempered optimism. He believed that a large supply of cotton from America would stimulate Lancashire trade and that the peaceful settlement of Western Europe would greatly help in restoring prosperity.

Dealing with the valuable unseen and unheralded work of the common people he caused laughter by remarking: "There are millions of good men whose names never get into the newspapers."

The other speakers included the Air Minister, Sir Samuel Hoar, who announced his department's willingness to lend a machine to contest for the Schneider Cup in 1926 in the United States, and Earl Beatty, who urged the need of maintaining an effective navy.

C.N.R. TEAM'S VICTORY.

Montreal Rugby Squad Defeat the Ottawa Paddlers.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 10 (Canadian Press)—The Canadian National Railways Montreal team won the first game of the intermediate Quebec Rugby Football Union finals here Monday when they defeated the Ottawa-New Edinburgh Canoe Club team at Lansdowne Park by 9 to 6. Witnessed by a large crowd the game was packed with thrills from start to finish and the National staged a sensational finish that carried them from behind a six point lead halfway through the third quarter to a three-point margin at the finish.

Condition played a large part in the game and the sturdy Montrealers were better able to stand the heavy going than the Burghs. Great kicking by Burnham and running by Murphy carried the decision to the visitors. Burnham excelled in the aerial efforts, while both he and Murphy tore off running gains that were little short of sensational.

HOCKEY PRACTICE UNDER WAY TO-DAY

St. Pats Manoeuvre With Nearly Same Team as Last Year.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—St. Pats hockey squad got down to practice to-day, Coach Eddie Powers having issued a call for all players to be on hand.

St. Pats are scheduled to open the National Hockey League seasoff at home on Saturday, Nov. 28th, with the Boston Bruins as their opponents.

Manager Querr and Coach Powers of St. Pats are practically standing pat on last season's team. Gerald Munro, former Sudbury and Soo player, last winter with Montreal, and Pete Bellefeuille, are the only new players added to the squad.

Tommy Gorman's New York players are scheduled to report in Niagara Falls to-day for their first practice.

TROOPS FROM HONAN.

TSINGTAO, China, Nov. 10. — (Canadian Press).—The troops of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin are in general retreat in consequence of the arrival at Hsuchow of the forces of Governor Yueh Wei-Chun, of Honan Province, who is an ally of General Wu Pei-Fu, head of the movement in the Yangtse region against Chang Tse-Lin.

The Honan troops are reported to be repeatedly advancing and to be near Tsinan, where it is said there is a panic.

VETERANS HEAR OF CANADIAN LEGION

Colonel A. P. Miller, officer commanding 4th Machine Gun Brigade, addressed the unattached veterans of Trenton and district on Sunday night on the aims and objects of the Canadian Legion now being organized. Colonel Miller represents Military District Three in the Canadian Legion, and is keenly interested in its success His speech showed him to be fully conversant on the subject, and to have the welfare of the returned men at heart.

SHIP IN DANGER CARGO SHIFTED

Poleric Is Heading For Coast in Storm—Has Bad List to Port.

SALVAGE BOAT OUT.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 10—(Canadian Press), — While the salvage steamer Salvage King is rushing to her assistance, the British freighter Poleric, crippled by the shifting of her grain cargo, is fighting the worst storm of the season, 500 miles out on the Pacific.

Messages received by the Pacific Salvage Company here from the Poleric said that with a bad list to port she was heading back to the coast in the teeth of a fifty-mile south-easterly gale.

The vessel left Vancouver Friday for the Orient with a full cargo of grain.

RANGERS HELD ATTACK DRILL

Companies Competed in Skirmishing and Shooting at Ranges.

GENERAL INSPECTION.

A splendid showing was made by the four companies of the Peterboro Rangers at the annual general inspection yesterday morning. The inspection took the form of a company attack competition at the rifle ranges, and the various companies moved down the slope, firing from the different positions, in a manner that did credit to the painstaking efforts of Lt.-Col. W. Gordon Hall and his officers, and Sgt.-Major Thomas, district Militia instructor.

General Elmslie, G.O.C. M.D. No. 3, was the inspecting officer, and he expressed himself as well satisfied with the showing made by the various companies, both in their method of attack and in the scores made on the targets. "D" Company made the greatest percentage of hits on the targets.

The companies moved down one at a time from the end of the range near the road, advancing a squad at a time until they reached to the 400-yard range, where each rifleman fired ten rounds, while the Lewis gun sections fired 46. The men advanced then to the 300-yard point, and then to the 200-yard mark, firing the same number of shots at each. Crossing the road, the 100-yard mark was reached, where the last shots were fired, and then, fixing bayonets, the men charged down into the hollow in front of the targets.

The local competition is also part of a district competition, and a cup will be awarded to the company making the best showing in these inspections in M.D. 3.

PROGRESSIVE WON.

A. L. Beaubren Defeated Liberal in Provencher By Eighty Votes.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 10. — (Canadian Press.)—A. L. Beaubien, Progressive, was elected to the constituency of Provencher, Man., by a majority of 80, according to the official announcement last night of A. Herbert, returning officer for the constituency.

The result in this constituency had been continually in doubt since the Federal elections.

Mr. Beaubien defeated Edward Comeault, Liberal. The announcement followed an official recount of the votes.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

FILM PLAYERS ON 13,000 MILE TRIP.

Rex Beach's Novel, "Winds of Chance," Now Ready For the Screen.

After four months of travelling, locations and studio shots, Frank Lloyd has completed the filming of Rex Beach's epic of the Alaskan gold rush, "Winds of Chance." It will be First National's offering at the Capitol Theatre next Thursday.

"Winds of Chance," handled in the same big way Lloyd filmed the memorable "The Sea Hawk," represents the most pretentious exterior photoplay ever filmed on the West Coast and is also the most accurate asd dramatic drama of its type to be undertaken.

Lloyd took his company, comprising such well-known players as Anna Q. Nilsson, Viola Dana, Ben Lyon, Victor McLaglen, Dorothy Sebastian, Hobart Bosworth, Claude Gillingwater, John T. Murray, Philo McCollough, Fred Kohler, Charles Crockett, George Nicholls and Larry Fisher, to eight locations representing more than 13,000 miles of travel, and his locations were typically Alaskan during four different seasons. They varied from the wildest rapids in Western Canada to scenes on top of a mountain range at an altitude of over 9,800 feet.

"Winds of Chance" is one of the most popular and dramatic narratives which have come from the pen of the virile Rex Beach, and deals with the adventures of seven unique characters, all participants in the struggle for gold — Poleon, the giant French packer; Pierce Phillips, an American boy who falls a victim to sharpers and is forced to earn his way to happiness and success; Countess Courteau, an energetic woman whom Philip loves; Sam Kirby and his daughter Rouletta, bent on making one more stake and then enjoying life but who meet unexpected reverses, and Tom and Jerry, two inseparable but incessantly fighting prospectors.

AT THE GRAND

"FOOT-LOOSE."

Miss Edith Campbell, one of the important principals in support of William Faversham in "Foot-Loose" which comes to the Grand Opera House Thursday, November 12th, and whose interpretation of Alice Verney is one of the delights of the performance was born and educated in Phoenix, Arizona. Her father was Joseph Campbell, for a number of years mayor of Phoenix.

Miss Campbell's first professional appearance was in stock with James Neil and Edith Chapman at the Burbank Theatre in Los Angeles, playing the heavy in "The Cowboy and the Lady.." The next venture was with a coast company playing "A Gentleman of France." Then followed two more seasons in stock with Oliver Morosco in Oakland and San Francisco. Then came an opportunity with Robert Mantell in Shakespeare. This engagement gave Miss Campbell the desired entrance into New York as a full fledged professional and she made the best of her opportunities by appearing with a number of Broadway successes, among which were: Blanch Bates in "Nobody's Widow", Billy Burke in "Mind the Paint Girl" and Ethel Barrymore in "Lady of the Camalias." Miss Campbell now well established on Broadway was engaged by George Tyler to play Olivia opposite Phillies Neilson Terry when that distinguished star was brought to this country to play in "Twelfth Night." Then followed roles in "The Wild Westcotts" and "Cinders" and with revival of "Lea Kleschna," and "The Mask and The Face," by Mr. Faversham. Last season when Mr. Faversham was starred in "Foot-Loose", a modern drama by Zoe Akins, Miss Campbell was cast for the role of Alice Verney, one of the best parts of this young actresses career.

Miss Campbell has, one might say, hobby-perfumes—but these must be of Oriental odor. Most any leisure afternoon in New York, Miss Campbell can be found in the Asiatic quarters in search of perfumes of highly scented Oriental origin.

AT THE ROYAL.

"COUNTRY STORE NITE" TO-NIGHT.

"Country Store Nite," with its many prizes, will be held to-night at the Royal.

VITAL DOMESTIC PROBLEM SUGGESTED IN "A WOMAN'S WOMAN" INTENSELY HUMAN DRAMA.

Is it better for a woman to serve in the humble role of a home-maker, a sort of unpaid domestic drudge submerging all her own ambitions and ideals, and thereby hold her family together, or let the family drift, even to the point of disaster while she makes a success of herself and carves out a brilliant career?

This is one of the questions asked in that intensely human domestic drama, 'A Woman's Woman,' a Charles Giblyn photoplay production, which is now playing at the Royal Theatre under an Allied Producers and Distributors Corporation release. Mary Alden, known to every picture theatre-goer for her marvellous portrayal of "mother" roles, is in the leading feminine character in this feature, and she is supported by an all-star cast.

TWO FEATURES AT THE ROYAL THURSDAY.

Jack Pickford and Norma Shearer in "Waking Up the Town," and Jack Hoxie in "The Western Wallop," will both be on the same programme at the Royal, commencing Thursday.

"DRUSILLA" HERE SOON.

"Drusilla With a Million" in its skilful screen version of the Elizabeth Cooper novel which swept like a prairie fire over the book world a year or two ago comes to the Royal Theatre for a run of three days soon, and it proves a tasty dish of pathos and comedy stirred up in just the most appetizing proportions. With an unusual plot, distinctive treatment by Director F. Harmon Weight, and the splendid interpretation of a cast headed by Mary Carr, Kenneth Harlan and Priscilla Bonner, "Drusilla" moves on rolling up charm and freshness like a snowball. The whole thing is as refreshing as an ocean breeze, taking up the difficulties which beset a kind-hearted old lady who has suddenly inherited a million dollars after spending most of her lifetime as a charity inmate of an old ladies' home. A delightful romance and one of the most powerful dramatic scenes ever filmed, help to make this a thoroughly entertaining story.

AT THE REGENT

"The White Desert," which Reginald Barker directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, opened at the Regent Theatre last night; a romance of the snow-bound barren peaks of the Continental Divide in Colorado.

Fast moving drama lightened here and there by a true comedy touch makes it the finest of Barker's many pictures of the great outdoors. Beautiful photography, realism, and a smooth story combined with finished acting calls forth the highest praise.

Claire Windsor and Pat O'Malley head the cast and their portrayals represent some of the finest screen acting of any current production. Robert Frazer, Frank Currier and Mathew Betz have some fine moments also. Trixie Friganza and Snitz Edwards supply the comedy relief for the production and do it with great success.

The fine supporting cast includes William Eugene, Sidney Bracey, Priscilla Bonner, Roy Laidlaw, David Dunbar, Sojin, Milton Ross and Bert Sprotte.

The action of the story is built on the undertaking of a railroad to bore a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains. Heavy blasting in the tunnel causes an avalanche which sweeps down the mountain carrying away buildings and men in its path of destruction.

The survivors are faced with starvation. The telegraph wires are down and the camp is gripped by a blizzard that threatens complete isolation Around this is built one of the best screen stories of the year.

L. G. Rigby wrote the scenario from the popular novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and Monte M. Katterjohn made the adaptation. Lew Lipton wrote the comedy relief. Percy Hilburn was the photographer.

Children's Colds
Are quickly, pleasantly relieved by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine

If children's colds are got rid of promptly there will be less tendency to pneumonia and consumption in later life. It is the neglected, hanging-on cold that weakens the lungs and develops into serious trouble.

No treatment for coughs and colds was ever so popular with the children as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It is so pleasant to the taste, so delightfully soothing and healing and affords relief so quickly that children soon turn to it instinctively when choked up with a cold or annoyed by coughing.

It is mother's favorite treatment for croup and bronchitis, for she knows it will bring relief when the midnight coughing spasms set in. It is wise to always have a bottle at hand for prompt use in emergency.

Put This Castor Oil on the highest Shelf!

Now — so Delicious
Children try to steal it —

IT'S a fact. Castor oil is no longer a bogey—but a bon-bon. Children cry for it! They love these chocolate-coated, cream candies—Kastor Jems.

You'll have to put Kastor Jems on the highest shelf, 'longside the jam. Promise your youngsters a Kastor Jem every Saturday night—"if they're good". Make Kastor Jems a reward—not a threat.

This new form of castor oil is not a liquid. Remember, too, although delicious, it is just as pure, just as effective as the old-fashioned, nauseating dose.

EVERY WOMAN HAS A DIARY IN HER HEART
Here's an intimate drama of the home that should appeal to every woman.

"Where Did You Get That Fur Coat?"

Thus the clash between mother and flapper daughter who gave her young heart to an old lover! The father had failed as business man and husband. The eldest daughter wooed a career. The mother was incidental—just a home-maker. With her house tumbling about her she brought order out of chaos. But not without sacrifice. She scaled every rung in the ladder of emotion and at the pinnacle of success she scored—Failure!

MUCH HURRYING IN BUSINESS OF DOMINION NOW

Estimates Have To Be Prepared and Considered Before House Meets.

TEST OF STRENGTH.

Both Parties Are Preparing For Division on Majority Control.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press).—From now on till the opening of Parliament there will be a hurrying up of public business. Estimates have to be prepared, considered first by the Treasury Board and then by the Cabinet, before they can be submitted to the House, but the primary question at issue will be a test of strength. For that both Liberals and Conservatives are preparing, probably it will come on the address, the normal way would be by way of a Conservative amendment challenging the Government. Premier King's intimation that, outside Bagot, possibly there will not be any by-elections till the question of majority control of the House is settled, means that not only will the Premier be unable to speak in debate and vote in the crucial division but he cannot well secure election until Parliament has probably been sitting for several weeks. In the interval, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, will, it is expected, be acting Liberal leader in the House.

Allied Nations Pause to Honor Their War Dead

Epic of Atlantic Told By Limping Leviathan; First Aid by Wireless

Bridge Swept Away, Midships Wrecked, Compass Broken, Captain Pinned to Deck—"No Assistance Required, Thanks," Perky Pigmy Tanker Tells Monarch of Seas.

TERRIFIC HURRICANE MENACES SHIPPING.

Medical Advice Sent On Air By Liner's Surgeon To Help Captain on Whom Deck House Fell—Big Steamer Lost Its Aerial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—The giant liner Leviathan stood in to port yesterday twenty-four hours late and minus her wireless aerial, which went by the board Saturday in a hurricane off Cape Race. She brought in the tale of another epic of the sea in which a little oil tanker, one of the jaunty pygmies of the deep, was the heroine.

On Saturday morning the Leviathan was barely making steerage way in the face of mountainous waves. From the air flashed this wireless message:

"Bridge wing gone in violent hurricane. Stack caved in. Entire midships section wrecked. Navigating instruments carried away. Captain Holmes seriously hurt."

It was from the W. D. Anderson, a 3,686 ton tanker that might have been set on the deck of the 59,955 ton Leviathan.

"Shall we stand by" the liner asked.

The little tanker, 200 miles away, did not immediately answer the Leviathan's query.

After a while; "Captain's leg caught under wheel house. No feeling except when moved. Cannot be extricated. Using iodine and belladonna salve. Can you give us medical advice?"

"Place pillows about and under captain's leg," Dr. G. B. Whitmore, the Leviathan's surgeon, wirelessed. "Keep the member hot by some means or other and discontinue other treatment."

"Thanks," flashed back immediately.

For several hours the W. D. Anderson was not on the air. Finally another message came through to Leviathan.

"Under way," it said. "Boat's compass badly damaged, but think we can use. Captain's leg not broken. No assistance required. Thanks."

A few minutes later came the last word.

"Steaming for States. See you there. Good bye."

Police Saved Londoner Who Kept Motor Running

LONDON, November 11. United Press. — The police today rescued from an angry throng the driver of a motor-sweeper at Ludgate circus, who kept his motor running during the armistice day silence honoring the war dead.

"You ought to be lynched," shouted some as they surged in on the driver.

"Pull him off his seat!" shouted others, but the "Bobbies" closed in and saved the man from possible violence.

Only War In World Is Being Fought at Gates of Damascus, Where Rebels Threaten Lines of Comunication By Guerilla Warfare.

AIRPLANE DROPS BOMBS.

People On Roofs of Houses Can See Developing Action —French Forces Get Under Way at Dawn To Mop Up After Cavalry.

LONDON, Nov. 11 (United Press)—While Europe hailed today the new peace spirit of Locarno on the seventh armistice day anniversary, French forces in Syria were scheduled, according to Bierut advices, to take the offensive against rebels on the outskirts of Damascus.

The French hoped that this counter action against the guerillas would halt definitely the growing insurrection aimed at cutting off Damascus from the outside world.

Overnight advices said that French cavalry had begun encircling the region between Damascus and Homs to the north, where airplanes were hurling bombs upon the rebels' strongholds. Part of the action could be seen plainly from the roofs of Damascus.

A French column was to get under way at dawn this morning with its mopping up operations.

Daily Routine Broken While Millions Honor Their Brave War Dead

Canada, Britain, France and United States Observe Silence Pregnant With Sting and Glory of Memories Fresh Bestirred By Armistice Day Anniversary.

PETERBOROUGH REMEMBERS

Toronto's Official Monument Unveiled By the Governor-General—Tombs of Unknown Soldiers Garlanded at London, Paris and Washington—Empire's Tribute.

The spirit of Armistice Day swept over the British Empire and the Allied Nations today with a new vigor that was the outgrowth of the promises of peace made at Locarno, holding out new vistas of progress to all the world. Here in Peterborough the wheels that grind out their daily living for thousands of workers became still, the street cars and trains halted where they stood, clerks paused with pen in hand, and all the busy hive of industry ceased to buzz as the people looked back to the years that were.

At 11 o'clock, sacred on this day as the moment that ushered in peace seven years ago, all the countries that marched side by side in the common cause joined once again in a solemn duty. And the link that was forged in war and tested since in peace has been made stronger by today's rite.

LONDON, Nov. 11. —Canadian Press).—Great Britain observed Armistice Day to-day with greater solemnity and on a more extensive scale than at any previous time since the cessation of hostilities seven years ago.

The principal services in memory of those who fell in the Great War were held at the Cenotaph where King George and his three sons, at one minute before eleven o'clock, laid wreaths in the presence of Queen Mary, the Queen of Spain and other royalties and prominent personages.

Premier Baldwin and members of his Government and other prominent people formed a hollow square about the tomb, outside of which the thoroughfare was jammed with representatives of the general public.

Exactly at eleven o'clock, the hour at which firing ceased on the western front seven years ago, a salvo of guns announced the beginning of two minutes of silence throughout the Empire.

LEAD CURES CANCER IS CLAIM MADE BY ENGLISH PROFESSOR INSTANCING FIFTY TRIUMPHS

W. Blair Bell, of Liverpool, Tells Experiences Before Toronto Academy.

REVIVES HOPE.

Two Helpless Cases Saved When Only Few Weeks Remained.

TORONTO, November 11. Canadian Press. — That he had successfully treated cancer by the use of lead, was the statement made last night by Prof. W. Blair Bell, of Liverpool, England, before the Toronto Academy of Medicine.

After giving several instances in which remarkable results had been secured, Dr. Bell said in answer to a question that some 50 patients out of 200 mostly helpless cases treated, were now believed to be well.

Two cases particularly were referred to by Dr. Bell. Five years ago a woman was admitted to his maternity ward at Royal Infirmary, Liverpool, for her confinement, which took place a few days later. She was suffering from an extensive ulcerated carcinoma of the left breast, with glands in axilla. An operation had been considered useless six months previously by two surgeons. The growth had been accelerated during pregnancy, as is usual in these circumstances.

"I was looking for such a hopeless case. A section was prepared from a piece of tissue adjacent to the ulcerated area and intravenous injections of lead were given. Not only is the patient well to-day, five years later, but also she has had two more babies in the interval, both of whom she has nursed at the breast," said Dr. Bell.

The other case was that of a woman of 38, who ordinarily had only a few weeks to live, for the sections showed the growth to be the most rapidly growing spindle-cell sarcoma. "Treatment with lead injection has led to considerable decrease in the size of the tumour while the patient has herself increased in weight by 21 pounds, and is now in robust health and without symptoms of disease."

It Is Not What Is Said— But The Way It's Meant

It is likely that this man meant exactly what he said. We hope not. He got up at a Peterborough meeting and talked in terms of some scorn of the habits of certain sub-normal people with whom he had dealings. He said: "But it's no use going to reason with people like that. It's just like talking to yourself."

IMMIGRATION IS CONSIDERED BY ONTARIO CABINET

Prime Minister Laid Situation Before His Colleagues Yesterday.

HAS BEEN IN ENGLAND.

Policy Before Government Deals With Bringing Out Farm Apprentices.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The problem of immigration is prominently before the Ferguson Government and occasioned a Cabinet meeting yesterday.

The Cabinet meeting was one of the results of Premier Ferguson's visit overseas during the past summer. While in England the Prime Minister had taken up phases of the immigration problem with the authorities there, and yesterday he laid before his colleagues the situation as it appeared to him after his own consideration. While no definite plan was formulated, the policy which is before the Government concerns largely the bringing to Ontario of Old Country youths to be apprenticed to farmers in the province.

Premier Ferguson intimated yesterday that provincial legislation may be necessary for the plan which the Government has in view.

Man Visiting in City Mysteriously Missing Since Saturday Last

Walter Chambers Dropped From Sight Without Explanation or Reason—Home at Nogies' Creek, But Was Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roland Brock.

SUFFERED FROM AMNESIA.

Police and Other Searchers Fail In Effort To Find Trace of Movements—Has Not Returned to North Country, Search Shows.

Walter Chambers, who disappeared mysteriously in Peterborough on Saturday afternoon, has not been found. He was visiting at the time with Roland Brock, who lives in the south end of the city, and dropped out of sight about 2 o'clock. The police have joined in the search without success.

Mr. Chambers, who is about 38 years of age, came from his home at Nogies' Creek three weeks ago to spend a holiday with his wife at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brock, 34 New Romaine street.

The missing man is known to have suffered from loss of memory, dating from an accident in a city plant where he was gassed with chlorine. He was unable to work for several weeks at that time, and has since been subject to severe headaches and dizzy spells. On one occasion after returning to work he was the victim of an attack of amnesia and walked past the plant while on his way to work. He was found two days later by the police, wandering in Otonabee.

Bought a Farm.

In an effort to improve his health, Mr. and Mrs. Chambers bought a farm in Harvey Township and went there to live. Mr. Chambers suffered a nervous breakdown, and on his partial recovery came to Peterboro with his wife to visit Mr. and Mrs. Brock. In pursuance of his health-seeking, Mr. Chambers was accustomed to taking a walk every day, and it was while on this afternoon stroll that he disappeared. He had been out in the morning and had returned for dinner.

Wife Was Absent.

Mrs. Chambers was absent from Peterboro on Saturday, having gone to Bobcaygeon on business.

Mr. Chambers, who is described as short, clean-shaven, with brown hair, had been a resident of the city for twenty years, and is well-known in Peterboro. Despite this, no one seems to have seen him since he left Romaine Street on Saturday. He was wearing a dark cap, a grey suit and a long dark overcoat.

EMPIRE'S UNKNOWN SOLDIER IN PRIVATE'S UNIFORM WHEN FOUND

Winnipeg Officer of Connaught Rifles Recalls Precautions to Hide Identity of Body Removed to Westminster Abbey.

EVEN BATTLEFIELD A SECRET.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—Five years ago to-day, November 11, there was laid in Westminster Abbey, London, in the presence of a vast multitude, the body of the Empire's "unknown soldier."

Every safeguard was employed to hide the indentity of the "unknown soldier." Even those who disenterred the body, do not know it.

It is now disclosed that the responsible task of locating the body was entrusted to a Winnipeg officer. He is Captain J. J. Walsh, of the Connaught Rifles, formerly on the staff of the Imperial War Graves Commission.

It is a closely guarded secret who conceived the idea of burying an "unknown soldier" in Westminster Abbey, but the order is known to have come from an officer high on the general staff.

Captain Walsh's account of the search is related as follows:

"After receiving instructions, took 12 men with me and went out to one of the great battlefields. Official reticence prevents me from saying which battlefield was visited. We were able to tell from the color of the soil, where bodies might be found. Several were disenterred—until we came across one that was absolutely without identification. There was nothing on the clothing or anything at all to show whose body it might be.

"All I can say is that it had on a private's uniform but even that is not significant, for many officers wore private's uniforms."

The body was brought to camp, stripped of its clothing, wrapped in a canvas shroud, placed in a coffin and forwarded to London. "That is all that can be known or ever will be known."

HUNTERS FOUND BODY IN WOODS

Bullet Through Heart and No Weapons Nearby.

TO HOLD INQUEST.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 11 (Canadian Press) — Shot through the heart, the body of Joseph Paiement, of Point Auclaire, near Montreal, was found Monday by hunters, about 26 miles north of Suffold, in Labelle county. An inquest is to be held by Dr. Eugene Mackay, of Papineauville, and Dr. Wilfrid Derome, provincial medico-legal analyst, will conduct an autopsy.

According to meagre information which reached here late yesterday there were no weapons of any kind found near the body when it was discovered by the hunters as they were tramping through the woods. The body is now at a farm house near the spot where it was found and it will remain there until members of the coroner's jury have viewed it.

As far as is known Mr. Paiement had dined with friends near Suffold and following the meal had left the house for the woods where his body was later found. He was about 36 years of age.

DUBLIN, Nov. 11. —(United Press). — Irish Republicans today exploded smoke bombs in a vain effort to stampede tens of thousands attending the unveiling of an armistice memoral cross of Stephens Green. At 10.59 a.m. a two minutes silence was observed after which the throngs sang "God Save The King."

HEARING OF CHARGES AGAINST M. M. M'BRIDE, M.L.A., STARTED TO-DAY IN COURT AT BRANTFORD

Mayor of Brantford Is Facing Three Charges, One of Assault.

COMPLAINANT HEARD.

S. Hill Says He Was Beaten When He Tried to Collect Rent.

BRANTFORD, November 11. Canadian Press. — The hearing of three charges against Mayor M. M. McBride, M.L.A., was commenced before Magistrate Campbell of St. Catharines in Brantford police court this morning.

County Crown Attorney W. M. Charlton, asked that a charge of assault, laid by S. Hill, be heard first, and the court approved although he held there was no priority to it.

S. Hill, who laid the charge, was first heard. He told of going to MacBrides house to collect the rent, overdue to the extent of $105, and owing to the Simpson estate, of which he was executor.

MacBride locked the door after letting him in, and then struck him several times, using foul language, and saying he knew the dirty work he had done. He was knocked unconscious and woke up to find a pool of blood on the floor and his shirt stained. The shirt was put in as evidence. He signed a receipt for $35, which MacBride retained without giving the money or a cheque. MacBride had usually paid by cheque.

The hearing is proceeding.

HYDRO MAY USE COMBINATON OF BUS AND RADIALS

Plan is Under Consideration by Council at Present Time.

MAY START DEC. 15

System Will Remain Entirely in Charge of H.E.P.C.

A combined street car service and motor bus line is the latest proposition outlined by the Hydro Commission to obviate the difficulties experienced by them at present in operating the city's street car lines at a loss. A notice of the proposed change is posted up in the George street windows of the Commission's offices, and, if agreed to by the Council, who have the matter under consideration, will probably be put in operation about the 15th of December. It will put Peterborough on a par with Windsor and Toronto in the way of using auxiliary 'bus lines for street car service, although none of the smaller cities have been equipped in this way up to date.

The proposed change which would be entirely in the hands of the Hydro would make the city's population depend for its wheeled locomotion on a regular service of three motor 'busses and three street cars, with two extra street cars for stated rush periods of the day. A spare motor 'bus would also be available for emergencies.

One of the buses would commence its route at Chamberlain street, proceed along Lafayette, down Albert and along Park, down Sherbrooke, along George to Hunter street, and turn east over the bridge, thus giving East City residents the service they have wished for so long. It would then proceed to Rogers street and thence up as far as the Nicholls Oval. This East City route would have two buses in operation.

The third motor bus, which would make its trip and then round back to its former route, without any assistance, would commence at McDonnel street and Monaghan Road, down McDonnell to Aylmer and along Aylmer to Charlotte street, passing down Charlotte and making a stop at the corner of Charlotte and George streets. Doubling back, it would return to its starting point by way of George and Hunter streets, to Aylmer, thence to the corner of McDonnel street and Monaghan Road.

The proposed change would cut out the present street car service along the Jackson Park route and along the C.G.E. line, except for service on the latter line twice a day, at twelve noon and at five o'clock in the evening. The 'bus service would commence at six o'clock in the morning.

The George street car line would run a fifteen minute service, with the exception of the heavy traffic hours between six and nine o'clock in the morning, from half past eleven to half past one o'clock, and from five to six in the evening, when ten minute service would be given. The buses would give fifteen minutes' service. There would be Sunday service of both street cars and 'buses.

The Hydro expects that the initial cost of the change would be quite heavy. The motor 'buses to be used are of the latest type and equipped in the most up-to-date manner, with a capacity of twenty-five passengers. A special scraper has been purchased for use in clearing the side streets which will be served by the 'buses.

BOMB FACTORY FOUND IN INDIA

Police Made Discovery in Calcutta During Viceroy's Visit.

ELEVEN ARRESTED.

BY-ELECTION TO BE CONTESTED

Conservatives Decide To Run Candidate in Bagot County.

MAY BE FAUTEUX.

OTTAWA, Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—A deputation from Bagot was here yesterday consulting with the Conservative leaders regarding the impending by-election in that county. They have decided to contest the election and have returned to perfect their organization. The Conservative candidate will be Hon. Andre Fauteux or a local man; Mr. Fauteux was Solicitor-General in Mr. Meighen's Cabinet when he went to the country in 1921. He contested Bagot in the recent contest and was defeated by about 700.

CHILDREN'S AID SIGNS PETITION TO CHANGE ACT

Falling Off In Tag Day Receipts Reported and Tax Aid Will Be Sought.

ACCOUNT ATTACKED.

Mr. Stocker Objects to Payment To Superintendent For Carfare.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the board room at the Chamber of Commerce; the president, Mr. B. F. Ackerman, in the chair. The following members were present: Messrs. J. Edgar, G. W. Powell, W. Stocker, R. H. Parsons, J. Abraham, W. J. Hopwood, Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D., Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., Mesdames Fanning, Hodgson, Newhall, Devey.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, J. Edgar, who also gave the report of the matron. Mr. G. W. Powell gave the superintendent's report and Mrs. Jas. Fanning the report of the purchasing committee.

The consideration of the Children's Aid Societies throughout the province has been directed recently towards the framing of a petition to the Provincial Legislature, to ask for an amendment of the Act which covers their management, so that they might be enabled to levy on city and county councils for the money required to carry on their operations. A special committee formed in the local society brought in a recommendation that the local Board sign the proposed petition and a vote on the question finally carried in favor of signing the petition.

The amount of county funds which would be liable to such an assessment by the local society, should the proposed amendment be passed by the Provincial Legislature, is in the neighborhood of $9,600,000, while the city funds available for the purpose would be about $18,300,000. At one-quarter of a mill rate, the funds annually accruing to the society for its work would be about $7,000, while a half-mill rate would be double that amount.

Objections to Change

Dr. Blagrave rose to express an opinion on the proposed change. He said: "I am not sure that we are always in the right direction when we turn all the responsibilities of our citizens into taxation. I have been feeling more and more lately that as a civilized people, we are tending to make a mistake, in that we relieve people of generous hearts who would really like to help from any demands on their generosity and charity, and thus we are reducing the educative process by which people are brought to expand their hearts to help others."

Mr. Ackerman was of the opinion that the proposed change would give many people the opportunity of contributing toward a good cause, but Dr. Blagrave objected to the compulsory system of such giving, as contemplated in the proposed legislation. Mr. Hopwood pointed out that the collection of such a tax in the regular way would not prove a deterrent to the donations of those who might wish to make individual gifts to the society.

Mr. Edgar thought that an experience such as his, when standing on the street on tag day with a box under his arm, might give a contrary opinion of the goodness of heart of the vast majority. He said the spectacle of well-dressed men taking dimes from their pockets and asking for change before making a donation to the box and of residents of rural communities contributing a copper as their share of the upkeep of the society, was not conducive to a very great belief in the desire of the many to contribute towards the work of the society. Tag day receipts had fallen off steadily during the past few years, and were now only about one-third as large as formerly.

Mr. Ackerman asked an expression from Rev. Dr. Rose, who thought that as so many of the citizens did not take advantage of the opportunity given them to contribute, it would be as well that some such legislation should be enacted.

Mr Powell agreed partially with Dr. Blagrave's view, stating that a former opinion of his had regarded the opportunity given people to contribute toward the work as giving them a means of obtaining grace but he had been somewhat disappointed at the results

Mr. Edgar reported that he and Mr. Powell had made a careful list of names of those who they thought would be willing to contribute, and had sent out one hundred letters asking for donations. About twenty-five per cent. of those written to had responded.

Mr. Stocker said: "If you want to test the public, get a box and stand on the street corner, and see how many times you will be insulted."

The report of the purchasing committee was then read by Mrs. James Fanning. In the list of accounts an item of $2.40 to be paid to Mr. Powell caught the attention of Mr. Stocker, who demanded an explanation of its source. Being informed that it was made up of payments for street car tickets purchased by the superintendent in the discharge of his duties, Mr. Stocker proceeded, with a surprising amount of vigor to assail the practice of luxuriating in street car rides, when walking would do as well. He pointed out to Mr. Powell as a commendable example, the case of a man who covers a long trek down to May's school house every day in the week, and thought that the Society was adopting a short-sighted policy in pampering its agent.

Mr. Ackerman remarked that the agreement for such transportation had always been in vogue, and Mr. Powell thought that the gentleman cited by Mr. Stocker as being such a good walker, might be a younger man than himself.

Mr. Powell reported five applications for children received during the past month, one child (not a ward) placed on parole ,and two children made wards. He also spoke of the case of a small boy ward of the Shelter who has the running away habit, and objects to the type of school he is placed in.

Neglected Children.

Mr. J. Abraham brought to the attention of the Society the grossly neglected condition of several children from a family whose parents are sub-normal. These children are sent to school in such a condition of neglect and dirt that they have to be isolated from other scholars. It was decided to have the parents brought up before the police magistrate.

One of the ladies directed attention to the case of a little girl who had been placed out with a family in another district, and whose foot had become infected. A black stocking had aggravated the condition and the child was now quite ill in the Shelter. The member thought that as children were sent out from the Home in the best of condition, they should be looked after in a better way than this.

The matron's report, read by Mr. Edgar, showed a total of 23 children in the Shelter during the past month, with 5 brought in and 5 sent out.

The resignation of Mrs. J. H. Kimberley from the Board of Management necessitated the naming of another member, and Mrs. Walter Oke was appointed to fill her place.

Auditors for the ensuing year were named in Messrs. E. L. Payne and F. H. Dawson.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting at the Shelter on Tuesday, December 1st, when Mr. J. J. Kelso will be asked to come from Toronto to address the members. A nominating committee to draw up the slate of officers for the next year will be composed of Messrs. E. Edgar, F. H. Dobbin, J. Abraham and Mrs. James Fanning.

Donations towards the Society were acknowledged as follows: Knox Church ladies' Aid Society, bread, cake, pie, apples; George street church, bread, pie, tea, milk, meat, cake; Mrs. Meyers, cake and bread; Mrs. Moffat, grapes; George street church; pie, pickles, bread, butter, meat ,biscuits, potatoes and salad; St. Andrew's church, potatoes, bread, butter, pie; Trinity church, apples, bread, butter; The Others 'Class of Murray street church, sandwiches; Mrs. W. James, clothing; Mark St. church, pie, cake, buns, bread and apples.

Accounts were passed for payment as follows:

Peterboro Utilities Commission, $9.51; F. A. Rathbone, $17.40; Bell Telephone Co., $7.31; Brown's Hardware, $3.70; Herb Allen, 50c; Canadian Packing Co., $20.25; C. C. Cragg M. D., $5; T. L. Edwards, $6.08; R. Neill, $2.40; Crafton & Co., $3.50c; R. Hall & Son, $5.34; W. and A Ingram, 90c; W. A. J. Giles, $1.65; Peterboro Examiner, $51.96; G. W. Powell, $2.40; Fred Drake, $8.45; Leo Shaughnessy, $30; Total $176.85.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

POST OF GENERAL OVERSEER IS TO BE GIVEN REV. D. A. THOMSON

Veteran Hastings Minister To Be Promoted in Service of Presbytery.

43 YEARS' SERVICE.

Took Up Work in Hastings When He Graduated From Knox College.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

HASTINGS, Nov. 11.—When the Presbytery of Peterboro meets in Port Hope on December 5 one of the matters to be dealt with will involve the transfer of Rev. D. A. Thomson as pastor of St. Andrew's Church here, a position which he has held without a break for nearly 43 years. In the Presbyterian Church of Canada, before the days of Union, he held the record for senority of service in one pulpit, the clergyman who came next to him being Rev. K. H. McLeod of Brighton.

At the last meeting of Presbytery, which was held in Peterboro, the members discussed the question of making Mr. Thomson permanent Clerk and Treasurer. It was further proposed that a new position be created in the Presbytery and that Mr. Thomson be made General Overseer, his special duty being to act as helper to the weaker groups within his jurisdiction. A committee, consisting of Rev. T. W. Goodwillie of Cobourg, Rev. H. D. Cameron of Port Hope, Rev. G. I. Craw, formerly of Springville, and Elders James Dutton of St. Paul's, Peterboro, and J. H. Walker of Port Hope, was appointed to deal with this question and to report at the next meeting in Port Hope.

Change Means Promotion.

It is seldom that a clergyman of Mr. Thomson's years is accorded the honor of promotion in the service, but promotion to the proposed change would certainly be. If the proposition goes through it would mean that Mr. Thomson would leave Hastings and take up residence in Peterboro, from which city all parts of his field would be more easily reached. His departure would be regretted not only by his own people but by all denominations, for he has made friends with all classes and is a special favorite with the younger generation, on whose interests he has always been zealous.

His First Charge.

Mr. Thomson was called to Hastings when he graduated from Knox College, 42 years ago last April. He was wont to say in his student days that he would accept the first call that was extended to him, and that he would remain in the charge regardless of outside offers of advancement, as long as he felt that there was work for him to do, the best indication of this being is the harmonious relations with his people. In his long career in Hastings he has declined calls from congregations that meant larger envoluments, thus standing true to the decision made in his youth. On one occasion a wealthy Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia sent a delegation to hear him preach, but in an interview with the visitors after the service he refused to consider making a change. He has lived here long enough to unite in marriage young people whom he had baptized in their infancy, and also to administer the baptismal rite to their offspring.

His Services Appreciated.

Two years ago last summer, soon after he had completed 40 years of service in Hastings, Mr. Thomson was signally honored by his fellow-clergymen in the Presbytery and by the residents of Hastings. The Presbytery, of which he had been Clerk for nearly 20 years, met in Hastings and presented him with an address and a handsome easy chair. In the evening of the same day a mass meeting was held in the Town Hall when he was made the recipient of a purse of gold, the value of which was in excess of the first year's stipend which he received when he assumed his present pastorate. This gathering was representative, members of every denomination uniting to extoll the high Christian character and broad and charitable principles of the man who had dwelt so long among them.

Mr. Thomson is recognized as one of the ablest opponents of Church Union in Ontario. He has written and spoken against the movement since its inception, and in him the members of the Presbytery recognibe a colleague who is well equipped for the new duties which it is proposed to call upon him to perform.

RESOURCES ARE 24 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Combined resources of 18,075 national banks in the United States, Alaska, and Hawaii, aggregated $24,569,527,000 on September 8, an increase of $1,246,466,000 in one year, the United States treasury announced Tuesday.

OBITUARY.

RICHARD MATCHETT.

Richard Matchett died in Innesfree, Alberta, on Friday morning. The body is being brought home for burial The ceremony will take place in Gardiner's Cemetery on the arrival of the remains at Millbrook Station, probably on Tuesday afternoon.. His daughter, Mrs. Nelson, will accompany the remains.

Mr. Matchett went West about five years ago, with his daughter, Mrs. Carl Nelson and son Frank. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson have lived there for several years and his youngest daughter, Evelyn, also made her home with Mrs. Nelson.

He is survived by four sons, Richard and John in Cavan and Fred and Frank in the West, also by two daughters, Mrs. Nelson and Evelyn, both in the West.

His sister-in-law, Miss J. Calbeck, also made her home with them..

MRS. JOHN RUTTAN

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 11.—The death occurred yesterday afternoon of Susan R. Insely, wife of Mr. John Ruttan, after a few days' severe illness which followed upon some months of bad health.

She is survived by her husband; one son, Francis; and three daughters, Lyla, Elgin and Madolin; also one sister, Mrs. J. H. Owens, Mount Morris, and one brother, Claude, Healey Falls.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on Thursday afternoon. Service will be held at the church, at 2 o'clock, under the auspices of the L.O.B.A. 179. Interment will be made in Centre Church Cemetery.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE FORMING SOCIETY

Warsaw United Church Y.P. S. Held Inaugural Meeting.

WARSAW, Nov. 11.—A number of young people met at the United Church parsonage on Friday evening last and organized a Young People's Society, with Mr. Currie as president; Miss Olga Miller, vice-president; Miss Winnifred Batten, secretary treasurer; superintendent of devotional department, Rev. B. H. Herring; superintendent missionary department, Mr. Henry Batten; of Literary department, Miss Quinn; of social and citizenship department, Mr. Hilliard Darling. Mr. Darling is to look after the social end and Mr. Currie the citizenship. Miss Elsie Cooper was appointed organist. She has not yet been interviewed.

The first gathering will be held on Friday evening of this week in the United Church basement. It will be a social evening to which all really young people, and all who feel young, in the community, are invited.

Mesdames Harrington, George Taylor and William Selkirk, are a committee to arrange for the Christmas entertainment.

In the Baptist church on Sunday, Pastor Pinkerton preached a very earnest Thanksgiving sermon from Psalm 118, verse 1: 'O! give thanks unto the Lord.."

The Anglican church had its Thanksgiving service a short time ago. Rev. Walter Cox had the ordinary service yesterday, and the orchestra assisted in the service of praise.

In the United church, Rev. H. B. Herrington made his Thanksgiving sermon and talk on the maintenance and extension fund of the church and showed the need of the four million required by the United Church Budget.

The fact that there are several non-uniting congregations has in itself for the settlement created an expense even though two very prominent lawyers are giving their services free. The need for missionaries is becoming more and more felt.

The amount hitherto given by disuniting congregations must be made up.

The United Church year closes March 31. The Presbyterian year closed December 31, so that there is the fifteen months' work of the Presbyterians to be done..

The Methodists year closed April 3th, so that they have a year's work in eleevn months, and to get it all straightened out, those interested in the United church work are asked to contribute or subscribe the full amount they would give for all church work at one time, the last week in November.

CHEESE SHIPMENTS NOT FALLING OFF

Campbellford District Factories Are Still Shipping Many Boxes

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11. — There was no falling off in the quantity of cheese shipped from here Saturday from that of a week ago, nearly 400 boxes being loaded at the depot. The Empire factory, the largest in the district, shipped 65 boxes. The price Saturday was 21 1-2 cents a pound, 9-16 below that of the previous week.

Purchased Irene Hal.

At the sale of the effects of the late Frank Montgomery, held last week at Peterboro, H. F. Bennett of Campbellford purchased the pacing mare, Irene Hal, well known on the circuit in this district, and which has a mark of 2.29 1-4. Mr. Bennett owns another promising mare as yet unmarked and will have both on the circuit next season, thus reviving local interest in a sport in which the town has been distinguished in past years.

BIBLE SOCIETY WORK EXPLAINED

Rev. J. D. Paterson Spoke to Millbrook Branch at Annual Meeting.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

I feel I have not come here to address a lot of folks, but to talk with a lot of friends. That is the way I always feel toward Millbrook."

These were the introductory words of Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, who was the speaker for the annual meeting of the Millbrook Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society, held in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

You know it would be possible to evangelize the whole world with the Bible. Men may go out and preach, and preach, but could make no headway without the Scriptures. I speak to you as shareholders in the great corporation of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and would like to consider with you what we have been able to do in the last twelve months."

From personal experience in the Peace River district, and in Northern Ontario, the speaker bore eloquent testimony to the splendid work being done by the Bible Society, which has auxiliary organizations in every province in Canada, and in every country in Europe as well.

"It is doing its greatest work right here, and I will begin with my own parish. Since I came there one year ago, I have seen to it that every child of reading age is given a copy of the Bible, well bound, well printed on good paper, and of a size convenient to carry. Forgive a further personal reference—it may not bring me much business, but I present every young couple for whom I perform the marriage ceremony with a copy of the Bible, which they will not be ashamed to have upon their living-room table, and I believe it a bond of affection between my host of young friends and myself. I invest every cent that I receive in marriage fees in this manner, and being able to get these Bibles at cost from the British and Foreign Bible Society makes it possible for me to do this work.

"I would like you to know what the Bible Society will do for you. If finances are very low, you may obtain a gospel, well printed on good paper, and well bound, for one cent. And if some one ic your home is growing aged and has weakened eyesight, I am sure that a Bible with print half an inch high is just the Book for them."

Speaking of the immigrants coming into Canada, Mr. Paterson said that every newcomer receives a copy of the Bible in his own tongue, and with the English version along side, and that at the port of entry, "never a man goes past who is not greeted with a warm handshake that means something, and a smile that spells welcome, from an agent of the Bible Society. Giving them these two-version Bibles will surely instill the idea that they have come to a Christian land, with Christian influences around them, and that means a good deal for the right kind of citizenship.

"The Bible Society has a line of offices across Canada, radiating influences, sending out last year $65,000 to the parent Society in Eugland, after taking care of all its Canadian work. It is the great unifying force through Europe to-day, even the newly-formed republics, with names one can hardly pronounce, and with disturbed conditions, receive the Bible in their own language. The only place where the Scriptures may not be circulated is Russia, and effort is being made to overcome the refusal to admit the Bible in that unhappy country.

For the last fifteen years, the speaker said, some part of the Bible has been translated into a new language every six weeks, and in 827 languages it is printed at present. Constant revision in these various tongues is also part of the work, and last year 10,000,000 Bibles, in whole or in part, were provided on demand. Six new translations were used for the first time last year. One, of St. Mark's gospel, in the Logo tongue of the Belgian Congo, cost the young girl who made it her life, and now as a memorial to her daughter, the mother is undertaking the entire expense of printing and circulating this translation among this tribe.

The fact that this year the four hundredth anniversary of the William Tyndale translation of the Bible into English for the first time is being celebrated, has led the Bible Society to mark the occasion by asking for 400 new life members. Fifty dollars is the sum per member, and Mr. Paterson suggested that the amount raised in Millbrook last year would make two life members at least, with a margin to spare toward a third. When sending money, he also urged, designate it for some special object, since from $60 to $180 will pay a colporteur's salary a year, and "you would increase interest and prayers, with consequent gain to the work, by having your own Bible missionary in some part of the world."

"Turn thankfulness into thanksgiving next week. As you collectors go on your task, don't go with the idea you are begging for money; you are not; you are God's messenger helping the subscription that someone is glad to give, to get to its destination."

Other meetings in the village and vicinity lessened the attendance on Tuesday, but those present were interested and inspired by the address delivered by Rev. Mr. Paterson, and the vote of thanks formally passed, inadequately expressed their appreciation.

Ex-Warden A. J. Henderson, president of the local branch, was in the chair, and the report of the treasurer, showing $136.15 remitted to Toronto last year, was given by the secretary-treasurer, Mr. R. Stone.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, A. J. Henderson; 1st Vice-President, Reeve W. T. Wood; 2nd Vice-President, L. C. Russell; Secretary-Treasurer, R. Stone.

Directors: A. J. Fallis, M.P.P.; J. Steele, L. W. Smith, G. E. Burnham, N. Belch, J. L. Byam, T. H. Aiken, L. C. Russell, J. W. Hamilton, H. Hubbeard, J. W. Gardiner, H. A. Elson.

Collectors: Millbrook East, Misses S. Hetherington and Margaret White; Millbrook West, Misses Maud Fee and L. Luxon; 4th Line, Cavan, Mrs. Offa Williamson and Miss Margaret Russell; Fallis Line, Mrs. H. A. Fallis and Miss L. Hurd; Carmel, Mrs. Wilbert Thorne and Miss Mina Gibson; Zion, Misses Ethel Patton and Blanche Fallis.

UNITED CHURCH'S YOUNG PEOPLE'S FIRST SESSION

Inspiring Addresses at Convention of Bay of Quinte Conference.

LOYALTY EMPHASIZED

Claims of Missionary Work to Support of Youth Vividly Portrayed.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 11.—The Inaugural Young People's Convention for the Bay of Quinte Conference was held in the United Church, Port Hope, on Thursday and Friday, November 5 and 6, with about two hundred delegates in attendance.

The convention opened at 2.30 on Thursday afternoon, Rev. D. C. Ramsay, of Belleville, being in the chair, and Rev. W. J. Smith, of Wellington, taking charge of the opening worship service. Consecration and service were the two themes which received special emphasis throughout the devotional periods of the convention.

Rev. F. J. Horwood, Mus. Bac., presided at the pipe organ at all the sessions, and helped materially in deepening the spiritual atmosphere by the organ solos which provided quiet music at a set time in each worship period. Rev. Roy Rickard, of Northport, led the singing in the reeglar sessions, and the community songs when the delegates were gathered about the well-laden tables, meals being served in the Sunday school auditorium by the ladies of the United Church.

Mayor T. B. Chalk, of Port Hope, delivered the official address of welcome on Thursday afternoon, the chairman making reply. As the young people's work in the United Church is only getting under way, interim officers were appointed in preparation for the convention, until regular organization could be effected. those serving being: President, Rev. C. F. McIntosh, Campbellford; Vice-Presidents, Rev. D. C. Ramsay, of Belleville; and Rev. R. H. Rickard, of Northport; Secretary, Elwin H. Brown, of Port Hope; Treasurer, Rev. J. W. Baird, of Port Hope.

Committees were appointed early in the opening session, Rev. W. P. Woodger being convenor of the business committee; Rev. C. Daniels, of the resolutions committee, and Mr. E. H. Brown of the nominating committee.

A letter of greeting from Rev. Dr. Pidgeon, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, dated Calgary, Nov. 4, was read by the secretary, as follows:

"Greetings to Bay of Quinte Young People in convention assembled. All over Canada our young people are finding new inspiration and opportunity in the United Church. Bay of Quinte to the front.

George C. Pidgeon."

Mr. Bruce Hyne conveyed the greetings from the Young Peoples' League of the United Church, Port Hope, to the visiting young people, and the big "Welcome" sign on the outside of the church, still further emphasized he cordial spirit with which the delegates were received in the homes, and which pervaded the convention throughout.

The spirit of loyalty to Jesus Christ and the work of His Kingdom received emphasis during the entire gathering, and the spirit of loyalty to country and Empire was given due recognition by the many flags in evidence for the decorative scheme in the church auditorium where the sessions were held. A number of mottoes were placed in conspicuous positions, and were occasionally referred to by the speakers, the one directly in front reading: "You can do more than pray, after you have prayed, but you cannot do more than pray until you have prayed." "Love never asks, How much must I do? but How much can I do?" was on one side of the gallery, and facing it: "The need of the hour is for a church that lovingly gives to God at least the first fruits of all time, energy and money."

The key-note address, "What are we here for?" was given by Rev. D. C. Ramsay, companship, clarity of aim, unity of thanksgiving, and the necessity of forming an effective organization, being the points dealt with in a helpful and convincing manner.

The closing prayer for the afternoon session was offered by Rev. Dr. Alfred Brown, of Cobourg.

Mr. E. H. Brown, of Port Hope, took the chair for the evening session, its chief feature being the final debate, in the inter-League series, for the Whattam Cup. Forty-five young people's societies took part in the series; Tyrone and West Huntingdon, representing the Cobourg and Belleville districts, respectively, competing for final honors for the trophy. The subject was: "Resolved that success in life is due more to character than circumstances," the representatives of Tyrone League, Miss R. Shortt and Mr. McCartney, taking the affirmative, while West Huntingdon League, represented by Mr. Rose, and Mr. Kerr, advanced arguments in favor of the negative. The judges were two members of the Port Hope High School staff, Mrs. Bews, and Mr. H. J. Campbell, with Magistrate Campbell, and though both sides presented excellent material, the decision was given in favor of the negative. Rev. J. W. Baird presented the cup, which will be suitably engraved with the winning league's name.

A similar series of debates is to be arranged for the current year, and the Cup will become the permanent property of the League winning it for three years in succession.

The closing address, "A Bird's Eye View of the Missionary Work of the United Church," by Rev. F. W. Anderson, was most inspiring. "We should regard our missionary work as a great objective to be striven for and reached, and not as a burden to be carried. We rightly think of our church at home, but the larger church is comprised of foreign missions, and the United Church of Canada was called into being largely because of the need of united effort in carrying on our missionary oblication."

Rev. Dr. F. E. Mallott, of Belleville, pronounced the benediction.

Carrying out the thought so ably presented the previous evening, Rev. W. R. Tanton, of Napanee, spoke on Friday morning on "How to arouse Missionary Enthusiasm," presenting his theme under three heads: Knowledge, Activity and Challenge. "Nothing in modern fiction is as fascinating, thrilling, and gripping as the facts of missonary adventure which many will not trouble to read." "Knowledge is the basis of all sincere and lasting missionary enthusiasm." "The Christ we will not share, we may not keep."

"The Challenge of the Church to young women was presented in a convincing manner; by Mrs. Elsie R. Smith, Field Secretary of the National Training School, Toronto, who urged the claims of deaconness work, the need of religious education for leadership, the importance of volunteer workers, and the absolute necessity of vision and loyalty for the church's progress. "Are you willing to give your to-day that the young life about you may have its to-morrow?"

The delegates from Cobourg Presbytery met after the dinner hour, with Mr. G. Lane, of Camborne, as chairman, and organized as follows: President, Rev. C. Daniels, of Seymour; vice-President, Mr. M. Howson, of Port Perry; Secretary Miss M. Locke, Campbellford; Treasurer, Miss L. Bremner, Cobourg; Convener of Christian Fellowship Department, Rev. G. F. Lane, Canton; of Missionary Department, Miss Florence Hall, Colborne; Citizenship, Mr. Frank Maxwell, Oshawa; Literary and Recreational, Mr. P. C. Brown, Bethany; Junior and Intermediate, Mrs. Elliott, Elizabethville.

Rev. Mason Doyle, Secretary of Religious Education, Toronto, gave a comprehensive outline of "The Organization of Young Peoples' Work in the Conference," at the afternoon session, clearing up many doubtful points in connection with the work as it will be carried on under the United Church. He pointed out that, while organization is the vehicle of accomplishment, failure will result from inactivity, and from spiritual indolence. The United Church must not disappoint the spirit of expectancy abroad among the young people of the land to-day. Individual societies will continue to support the same missionary this year as was previously assigned them before the United Church came into being, and the amount raised will count on their share of the Maintenance and Extension Fund assigned to each congregation.

Mr. Hugh McKenzie, for sixteen years business manager of the former Presbyterian mission at Honan, China, gave a most interesting talk on the work in that part of the foreign field. "The old lights are going out; are we giving them the True Light?" was the thought he left with his listeners, in closing.

The nominating committee reported the election of officers resulting as follows: Honary President, Rev. C. W. Barrett, Stirling; President, Mr. E. H. Brown, Port Hope; vice-President, Mr. G. H. Holton, Belleville; Secretary, Bruce Hyne, Port Hope; Treasurer, J. R. Baird, Port Perry; Convenor Christian Fellowship, Miss Winnifred Pearce, Wellington; Missionary, Miss Florence Hall, Colborne; Literary and Recreational, Miss Joy Nichols, Cobourg; Citizenship, Mr. F. Bannister, Garden Hill; Junior and Intermediate, Mrs. Callan, Smith's Falls. Advisory Committee: Rev. W. R. Bremner, Cobourg; Rev. C. W. Demille, Oshawa; Rev. R. Richard, Northport; Rev. Mr. Curtiss, of Kingston.

Rev. D. C. Ramsay conducted an impressive installation service for the new officers, after which the Misses Pentland, of Stratford, sang a duet, "Unanswered Yet," to the great pleasure of the listeners.

Rev. C. S. Applegath, of Hamilton, a former pastor of the convention church, spoke briefly and Rev. Dr. R. B. Cochrane, of Toronto, delivered the closing address, dwelling on "the glory of being young in Canada today," and giving to the young people a vivid realization of their rich heritage, and their amazing opportunities.

"What does this old world need to cure its ills? What the Christian church alone can give it—the principles of Jesus Christ applied to daily living, revealing the Fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, and the saviourhood of Jesus Christ. It needs the spirit of adventure which youth possses; it needs enthusiasm, and sacrificial service."

Making a closing appeal to the young men to consider the claims of the Christian ministry, Dr. Cochrane added a word for all: "Devote the whole of what you have, and the whole of what you are to the service of Christ, Who gave Himself for you."

Rev. J. W. Baird closed the convention with prayer.

GROVE SCHOOL GRADS RETURN

Happy Re-union During the Week End at Lakefield—Annual Rugby Game.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 11—The Old Boys of "The Grove" held a memorable re-union during the Thanksgiving week-end and in spite of inclement weather enjoyed very much the home coming as it really seemed to them. The new building was inspected and admired, old haunts were re-visited and everywhere, at the school and in the village, were welcomed as guests of honor. Among those who came back were boys who had won special mention in hockey, cricket, and football, to say nothing of their scholastic achievements and those names are oftenspoken of in the school.

On Saturday evening a very jolly dance was held in the new dining hall with music by Sedgewick's Orchestra of Peterboro assisted by Cockburn with the traps. The music was of excellent quality and the young people tripped the light fantastic till close to midnight.

On Monday the annual Rugby match between the Old Boys and the School team was played in spite of the sticky condition of the field due to an unseasonable snowfall and resulted in a score of 12-5 in favor of the school team. Mr. T. B. Marling refereed the game.

The school team were: Pullen, Losemore, Roberston, Miall, Moore, Boultbee, Cockburn, Peck, Wood, Griffiths, Hudson.

The Old Boys team were: Bruce, J. Gray, R. Gray, Christmas, Parker, Fawcett, Loosemore, James' Fitzgerald, Langley, Roper, Little, Carter, M. Smith.

The game was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience.

On Saturday morning the race was run for "The Grove" cup and the big side was won by Gordon Strickland and the Little Side by Billy Macrae.

Among the Old Boys who visited the school for the Thanksgiving week-end were: G. Rainnie, R. and J. Gray, R. Loosemore, James, J. Little, G. Christinas, L. Massie, E. Fawcett, J. Smith, N. Smith, J. Carter and J. Roper.

POST OF GENERAL OVERSEER IS TO BE GIVEN REV. D. A. THOMSON

Veteran Hastings Minister To Be Promoted in Service of Presbytery.

43 YEARS' SERVICE.

Took Up Work in Hastings When He Graduated From Knox College.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

HASTINGS, Nov. 11.—When the Presbytery of Peterboro meets in Port Hope on December 5 one of the matters to be dealt with will involve the transfer of Rev. D. A. Thomson as pastor of St. Andrew's Church here, a position which he has held without a break for nearly 43 years. In the Presbyterian Church of Canada, before the days of Union, he held the record for senority of service in one pulpit, the clergyman who came next to him being Rev. K. H. McLeod of Brighton.

At the last meeting of Presbytery, which was held in Peterboro, the members discussed the question of making Mr. Thomson permanent Clerk and Treasurer. It was further proposed that a new position be created in the Presbytery and that Mr. Thomson be made General Overseer, his special duty being to act as helper to the weaker groups within his jurisdiction. A committee, consisting of Rev. T. W. Goodwillie of Cobourg, Rev. H. D. Cameron of Port Hope, Rev. G. I. Craw, formerly of Springville, and Elders James Dutton of St. Paul's, Peterboro, and J. H. Walker of Port Hope, was appointed to deal with this question and to report at the next meeting in Port Hope.

Change Means Promotion.

It is seldom that a clergyman of Mr. Thomson's years is accorded the honor of promotion in the service, but promotion to the proposed change would certainly be. If the proposition goes through it would mean that Mr. Thomson would leave Hastings and take up residence in Peterboro, from which city all parts of his field would be more easily reached. His departure would be regretted not only by his own people but by all denominations, for he has made friends with all classes and is a special favorite with the younger generation, on whose interests he has always been zealous.

His First Charge.

Mr. Thomson was called to Hastings when he graduated from Knox College, 42 years ago last April. He was wont to say in his student days that he would accept the first call that was extended to him, and that he would remain in the charge regardless of outside offers of advancement, as long as he felt that there was work for him to do, the best indication of this being is the harmonious relations with his people. In his long career in Hastings he has declined calls from congregations that meant larger envoluments, thus standing true to the decision made in his youth. On one occasion a wealthy Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia sent a delegation to hear him preach, but in an interview with the visitors after the service he refused to consider making a change. He has lived here long enough to unite in marriage young people whom he had baptized in their infancy, and also to administer the baptismal rite to their offspring.

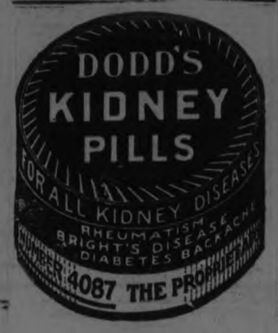
His Services Appreciated.

Two years ago last summer, soon after he had completed 40 years of service in Hastings, Mr. Thomson was signally honored by his fellow-clergymen in the Presbytery and by the residents of Hastings. The Presbytery, of which he had been Clerk for nearly 20 years, met in Hastings and presented him with an address and a handsome easy chair. In the evening of the same day a mass meeting was held in the Town Hall when he was made the recipient of a purse of gold, the value of which was in excess of the first year's stipend which he received when he assumed his present pastorate. This gathering was representative, members of every denomination uniting to extoll the high Christian character and broad and charitable principles of the man who had dwelt so long among them.

Mr. Thomson is recognized as one of the ablest opponents of Church Union in Ontario. He has written and spoken against the movement since its inception, and in him the members of the Presbytery recognibe a colleague who is well equipped for the new duties which it is proposed to call upon him to perform.

RESOURCES ARE 24 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Combined resources of 18,075 national banks in the United States, Alaska, and Hawaii, aggregated $24,569,527,000 on September 8, an increase of $1,246,466,000 in one year, the United States treasury announced Tuesday.



OBITUARY.

RICHARD MATCHETT.

Richard Matchett died in Innesfree, Alberta, on Friday morning. The body is being brought home for burial The ceremony will take place in Gardiner's Cemetery on the arrival of the remains at Millbrook Station, probably on Tuesday afternoon.. His daughter, Mrs. Nelson, will accompany the remains.

Mr. Matchett went West about five years ago, with his daughter, Mrs. Carl Nelson and son Frank. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson have lived there for several years and his youngest daughter, Evelyn, also made her home with Mrs. Nelson.

He is survived by four sons, Richard and John in Cavan and Fred and Frank in the West, also by two daughters, Mrs. Nelson and Evelyn, both in the West.

His sister-in-law, Miss J. Calbeck, also made her home with them.

MRS. JOHN RUTTAN

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 11.—The death occurred yesterday afternoon of Susan R. Insely, wife of Mr. John Ruttan, after a few days' severe illness which followed upon some months of bad health.

She is survived by her husband; one son, Francis; and three daughters, Lyla, Elgin and Madolin; also one sister, Mrs. J. H. Owens, Mount Morris, and one brother, Claude, Healey Falls.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on Thursday afternoon. Service will be held at the church, at 2 o'clock, under the auspices of the L.O.B.A. 179. Interment will be made in Centre Church Cemetery.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE FORMING SOCIETY

Warsaw United Church Y.P. S. Held Inaugural Meeting.

WARSAW, Nov. 11.—A number of young people met at the United Church parsonage on Friday evening last and organized a Young People's Society, with Mr. Currie as president; Miss Olga Miller, vice-president; Miss Winnifred Batten, secretary treasurer; superintendent of devotional department, Rev. B. H. Herring; superintendent missionary department, Mr. Henry Batten; of Literary department, Miss Quinn; of social and citizenship department, Mr. Hilliard Darling. Mr. Darling is to look after the social end and Mr. Currie the citizenship. Miss Elsie Cooper was appointed organist. She has not yet been interviewed.

The first gathering will be held on Friday evening of this week in the United Church basement. It will be a social evening to which all really young people, and all who feel young, in the community, are invited.

Mesdames Harrington, George Taylor and William Selkirk, are a committee to arrange for the Christmas entertainment.

In the Baptist church on Sunday, Pastor Pinkerton preached a very earnest Thanksgiving sermon from Psalm 118, verse 1: 'O! give thanks unto the Lord.."

The Anglican church had its Thanksgiving service a short time ago. Rev. Walter Cox had the ordinary service yesterday, and the orchestra assisted in the service of praise.

In the United church, Rev. H. B. Herrington made his Thanksgiving sermon and talk on the maintenance and extension fund of the church and showed the need of the four million required by the United Church Budget.

The fact that there are several non-uniting congregations has in itself for the settlement created an expense even though two very prominent lawyers are giving their services free. The need for missionaries is becoming more and more felt.

The amount hitherto given by disuniting congregations must be made up.

The United Church year closes March 31. The Presbyterian year closed December 31, so that there is the fifteen months' work of the Presbyterians to be done..

The Methodists year closed April 3th, so that they have a year's work in eleevn months, and to get it all straightened out, those interested in the United church work are asked to contribute or subscribe the full amount they would give for all church work at one time, the last week in November.

CHEESE SHIPMENTS NOT FALLING OFF

Campbellford District Factories Are Still Shipping Many Boxes

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11. — There was no falling off in the quantity of cheese shipped from here Saturday from that of a week ago, nearly 400 boxes being loaded at the depot. The Empire factory, the largest in the district, shipped 65 boxes. The price Saturday was 21 1-2 cents a pound, 9-16 below that of the previous week.

Purchased Irene Hal.

At the sale of the effects of the late Frank Montgomery, held last week at Peterboro, H. F. Bennett of Campbellford purchased the pacing mare, Irene Hal, well known on the circuit in this district, and which has a mark of 2.29 1-4. Mr. Bennett owns another promising mare as yet unmarked and will have both on the circuit next season, thus reviving local interest in a sport in which the town has been distinguished in past years.

BIBLE SOCIETY WORK EXPLAINED

Rev. J. D. Paterson Spoke to Millbrook Branch at Annual Meeting.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

I feel I have not come here to address a lot of folks, but to talk with a lot of friends. That is the way I always feel toward Millbrook."

These were the introductory words of Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, who was the speaker for the annual meeting of the Millbrook Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society, held in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

You know it would be possible to evangelize the whole world with the Bible. Men may go out and preach, and preach, but could make no headway without the Scriptures. I speak to you as shareholders in the great corporation of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and would like to consider with you what we have been able to do in the last twelve months."

From personal experience in the Peace River district, and in Northern Ontario, the speaker bore eloquent testimony to the splendid work being done by the Bible Society, which has auxiliary organizations in every province in Canada, and in every country in Europe as well.

"It is doing its greatest work right here, and I will begin with my own parish. Since I came there one year ago, I have seen to it that every child of reading age is given a copy of the Bible, well bound, well printed on good paper, and of a size convenient to carry. Forgive a further personal reference—it may not bring me much business, but I present every young couple for whom I perform the marriage ceremony with a copy of the Bible, which they will not be ashamed to have upon their living-room table, and I believe it a bond of affection between my host of young friends and myself. I invest every cent that I receive in marriage fees in this manner, and being able to get these Bibles at cost from the British and Foreign Bible Society makes it possible for me to do this work.

"I would like you to know what the Bible Society will do for you. If finances are very low, you may obtain a gospel, well printed on good paper, and well bound, for one cent. And if some one ic your home is growing aged and has weakened eyesight, I am sure that a Bible with print half an inch high is just the Book for them."

Speaking of the immigrants coming into Canada, Mr. Paterson said that every newcomer receives a copy of the Bible in his own tongue, and with the English version along side, and that at the port of entry, "never a man goes past who is not greeted with a warm handshake that means something, and a smile that spells welcome, from an agent of the Bible Society. Giving them these two-version Bibles will surely instill the idea that they have come to a Christian land, with Christian influences around them, and that means a good deal for the right kind of citizenship.

"The Bible Society has a line of offices across Canada, radiating influences, sending out last year $65,000 to the parent Society in England, after taking care of all its Canadian work. It is the great unifying force through Europe to-day, even the newly-formed republics, with names one can hardly pronounce, and with disturbed conditions, receive the Bible in their own language. The only place where the Scriptures may not be circulated is Russia, and effort is being made to overcome the refusal to admit the Bible in that unhappy country.

For the last fifteen years, the speaker said, some part of the Bible has been translated into a new language every six weeks, and in 827 languages it is printed at present. Constant revision in these various tongues is also part of the work, and last year 10,000,000 Bibles, in whole or in part, were provided on demand. Six new translations were used for the first time last year. One, of St. Mark's gospel, in the Logo tongue of the Belgian Congo, cost the young girl who made it her life, and now as a memorial to her daughter, the mother is undertaking the entire expense of printing and circulating this translation among this tribe.

The fact that this year the four hundredth anniversary of the William Tyndale translation of the Bible into English for the first time is being celebrated, has led the Bible Society to mark the occasion by asking for 400 new life members. Fifty dollars is the sum per member, and Mr. Paterson suggested that the amount raised in Millbrook last year would make two life members at least, with a margin to spare toward a third. When sending money, he also urged, designate it for some special object, since from $60 to $180 will pay a colporteur's salary a year, and "you would increase interest and prayers, with consequent gain to the work, by having your own Bible missionary in some part of the world."

"Turn thankfulness into thanksgiving next week. As you collectors go on your task, don't go with the idea you are begging for money; you are not; you are God's messenger helping the subscription that someone is glad to give, to get to its destination."

Other meetings in the village and vicinity lessened the attendance on Tuesday, but those present were interested and inspired by the address delivered by Rev. Mr. Paterson, and the vote of thanks formally passed, inadequately expressed their appreciation.

Ex-Warden A. J. Henderson, president of the local branch, was in the chair, and the report of the treasurer, showing $136.15 remitted to Toronto last year, was given by the secretary-treasurer, Mr. R. Stone.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, A. J. Henderson; 1st Vice-President, Reeve W. T. Wood; 2nd Vice-President, L. C. Russell; Secretary-Treasurer, R. Stone.

Directors: A. J. Fallis, M.P.P.; J. Steele, L. W. Smith, G. E. Burnham, N. Belch, J. L. Byam, T. H. Aiken, L. C. Russell, J. W. Hamilton, H. Hubbeard, J. W. Gardiner, H. A. Elson.

Collectors: Millbrook East, Misses S. Hetherington and Margaret White; Millbrook West, Misses Maud Fee and L. Luxon; 4th Line, Cavan, Mrs. Offa Williamson and Miss Margaret Russell; Fallis Line, Mrs. H. A. Fallis and Miss L. Hurd; Carmel, Mrs. Wilbert Thorne and Miss Mina Gibson; Zion, Misses Ethel Patton and Blanche Fallis.

UNITED CHURCH'S YOUNG PEOPLE'S FIRST SESSION

Inspiring Addresses at Convention of Bay of Quinte Conference.

LOYALTY EMPHASIZED

Claims of Missionary Work to Support of Youth Vividly Portrayed.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 11.—The Inaugural Young People's Convention for the Bay of Quinte Conference was held in the United Church, Port Hope, on Thursday and Friday, November 5 and 6, with about two hundred delegates in attendance.

The convention opened at 2.30 on Thursday afternoon, Rev. D. C. Ramsay, of Belleville, being in the chair, and Rev. W. J. Smith, of Wellington, taking charge of the opening worship service. Consecration and service were the two themes which received special emphasis throughout the devotional periods of the convention.

Rev. F. J. Horwood, Mus. Bac., presided at the pipe organ at all the sessions, and helped materially in deepening the spiritual atmosphere by the organ solos which provided quiet music at a set time in each worship period. Rev. Roy Rickard, of Northport, led the singing in the reeglar sessions, and the community songs when the delegates were gathered about the well-laden tables, meals being served in the Sunday school auditorium by the ladies of the United Church.

Mayor T. B. Chalk, of Port Hope, delivered the official address of welcome on Thursday afternoon, the chairman making reply. As the young people's work in the United Church is only getting under way, interim officers were appointed in preparation for the convention, until regular organization could be effected. those serving being: President, Rev. C. P. McIntosh, Campbellford; Vice-Presidents, Rev. D. C. Ramsay, of Belleville; and Rev. R. H. Rickard, of Northport; Secretary, Elwin H. Brown, of Port Hope; Treasurer, Rev. J. W. Baird, of Port Hope.

Committees were appointed early in the opening session, Rev. W. P. Woodger being convenor of the business committee; Rev. C. Daniels, of the resolutions committee, and Mr. E. H. Brown of the nominating committee.

A letter of greeting from Rev. Dr. Pidgeon, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, dated Calgary, Nov. 4, was read by the secretary, as follows:

"Greetings to Bay of Quinte Young People in convention assembled. All over Canada our young people are finding new inspiration and opportunity in the United Church. Bay of Quinte to the front.

George C. Pidgeon."

Mr. Bruce Hyne conveyed the greetings from the Young Peoples' League of the United Church, Port Hope, to the visiting young people, and the big "Welcome" sign on the outside of the church, still further emphasized the cordial spirit with which the delegates were received in the homes, and which pervaded the convention throughout.

The spirit of loyalty to Jesus Christ and the work of His Kingdom received emphasis during the entire gathering, and the spirit of loyalty to country and Empire was given due recognition by the many flags in evidence for the decorative scheme in the church auditorium where the sessions were held. A number of mottoes were placed in conspicuous positions, and were occasionally referred to by the speakers, the one directly in front reading: "You can do more than pray, after you have prayed, but you cannot do more than pray until you have prayed." "Love never asks, How much must I do? but How much can I do?" was on one side of the gallery, and facing it: "The need of the hour is for a church that lovingly gives to God at least the first fruits of all time, energy and money."

The key-note address, "What are we here for?" was given by Rev. D. C. Ramsay, companship, clarity of aim, unity of thanksgiving, and the necessity of forming an effective organization, being the points dealt with in a helpful and convincing manner.

The closing prayer for the afternoon session was offered by Rev. Dr. Alfred Brown, of Cobourg.

Mr. E. H. Brown, of Port Hope, took the chair for the evening session, its chief feature being the final debate, in the inter-League series, for the Whattam Cup. Forty-five young people's societies took part in the series; Tyrone and West Huntingdon, representing the Cobourg and Belleville districts, respectively, competing for final honors for the trophy. The subject was: "Resolved that success in life is due more to character than circumstances," the representatives of Tyrone League, Miss R. Shortt and Mr. McCartney, taking the affirmative, while West Huntingdon League, represented by Mr. Rose, and Mr. Kerr, advanced arguments in favor of the negative. The judges were two members of the Port Hope High School staff, Mrs. Bews, and Mr. H. J. Campbell, with Magistrate Campbell, and though both sides presented excellent material, the decision was given in favor of the negative. Rev. J. W. Baird presented the cup, which will be suitably engraved with the winning league's name.

A similar series of debates is to be arranged for the current year, and the Cup will become the permanent property of the League winning it for three years in succession.

The closing address, "A Bird's Eye View of the Missionary Work of the United Church," by Rev. F. W. Anderson, was most inspiring. "We should regard our missionary work as a great objective to be striven for and reached, and not as a burden to be carried. We rightly think of our church at home, but the larger church is comprised of foreign missions, and the United Church of Canada was called into being largely because of the need of united effort in carrying on our missionary oblication."

Rev. Dr. F. E. Mallott, of Belleville, pronounced the benediction.

Carrying out the thought so ably presented the previous evening, Rev. W. R. Tanton, of Napanee, spoke on Friday morning on : "How to arouse Missionary Enthusiasm," presenting his theme under three heads: Knowledge, Activity and Challenge. "Nothing in modern fiction is as fascinating, thrilling, and gripping as the facts of missonary adventure which many will not trouble to read." "Knowledge is the basis of all sincere and lasting missionary enthusiasm." "The Christ we will not share, we may not keep."

"The Challenge of the Church to young women was presented in a convincing manner, by Mrs. Elsie R. Smith, Field Secretary of the National Training School, Toronto, who urged the claims of deaconness work, the need of religious education for leadership, the importance of volunteer workers, and the absolute necessity of vision and loyalty for the church's progress. "Are you willing to give your to-day that the young life about you may have its to-morrow?"

The delegates from Cobourg Presbytery met after the dinner hour, with Mr. G. Lane, of Camborne, as chairman, and organized as follows: President, Rev. C. Daniels, of Seymour; vice-President, Mr. M. Howson, of Port Perry; Secretary Miss M. Locke, Campbellford; Treasurer, Miss L. Bremner, Cobourg; Convener of Christian Fellowship Department, Rev. G. F. Lane, Canton; of Missionary Department, Miss Florence Hall, Colborne; Citizenship, Mr. Frank Maxwell, Oshawa; Literary and Recreational, Mr. P. C. Brown, Bethany; Junior and Intermediate, Mrs. Elliott, Elizabethville.

Rev. Mason Doyle, Secretary of Religious Education, Toronto, gave a comprehensive outline of "The Organization of Young Peoples' Work in the Conference," at the afternoon session, clearing up many doubtful points in connection with the work as it will be carried on under the United Church. He pointed out that, while organization is the vehicle of accomplishment, failure will result from inactivity, and from spiritual indolence. The United Church must not disappoint the spirit of expectancy abroad among the young people of the land to-day. Individual societies will continue to support the same missionary this year as was previously assigned them before the United Church came into being, and the amount raised will count on their share of the Maintenance and Extension Fund assigned to each congregation.

Mr. Hugh McKenzie, for sixteen years business manager of the former Presbyterian mission at Honan, China, gave a most interesting talk on the work in that part of the foreign field. "The old lights are going out; are we giving them the True Light?" was the thought he left with his listeners, in closing.

The nominating committee reported the election of officers resulting as follows: Honary President, Rev. C. W. Barrett, Stirling; President, Mr. E. H. Brown, Port Hope; vice-President, Mr. G. H. Holton, Belleville; Secretary, Bruce Hyne, Port Hope; Treasurer, J. R. Baird, Port Perry; Convenor Christian Fellowship, Miss Winnifred Pearce, Wellington; Missionary, Miss Florence Hall, Colborne; Literary and Recreational, Miss Joy Nichols, Cobourg; Citizenship, Mr. F. Bannister, Garden Hill; Junior and Intermediate, Mrs. Callan, Smith's Falls. Advisory Committee: Rev. W. R. Bremner, Cobourg; Rev. C. W. Demille, Oshawa; Rev. R. Richard, Northport; Rev. Mr. Curtiss, of Kingston.

Rev. D. C. Ramsay conducted an impressive installation service for the new officers, after which the Misses Pentland, of Stratford, sang a duet, "Unanswered Yet," to the great pleasure of the listeners.

Rev. C. S. Applegath, of Hamilton, a former pastor of the convention church, spoke briefly and Rev. Dr. R. B. Cochrane, of Toronto, delivered the closing address, dwelling on "the glory of being young in Canada today," and giving to the young people a vivid realization of their rich heritage, and their amazing opportunities.

"What does this old world need to cure its ills? What the Christian church alone can give it—the principles of Jesus Christ applied to daily living, revealing the Fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, and the saviourhood of Jesus Christ. It needs the spirit of adventure which youth posses; it needs enthusiasm, and sacrificial service."

Making a closing appeal to the young men to consider the claims of the Christian ministry, Dr. Cochrane added a word for all: "Devote the whole of what you have, and the whole of what you are to the service of Christ, Who gave Himself for you."

Rev. J. W. Baird closed the convention with prayer.

GROVE SCHOOL GRADS RETURN

Happy Re-union During the Week End at Lakefield—Annual Rugby Game.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 11—The Old Boys of "The Grove" held a memorable re-union during the Thanksgiving week-end and in spite of inclement weather enjoyed very much the home coming as it really seemed to them. The new building was inspected and admired, old haunts were re-visited and everywhere, at the school and in the village, were welcomed as guests of honor. Among those who came back were boys who had won special mention in hockey, cricket, and football, to say nothing of their scholastic achievements and those names are oftenspoken of in the school.

On Saturday evening a very jolly dance was held in the new dining hall with music by Sedgewick's Orchestra of Peterboro assisted by Cockburn with the traps. The music was of excellent quality and the young people tripped the light fantastic till close to midnight.

On Monday the annual Rugby match between the Old Boys and the School team was played in spite of the sticky condition of the field due to an unseasonable snowfall and resulted in a score of 12-5 in favor of the school team. Mr. T. B. Marling refereed the game.

The school team were: Pullen, Losemore, Roberston, Miall, Moore, Boultbee, Cockburn, Peck, Wood, Griffiths, Hudson.

The Old Boys team were: Bruce, J. Gray, R. Gray, Christmas, Parker, Fawcett, Loosemore, James' Fitzgerald, Langley, Roper, Little, Carter, M. Smith.

The game was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience.

On Saturday morning the race was run for "The Grove" cup and the big side was won by Gordon Strickland and the Little Side by Billy Macrae.

Among the Old Boys who visited the school for the Thanksgiving week-end were: G. Rainnie, R. and J. Gray, R. Loosemore, James, J. Little, G. Christinas, L. Massie, E. Fawcett, J. Smith, N. Smith, J. Carter and J. Roper.

WEDNESDAY, NOV 11, 1925

WHEN THE GUNS CEASED FIRING.

Seven years ago today, at 11 o'clock, on the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, the guns ceased firing in the World War—and the greatest slaughter of humanity the world had ever known came to an end.

Peterboro should remember what happened here seven years ago today, the first wild outburst of factory whistles and church bells that awakened the city to a realization that the war was over, the day of almost frenzied rejoicing that followed, the joy that could not be restrained.

The fighting was finished! The Allies had won! The boys would soon be coming home again.

Only seven years ago—and yet the joy of 1918 has been replaced by the indifference of 1925.

Only seven years ago—and yet how few people of Peterboro stood motionless at 11 o'clock today, and complying with the request of His Majesty King George paid a tribute to the memory of the Empire's war dead!

Only seven years ago—and yet disabled war heroes are fighting for more sympathetic consideration of their claims at the hands of the state on whose behalf they fought!

Today Peterboro's memory should hark back to November 11, 1918.

REDUCED TAXATION.

The Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce at the Kingston conference last week passed a resolution calling upon the Dominion Government to introduce the necessary legislation at the next session of Parliament to reduce the income tax rates to at least the scale in force in the United States.

Delegates who spoke to the motion were unanimous in the opinion that taxation in this country had been excessively burdensome and had prevented business stability and the expansion of industries.

It is undeniably the case that the Canadian taxpayer has been watching events across the border with envious eyes.

The slashing reductions of the Coolidge regime, which even at the present moment are being supplemented by further cuts amounting to over $300,000,000, have made a profound impression on Canadians.

They are beginning to ask why a similar programme could not be put into effect in this country.

For the most part, the politicians chose to ignore the question of taxation in the recent campaign.

It is the duty of the people upon whose backs the burden of taxation is carried to see that it becomes an issue that no party can afford to ignore.

Canadians, viewing the lower taxation benefits their American cousins are enjoying, are sooner or later going to arouse themselves to a vigorous demand for the same kind of treatment for themselves.

And when that time comes the political party that fails to sense the situation is going to be annihilated.

THE PRICE OF POTATOES.

It is easy for the man on the street to understand why the price of potatoes should show an increase over last year because it is realized that the crop in Ontario has not been as large or as good as usual, and because the demand on the part of American buyers for Canadian potatoes has been responsible for a sharp upward movement in the price.

But why should the consumer in Peterboro be called upon to pay $3.50 for a bag of potatoes when the consumer in other Ontario cities can buy the tubers at a considerably lower rate?

The Toronto Globe quotes the prices paid on the farmers' market in ten Ontario cities and towns on Saturday.

Peterboro and Chatham headed the list with potatoes selling at $3.50 a bag.

Why should Peterboro people have to pay 75c or $1.00 more per bag than the people of Belleville, $1.25 more per bag than the people of Cobourg, 50c or 75c more per bag than the people of Hamilton, 50c or 75c more per bag than the people of Kingston or Woodstock, or 25c or 50c more per bag than the people of London?

The market in these cities must be governed by the same conditions as in Peterboro—yet only at one point in Ontario other than here has the price climbed to the figure that is quoted.

The Peterboro consumer is entitled to an explanation.

APPLE WEEK IN CANADA.

On the principle that Canadians should loyally patronize their own products, an attempt is being made throughout Canada at the present time to draw attention o the excellences of the Canadian apple, and its value as a food, says the Brantford Expositor. Time and again, the apple orchards of Canada have won prizes in the markets of the world. The apple orchards of Nova Scotia, Ontario and British Columbia are especially celebrated for their splendid products. They can easily hold their own in foreign markets against all competition. At the Imperial Fruit Show in London, the Ontario apple obtained first prize in the cooking class, while British Columbia took the first three prizes for desert apples.

This is quite a triumph for Canadian apples. The apple harvest this year is exceedingly abundant, and unless the Canadian people buy them in liberal quantities there will be thousands of bushels of good apples go to waste. The apple is one of the most wholesome fruits that can be kept in the home. It is sometimes said that the people of Canada import large quantities of foreign fruits to the detriment of the home grown apple. Some have gone so far as to say that if the Canadian apples were all shipped abroad and then imported, they would be more highly appreciated.

This perhaps is an exaggeration, but it is true that Canadian apples are not as largely consumed for domestic purposes as they should be. Their juicy, delicious flavor is unsurpassed, and their food value ranks high, and if the present campaign results in arousing every family in Canada to lay in a supply of this luscious and wholesome fruit, it will have rendered a patriotic service. In this regard Michigan has apparently the same problem as Ontario. According to the Detroit Free Press, the Michigan apple is almost a rarity in the average Detroit grocery. When it does appear it frequently is represented by gnarled windfalls. Unless a housewife can get to one of the markets, she is often forced to fall back on the Oregon apple. The Free Press adds that the Oregon apple is all very well in its place. It is carefully packed and it is pretty, but in flavor, it cannot compete for an instant with the Michigan fruit. What is true about the Michigan apple is more true of the Ontario apple.

WHAT THE WEST WANTS.

Although Mr. Robert Forke, Progressive leader, still maintains silence as to the attitude his party will take in the coming session, an article in the latest issue of the Grain Growers' Guide—the official organ of the United Farmers of Manitoba—is regarded as significant, indicating as it does what the many people in the West will expect of Mr. King in return for Progressive support.

Naturally the Guide puts a still lower tariff first in the list of Western demands.

It doesn't beat about the bush in doing so.

"First, as of primary importance, it will be expected of the Prime Minister," says the Grain Growers' organ, "that he will proceed to arrange for moderate and practical reductions in the tariff, which amounts to a direct tax on most of these Western Provinces."

The Guide recognizes, of course, that such a policy will be a direct challenge to advocates of higher tariff, and bluntly declares that that issue should be faced.

"It should be accepted," continues the article, "that in a House where the high tariff party will be aggressive new reductions in the tariff will be sharply challenged. Let it be so. There can never be a better time to try conclusions than in 1926 on the issue which presses for a settlement more conclusive than was given in the recent election."

Other concessions that the West will expect are listed by the Guide, including the adoption of the alternative vote as a Government measure and the building of at least a few miles of the Hudson Bay Railway.

If the Grain Growers' publication is correctly setting forth the price of Progressive support for the Government there is every reason to expect a most interesting session when the House is called together.

THERE ARE ONLY TWO COURSES.

On the morning of October 19 Greeks and Bulgarians exchanged shots on the frontier. Greek troops came on to recover their dead and they were fired upon. More killing. Greece invaded Bulgaria with infantry, artillery and aeroplanes, bombarding Petrich and other towns. More killing, including this time women and children. Greece reinforced her invasion with an ultimatum and a demand for 2,000,000 francs indemnity.

The war was spreading, just as other wars in the Balkans had spread in other years. The cables were busy carrying messages that spoke of "war clouds in the Balkans," and the eyes of the world were turned once more to the corner where an assassin's shot eleven years ago had marked the beginning of the world's greatest war.

This time there was no hastening of world powers to align themselves one way or the other with the combatants. There were no secret arrangements by which Greece or Bulgaria were to secure assistance; there was no bargaining about which conquered territory might be sliced. On October 26 word was sent from Paris telling Greece and Bulgaria to quit and ordering Greek troops back to their own territory. Within twenty-four hours both these warring nations had stated their willingness to obey and they compiled at once with the Paris demand.

It was the Council of the League of Nations, called for special and immediate session, that sent the ultimatum from Paris. It was the first time in modern history that a war had been stopped in this way, and the world was prepared to recognize it as an outstanding accomplishment.

The Washington Post refuses to view the incident in such a light. It goes back to the incident at Corfu when Italy delivered an ultimatum to Greece, and says the League could or would do nothing with Mussolini because he represented one of the great powers himself, and concludes:

"It appears that the League of Nations is a roaring lion in behalf of peace when little nations are involved, but it becomes a sucking dove when the great powers find it necessary to employ force to gain their ends."

The Post deliberately overlooks the fact that the League of Nations is more powerful today than it was at the time of the Corfu incident. It has been able, through the Locarno conference, to bring France and Germany to a point of mutual understanding, and it is by such steps that it has arrived at the point where it could order Greece and Bulgaria to stop fighting and have that order obeyed.

The Washington Post, in the role of the complaining critic, is not helping the cause of the League of Nations; it is doing what it can to create an atmosphere that will keep United States from taking its place in the League, a place that has been too long vacant.

There are only two courses open for the settlement of such a crisis as that aroused by Freece and Bulgaria, (1) the old way of fighting and deciding the issue by the process of slaughter, or (2) creating a world court, powerful and sincere enough to insist on settlement by arbitration. The Washington Post and the people of United States at large can select one or the other of these courses, for there is no alternative. An attitude that can see no advancement in two warring nations obeying an order to stop fighting, and doing it on a day's notice, is as biased as it is dark and hopeless.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If the price keeps climbing, however, the potato will be on sale only in the jewelery stores by the time Christmas arrives.

"There is always a degree of danger," says the London Advertiser, in discussing the potato situation, "in attempting to extract the last cent from anything. The wiser course is o determine a selling price representing a face profit on the operation and then sell at that price."

With the Federal politicians "off the air," aspirants for municipal honours now have the opportunity to do some broadcasting.

GLENALDA NEWS

GLENALDA, Nov. 10.—Miss Edith Post, of Methuen, is the guest of Daisy Needham.

Mr. Chas. Rusaw motored to Peterboro' on Saturday last.

Messrs. Ross Washburn and Percy Seymour have just returned from Colbourne for the hunt.

Mr. Peter Rusaw has returned home after spending a few days with his daughter Mrs. Aaron Post, at Coe Hill.

Mrs. Floyd Post has been spending a few weeks with her mother near Madoc.

Wise and Otherwise.

The habit of agreeing seems to be dangerous and slippery. —Cicero.

It is always a silly thing to give advice, but to give good advice is absolutely fatal. —Oscar Wilde.

A woman seldom asks advice before she has bought her wedding clothes. —Addison.

In the days of prosperity be joyful, but in the days of adversity consider. —Ecclesiastes.

The wind in one's face makes one wise. —Geo. Herbert.

He is a gentleman because his nature is kind and affable to every creature. —Barnfield.

When quality meets, compliments pass. —Prov.

The concessions of the weak are the concessions of fear. —Edmund Burke.

The surest way to be taken in is to think yourself cleverer than others. —La Rochefaucauld.

Who keeps one's end in view makes all things serve. —Browning.

Conduct is three-fourths of our life and its largest concern. —M. Arnold.

He then that will be honest must dare to confess that he has been a knave. —Defoe.

A THOUGHT.

A VITAL QUESTION.

A modern education may not be all that it should be, but its sledge-hammer influence in destroying double standards of manners and morals is surely not without value. When the pendulum of human activities swings nearer to normal, the uniform standard of behavior among many cannot help being of service to humanity.

Since man and woman together, not singly, are the mediums through which posterity must be supplied, how unfair to let common consent put the entire burden of responsibility for clean bodies, clear minds, usefulness and beauty of the coming generations up to the female species.

Wild oats are a harvest that women as well as men can and do sow; it is intelligent to condone the one and condemn the other? Is not the man who is unfit physically and morally as reasonable a deposit for the scrap heap as the woman?

SHOWER HELD FOR BRIDE AND GROOM

Friends Gathered at Home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Gibbs, at Bewdley.

BEWDLEY, Nov. 11.—A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Gibbs, when a number of friends and neighbors gathered together to present them with a miscellaneous shower.

The following address was read by Mr. Douglas Westington. To Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs:—

"We have gathered at your home tonight to bid you welcome to our midst and to offer you our heartiest congratulations at this, the outset of your married life.

"Our sincerest wish is that you have a long and happy honeymoon, extending to the very end of the journey.

"We are most pleased to greet you as new members in our Social Circle and trust that you will feel the warmth of our welcome, both in our homes and in our church.

"That you may remember our first social evening together, we ask you to accept these few gifts we have brought.

"We thank you for opening your home to us to-night, and trust that our associations will always be the most friendly.

"May God's fullest blessings be showered upon you is our greatest wish."

Signed on behalf of your new neighbors and friends of this community, M. F. Ames, Mrs. Jeff Morton, Douglas M. Westington, Myrtle Benson. W. Cole.

Although taken by surprise, Mr. Gibbs made a very suitable reply on behalf of Mrs. Gibbs and himself.

REYNARD AND COON.

Bert Lee Got a Free Lesson on Natural History.

MARMORA, Nov. 11.—The following story comes from Madoc Township. Mr. Ben Lee, whilst out ploughing recently, succeeded in capturing a live coon which he imprisoned within a large box. A little while later, he saw a red fox, sitting up quite unconcerned, on his haunches at a distance of about 200 yards from his house. Mr. Lee went to the house to procure his gun, but on his way noticed the coon pushing up the lids of the box in an endeavour to escape. Placing a heavy stone on the lid, he secured his gun and bagged Reynard. In the meanwhile, Mr. Coon made good his escape.

Bagged Deer.

To John Laird belongs the honor, as far as can be ascertained, of being the first Marmora man to get a deer this hunting season. He secured his animal and had it hung up by 8 a.m. on the 5th. Alphonse Shannon and Harold Nayler made up his party.

Personals.

Miss Reta Kennedy is spending Thanksgiving with her sister, Myrtle, at Walkerton, and also with her brother, Garnet, at Flesherton.

Miss Eleanor Thompson spent the week-end at her home in Bellgville.

Miss Ida Clare, of Welcome, was the guest of Miss Loreen Connor over Thanksgiving.

Mr. Ross Sine is doing relief work for Mr. Brock Leonard.

Miss Loreen Connor spent Thanksgiving under the parental roof.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Nov. 10—Trade was good and active, with large supplies of cattle on hand. While prices were not quotably higher than last week, except for hogs, which were quoted 25c higher at $11 f.o.b.

There was a heavy run of lambs, but the market was good and firm for choice lambs, a few extra choice lots going at $13.25.

Calves were firm, a few choice tops at $11.50.

Export cattle were moving out freely at steady prices, with choice beef steers from $7.25 to $8.25. Export heavy bulls, $5 to $5.50.

There is a keen demand for choice handy weight butcher stuff at $7 to $7.25 and fair to good butcher at $5.25.

Among the usual western shipments were several loads of good breedy calves fromt Peace River country.

All the canner cows were readily disposed of around $2.50 a cwt. A couple of export cows sold at $5.50 a cwt., and other good cows sold up to $5, and medium cows were $3.75 and $4 a cwt. Export heifers had a wide market from $5.50 to $7.40 a cwt. One load of 44 stocker heifers averaging 500 lbs. each sold at $4.10 a cwt. Loads of common beef cattle were taken at $4.50 a cwt. Trading was quite active after the first hour and the day's sales were larger.

The market was bare of real good calves and prices were quietly steady. Good calves were 11 cents, medium 8 to 9 cents, and grassers 5 cents a pound.

Lamb buyers were not anxious to open the market, but salesmen were looking for prices to hold at last week's quotations. Fred Dunn sold several shipments totalling 1,500 for 13 1-4 cents a pound. Sheep were steady, with a top of 7 cents a pound.

Hogs advanced 25 cents a cwt. over the week-end, and the packer's bid is now $11 a cwt. f.o.b. Some salesmen were trying to get $11.25 a cwt. for their hogs.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—Wheat took a sudden late upturn in price today, largely as a result of heavy buying ascribed to a prominent Chicago speculator. December wheat advanced to the best premium yet, as compared with May. The close for wheat was unsettled, 1-2 to 2 1-8 net higher, new style, December 150 3-4 to 150 7-8, and May 145 to 145 1-8. Corn finished 1-8 to 1-2c down; oats a shade to 1-8c up, and provisions varying from 30c decline to a rise of 15c.

With talk current of a probable early close of lake navigation with meagre stocks of wheat in Chicago, and with moderate receipts elsewhere, the December delivery here gave evidence that traders were paying greater heed to the approach of settlement time for December contracts. The market today had apparently become oversold and was to an unusual degree sensitive to an influx of purchasing orders near the end of the day. Earlier there was moderate response to reports of appreciable damage by heavy hailstorms in Argentina and to word that British millers were buying wheat in larger quantities.

QUEBEC BUTTER.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—At the Quebec Federated Co-operative Society auction sale of butter held here today, there were 400 packages No. 1 pasteurized creamery offered and all sold at 42 1-2 cents per lb., which shows an advance of 1-2c per lb., as compared with a week ago.

BELLEVILLE CHEESE UNSOLD

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—At the United Dairymen Co-operative auction sale of Belleville cheese held here today, the offerings amounted to 1,667 boxes, of which 896 boxes of No. 1 white were not wanted, and 21c per lb. was bid for 771 boxes No. 1 colored, f.o.b. Belleville for shipment to Montreal, and refused.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today as follows:

Sterling demand $4.83-7-8.

Sterling cables $4.84 1-4.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market today was reported very quiet and featureless. A few loads of grain in nearby positions were sold to United Kingdom buyers.

The domestic trade in cash grain was also of a very limited character, the demand being only for odd cars to meet immediate requirements, but the tone of the market was steady and prices were unchanged. Car lots of Ontario and Quebec No. 2 white oats were quoted at 52 cents, No. 3 white at 50 1-2 cents, and No. 4 white at 49 cents per bushel, ex-track. Ontario malting barley in car lots sold at 55 1-2 cents per bushel, ex-track.

Export of Eggs Increases.

The exports of eggs from the Port of Montreal last week were 11,627 cases which showed an increase of 2,077 cases, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 1,852 cases with the same week last year, but the total shipments for the season to date have been 2,254 cases smaller than the same period of 1924.

There was no important change in the condition of the local egg situation, prices for fresh stock were firmly maintained under a good steady demand for all offerings. The trade in storage eggs was fairly active, and prices ruled firm. The receipts were 1,561 cases, as against 1,014 for the same day last week, and 127 for the corresponding day a year ago.

There were no further developments in the potato trade, prices being firm, but owing to the report of an embargo to be placed on them, buyers showed less disposition to operate, and the volume of business was smaller than it has been of late with the result that the market was quieter.

The exports of butter from the Port of Montreal last week amounted to 1,254 packages, which show an increase of 906 packages, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 1,564 packages with the same week last year, but the total shipments for the season to date have been 68,446 packages in excess of the same period for 1924.

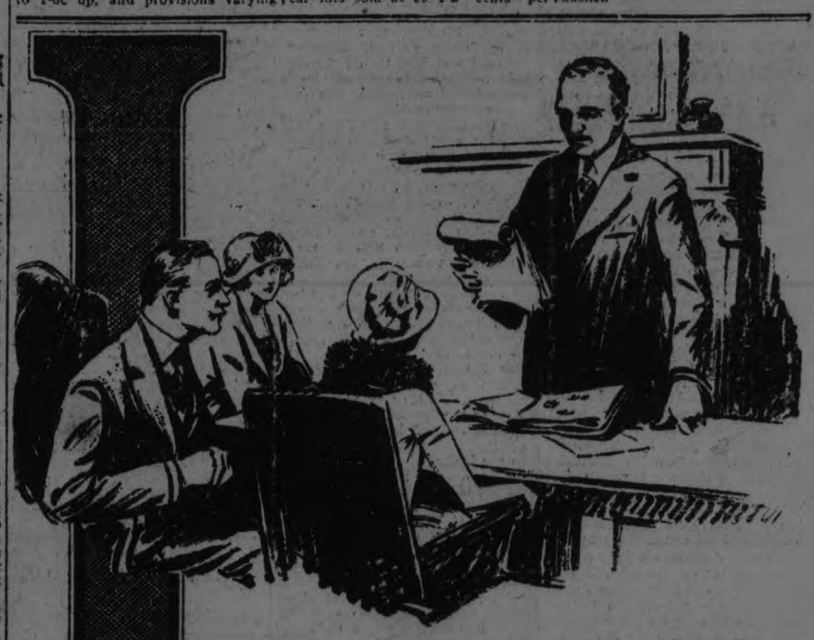
The receipts of butter in Montreal today were 1,256 packages, as against 290 for the same day last week, and 440 for the corresponding day a year ago. There were no new developments in the market, but the undertone was firm and prices were fully maintained. The volume of business showed no market improvement, the demand being chiefly for small lots to meet actual wants.

Cheese Trade Quiet.

The exports of cheese from the Port of Montreal last week were 27,372 boxes, which show a decrease of 4,382 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 6,417 boxes with the same week last year, while the total shipments for the season to date show an increase of 102,574 boxes with the same period a year ago.

The receipts of cheese in Montreal today were 10,560 boxes, as compared with 10,627 for the same day last week, and ,582 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no improvement in the foreign demand for supplies, and in consequence business here was exceedingly quiet with the result that an easier feeling prevailed for current receipts and offerings of Western No. 1 white and colored were made at 22 1-2c per lb. and Eastern grades at 22 1-4c per lb., but September-made Western goods were held fairly steady at 23 3-4c to 23 7-8c per lb.

Beans were selling at $2.10 per bushel.



"His Love Lives On"

"He can't have left her much, you know, because he was only just getting nicely established"—said the friends of Frank's widow when he died, only 31 years of age.

But the family realized the true nobility of Frank's nature, when the solicitor announced that, just the year before, the young man had been foresighted enough to provide through insurance with The London Life, an income of $100 a month for his wife as long as she lives.

The cost, equal to $5.78 a week, was his sacrifice for the wife and children he loved.

The London Life agent has had experience in arranging such policies of protection and will be glad to advise. London Life rates mean lowest net cost.

COMPLETE RESULT OF ELECTION AND TOTAL VOTE FOR 174 SEATS

Death of J. E. Marcil, of Bagot, Reduces Liberal List to 100—Returns Compiled by The Canadian Press.

ONTARIO CONSERVATIVE STRENGTH.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—The Canadian Press from time to time has issued summaries of the standing of the parties resulting from the recent Dominion elections. All doubtful seats are now removed into the various party columns, and the list as given below is complete except for the vacancy in Bagot owing to the death of the elected Liberal member, J. E. Marcil.

In this summary The Canadian Press includes in the Liberal column J. E. A. Dubuc, the Independent Liberal elected in Chicoutimi over both the official Liberal candidate and the Conservative; and also includes G. Evanturel, elected as an Independent Liberal in Prescott over the official Liberal and Conservative candidates. These candidates, although independent of the party organization, ran and were elected as Liberals, and, therefore, The Canadian Press feels they should not be placed in the Independent column alongside of Mr. Bourassa, whose campaign in Labelle was as an Independent pure and simple. The question has been raised as to whether S. W. Jacobs was elected in Cartier as an official or Independent Liberal, but The Canadian Press is informed by the Prime Minister's office that he was the official Liberal candidate. The summary:

	Lib.	Con.	Prog.	Labor.	Ind.	Vacant.	Total.
Prince Edward Island	2	2	0	0	0	0	4

LOCAL HUNTER LOST IN WOODS

Spent Saturday Night Under Tree Drenched By Rain.

FOUND BY FRIENDS.

APSLEY, Nov. 11.—At least one member of a Peterboro hunting party will not soon forget his hunting experiences in the backwoods, according to a report brought to the village yesterday afternoon. It appears that the nimrod referred to essayed to go out from the hunting camp on Saturday afternoon by himself. After some hours as the day began to wane and he had not returned, his companions became uneasy, and organized a search, but failed to hit his trail. Coming on to a deserted camp in the woods they decided to remain there and continue the search next morning, especially as the rain which commenced about two p.m., continued to fall heavily. They resumed their search at daybreak, and eventually found their companion standing disconsolately on the leeside of a big tree drenched to the skin, and in a condition that can better be imagined than described. The good Samaritan attention of his friends, however, soon restored him to warmth and comfort, and a later report states that he declares he was not lost at all — "sic transit gloria venati."

While deer seem fairly plentiful, so far the hunting parties have not had particularly good luck, although one or two parties have secured at least one. The weather has not been at all favorable up to the present.

Thanksgiving Day was observed at St. George's Church with an early celebration of the Holy Communion. Armistice Day will be observed as at the War Memorial at 10.45 a.m., in former years with a short service weather permitting.

FORKE APPROVES DECEMBER DATE FOR PARLIAMENT

Progressive Leader Denies Report of Protest Against Early Session.

PRESS INTERVIEW.

Forke Will Avoid Embarrassing Government in Present Situation

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—Robert Forke, Progressive leader, in an interview with the Canadian Press over long distance telephone to his home at Pipestone last night, denied emphatically that he had protested against the calling of a session of the Federal House in December. A local paper yesterday quoted him as having protested.

"Premier King," he said, "probably has a good reason for calling a session in December, and I can't see anything wrong with the date."

"Do you think that an election in the spring would work a hardship on the farmers of Western Canada?" Mr. Forke was asked.

"I think it would," he replied, adding that that was one of the busy seasons for the farmer.

"Would you like to make a statement as to your attitude toward the Government when the House assembles?" was another question put to the Progressive leader.

"I have nothing to say about that at the present time," Mr. Forke replied. "I will say though that I have no intention of saying or doing anything at the present time that might embarrass the Government." Pressed as to whether that would be his attitude when the House sat, Mr. Forke repeated his former statement that he had nothing to say regarding the attitude that he would take in the House.

The Progressive leader stated that he would be in Winnipeg Thursday, and intimated that he might issue a statement at that time.

SELWYN WON IN FINAL CONTEST

Smith Township Team Increased Lead Over Rivals in Lakefield League.

GIRLS BEATEN.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 11.—The regular schedule of the Lakefield Softball League was concluded last night when Selwyn defeated Douro, 11-3. The Selwyn boys had won every previous game and could not be overhauled even if they had lost, but took the game easily, adding to their lead. The game was never in doubt, the Douro team being able to score in only two of the nine innings.

After the game the cup donated by the rink company was presented to the Selwyn team by E. W. Bailey, president of the company, who made a short speech, expressing the hope that an even larger number of teams might enter the competition next year. C. O. Northey, manager of the Selwyn team, made a short reply, and the team decided to put up the cup for competition next year, although it was intended for the one year only.

The teams were:

Douro—Darling p, Coughlin c, Wanamaker 1b, Welsh 2b, Currie 3b, J. Allen ss, O'Brien ss, Sloan rf, B. Allen lf

Douro .. .. 000020100— 3

Selwyn .. .. 16001003x—11

Umpires—Woodhouse at the plate and Morrison on the bases.

Masons 10, Ladies 7.

The league game was preceded by an exhibition game between the Masons and the Lakefield Ladies' team. The girls have very much improved since their last time out, and hope, before the season ends, to take a game from one of the men's teams of the village. The teams were:

Ladies—Dell Watson p, Gladys Blewett c, Verna Payne 1b, Josephine Allen 2b, Olive Northey 3b, Olive Jackson ss, Helen Everett ss, Grace Watson rf, Mae Irwin lf, Barbara Dench sub.

Masons—Dench p, McManus c, Stabler 1b, C. Northey 2b, Junkin 3b, G. Woodhouse ss, Stenner ss, G. Wanamaker rf, W. Hamblin lf.

Umpires—R. C. Chittick and Charles Woodhouse.

KING'S WHARF MAN HURT AT THRESHING

Patrick Perdue's Arm Was Broken When Caught in Separator.

KING'S WHARF, Nov. 11.—A fatal accident was narrowly averted the other day when Mr. Patrick Perdue, who was working for a few days on the threshing machine owned by Messrs. Herlihey and Flynn, was oiling the machine. His arm was caught in the belt and broken. It was broken below the elbow, and also badly bruised. He also got a bad cut in his head, but not very serious. They were threshing at Wm. Fitzpatrick's farm and had just about finished. A car was secured and he was taken to his home and Dr. Earle of Omemee was summoned. He dressed the wounds and Mr. Perdue is doing as well as could be expected. He will be used up for a few weeks, and thinks he was lucky to escape so well.

NEW BRUNSWICK POWER DISPUTE OVER CONTRACT

Former Liberal Premier Defends Agreement With International Paper Co.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—"We have reached a crisis in our industrial development—no government should be allowed to barter away our common heritage for the sake of political expediency." So declares Hon. Dr. P. J. Veniot, former Premier of New Brunswick, in a statement issued here last night in which he repeatedly intimates that Premier Baxter's denunciation of the contract made by the late New Brunswick Electric Power Commission and the International Paper Company with regard to Grand Falls power and the present Premier's suggestion that if the international company insists upon the terms of the contract being kept apparently the only way out is to turn over the water power to private interests to be developed as the price which Premier Baxter is paying large private interests for their support during the political campaign of last summer that carried him to the Premiership of New Brunswick.

Hon. Dr. Veniot's statement comes as a reply to that issued by Dr. Baxter a few days ago. He declares that Dr. Baxter says the province-company agreement for the sale of power was confirmed by the International Waterways Commission and gives this as a reason for not cancelling it. Dr. Veniot says that statement is false; the Waterways Commission had nothing whatever to do with that agreement, and he asks Dr. Baxter, since he considers it so iniquitous, why he does not proceed to cancel it as he repeatedly said he would do with any contracts injurious to the province, before the election.

Dr. Veniot declares that the Commission was justified in agreeing to hold from 10,000 to 14,000 horsepower in reserve for a time for the International Company because they were considering locating a pulp and paper industry in this province that would have meant the expenditure of millions and employment for thousands, and any government that did not provide for the advent of such an industry would be rightly charged with lack of foresight.

"The Premier cannot hide the attempt to destroy the policy of public ownership under the guise of his being unable to cancel the contract. It is the height of nonsense and is resorted to for the purpose of providing an excuse for hedging on an issue of the utmost importance to the province," Dr Veniot declared.

MRS. VALENTINO WANTS CAREER

Is Not Prepared To Give Up Everything For Children.

ANSWERS RUDOLPH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press.)— Mrs. Winifred Hudnut Valentino, wife of Rudolph Valentino, arrived from Paris yesterday on the Leviathan with two pedigreed dogs under her arms, and replied to her husband's contention that she gave too much time to her dogs and not enough to him, with a pert "Pooh, he has about eight or nine dogs himself."

The Valentinos are on a "marital vacation" due to their differences over the question of a career for Mrs. Valentino, who proposed to enter the movies.

Mrs. Valentino had nothing unpleasant to say about her husband. Their difficulties, she said, have arisen over his desire to stay home evenings and his opposition to her seeking her own career.

"It is all very well to have children," said Mrs. Valentino in reply to her husband's recent description of what he regarded as ideal connubial and domestic life, but no woman should embark upon this phase of life until she is prepared to give up everything for her children.

"This," she said emphatically, "I will not do."

AMERICAN CORN CROP IS HEAVY

Estimate Exceeds Three Billion Bushels—Potato Yield Uncertain.

OFFICIAL FIGURES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press).—A corn crop of 3,013,390,000 bushels, one-fifth larger than that of last year, and the sixth in the nation's history exceeding the three billion bushels mark was announced Tuesday by the Department of Agriculture in its November preliminary estimates. Iowa, the premier corn producing state, has surpassed all its previous records with an indicated production of 477,386,000 bushels.

Production of potatoes, placed at 346,503,000 bushels, as compared with 454,784,000 last year, is still somewhat uncertain, the board announced, because part of the crop was still in the ground November 1 and losses from freezing could not be accurately estimated.

Flaxseed production was described as the third largest on record with 22,332,000 bushels, but this figure, the Board said, is considerably below the national consumption.

Usually good yield and quality were noted in practically all cigar-leaf tobacco producing areas, while in most other areas the reverse was true. The total crop was placed at 1,264,226,000 pounds, as compared with 1,240,513,000 pounds last year.

COMMITTEE NAMED OF FAITH HEALING

Bishop of Southwark is the Chairman of Anglican Body Considering Matter.

LONDON, November 11. Canadian Press: — Official clerical recognition of "faith healing" is seen in the announcement here that the Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, has appointed the Bisop of Southwark to preside over a permanent committee of six leading doctors and six clergymen to act as advisor to the church on all matters relating to spiritual healing questions.

This action is the result of a report made here a year ago by a committee presided over by the Bishop of Oxford, which investigated the question of faith healing in its relation to medical science, and recommended the appointment of a new committee.

PREFERRED JAIL.

CHATHAM, Ont., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—Fred Johnson, colored, demurred yesterday when told by Magistrate Arnold that he could not remain indefinitely at the Kent County Jail. He reluctantly promised to return to the County House of Refuge. When he was found wandering about after leaving the latter institution without permission he was apprehended on a vagrancy charge.

NEW SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT IS OF MOST UP-TO-DATE TYPE

Activated Sludge System is Being Installed by the City.

ONE OF FINEST

Aeration of Sludge is Important Feature of the Plant.

Peterborough's new sewage disposal plant, while not yet completed, will rank when finished as being one of the finest in the Dominion. It will take care of the sewage from the City, and covers in all an area of 1800 acres. The system which is known as the activated sludge system of sewage disposal is reckoned as being the last word in problems of this kind. The pipes run from an outlet chamber at the foot of Park Street underneath the Otonabee to the pumping station situated on the east bank of the river. This pipe line is now finished and completely connected up. After the sewage comes from the pumping station it is treated to a period of aeration varying from four to eight hours, depending upon the load on the plant. The sewage is then passed through what is known as a Dorr clarifier where it it has a period of mechanical sedimentation of from 1½ to 3 hours.

One of the important features of the activated sludge system is what is known as the aeration of the sludge by the return of the already digested sludge from the clarifiers to the areation chambers so that the proper bacteria would be mixed with the fresh sewage, thus effecting the proper decomposition of the incoming sewage..

The compressed air for the activating chambers is supplied by electric air compressors and is piped through cast iron pipes to porus plates located at the bottom of the tanks, from which the air rises in a finely divided state. Throughout the whole plant a special study has been given to the possible variation of the flow throughout the plant, and by means of piping and valves, it being possible to give a wide range of treatment to the sewage. For instance, various units may be used singly, or in conjunction with other units. All the work has been done under the direct supervision of the City Engineer and his staff, and the whole structure presents a very attractive appearance.

DELEGATES WILL CONSIDER NEEDS

MANY NOTED SPEAKERS

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—Some of Canada's national problems will be discussed by prominent business men at Winnipeg when delegates gather in that city from all parts of Canada for the conference of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, Nov. 16, 17 and 18

In addition to a long list of subjects already on the agenda, provision will be made for a discussion of matters arising out of the conference of Maritime Boards of Trade which met at Kingston, Nov. 5-6. The Maritime Boards of Trade have already arranged for discussion at the Winnipeg conference of the subject "Utilization of Maritime Province Ports."

The feature of the afternoon session of Nov. 16 will be an address by Sir Thomas White, former finance minister of Canada, on the subject "Canada's Present National and Economic Position." This will be a survey in broad perspective from such standpoints as population, trade, debt, taxation, Canadian national spirit and other matters.

On the same day John M. Imrie, of the Edmonton (Alta.) Journal, president of the Edmonton Board of Trade, will introduce the subject, "Immigration and Colonization—the Needs, the Prospects and the Method." In subsequent sessions the following subjects will be introduced and discussed:

"Pacific Panama Route," introduced by A. M. Dollar, president of Vancouver Board of Trade;

"St. Lawrence Waterway Development," introduced by Brig.-General C. H. Mitchell, Toronto Board of Trade;

"Scientific Research in Relation to Industrial and Agricultural Development," introduced by Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the University of Alberta;

"Commercial Arbitration," introduced by George Henderson, treasurer of the Montreal Board of Trade;

"Customs Regulations for the Prevention of Smuggling," introduced by Paul Joubert, president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade;

"Imperial Trade Relations and Trade Within the Empire," introduced by R. O. Bell Irving of the Vancouver Board of Trade;

"Developing our Foreign Trade including Foreign Trade Conferences in Canada," introduced by K. J. Burns of the Vancouver Board.

"Hudson Bay Railway," introduced by the Saskatoon Board of Trade;

"Federal Taxation of Municipally Owned Enterprises," introduced by the Montreal Board of Trade.

"Formation of Dominion Board of Trade," introduced by A. O. Dawson, President of the Montreal Board of Trade.

The delegates will be tendered a banquet by the Winnipeg Board of Trade on the evening of November 18th.

BOOSTER CLUB HELD ITS OPENING DANCE

Good Crowd Gathered in Victoria Hall For Enjoyable Affair Last Night.

The first of its regular fortnightly dances was held last night by the "50" Booster Club. The dance was held in Victoria Hall, and was attended by about fifty couples, who enjoyed themselves in square and round dances to the enlivening strains of Childerhose's orchestra. At midnight dainty refreshments were served and dancing was then resumed, the affair breaking up at an early hour in the morning.

It was announced that a dance would be held every second and fourth Tuesday all through the winter months.

LOCARNO OFFICIALS INVITED TO LONDON

British Government Asks Them to Witness Signing of Pact

LONDON, Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—The British Government last night issued invitations to all those connected with the Locarno Conference, both Ministers and officials, to come to London December 1st for the signing of the pact. The invitation also includes the wives of the officials concerned, as it is understood that King George is to give a big banquet at Buckingham Palace in honor of the occasion.

SEVEN CARS DERAILED.

C.P.R. Blocked By Accident Near Chatham.

CHATHAM, Ont., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press). — No persons were injured when seven cars of a mixed C.P.R. train, due to arrive here at one o'clock Tuesday morning from Windsor, left the tracks a short distance from Ringold. Wrecking crews were rushed from Windsor and London, but it was not until ten o'clock Tuesday morning that the right-of-way was cleared. Other passenger trains were routed through the city via the C. N. R. Canadian Pacific Railway officials were unable to account for the accident.

ACT WORKING WELL.

Children Adoption Plan Satisfies Children and Foster Parents.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 11.—(By Canadian Press).—The Ontario Act respecting the Adoption of Children, which came into force July 1, 1921, is reported by I. J. Kelso to be working well and conferring material benefit on both children and foster parents. About 2500 children have been legally adopted to date. This gives them an assured status in the family with right of inheritance. For a long time many people who had taken over the guardianship of young children from their parents or from Children's Aid Societies were anxious for greater security than a simple agreement could give and the new law provides this.

Don't Neglect The Children's Coughs and Colds

Mrs. Wm. W. Card, Bancroft, Ont., writes:—"Last winter my three children had very bad colds, and they would cough all night long, which was very annoying to the rest of the family.

I could get nothing to help them until one night, a friend who was staying with me, advised me to give them

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

I immediately got some, and after I had used four bottles of it my children became quite well again, thanks to Dr. Wood's."

Armistice Day Was Commemorated at St. Peter's Cathedral.

In commemoration of Armistice Day, a Solemn Requiem High Mass was chanted at eight o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, for the repose of the souls of the soldiers killed in the Great War. Rev. P. Costello was the celebrant, assisted by Rev. P. Butler and Rev. J. Finn.

The music of the Mass was sung by the children's choir from St. Mary's School.

WILL SUBMIT NEW APPLE.

Kingston Road Farmer Believes He Has What Department Wants.

OSHAWA, November 11. — Believing he has what the Department of Agriculture has been after for the past forty years, John Bartlett of Kingston Road, will submit to the Government Experimental Farm, a Spy apple which he has taken off a tree, which was planted from a seed by him 12 years ago. The apple, he claims, has retained all the qualities of the Spy but has a finer color and it is this feature which he says the Department of Agriculture has been attempting to obtain.

CONDITIONS IN REFUGEE CAMPS DESCRIBED BY REPRESENTATIVE OF BR. SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND

Says Subscriptions Have Met Direct Human Need—Turkish Atrocities.

HAVE DOLE SYSTEM

League of Nations Assisting by Allotment to Purpose of Agriculture.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press).—"Giving one's general impression first, I can simply say that the half has not been told of this colossal tragedy—and the other half cannot be told," says Frank Yeigh, Canadian representative of the British Save the Children Fund, after a visit of inspection to the Greek Refugee Camps in the Near East. These camps were organized for the shelter and feeding of part of the 4,000,000 people forced out of Asia Minor by Turkey during the last three years, under what Mr. Yeigh describes as "the harsh and cruel conditions of the Turkey of Lausanne." Mr. Yeigh says that the Canadian donors through the Save the Children Fund can be assured that the aid they have thus far given has not only met the direst of human needs, but has been the means of saving thousands of child lives; that a residue of 300,000 still call for help, for another season at least, and that the fund is administering its gifts most efficiently and economically—in fact, "in the British way," as an onlooker put it.

Mr. Yeigh continues: "It is only fair to state that the refugee adults are gradually being helped to self-support, through the $50,000,000 loan arranged by the League of Nations, but not a cent of this has been or can be used for food or clothing—only for land, housing, implements, livestock and seed grain. This leaves the multitude of helpless women and children at the mercy of the world philanthropy; which, however, is only partially being met. This same world, so generous in its philanthropic impulse, so soon grows tired of helping, forgetting that hunger returns to children, and grown-ups, too, every day.

Awaiting Doles of Food.

"Canada has never seen long queues of hungry, ragged and practically homeless people, eagerly and patiently waiting for the life-giving and life-sustaining sole, and he who could look into the seared and scarred faces of these innocent victims of a post-war condition without being deeply stirred would be unresponsive to any human need. And then to watch the changed countenances as the squares of bread and the tins and bowls of soup were carried away, to be speedily eaten in barrack or tent or mud hut, was to get a satisfactory answer to the cynical question one sometimes hears, 'Is it worth while?'

"I will not attempt to describe in detail each camp in Salonica, though each has its own character and situation. I was specially interested in the old Canadian Hospital Barracks, spreading their homely roofs over the hot sloping hillside. They are still crowded with hundreds of needy creatures, living—if that word can be used—under inconceivable conditions. When one counted over twenty families in one barrack, and saw the partitions of old blankets and rugs and even marsh reeds enclosing squares of only a few feet, as the 'home' of a family, and multiplied these by all the other tumble-down structures, something of the sum total of human misery, in this one camp, may be estimated. No wonder one saw two men carrying a pallet out of the camp—merely two more dead on the same mattress, being hurried to the little cemetery across the road from the military city of the dead, only two more refugees who will need no more food or rags to clothe them.

"Rags, rags and tatters! Here one discovered their clothing value, not only in coats of many faded colors, but ill-fitting garments of variegated patches. It was one thing to see the refugees under a hot summer sun, but what of the penetrating fall and winter winds that are already sweeping down the valley of the Varder, chilling the floor-sleepers to the bone, and, no doubt, in many cases, to the death. 'No one knows how they live through it,' was the comment of an observer. An old Greek in one of the camps, when he saw the Union Jack flying over the kitchen, exclaimed, 'I thank God every time I see it,' and another one said, 'God must have sent you to help us.'

Worse Than Animal Conditions.

"The Lembet camp looked the essence of unattractiveness on this hot and dusty day; the mud houses received a fresh sun-bake, and the tents suggested the sweating tepees of the Canadian Indians. And yet hundreds of these Asia Minor refugees have lived for months, and even years, under these distressful conditions—worse than any animal on a Canadian farm experiences. Three children were found cuddling close to a pig for sleeping warmth. That could never happen in Canada.

"One was shown some of the new villages built by the aid of the League of Nations Refugee Settlement Commission, and comfortable little homes they are, palaces compared to the hovels first used, and in proportion as the refugees are removed to them will their housing needs be met. But great numbers still await this improvement; the process is necessarily slow in the face of the overwhelming mass suddenly precipitated into Greece, herself a relatively poor and small country.

"I next went to the mountain region of Macedonia. The news of a food and clothing distribution at Sorovitch had spread over night with mysterious speed through the refugee settlement, and by daylight the first streams appeared, mostly on foot, fewer on donkeys (three children on the back of one), and fewer still piled in carts drawn by diminutive ponies, in striking contrast to the camel caravan that had just arrived, one of the means of transportation used by the Save the Children Fund in distributing its dry rations over a wide stretch of hill country to a hundred villages.

"The little town was crowded as on a market day, and one had an opportunity of again seeing refugees in the mass, for hundred more came than could be given tickets for the cloth distribution. Once more it was a ragged army, even worse, if that were possible, than Salonica, and the pleas for help further emphasized the desolating tragedy. And as they ate their dark and heavy dry rye bread, with perhaps a bit of fruit, their hunger need was equally obvious. I shall not soon forget their homeward trek later in the day—'homeward' to what? The story of Salonica is repeated in Sorovitch, with even greater emphasis, for these refugees, scattered among the bleak and bare looking hills of Macedonia, dwell in even more wretched hovels and are more apt to be forgotten than the dwellers in or near a city.

Around the Greek Capital.

"Next on to Athens. Although the fund has recently been compelled to close its kitchen work here, the need though diminished, would seem to still exist. The Armenian village, within the city limits, presented in some respects the most dreadful housing and living conditions of any, especially as to the crowded huts, hovels and tent tops on earthen walls. Swarms of dark eyed children thronged the narrow lane of a street, with open sewer ditches that made the motor car ride a disturbing adventure. Wee little shops abounded, but who buys? One wonders. Everyone appeared to be busy, weaving and embroidery by the women, and various handicrafts by the men.

"I was also conducted to the two camps at Piraeus. The one occupying an old factory, presented the usual sordid scenes, and old women followed us, asking for food. The dust and debris of the court yard was bad enough but what it must be under mud conditions after a rain had better be left undescribed. Finally, the climax of distressing sights was that of the old theatre in Athens, with families crowded into every box on the stair landing and in the pit. One glimpse of the interior was enough, and I fled.

Grateful to Canada.

"I had an interview with the Governor-General of Salonica, an appointee of the present government, who expressed his deep thanks for Canadian philanthrophy. 'Greece is a poor country,' he added, 'and could never have met the burden of the refugees without the help of other countries.' And he asked for continued assistance.

"The Ex-Minister of Public Assistance of Refugees, and President of the Patriotic Committee of Relief in Greece, Dr. Aposlolos Doxiades, gave me the following letter, as literally translated:

"'On the occasion of our acquaintances I feel my duty to express the gratitude of the Greek people for the great support which Canada has offered to our country through The Save the Children Fund, of which the worthy representative, Messrs. Kennedy, Fernie and Sams, have done their utmost to protect in the critical moments the suffering masses of refugees. I warmly beg you to greet the Canadian people and announce to them that the philanthropic work shown towards us has deeply impressed in our heart the feeling of gratefulness and the name of Canada became dear and respectful to all Greece.

"I take courage to add that even to-day the struggle did not finish, and after the great difficulties which have been more or less settled, it remains the struggle for the Protection of the Child which has been undertaken by all its efforts by the Patriotic Committee of Relief, of which I have the honor to be the President, the means of which are unfortunately unsufficient for all this work"

"The visit to Dr. McPhail's Children's Hospital in Belgrade, the capital of Jugo Slavia, visualized the wide scope and international character of the Save the Children Fund from a new angle. To see the fifty cots filled with as many helpless ones receiving aid from this beneficent institution, was not only to admire the work of Dr. McPhail and her staff, but to rejoice that the S. C. F. contributing to its maintenance No less striking was the attendance of outdoor patients, illustrating that phase of this excellent curative service.

Here again the need was self-evident on the part of crowds of poor people, some of whom had come from long distances. The Jugo Slavia government is gradually increasing its support, realizing the value of the hospital, not alone as a temple of healing, but as an example to that and other countries. The constructive side of such a philanthrophy is one of the encouraging features of the S. C. F. policy.

"The work among the babies and little folks in other institutions struck most favorably. Here again, the sight of so many helpless little ones receiving the tenderest care was a heartening one. The world is not growing worse when such sights can be seen. And in this and every phase of unselfish service represented in the various activities above outlined, there is a true international ism, a real contribution to present and future peace, and a practical demonstration of applied Christianity, and e a Canadian one is proud that, amid all our own relative plenty, something is being spared for others even if far away and of another race and language."

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister.

Rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

POLITICS HAS REACHED STATE OF CONFUSION

French Radical Leader, M. Cazals, Says Chaos Is Unparallelled.

OBSERVERS AT LOSS.

Concentration Majority is Favored With Dissolution Only As Last Resort.

PARIS, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press) The political situation in France has reached a state of confusion and chaos, to use an expression used by M. Cazals, leader of the radical group in the Chamber of Deputies, unparalleled in parliamentary annals and such that the most experienced observers are at a loss to gauge the final outcome.

Meanwhile current opinion favoring the formation of a "concentration majority" is visibly growing, even among the radicals. The fact that this probably would entail another ministerial crisis does not deter the advocates of this procedure, which is quite in keeping with the traditions of French politics. Dissolution of parliament also is being talked about, but this, although provided for by the constitution, is a method contrary to all the usages of parliament, having been employed only once since the republic was founded. It will be considered only as a desperate last resort.

PERTH FREE OF DEBENTURE DEBT

County Treasurer Paid Off Last Amount Incurred By Registry Building.

NO CELEBRATION.

STRATFORD, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Perth County to-day stands entirely free of debenture debt. On Tuesday, County Treasurer George Hamilton paid the last debenture charged against the county, amounting to $1,059.85, and which was incurred when the present registry office was erected. No plans have been made to celebrate the occasion.

CABINET MAY MEET TO ADVANCE PLANS

Hon. J. H. K., Public Works Minister, Returned To Capital Last Night.

OTTAWA, November 11. Canadian Press. — The Cabinet will probably meet to-morrow to advance plans for the opening of parliament on December 10th. The ministers who have been absent, either for the holiday or over a longer period, are returning to Ottawa. Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works and Acting Minister of Labor, who has been in British Columbia for some months, returned to the Capital last night.

Writs from various constituencies throughout Canada continue to come to the chief electoral officer. Those already received will be Gazetted on Saturday.

GERMAN REPLY SENT TO ALLIES LATE LAST NIGHT

Was Sent When Ambassador Said Cologne Would Not Be Evacuated.

FINAL CLEAN UP.

Allies Promised To Leave City Dec. 1 If Questions Were Answered.

BERLIN, Nov. 11. — (United Press).—Germany's reply to the latest Allied disarmament inquiries was delivered at Paris at midnight after the receipt of an urgent telephone message from Ambassador Hoesch," saying that unless there was immediate delivery the alleviation of the Rhineland situation (the evacuation of Cologne chiefly) desired by Germany, would not materialize.

The Allied note was in the nature of a final clean-up of the disarmament problem calling the attention of Germany to certain disarmament desires still entertained by the Allies.

London advices to the United Press yesterday claimed that if Germany acquiesced formally in the remaining questions on disarmament, the Allies would proceed to evacuate Cologne on December 1st, coincident with the signing of the Locarno pacts.

DEPUTIES MOCK MINISTER WHO MADE APOLOGY

Foreign Minister Ninchitch Had Difficulty in Speaking in House.

WAS INTERRUPTED.

Expressed Hope That Italy Would Be Satisfied With Apologies.

BELGRADE, Jugo Slavia, Nov. 11.— (Canadian Press). — Foreign Minister Ninchitch, answering interpellations in Parliament deplored the anti-Italian manifestations throughout Jugo-Slavia last Sunday which were marked by the burning of Italian flags.

In view of the government's desire to avoid trouble, M. Ninchitch said, he had instructed the Jugo-Slavian Minister in Rome to offer apologies for the flag incidents.

When the Foreign Minister ended his speech by expressing the hope that Italy would be satisfied with the measures taken, his voice was drowned by shouts of mockery from the interpellators.

BOLD ROBBERY IN TORONTO STREET

Man Was Knocked Down and Robbed of $28 in Broad Daylight.

THIEF CAUGHT LATER.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press).—As Earl Phoenix was walking on Teraulay Street yesterday afternoon he was struck in the face and knocked down by a man, who then searched his pockets, taking $28. The robbery took place in broad daylight. Last night Gus Winsky was arrested on a charge of robbery. Winsky is alleged to be the man who robbed Phoenix.

She Was Troubled With Chronic Constipation

Once your bowels become constipated you are in for a lot of trouble, as constipation is one of the most prolific sources of disease that the human race is addicted to, therefore a free motion of the bowels every day should be the aim of everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Mrs. O. W. Lawrence, Cloverdale East, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with chronic constipation, and became so bad I was almost afraid to eat anything.

One day I saw your advertisement of

Milburn's LAXA-LIVER PILLS

so I got three vials, and after taking them I have never been troubled since with constipation."

PRINCIPAL HUTTON GAVE ABLE ADDRESS

Spoke on "Things in General" and Offered Food For Thought.

MARMORA, Nov. 10. — "Things in general," a subject providing a great range of thought, was in scholarly style handled by Principal Hutton of University College, Toronto, at the Town Hall, Marmora, on the evening of November 6th. Rev. P. Craiger-Watson was chairman, Principal Hutton is spoken of as being one of the greatest living Greek scholars. The lecture, which was not deservedly patronized, was the third of this season's University Course.

Preceding its delivery medals won by students of the Marmora Continuation School at the last examination, were presented to them by the lecturer. Following is the prize list:

2nd Form: 1st prize, silver medal, Gladys Williams; 2nd prize, silver medal, Mary Murphy.

3rd Form: 1st prize, gold medal, Hazel Williams; 2nd prize, silver medal, Hilda Thomson.

The gold medal given for highest marks in departmental exams, was awarded to Barbara Emmorey.

Opening his subject, Principal Hutton declared that one of the greatest maladies of the present age was "platfomitis." This infection makes those who catch it, want to be always on the platform. Personally he did not think he was suffering from it. The lecturer than gave a reading from "You change at Clapham Junction," an article appearing in Blackwood's Magazine, from the pen of Evelyn Buxton. Continuing, he remarked that people would be happier if they read and thought more than they are by attending meetings. He eulogized Dickens as one who had given more delight by his wriitngs than he could have by platform speaking. His character was not equal to his genius. "Character is largely made by ourselves and at its best is not after the nature of genius. "Genius is born—not made." Principal Hutton then told of great readers in France, who went to the libraries to read whilst the revolution was on, and were obilvious of the great crisis in their nation's life. He proceeded: "There are people who serve the world without meddling in politics or serving in public life. This age is one of publicity, propaganda and social service. Life has to be spent in the open. Every card has to be placed on the table.

Newspapers Criticized.

Many people read nothing but the newspapers. Principal Hutton then criticized newspaper methods of today, remarking that looking back over 50 years of newspaper reading, he found every sort of newspaper today so much more yellow than 50 years ago. Proceeding the lecturer drew attention to the human craving to hear of heroes, heroines, and heroism. A seeming deficiency of real heroes and heroines is made up by the supply of counterfeit ones, in the persons of screen or baseball celebrities. The lecturer further remarked how this age had torn off the halo of Queen Victoria and many others.

Shelley Praised.

Shelley was not discrowned, for he never was crowned. Shelley was a lovable intellectual; he was a Christion distinguished as an athiest. A real hero or heroine is never itching for the limelight. Another reason why heroes are hard to discover is this. In the old days of illiteracy, peasants and laborers of England, and elsewhere, having no frills, or graces of speech, dress, manner or knowledge, admired the upper classes, whom they called "the quality," and at the same time, spoke of themselves as the masses. Now every one is equally educated—and washed. There is no quality left that is easily distinguishable. People are afraid of being queer or eccentric. There are duchesses to-day only distinguishable in that they are badly dressed. The House of Lords is the worst dressed assembly in England. They can afford not to care what others think of their dress. This age is very doubtful about principle. People tell you in sober earnest that they are only honest because honest is the best policy. Honesty is not the best policy for anyone. It is only the best in the long run for a nation. Even in this age when medical men can prolong our lives after they have ceased to be useful, honesty is not the best policy. He would remind his young hearers that despite the O.T.A. they were that night drunk and intoxicated. They were drunk with the wine of health and strength. It had got to their heads and would stay there till youth ceased. Addressing them he said: "Put sobriety into youth, that youth may be carried into old age."

Mark Twain's Dictum.

Mark Twain had said: "Every man after 40 is a pessimist or a fool." He (the lecturer) would add "unless he is a man of principle." "The man of principle," he continued, "does not take life or himself too seriously for he regards life only as a beginning. The prediction of a wholesale departure of human beings from this world was incredible while there are so many eyoung people in the world. Science might bring it about without consulting anyone.

Principal Hutton's concluding remarks dealt with the impossibility and undesirability of the elixir of life and the sacramental side of married life. Miss Marion Shannon, was again the pianist for the evening.

On a recent Sunday a party of Colorado miners drove forty miles to attend a church service in Denver.

REV. C. W. BARRETT SPOKE AT LAKEFIELD

Former Pastor Was Special Preacher at Anniversary Services.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 11.—The special preacher at the anniversary services of the Regent Street Church was Rev. C. W. Barrett, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, of Stirling, formerly pastor of the Lakefield Methodist Church. Mr. Barrett was welcomed back to the village by many old friends who have pleasant memories of his residence here.

Both services were well attended, the evening congregation being augmented by the members of the Baptist and United (Presbyterian) Churches, who waived their evening service according to custom. The choir rendered special music appropriate to the Thanksgiving season at both services. Mrs. Millage sang a solo at the evening service.

Rev. Mr. Barrett took his text in the evening from the 11th chapter of the Book of Judges, 30th verse, to the end which recounts the story of Jephthal, one of the tragic incidents of the Old Testament.

The tragedy of sin is the worst of all tragedies, but Jephthal is not looked on as a flagrant sinner but one of the crude but genuine saints. There is sometimes a conspiracy of events which make the innocent suffer with the guilty and hems them in as fish in a net so that they are not responsible for the acts performed. There are those who blunder, offering valuable sacrifices to false ideals, or vice versa, and Jephthal was one of these. There are many useful lessons in his life, and in spite of his crudeness the beauty of his soul stands out prominently. It is better to be a martyr by a blunder than to be a worldly wise self-seeker, and some have faults better than the virtues of others. Jephthal came into the world under the cloud of illegitimacy, spurned by his brothers and buffeted by all, and at his father's death turned out penniless and homeless into the land of Tob, where he lived a sort of Robin Hood existence. His rough life developed courage and independence of spirit, and when the King of the Ammonites and his hordes menaced Israel, which possessed no leader, the elders of Israel sent for the despised Jephthal to lead them against their foe. Jephthal answered the call, and like Martin Luther (centuries later) he felt that victory depended on God, and in order to win God's favor he made a vow unto the Lord that if He would give him the victory that who or whatsoever should come to meet him from his house that he would offer as a burnt offering to God. In this vow is seen his blundering conception of God, thinking to win favor by bribery, but that was the theology of his day, and he cannot be blamed. God cannot be expected to change His plans for man, but man must change his plans for God.

The chief cause of the individual, national and social unrest today is a lack of knowledge of one-ness with God. Jephthal felt that no man could expect to achieve much without paying a good price, and while he was not eager to put his hand to the plough, he was prepared to plough the furrow to the very end. No experience comes to the human soul without sacrifice, and few people are so degraded that they love wrong more than right.

Some people say, "Charity begins at home, and we must look out for ourselves," but those who act so write their record in water, but the men who have made history have written their decisions in blood, and there can be no victory without hard fighting. The history of civilization shows that only by the sacrifice of lives has achievement been won.

Jephthal returned home and his beloved daughter, his only child, came dancing to meet him, eager to greet her father after his great victory over the Ammonites. "Think of the grief of Jephthal, the rough old Hebrew from the hills," said the speaker, "when he thinks of his vow made to God; the girl could easily have repudiated the whole thing, but she is a soldier's daughter and insists on her father carrying out his pledge. They reach the high peaks of Hebrew heroes in their loyalty to their country and their real love of God.

"The Christian and cross are closely allied, and we often wonder if the Christian makes the cross or the Creator. We know the cross is put in our pathway by God to bless rather than to hurt us. Jephthal blundered in his interpretation of sacrifice in thinking that death was the acceptable offering. St. Paul gives us the Christian viewpoint in urging that we present our bodies a living sacrifice. Jephthal did hideously wrong and nobly right. He did the best he could as it appealed to him, even though he blundered in the doing. Are we measuring up individually to this crude old Hebrew who was willing to give the best he had to be a sacrifice to God?"

Rev. P. L. Jull and Rev. W. H. Howard assisted with the service.

TORONTO MAN DIED ON HUNT

Body Was Found on Runway Near Eagle Lake.

HEART FAILURE.

LINDSAY, Nov. 11.—(Special).—The first hunting tragedy from the Haliburton highlands was recorded on Tuesday when Richards Waterworth, a building contractor of Toronto, and a member of the Roberts hunting party of Haliburton, was found dead on the runway at Eagle Lake.

The party started out early on Wednesday morning in quest of deer, leaving Waterworth on the runway. On the return of some of the hunters they found him lying in the snow. An attempt was made to resuscitate him but without success. Waterworth, who was in his sixty-eighth year, is survived by a family. His body passed through Lindsay this morning for Toronto. Heart failure is supposed to be the cause of his death.

IN CANADA.

OTTAWA, Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—Canada paused to-day to honor the memory of those who fell in the Great War. For two minutes, at 11 o'clock this morning, the wheels of commerce and industry were stilled while the Dominion joined with the rest of the British Empire in tribute to those who gave all they had to the Allied cause. The two-minute silence was suggested by the King and has become a permanent part of Armistice Day observance.

TORONTO'S MONUMENT.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press).—"To the glorious dead"—this city's official monument to the memory of its sons who fell in the Great war, was unveiled by Lord Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of Canada, with appropriate ceremonies at noon to-day. Two minutes' silence was generally observed at 11 o'clock, but the proceedings at the Cenotaph did not open until five minutes to twelve.

PARIS EN FETE.

PARIS, Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—All Paris stood still for one minute at 11 o'clock this morning in commemoration of the armistice and in remembrance of those who fell in the Great War.

The city was awakened early this morning by street bands playing the same martial airs to which the French troops marched away in August, 1914.

The chief ceremony of the day centred about the tomb of the unknown poilu under the Arc de Triomphe. The flags of 250 regiments, demobilized since the war, were paraded from the Invalides, up Champs Elysees, through the Arch, escorted by detachments from all services of the Paris garrison.

Coolidge Leads U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press). — Two minute silence, solemn in its tribute to those who paid, the supreme sacrifice, and marking the cessation of hostilities in the Great War, was observed at 11 o'clock throughout the United States as the seventh anniversary of the signing of the armistice was celebrated to-day.

Leading the nation in its tribute to those who fell in the struggle, President Coolidge drew his cabinet ministers about him and went to Arlington National Cemetery where a wreath was laid on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Palm & Olive Oil VEGOL SOAP (Vegetable Oil)

Newest and Most Wonderful all purpose Toilet Soap

The Vegol Chemist

"A Skin that Stays Youthful for Everyone, with Vegol"

I tell you in all frankness that you could not buy a more delightful Toilet Soap than Vegol. It was the ideal of my employers for many years to produce a toilet soap naturally and fragrantly pure, that would help everyone to have the beauty of a skin that stays youthful. The largest staff of expert soap chemists in the world have been at work on its formula, now at last completed. It calls for the finest ingredients—all the products of Nature.

Vegol is made by a new and more economical process, from palm oil, cocoanut oil and olive oil, the richest soap materials known. So improved is this process over old methods that Vegol can be sold for from 3c. to 18c. per cake less than other toilet soaps. Yet Vegol is one third larger than the ordinary 10c. to to 25c. toilet soap. No animal fats, nothing cheap or irritating to even a baby's skin finds a place in Vegol.

Vegol is packed very simply—just two big cakes in a plain cardboard box. Nothing fancy about the package, in fact, every non-essential that would add cost to you has been stripped from it, but every last fraction of goodness has been crowded into the soap itself. You want that.

For 15 cents you get TWO big cakes, each a third larger than the ordinary 10c. to 25c. toilet soap. Vegol will give your skin the beauty of cleanliness just as surely as though it sold for twice as much. Its lather is quick and refreshing. Its odour is redolent of garden and orchard. Let the whole family enjoy Vegol to-day.

Tremendous One Cent Sale

THURSDAY, FRIDAY & SATURDAY ONLY

Once more Mother Nature shows that she has everything in her possession that man needs for his comfort and well being. Sometimes her secrets are deeply hidden. Man wrests them from her slowly and with great effort.

WE are determined that every family in this district shall have an opportunity to enjoy Vegol, and we are willing to contribute something to ensure that result.

We therefore announce a remarkable "One Cent Sale," for three days only, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The regular price of Vegol, the new-process Palm and Olive Oil Soap, is 15c. for a carton containing two large cakes, each a third larger than the size you usually pay 10c. to 25c. for.

For three days only, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, we have authorized the dealers named in this announcement to sell you a carton for 15c. and for ONE CENT more your dealer will hand you another regular carton with the two generous size cakes.

Thus you get four cakes of Vegol regularly sold at 30c.—for only 16c. A big saving. Unquestionably, a real opportunity to make an abundant test of this purest and most economical of all home toilet soaps.

These are days when you must study economy, and Vegol is an economy soap at all times. With this 1c. super-economy offer you will be wise indeed to buy Vegol. Every atom of Vegol is pure, wholesome, free-lathering soap. It is made by a new toilet soap process. It is packaged economically, and is made by one of the largest soap firms in Canada, so it is offered at a new low price. Let everyone use it generously—for every soap purpose in every home.

WEDDING BELLS.

DORIE—McCORMICK.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on November 9th, at the Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, when Margaret Irene, only daughter of Mr. James McCormick, and the late Mrs. McCormick, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, to Herbert Joseph Dorie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dorie of Trent River, formerly of Peterboro.

The bride was charmingly attired in an ensemble suit of navy blue charmeen, with shoes and hat to match. She wore the gift of the groom, a fur choker, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Olive Sanders of Peterboro, acted as bridesmaid, and was dressed in a suit of navy tricotine, with yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. Donald McCormick, the bride's brother, supported the groom.

A dainty wedding dinner was served to some thirty guests, at the bride's home.

The young couple were the recipients of many handsome and useful gifts and amidst showers of congratulations and good wishes from their many friends they left for Peterboro, where they will reside in future.

SANE HALLOWE'EN WAS WOMEN'S AIM

Council at Edmonton Assists Girls To Gain Positions They Desire.

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press). — The Local Council of Women put on this year a campaign for celebrating Hallowe'en in a saner way. The convenor of "professions and employment for women" reported that a large number of girls who had taken business courses or qualified for office work were unable to get positions. These girls had been urged to accept positions in the homes, to tide them over, but this they were unwilling to do. One girl gave as her reason for refusal that she had passed grade eleven in a country high school, had come to town to work her way through her business course. She had secured a position in a home with the understanding that she would have two nights for classes, and two hours each of the other days of the week for study. According to this girl, she had been expected to work long hours, and when she put forth her request for the two hours for study, was told that she might if she wished, get up at five o'clock in the morning and study for two hours before her routine day commenced at seven a.m. This case, Mrs. Lewis said, was of course exceptional, but it gave some idea as to why some girls prefer accepting undesirable employment rather than doing housework.

Mr. Stop-and-Stab, the young Great Blue Heron, was probably on his way South for the winter when he descended in the town where Ruth and Ruby, the twins, and their little brother Tommy lived.

It is just possible that this awkward and long legged young fellow had been one of a family to be a little late in hatching, and if so, it would explain how he came to be up on a town veranda of a Sunday morning, looking for food.

You know, the Great Blue Heron is a big bird, and this young one was fully as tall as Tommy, even without stretching his long neck. Probably he was not very old and had been thrust upon his own resources with much less care than he would have had had he been hatched out sooner. Generally, by the time it is time to migrate the young birds know how to fly strongly and find food, but sometimes when they are hatched out late they hardly have time to grow feathers before it is time to go. Maybe young Mr. Stop-and-Stab was one of these.

At any rate, he was ugly, clumsy, hungry and weak and entirely out of place.

Little Tommy knew what young hunger is, and that his father's remarks about the bird needing fish was what caused him to feed the bird the bowl full of goldfish.

Great ideas run in company, or trains of thought. Also foolish ones! And so, Tommy fed the bird the goldfish, which made his father think of the animal and bird store where gold fish were sold. That led to the idea of catching the bird and giving it into the hands of the bird store man. Sort of a combination of trouble and broken laws, for it is against the law to capture or harm the Great Blue Heron.

Well, young Mr. Stop-and-Stab was too weak to stab at his captor, so he landed down town in one of the swanky bird animal and goldfish stores. They let him out in the front of the store. He gobbled up every live frog in the turtle pond. He ate several little turtles. About two dozen goldfish went the same way before they let him fly away, with a full stomach and new strength. He may have been awkward, but he knew good food.

Had Rheumatism and Bilious Spells

Mrs. Flora Prescott, North Hatley, Que., writes:—

"I was troubled with rheumatism, bilious attacks and headaches for over five years, and when in bed could not raise up without help. I tried almost every medicine I could think of, but did not get much relief until finally I decided to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, through a friend's advice. They completely restored me, and the old symptoms from which I had suffered so long entirely disappeared."

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A BEAUTIFUL AFTERNOON GOWN

Last Saturday morning Madame ent for Veronica and me.

We went to her office, wondering what could be the matter.

"Don't be alarmed, girls," she reassured us as we entered. "I only want to offer you some matinee tickets. Don't tell me you can't go, because I hope you'll be able to use them."

"I have nothing to keep me away," Veronica assured her. And I was of the same mind, so we gladly accepted.

"I want you particularly to go in my place," Madame told us.

"Oh, is it the new play you did the clothes for?" I asked.

"It is," Madame answered. "The opening was last night and I couldn't go then, either, so I want you to be my special representatives and tell me how everything is."

Veronica and I lfet the shop together. Since Summer is over, the place is open Saturday afternoons, but the manikins take alternating Saturday afternoons off, as there are never many clients then.

We lunched at a little place near the theatre district, and soon found ourselves seated in very excellent seats before the curtain.

We were a bit early and enjoyed watching the audience come in. There were many attractive young girls with their college beaux, and most of them had on smart little frocks for tea-dancing afterward, I'm sure.

After the curtain went up we were oblivious to all round us. The play was good and the clothes in it were bewitching. Madame had done her utmost in things for morning, afternoon and evening. There were sports frocks, evening wraps and tea-gswns.

Our vote went, however, to the afternoon frock I am reproducing here in my drawing.

It was made of very heavy white satin and very soft, shimmering back velvet. The skirt was slightly fulled all the way around and there was a sash of the velvet.

The most stunning part was seen in the appliques of big black velver flowers that were scattered up ovet the white satin blouse of the frock. There was a cunning high collar and a slit with a line of satin-covered buttons at the neck.

The dress made a great hit, for I heard several women who sat near us admiring it audibly.

Black Velvet and White Satin Are Combined in This Effective Frock.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12.

Although this day may develop fairly active conditions, yet there may be anxieties and difficulties as well as disappointments and setbacks. Those in the employment of others may encounter annoyances and are warned not to offend those in authority. A similar inharmonious or anxious state of affairs may also be experienced in personal, social and domestic affairs. Love affairs may develop friction.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of friction and obstacles to progress. If in employment they should be careful not to offend, and if in business unusual care will be necessary to keep things together. A similar unhappy condition may be felt in all manner of personal affairs. A child born on this day is likely to be careless and fond of pleasure and may find it difficult to get along.

PLAN LANDSCAPE COLLEGE COURSE

Miss S. M. Bond on Staff of Alma at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Nov. 11 (By Canadian Press)—A new departure was made recently by the faculty of Alma College, when they secured Miss S. M. Bond, landscape architect of Stanstead, Quebec, to become a member of the college staff for one month for the purpose of planning the college grounds and ravine, according to approved landscape gardening ideas. Miss Bond will also teach the pupils at the college the correct methods of arranging flowers indoors and out, and the decoration of grounds, and may also give a series of extension lectures on these interesting topics while in St. Thomas. Alma College is one of the first institutions in Western Ontario to introduce such a course into the yearly curriculum. The principal, Dr. P. S. Dobson, feels highly grateful in securing Miss Bond, one of the few women in Canada in this profession, to take charge of the department. Miss Bond is a graduate of an English university and had valuable practical experience at Stanstead, where her work is said to be outstanding for its delightful flower combination and the originality of the plans.

Her Youth Served Her Ill; Teacher Was Made Line Up

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—The old joke of the teacher being scarcely distinguishable from her pupils has gained a new lease of life here through an incident which happened lately in one of the large public schools of the city. A monitor supplying for a lady teacher who was sick was leading her class to the school-room when she was spied by another teacher. The youthful appearance and dress of the monitor led the teacher to jump to the conclusion that she was one of the girls in the class walking out of line, and she gently but firmly made her get into line. Perhaps the monitor thought it was a new regulation; perhaps she entered into the joke. Anyway she obediently and demurely walked in line with the other pupils in the senior class.

The past year has seen a 50 per cent increase in the number of trolley companies operating motor coaches.

I.O.D.E. EXPANDS IN SIZE AND WORK

National Organizing Secretary Congratulates Alberta Chapter on Usefulness.

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press). — The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire in Canada is expanding, according to the national organizing secretary, Mrs. R. H. Brotherhood, of Elkhorn, Man., who addressed the Provincial Chapter in session. She pointed out that the Order had a special responsibility in strengthening the ties with the Mother Country and in counteracting communism and the soviet propaganda which is at work in Canada. She congratulated the Alberta chapter on their splendid child welfare work. In future nine students will be sent overseas by the I.O.D.E. instead of five, with a view to enriching Canadian life and education. It was felt that these students should return to work in Canada.

In reporting on national war memorial and educational work Mrs. W. D. Spence quoted to the effect that $35,523 for the war memorial had been raised during the past year by the various provinces, and $487,420 altogether. There is at present a balance of $390,000 and it is hoped that the required amount will be raised this year. Speaking of the memorial pictures, Mrs. Spence expressed the opinion that the criticism so often offered that these pictures inspire war-like tendencies in children, was unfounded, as the desolation of the war scenes depicted had quite the opposite effect.

Women Stay

dainty, immaculate now under their most trying hygienic handicap

OLD-TIME sanitary pads kept women in a state of embarrassment almost one-sixth of their time.

Now wear gayest, sheerest frocks; dine, dance, motor for hours, any time, any day, without a second thought.

"KOTEX" is a new and remarkable way . . . five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Absorbs and deodorizes at the same time. Thus ending ALL fear of offending.

You discard it as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You get it for a few cents at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." Women ask for it without hesitancy.

Try Kotex. Comes 12 in a package. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.

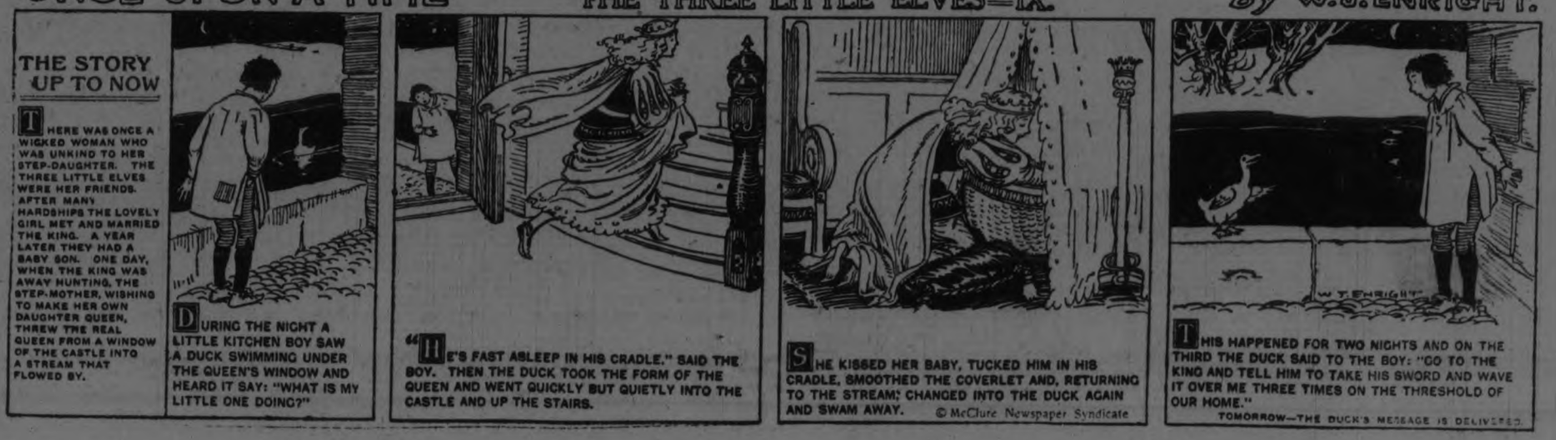
ONCE UPON A TIME — THE THREE LITTLE ELVES—IX. — by W. J. ENRIGHT.



HAMILTON GAME AT OTTAWA ON SATURDAY BIG RUGBY FEATURE

Victory For Senators Means Championship of the Big Four.

LEADING LEAGUE.

The Interprovincial Union senior race is still is doubt, but all the edge rests with Ottawa. Saturday up at Hamilton the Senators held the Tigers to a two-all tie, which gave each club one point each. And now only one game remains and that will be played in Ottawa next Saturday with Tigers as the visitors. Ottawa now have a total of seven points with three victories and one tie. Tigers, their closest rivals, have a total of five points with two victories and one tie. It will be seen, therefore, that Ottawa can still lose next Saturday at home and do nothing worse than finish in a deadlock with Tigers. As Montreal and Argos finished up their schedule on Saturday at Varsity Stadium, with Montreal winning 5 to 1, the Big Four record now reads:

	W.	L.	T.	F.	A.	P
Ottawa..	3	1	1	40	21	7
Montreal.	3	3	0	27	43	6
Hamilton.	2	2	1	35	34	5
Argonauts	2	4	0	39	43	4

It will be seen from the above that Montreal have every chance of finishing in second place, while Argonauts have no chance to get out of the cellar.

Tigers looked to have last Saturday's game in their grasp right near the finish, with a one point lead, but Ottawa rose to the occasion, carried the ball from near their own goal to within striking distance, and then Tubman kicked for the tieing point. The game, like the one in Toronto, was played on a mud-covered field, but despite this, there was some clever play on both sides. Tubman's kicking and all round work was the outstanding feature, and it was he who really enabled Ottawa to make it a tie. Languay was given a chance on the Tiger backfield and made good.

SIKI'S APPLICATION.

Colored French Boxer Was Ordered Deported.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—Louis Phal, better known as "Battling Siki," conqueror of Georges Carpentier, the French light heavyweight, appeared yesterday at the Naturalization Bureau in the Federal Building and made application for his first citizenship papers.

Siki was ordered deported within seven days last August but on direction of the Secretary of Labor was permitted to extend his visit in this country until next February. Last August he was forbidden to visit Canada by the immigration authorities there who said he was looked upon as an undesirable alien.

BOXER OVERSLEPT.

"Black Bill" Was Late For Bout.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—Black Bill will get a suspension of thirty days in which "to take a good nap" the next time he oversleeps on the eve of a bout here.

The Cuban flyweight boxer was so informed yesterday by Chairman Farley of the State Athletic Commission after being reprimanded for his late appearance at the Commonwealth Sporting Club last Saturday night to box Jimmy Russo. Club officials were obliged to send a taxi for Black Bill, who explained he had overslept.

COLLEGE RUGBY ENDS SATURDAY

McGill Resumes Practices To-day For Game in Toronto.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (Canadian Press).—Senior football passed out of the picture Tuesday in Montreal. The McGill first string squad rested up after their hard two bames at the week-end, but will resume practice today in preparation for their final game of the season against Varsity at Toronto Saturday. Montreal, the local Big Four Squad, will start in again Thursday, having agree to play Queen's an exhibition game at Kingston this week-end.

Yesterday the local Intermediate squads, still in the running for titles occupied the spotlight. Frank Shaughnessy spent the afternoon brushing up the McGill Seconds, who have difinitely arranged to meet the Queen's Intermediates in the Intercollegiate play-downs on Friday at Kingston. This is the first year for some time that McGill has been in the running with a second squad. While the team has lost good material recently to the Senior squad and is thus probably not as strong as in its first games this year, it is yet well fortified, particularly on the backfield, where Curly Taylor, who starred for the Seniors against Montreal Monday; Gratham Corrie, Tommy Arnold and Bill Grassick will perform under the direction of Quarterback Bazin. Munro will fill th gap at snapback caused by the shifting of Coroner Bright to the first squad. On the line the Red and White will have Chisholm and Boyd Millan at outsides; Pugh and O'Heara at middles, and Carson and Mellen at insides, Willie Consiglio a fast, heavy-tackling footballer has joined the team and will be used in the game. Consiglio up till recently was starring on the University track team; Tucker, who was injured in the game against Montreal, will be available Friday, it having developed that no ribs were broken as at first thought.

When the McGill senders start their final week of training today. The entire squad will be out in good shape, with the exception of Walsh, whose legs have been badly battered in recent games. Otherwise the team is clear of serious injuries, with the exception, of course, of Eddie Hanna, who is still confined to hospital following his crash with Warren Snyder in the Varsity game. Hanna is reported as progressing most favorably, though he will not be around for a week or so!

SENATORS ALL FIT FOR TIGERS

Will Take No Chances Against Hamilton Next Saturday.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—Under ideal weather conditions, Ottawa Senators reeled off a smart practice at Lansdowne Park yesterday. The workout lasted well over two hours and the men were whipped along at top speed for the better part of the time.

The team is in great shape, having come through the game in Hamilton with no serious casualties. Those who were banged around a bit have had the soreness rubbed out and are again ready for hard work. The equipment was in such a terrible condition following Saturday's mud bath in Hamilton that much of it may have to be discarded. The uniforms were simply soaked, and the process of drying and cleaning them thoroughly will take another day or so.

No hopes are being entertained of any sort of a soft game here against the Tigers. The linemen are hard at work remedying faults that stood out in Tigertown and with any kind of a solid field, it may be a different tale when the front ranks lock horns here.

Ottawas had figured Tigers' strength on the backfield and they were not far out in their calculations. Gibb, Quinn, Walker and Languay all gave them heaps of trouble and a dry field will be a decided assistance to any one of the four. The Tiger middles, Baker and Elford, played smashing games in Hamilton, but hopes are held locally that their excursions will be curtailed here.

Tubman again showed his value to the Senators by his wonderful game and it is certain that Tigers will endeavor to keep the game away from him as much as possible. With the captain going in his best form, the locals have a slight edge, as he outkicked the Tiger half line last week, with the exception of Quinn, who laced out a couple of punts that made more than normal distance.

ENGAGED AS COACH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—Jewel Ens, utility infielder of the Pittsburgh Nationals, was released unconditionally as a player yesterday and then signed as a Pirate coach for next year. It was explained that the action will result in little change in Ens' duties but will provide room for an additional player.

Florida's first interurban railway has been chartered to operate a 52-mile line between Tampa and St. Petersburg.

MARANVILLE TO BROOKLYN CLUB

Robins Secure Services of Erstwhile Manager of Cubs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—Walter J. Maranville, the Rabbit himself will wear the uniform of the Brooklyn Robins next season. Fred Hanlon, Secretary of the Robins, announced yesterday that the former Boston, Pittsburgh and Chicago infielder had been secured via the waiver route, which all goes to show that all comes to him who waits. For several years the Robins have been after the Rabbit and, at various times, it has been reported that the club had offered almost fabulous sums for his services. After the many unsuccessful attempts the Robins now obtain him for comparatively nothing.

In addition to Maranville the Robins also have obtained the services of Bill Marriott, the Braves' third baseman, it was announced at the same time. Mariott is something of a new comer to the National League and had few chances last season to distinguish himself, but evidently President-Manager Wilbert Robinson considers him a good investment. He also was obtained for the waiver price.

The coming of Maranville and Marriott to the Robins is further indication that Robbie intends to reconstruct his infield for the 1926 season. Jimmy Johnston, who filled in at every position in the inner defense during the past campaign, has been turned loose to the Braves. Ford was crippled most of last season, Johnny Mitchell didn't live up to expectations and Cotton Tierney had a bad year.

Maranville can play either at shortstop or second base and, although he has had somewhat of a checkered career around the circuit Uncle Robbie still considers him a valuable asset. The Rabbit was a brilliant infielder with the Braves and for several years he was considered one of the finest shortstops in the game. Later, when he was traded to Pittsburgh, he lost a great deal of his ability and last season he was turned over to the Cubs in the trade that sent Vic Aldridge and George Grantham to the Pirates. The Rabbit was appointed manager of the Cubs in mid-season, but was relieved after a few weeks of campaigning. He was deposed during the Cubs' last trip to the East after an escapade or two in Boston, where he was found one afternoon selling newspapers in front of the Braves field when he was supposed to be getting into uniform to direct the Cubs through a game.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Cremulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL

LONDON, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press cable).—West Bromwich Albion yesterday completed the fixture with Bury, which was abandoned on account of squalls on September 19. In the abandoned game Bury was leading by two goals to one when the contest was called. In the replay Monday afternoon, the Albion were more fortunate and they stacked up four goals to nothing against the Lancashire club.

In the Southern Section of the Third Division, Charlton Athletic and Merthyr Town played to a scoreless draw.

West Ham yesterday defeated Arsenal in the final of the London Charity Cup at Homerton by a count of two to one.

In a contest for the benefit of the London Professional Charity Fund, Millwall and Chelsea drew two goals each.

Rugby Union Games resulted as follows:

Cambridge University 37, Edinburgh Academicals 0.

Oxford University, 6; Newport 15.

ROMANCE OF ENGINEERING FEAT RECALLED IN BEATTY'S ADDRESS

Says C.P.R. Has Witnessed Great Progress in Last Forty Years.

COUNTRY HAS FUTURE

Employees Will Receive Book Containing History of Road Construction.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 11.—If anybody in this country or elsewhere is worrying about Canada's future, immediate or ultimate, they have only to look back at what Canada was forty years ago and reflect upon the progress that has been made in that short time. That is the best answer I know of to those who talk in pessimistic tones of what we may expect of Canada during the next four years.

This observation was made on Saturday by Mr. E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific on the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the driving of the last spike which made the completion of that road from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Forty years is a short time in the life of a nation, he said, and yet I think we may, as Canadians, look back with not unreasonable pride at what has been accomplished in that little while. If we could go so far in the face of the difficulties that confronted the men of those days, it is hard to foresee the limits to Canada's future progress if the Canadian people face their problems squarely and attack them with courage.

Hope For Future.

The men of forty years ago had vision enough to see what Canada might be made and the courage and determination to lay their hands on to that tremendous job. They drove it through in the face of almost overwhelming difficulty and they gave their lives to it. The problems confronting Canada are no more difficult than those of forty years ago and I do not believe that Canadians are less able to cope with them or will lack courageous wise leadership if their leaders be accorded the sympathetic encouragement that is their due.

The building of Canada thus far, said Mr. Beatty, has been a battling forward against great forces. The first landing of the gallant Frenchmen on the inhospitable shores of Quebec was something of a forlorn hope.

The carving of pioneer homes out of the wilderness of the Maritime Provinces and Ontario was a task calling for a courage no less unconquerable. The heritage these pioneers gave their children was a happy established home and an indomitable spirit that had to exist before the task of constructing the Canadian Pacific could be projected as a national and nation building enterprise.

The story of the building of the road, said Mr. Beatty, is an important page of Canadian history and one that may be read with justifiable pride by Canadians for all time. The men who led in its creation faced ruin not once... but several times but they and those who came forward to help won through and established the legend of Canadian Pacific reliability that has come to be an accepted fact the world over and has been recognized abroad as one tangible evidence of Canada's position as a nation.

Situation Improved.

Forty years ago Canada had about 5,000,000 people against today's possible 9,500,000. A more or less constant stream of immigrants have been attracted to her shores and in this work the Canadian Pacific has largely contributed, having spent over $70,000,000 of its own money in that direction. It is our earnest hope that this work will, as a result of the recently announced agreement with the Government be carried on with a greater measure of success than ever.

On November 7, 1885, Donald A. Smith, later Lord Strathcona, drove the last spike that completed the single line across the continent and since then the company's milege in Canada has grown to over 15,000 miles.

We have organized our ocean fleets and have raised our employment list to a number that varies in different seasons between eighty and a hundred thousand people and the company has become by far Canada's largest individual contributor in taxes to the country's exchequer. This we have done, as Canadians believing in Canada and her future, and our vision is to-day no less clear than that which animated the men who first set out to build this road. The anniversary was not being marked by any special ceremony but in order that it may not be forgotten, Mr. Beatty is sending out to a large number o employees, copies of R. G MacBeth's recently published book, "The Romance of the C. P. R." As he says, "a friendly remembrance from one railway man to another."

In that book Mr. MacBeth has given a vivid picture of that Novembermorning, when a few men watched Sir Donald Smith drive the last spike home. The rails met at Craigellachie in the Eagle Pass and in the group were Sir William Vanhorne, Sanford Fleming, Major Rogers, the finder of the Rogers Pass, Geo. R. Harris and James Ross and a crowd of the party men who had done the actual building.

As the blows that drove the last spike home ceased there was absolute silence. The few hundreds who had the privilege of being there seemed in a sense, stunned by the enormous significance of the event. Then someone gave a shout—perhaps it was that little "water boy," because it is like what a boy would do and then the mountains echoed with a perfect frenzy of cheering that continued for minutes, breaking out again and again.

Mr. Van Horne was called on by the crowd for a speech. Without changing his attitude and with his eyes still upon the junction of the rails, the great railroader said, simply and quietly, "All I can say is that the work has been well done in every way." It was a short speech, but it was a profound tribute to everybody who had taken part in this colossal enterprise.

The famous spike still exists. It was not a gold one as was once generally believed.

Money was too scarce with the men who built the road for any such waste and the steel spike is now a treasured relic in the office of the president.

A paper dollar in circulation has a life of from 6 to 10 months.

POPPY DAY SALES SHOWED INCREASE

Congratulations Were Extended to Ladies' Auxiliary of G.W.V.A.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 11.—Saturday was "Poppy Day" and was as usual the business of selling poppies was under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A., with mesdames Marling and Leonard in charge. Although the weather was very bad, rain falling in torrents all afternoon and evening, the bevy of bright young girls who tagged, maintained their cheerful demeanor and untiring zeal in their undertaking, and the financial returns totalled considerably more than last year. Mrs. Marling served tea during the afternoon, which was a very welcome interlude. At nine o'clock in the evening, Mrssrs. T. B. Marling and C. C. Stenner, representing the G.W.V.A. counted the money and Mr. Stenner thanked the girls for the work carried on so efficiently in spite of the unpleasant weather. Mrs. Marling, speaking for the Ladies' Auxiliary, commended the girls for the capable and courteous manner in which they worked and on the happy way they surmounted all the difficulties which they met.

The girls who tagged were: Misses Josephine Allen, Isabel White, Helen Porter, Dorothy Sutton, Helen Everett, Dell Watson, Grace Walsh, Marion Wagar and Merle Crawford.

Junior Mission Band.

The Junior Mission Band of the United (Presbyterian) Church gave a very successful entertainment in the schoo room of the church on Friday evening last and in attendance, programme and offering, it was by far the most successful the Band ever held. The special feature of the evening was a pageant by twelve girls—"Lotus San and the Mission School," which was admirably done and well deserving of special mention. The children were trained by Mrs. Jull and Miss Etta Garbutt.

The following is the programme:—

1. Prayer Song: "I Need Thee Every Hour"—Mission Band and audience.
2. Piano Duet—Mary and Donald Dever.
3. Welcome—Alice Charlton.
4. Song: "Giving"—Mary and Roger Davis.
5. Monologue—"As They Do in Japan"—Dorothy Sutton.
6. Chorus; "The Fields are All White," —Mission Band.
7. Recitation: "Little Children in Japan"—Fourteen members of the Mission Band.
8. Piano Solo: Phyllis Morrison.
9. Speech: Alex. Sutton.
10. Song: "Jesus Loves Me"—Cora Charlton; Madeline Charlton, Clare Connell, Jean Clarke and Ethel Lake.
11. Pageant: "Lotus San and the Mission School —Twelve girls (members of the Mission Band).
12. Story of Japan—Roger Davis.
13. Recitation—"Thanksgiving on the Farm —Ettiel Blakeley.
14. Song: "The World Children for Jesus —Phyllis Morrison, Mary Davis, Roger Davis and Charlie Tanner.
15. Recitation: "What Would You Do"—Viola Davis and Kenneth Jull.
16. Piano Duet: Dorothy Sutton and Mary Hendren.
17. Recitation: "The Missionary's Button Boots"—Reba Preston.
18. From Greenland's Icy Mountains: Mission Band and audience.
19. God Save the King.

Rev. P. L. Jull very acceptably filled the position of chairman for the evening, which was educational and at the same time extremely entertaining.

Veterans' Parade.

A parade of the Great War Veterans took place on Sunday evening to St. John's Church, where Rev. W. Cox delivered a forceful sermon on the "Slothful Hunter."

A short service on Wednesday morning will be held in St. John's church at 10.30, terminating with the two minutes silence at 11 o'clock. This service is intended to commemorate the anniversary of Armistice Day and its purpose to honor the glorious dead, to pay a loyal tribute to king and country, for which thousands cheerfully yielded their lives and in honoring them we honor ourselves.

Complete Fire Alarm Connections.

The fire alarm connections have been completed with stations at the Telephone Exchange and at the Memoria Hall. In case of fire a call to central, giving the location of the fire will mean that the alarm will be promptly turned in and the Brigade called out. The second station is on the pillar, between the doors of the Fire Hall and can be operated from there. It is not necessary to use the siren for a chimney fire, but call up central, who will promptly notify the brigade.

Each day at twelve o'clock (noon) the siren will sound one long blast. All other alarms will mean fire. This will be a great asset to the village and should be a time-saver for the brigade. The bell of St. John's church, formerly used by courtesy of the Rector and wardens of the church, was two blocks from the fire hall, a fact much criticized by the inspectors when visiting the village. The present siren system is up-to-date, and with the efficient volunteer fire brigade, which, during the five years since its organization, has given many proofs of its value, and service to the community, Lakefield takes second place to no other village in Ontario in regard to its fire-fighting equipment.

The new Standard Bank Building now nearing completion, is going to be, an ornament to the village and also an up-to-date bank building. It is constructed of red brick and cement blocks and is fire proof throughout. The vault was put in last week and is built into the east wall. The exterior work is almost complete and the interior will be rushed through as quickly as possible.

A very successful dance was held in the Lakefield House on Monday (Thanksgiving night), a five piece orchestra being in attendance.

NO EPIDEMICS IN PETERBORO'

Dr. Young Says Colds Are Due to Flimsy Clothing of Girls.

ANIMALS PROTECTED.

While the weather has been conducive to attacks of disease, Peterboro has a remarkably clean sheet, said Dr. T. H. Young this morning. There is not a single case of any communicable disease, and in many instances where the presence of "flu" was suspected, it developed into bronchial trouble or some other form of throat ailment. A number of colds have visited many people, but Dr. Young finds that the gentler sex is afflicted to the greater degree. "Some of the younger girls persist," he said, "in going out this weather with their necks bare, their legs clad in the thinnest of silk, and their bodies wrapped in X-ray dresses. They need expect nothing less than a series of colds in this season of changing weather. Yet I suppose some of them wonder how it is that they suffer from sore throats. The laws of Nature, which demand—and provide, in the case of dumb brutes — adequate protection during the colder months, cannot be flouted with impunity."

MR. FAVERSHAM A GENUINE ARTIST

Visit of Famous Actor To Peterboro Regarded as Outstanding Event.

The appearance at the Grand tomorrow night of Mr. William Faversham is one of the outstanding events of the theatrical season. Mr. Faversham occupies a unique place in the stage world, his portrayal of many famous roles causing him to be recognized as pre-eminent in his field. He is a genuine artist about whom it is almost impossible to be too enthusiastic and in "Foot-Loose," the comedy of intrigue which is the vehicle in which Peterborough people will see him to-morrow night, he has one of the finest parts in his career, so that local playgoers who remember his find work in "The Fawn," may look forward to an even more enjoyable treat.

Many out-of-town lovers of the best in the stage line are coming to Peterborough to see Mr. Faversham and it is expected that one of the largest audiences of the season will be in attendance.

In "Foot-Loose," he is supported by a very fine company, and the whole production will be memorable from every viewpoint.

INSIDE GOLF.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans
By CHESTER HORTON

When you see an expert golfer swing a club in practice you always hear a zizz-zizz-zizz at the point where the clubhead would meet the ball. The inexpert player swinging will hear his shaft make a long whirr as it comes down. There is a lot of difference between the prolonged whirr and the clear, crispy, sharp zizz. The latter means that the wrists have snapped into the swing at exactly the right point—where the clubhead meets the ball. Such a golfer concentrates his whole effort, and controls his whole effort, to the end of accomplishing that clubhead maximum speed at the point where the clubhead takes the ball. And he gets it by swinging the clubhead—not by lunging in with his body. If you poise a club at the top of the back swing, then just let it fall, absolutely unaided, to a point near the bottom, then whip it, you will get the idea of what I mean.

IN POLICE COURT.

An incident, unique in the annals of the Peterborough Police Court, occurred this morning when a youth of 19 years appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley charged with contempt of court, for ignoring a summons in the case of Newhall vs. Leo Fontaine. In view of certain extenuating circumstances he was released on payment of a fine of $5.00 and costs.

V. J. McElderry appearing for the accused entered a plea of guilty and with the corroboration of a local man pointed out that there were certain phases of the case which should be taken into consideration. Mr. McElderry submitted that the youth did not understand the enormity of his offence and in addition to that had the attraction of a job in Detroit. His father did not know that a subpoena had been served at the time but when he did learn of it he immediately went to Detroit and brought his son home. An opology to the court was included in the representation made by Mr. McElderry.

In his address to the court, Magistrate O. A. Langley stated that while he duly considered the youth of the accused, he had no intention of over-looking the offence. In the future, he said, similar offences would be punishable by imprisonment.

HOUNDS TO STAY WITH HOME TOWN

Fast Soo Team Will Have a Roster of Twelve Men.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press)—It was finally arranged yesterday beyond all manner of doubt that the Greyhounds will remain with Soo this winter. The Hounds will have a roster this year of twelve men, some new and fast blood being injected into the team. Garnet Campbell, of last year's team, is playing with Duluth. It is expected that the schedule will give the Soo twelve home games.

MASQUERADE PARTY.

Members of Court Chemong and Friends Had Enjoyable Evening.

About seventy-five members of Court Chemong and their friends held a masquerade party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Chandler, Reid Street, on Friday last. The costumes were very good, representing different nationalities and clowns. The evening was spent in cards, games, singing and dancing, with dainty refreshments served by the ladies of the Court. The happy party broke up in the wee sma' hours of the morning.

FAMOUS HORSE TELLS STORY IN OWN WORDS IN NEW FOX PICTURE

The Regent Theatre has an exceptional picture on its screen this week —it is called "Kentucky Pride," and as the title indicates, it has to do with life down in the Blue Grass country, where abounds thoroughbreds, both equine and human.

Perhaps the most unusual phase of the story unfolded in this picture is its autobiographical aspect—a horse tells it in its own way, almost in its own words. Another innovation is, William Fox ,the producer, has gone to the trouble and expense to press into service as photoplayers such celebrities of the turf as Man o' War, Morvick, Negofol, Fair Play and the Finn.

For those who seldom or never participate in the stirring events of the race track world it will prove a real treat to see this grand and costly array of proud horse flesh in action before motion picture cameras. Especially diverting will it be for all since there is perfect continuity in a really interesting drama into which has been blended romance, comedy and tragedy.

Most of the acting burdens, so far as the humans are concerned, are borne by Henry B. Walthall, J. Farrell MacDonald and Gertrude Astor, although two juveniles, Peaches Jackson and Winston Miller, add much entertaining value to the combined performance.

"Kentucky Pride" is a picture which can be recommended safely for pleasure seekers of all ages and all stations of life.

AT THE ROYAL.

SEE NEW RECORD BY JACK PICKFORD FILM.

"Waking Up the Town" Called the Best Picture Star Ever Had!

A new attendance record will undoubtedly be established at the Royal Thursday, Friday and Saturday if "Waking Up the Town" holds its present popularity pace. According to critics, it is the best picture Jack Pickford has ever appeared in and one of the best pictures that has been turned out this season.

The novelty of this feature, along with its natural comedy and tremendous human appeal, gives it a unique place among photoplay offerings. As a boarding-school flapper who settles down into the staid ways of a sedate and appealing small town girl, Norma Shearer gives an excellent performance. "Waking Up the Town" will be at the Royal tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL AT ROYAL TO-MORROW — JACK HOXIE IN WESTERN WALLOP

Many cowboys famous for their daring horsemanship contribute spectacular rides in "The Western Wallop," Universal feature starring Jack Hoxie and scheduled to be shown on the screen in the Royal Theatre commencing to-morrow. In the supporting cast are much well known screen players as Margaret Landis, Duke R. Lee, Charles Brinley, William Welsh, Joseph Girard, Gordon Russell, Jack Pratt, Fred Burns and Herbert Fortier, under Clifford Smith direction.

TREAT IN STORE FOR MOVIE LOVERS.

Movie patrons have a treat in store for them on Monday at the Royal Theatre, where "Drusilla with a Million," Elizabeth Cooper's widely read novel, enjoys its first screen presentation here. Nothing so fresh, charming and generally inspiring has come out of Hollywood in months as this brilliant adaptation of an unusual and compelling story.

F. Harmon Weight, the director, Lois Zellner, who did the scenario from the popular Cooper book, and a splendid cast have combined to retain in all its pristine splendor the flavor of "something different." Mary Carr, Priscilla Bonner, Kenneth Harlan, Claire Du Bray and William Humphrey are the featured players. Those who saw Mrs. Carr in "Over the Hill" in which she made such a reputation will find that in the role of "Drusilla," a little old lady charity patient who suddenly is raised to affluence, she has a part that far transcends anything she has ever done. Miss Bonner and Kenneth Harlan make a splendid romance seem as vivid as a first kiss, and all the rest of the cast, including a score or so of babies, are excellent. In addition to beautiful pathos and comedy, "Drusilla with a Million" boasts of one of the biggest "punch" scenes within recent memory.

BONOMO IN THRILLER OF CIRCUS MYSTERIES.

An avalanche, which crashes through a house in which a desperate struggle is under way, and a wild elephant, running rampant among circus tents and wagons, smashing them down amid the screams of terrified spectators, are among the new thrills promised for the Royal Theatre in "The Great Circus Mystery," cyclonic Adventure Picture, the 1st episode of which opens to-morrow.

The avalanche sends a huge boulder down a cliff, smashing the building it strikes to splinters, and ending a desperate hand-to-hand conflict between Joe Bonomo, world's champion strong man, and Robert J. Graves, the character actor.

The elephant stampede furnishes a sensational climax for the episode, in which Bonomo and Louise Lorraine, noted screen beauty and leading lady, are featured.

An entire real circus supplies the background for the story.

AT THE GRAND

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM, A TRUE LOVER OF THE THEATRE

Despite High oPsition in the Theatre, He Has Never Desired to Shine att he Expense of a Play

William Faversham, who will appear in Zoe Akins' "Foot-Loose" at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night, Thursday, November 12, is not only one of the really great actors on the stage today, but he still remains the most generous among all the stars. He has triumphed both as a producer and an actor, and is a true lover of the theatre. He places the success of a play before everything, even his own part, and he is always willing to make any personal sacrifice to accomplish it.

"I have never been desirous of shining at the expense of a play," said Mr. Faversham recently. "On the contrary, I have always felt that it was better for me to make a pesonal sacrifice at the expense of my own part to insure the success of the production, and moreover, this has often been required of me."

Several seasons ago, Mr. Faversham took the poorest part in the cast of George Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married," that of the Bishop and made the play a memorable hit. Again in Mark Twain's "The Prince and the Pauper," he was content to act a secondary role, that of Miles Hendon, the soldier of fortune who befriends and rescues little King Edward VI and restores him to England's throne.

"The public and the critics understand this," he continued. "They would rather see a star play a secondary role in a successful play than see him act a star role in a failure, and I think that they feel a sense of gratitude when a star is willing to oblige in this respect.

As Sir Horace Welby in "Foot-Loose," Mr. Faversham is said to have a splendid role—that of a deliberate, dispassionate man of the world whose battle of wits with Stephanie de Mohrivart, a passionless and unscrupulous beauty of doubtful reputation, finally sends that scheming woman to her defeat —humiliated, broken and paralyzed with fear. Those who love fine acting will here find a character study worthy of their contemplation.

AT THE CAPITOL

FRANK LLOYD FILMS NEW MASTER DRAMA

"Winds of Chance" From Rex Beach's Novel, Is Due Here Soon.

Frank Lloyd, after years of consistently good picture making has come into his own as an independent producer for First National Pictures and his name on a motion picture is a certain assurance that that picture is of unusual calibre for Lloyd does things in a big way and has become a leader because of it.

Lloyd made "Black Oxen," one of the screen sensations of two years ago, after many directors said it could not be picturized. He filmed "The Sea Hawk," after other producers said it was too big for picturization. He filmed "The Silent Watcher" from a story of less than 10,000 words, "Ashes of Vengeance," "Oliver Twist," "Les Miserables," "Tale of Two Cities" and a score of other memorable big pictures have been directed by Lloyd.

"Winds of Change" he declares is his most active and most pretentious effort. It has presented productiou problems that not even the spectacular "Sea Hawk" rivalled. It is the second Rex Beach story Mr. Lloyd has filmed. He made "The Silver Horde" about five years ago.

Anna Q. Nilsson, Ben Lyon, Viola Dana and Victor McLaglen head a splendid cast in "Winds of Chance," which will be First National's offering at the Capitol theatre to-morrow. Beach has drawn a vivid picture of the Alaskan gold rush here.

POTATOES DOWN AS SCARE PAST

Quantities On Toronto Market Show Damage Not So Severe As Feared.

$2.50 ON TRACK.

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—Potatoes became much more plentiful on the wholesale market yesterday and the result was a 50 cent drop in prices. Potatoes which last week sold for $3.50 per bag may now be obtained for $3, and if taken on the track may be had for $2.50 per bag. The quantities now arriving on the market are evidence that damage from unusually early frosts this season was not as severe as at first anticipated and an easing off in prices has followed.

The retail price on farmers' market yesterday was $3.40 to $3.50 per bag.

MEXICO AN EL DORADO.

Wealth Yet Untouched Says Viscount Cowdray.

LONDON, Nov. 11. — (Canadian Press).—Viscount Cowdray gave a dinner last night in honor of Esmond Ovey on his appointment as Minister plenipotentiary to Mexico, and to celebrate the resumption of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Mexico. Many of those attending the dinner are closely identified with Mexican affairs.

Lord Cowdray in toasting the new Minister, characterized Mexico as "the Eldorado of the future, whose wealth has not yet been touched."

PETERBORO' MAN HOLD-UP VICTIM

Stanley Rootes Was Robbed of $10,000, Property of His Employers.

POLICEMAN SHOT.

Stanley Rootes, son of H. Rootes, 461 Chamberlain street, occupied a rather prominent place in the news in Detroit, over the week end. Mr. Rootes, who is paymaster for the Kleiner Cigar Company, of Detroit, had just stepped from an automobile in front of the company's plant when five men opened fire on him and the policeman who accompanied him.

The policeman was wounded and the bandits escaped with $10,000, which Rootes carried in a satchel.

It is thought that a girl in the office of the company tipped off the bandits to the time when the payroll was brought to the factory.

The car which the bandits used was found abandoned in another street late on Saturday afternoon. Five sawed-off shotguns were found in the car.

POPPY SALE WAS LESSENED BY POOR WEATHER

Veterans Realized Good Sum, However, on Saturday and Sunday.

TOTAL WAS $936.87.

After Cost of Flowers Was Met Substantial Profit Remained.

The financial results in Peterboro on Saturday in connection with Poppy Day were not as large as last year, due to the inclement weather that prevailed all afternoon. However, the results were very gratifying to those in charge of the arrangements.

That the men from Peterboro who died in the great struggle and those incapacitated there have not been forgotten by the citizens and the comrades who served with them was easily evinced by the number of poppies seen on the streets.

The total receipts for Poppy Day including the collection at the Opera House on Sunday were $936.87 made up as follows:

Most Toronto Stocks Sold At Lower Figures To-day

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press) — Practically the whole list on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning suffered declines of some extent despite Smelters strong closing. Consolidated Smelters, dominating the market in volume of transactions, was sold in the early trading to 147 1-2, three and a half points down, then recovered and was marked up to 152 1-2 at the morning close, a point and a half gain. Atlantic Sugar and Canadian Canners preferred each lost two points, British Columbia Fishing sold one and five eighths lower, and F. N. Burt a point lower. Winnipeg and Brazilian lost fractionally. Dome Mines strengthened 20 and McIntyre 15 however, and Imperial Bank was a half point stronger.

Most Mine Stocks Suffered Slight Price Drop To-day

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press).—With a good volume of trading taking place, most of the list sagged on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning. There were no large declines, however, and among the changes were a number of advances. Kirkland Lake, again leading, fluctuated from 86 to 90, closing at noon at 88, half a point lower. Beaver, the other leader, was sold down two and three-quarter points at 54¼. Mining Corporation and Castle Tretheway both eased two, while Nipissing strengthened eight, and Vipond was marked up two. Premier, two higher, and Teck Hughes, up five, were other firm spots.

Wall Street Stocks Stage Return From Drastic Fall

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—Stock prices staged a remarkable comeback today after yesterday's drastic decline in quoted values, despite the forced liquidation of impaired margin accounts on a resumption of bear selling in many issues in early trading, prices forged steadily upward, many issues recovering a substantial part of yesterday's five to 27 point losses. Easier money rates and assurance of bankers that fundamental business conditions were sound, helped to restore the speculative confidence. While powerful banking support was apparent at the opening, the commission houses also reported substantial selling by small traders and speculators who seemed to favor the oil, rail and other shares that have not participated extensively in the recent advance, Dupont which broke 27 points yesterday, rallied 14 points to 245 and General Motors, Pathe Exchange, Mack Truck and Hudson Motors moved 6 to 8 points with scores of others selling 2 to 5 points above last night's final figures. The rapidity of the advance led to a temporary cessation of short selling and a rather extensive short covering after mid-day.

GRIM EVIDENCE OF WAR FOUND IN FLANDER FIELDS

Farmers Find Bodies of Thousands of Soldiers Fallen in Conflict.

SEVEN IN DUGOUT

Seventy Thousand Dead of France Will Remain Mystery Forever.

By RALPH HEINZEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Nov. 11—(United Press). Seven years have passed since the Armistice was signed but the blood-stained soil of France still covers the mystery of thousands of soldiers carried on the rolls of the French Ministry of War as "missing in action."

A large part of the old battle zone has been reclaimed and the field upon which men fought for four years have been returned to crops. In the process, the farmers of France have covered thousands of miles of trenches, wound tens of thousands of miles of rusted and torn barbed wire, filled in shell craters and removed with care the unexploded engines of war which, unfortunately, only too frequently explode in the hands of these brave peasants and add more names to the death toll of the war.

These farmers have also succeeded in finding the bodies of thousands of French, American, British and Germans, who fell in conflict and were covered by a scattering of earth by their comrades or by an exploding shell or who, badly wounded, crawled by instinct into a copse where death overtook them and they remained hidden from the squads who searched the battlefields after each engagement.

Within the past few days, a farmer and his son set about cleaning out the underbrush in a wooden ravine on their farm along the road to Tracy-le-Mont, which the American troops travelled in the final months of the war. There under a tangled mass of weeds they found the remains of thirteen French and one German soldier. The identification of the German was made possible by his metal tag, but the naming of the French was impossible and only the peculiar manner in which their boots were soled enabled their identification as French.

In the Champagne sector, a farmer while plowing the thin soil passed over what appears to have been a filled-in trench. His plow point struck some timbers which he decided to remove. In doing so he opened to the light a small passageway. This he enlarged with the tools at hand and soon found himself in a tunnel leading to a bombproof dugout carved in the chalky soil.

There in that dugout, closed probably by an exploding shell which buried the entrance long before the trench was filled in, the farmer found seven bodies, two of them American and the others French. There was every evidence that the men had taken refuge there during a gas attack for the skulls were still encased in the bits of mask which remained.

Every week finds one or more names scratched from the lists of the various armies' "Missing in Action." There remain only several hundred Americans unaccounted for, but there will always be a list of twenty thousand French soldiers whose death is surrounded in mystery.

During the early days of the war when France was not organized for such a struggle, men fell and were buried by their comrades with no official reports of their deaths. These comrades went on to their own deaths and soon the Ministry of War found its rosters carrying names of thousands of men who no longer lived. These names form today the list of missing, but it is unlikely any further information will ever be found.

PETERBORO' BOY ELECTROCUTED

Harry Burkitt, Working For Bell Telephone Company at Port Perry.

HIGH TENSION WIRE.

OSHAWA, Ont., Nov. 11 (Canadian Press)—H. S. Burkitt, 20 year old employee of the Bell Telephone Co., whose home is in Peterborough, was instantly electrocuted when the cable he was pulling came in contact with a high tension wire of the Hydro Electric Commission at Port Perry, 14 miles north of Oshawa. Three fingers were burned off his right hand. He received 2200 volts. Coroner Dr. J. A. Matters decided an inquest was not necessary.

TAYOR STATTEN ADDRESSED BOYS

Secretary of Boys' Work Board Gave Inspirational Talk.

A meeting of the Trail Rangers and Tuxis Boys of the city was held last evening in the Reid street hall, when Taylor Statten of Toronto, Dominion Secretary of the Boys' Work Board, addressed the members. Candidates for the Provincial Boys' Parliament also gave short speeches and Mr. Thos. Dutton, returning officer for this city in the coming election to the Boys' Parliament, explained the methods of balloting.

Mr. Statten's talk was inspirational and very interesting. He spoke of the wide range of activities in boys' work and gave illustrations bringing home to his hearers a realization of their responsibilities in life, and the manner in which they may reach the attainment of their highest aspirations.

Two two candidates from Peterboro who have already been nominated to contest the election, Ted Outram, from George street church, and Adam Sands, from St. Paul's Church, gave some of their ideas on the work of the Boys' Parliament, and outlined what they would do if elected to office in it. It is hoped that the members of the Sunday School classes of the city will do everything in their power to support these candidates, by turning out and voting for either one.

Orville Martin acted as chairman of last night's meeting. He was the representative from Peterboro to the Boys' Parliament last year, while Trevor Miller acted in that capacity the year previous, which was the first year in which the Parliament functioned in the province.

During the evening, Mr. J. John gave several humorous readings, and a sing song was led by F. G. McNeely.

RETIREMENT OF PARTY LEADERS PROPOSED BY SENATOR DAVID AS BASIS OF POLITICAL COMPROMISE

Quotes Precedent of Cartier and Dorion in Pre-Confederation Days.

AVOID ELECTION.

Canada Needs United Support For Energetic National Policy.

MONTREAL, Nov. 12—(Canadian Press). — Citing the precedent of Cartier and Dorion, who in pre-Confederation days withdrew temporarily before Tache and Sicotte in order that the contending elements in Canada might become unified on the basis of a truly national policy, and applying this to the political situation of the present day with respect to both Mr. King and Mr. Meighen, Senator L. O. David, one of Canada's elder statesmen, continues his series of articles on "the political crisis" in the French-language newspaper, "La Patrie."

Senator David appreciates that this would involve a great sacrifice for both the Prime Minister and the leader of the Opposition, and he deprecates any suggestion of being disagreeable to Mr. King, but he intimates that if another election is to be avoided, this step should be taken. The aged Parliamentarian returns to his suggestion of a body comprising elements of all parties and develops the idea so as to embrace that of a national committee "having enough ability and patriotism to study the means of effecting an alliance and of giving to the country the energetic and truly national policy of which it stands so much in need."

Senator David says that his attitude in writing this series is one of detachment since he is very old, is on the eve of taking his departure from this world, has no personal interest to serve, and believes that he is in excellent position to judge best what might be of service to the country.

David's Proposal.

Senator David in his article says in part:

"The more I examine the present situation, the more I see the dangers that it holds, and I am not alone in fearing them, in being apprehensive over the results of another election that might be conducted under the same conditions and with the same leaders.

" 'In order that your project may be carried out, it would be necessary,' I have been told, 'for Messrs. King and Meighen to consent to efface themselves in order to give way to men who might not be superior to them. This would mean asking of them a spirit of sacrifice and an extraordinary devotion that their friends would not want to demand.

"I know that Mr. King has, in the Province of Quebec particularly, devoted partizans who do not wish to be disagreeable to him, and I share their sentiments in that respect. But this would not in the first instance in which eminent and esteemed men had effaced themselves temporarily in the interest of their country, so that the triumph of a great principle and of a national policy might be assured. Cartier in 1864, and Dorion in 1862, gave proof of it, the former in yielding first place to Sir Pascal Etienne Tache, the latter in eliminating himself before M. Sicotte.

"Unnecessary to say that public opinion took account of their generosity.

"Once more then, up to what point should Messrs. King and Meighen efface themselves?

To Effect Alliance.

"Where, I have been asked, can there be found men capable of giv-

British Prisoners To Lose Distinctive Broad Arrow

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(Canadian Press)—The road arrow, the distinctive badge of the inmates of penitentiaries in England, will be abolished from the prisoners' garb as soon as the present stock of cloth is used up. "We are trying to remove all unnecessary degradation from the prisoners," the Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, says in connection with this move.

ATTORNEY ASKS JURORS TO FIND BLAZER GUILTY

Daughter in Same Category as Imbeciles in State's Institutions.

TRIAL CONCLUDING.

Judge Refused to Direct the Jury to Acquit the Aged Father.

LITTLETON, Colo., Nov. 12.—(Canadian Press)—"Dr. Blazer has not only violated the laws of the State of Colorado but the laws of God."

In such fashion, prosecuting attorney Joel E. Stone late yesterday brought to a dramatic close his impassioned plea to the jury that must decide the fate of Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer, who is charged with murdering his 34-year-old daughter, Hazel, the "child-woman."

His final pleadings were begun shortly after Judge Samuel Johnson over-ruled a defense motion for a directed verdict, acquitting the defendant, and delivered his instructions to the jury.

"A being born of woman is regarded as human in the eyes of the law," Judge Johnson said in overruling the motion which contended that the slaying of Hazel Blazer was no crime because she was "not a reasonable being within the comprehension of the statutes of Colorado. The law is not concerned with metaphysical doctrines."

The jury must either convict Dr. Blazer of first degree murder or must acquit him, Judge Johnson instructed the body.

Demands Conviction.

For two hours and a half the prosecutor rendered his plea to influence the jury that the aged country physician was guilty of murder and should be sent to prison for life.

Dr. Blazer was keenly intent during the preliminary portion of the plea but towards the close of the state attorney's argument he became "bored." The jury became restless less during his plea.

Mrs. Frances Bishop, his daughter, who Saturday came to his defense with a dramatic appeal on the witness stand rested during most of the state's arguments, leaning her head on the back of her chair with eyes closed.

"The light of mortal fear was in the eyes of Hazel Blazer as she was laid on the bed in the Blazer home last February and murdered," Stone declared.

"Her father testified on the stand that his daughter seemed to recognize him and laughed when he returned from a visit, who, then can say that she did not have a mind? Who then can say that she did not cringe in fear when she was murdered without being able to open her lips and plead for her life?

What Of Others?

"I think there is no doubt in the minds of the jury that murder was done and that Dr. Blazer committed the act. You could just as easily go into Colorado State institutions and end the lives of 475 helpless imbeciles there and be absolved from all blame as to say that his act was not murder.

"I plead with you jurors to decide this case in an impartial manner. No matter what your verdict, I shall not criticize.

"Is your decision, men of the jury, to reflect compassion and sympathy, or your duty to the State? If you have compassion for this defendant, also have compassion for this helpless girl, who couldn't open her lips to say she wanted to live."

Threshing In Manitoba Will Finish This Week

WINNIPEG, Man., November 12. Canadian Press. — Less than ten per cent. of the threshing remains to be done in Manitoba, according to an announcement by the Provincial Department of Agriculture yesterday. With a continuance of the present fine weather the Department predicted that threshing would be finished by the end of the week. An especially fine yield of potatoes on the 29,000 acres seeded to that crop in the province, was reported.

FINANCIAL PLAN TO SUIT PARTIES FRENCH PUZZLE

Must Exclude Inflation For Coalition and Debt Consolidation For Gov.

PLAN SUBMITTED.

Coalition Has Submitted Its List of Requirements to Premier.

PARIS, Nov. 12. — (Canadian Press).—To devise a financial plan, at once excluding the inflation objected to by the Left coalition and the forced consolidation of France's debt, opposed by the Government, is the problem which is taxing the brains of Premier Painleve and the coalition leaders.

The latter have submitted to M. Painleve a list of requirements on which the coalition finally agreed last night after discussions throughout the day. The Premier declined to commit himself, but he promised to give careful consideration to the suggestions in question and repeated his previously asserted willingness to modify his financial bill in every possible way on condition that such modifications fall within the general scope of the measure.

Inner Coffin Of Tut's Tomb Is Most Beautiful Work Is Of Human Shape and Bears Picture Of Young King

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 12 (Canadian Press). — The inner coffin of Tutankamen's tomb tontaining the mummy has been removed from Pharaoh's tomb to that of Seti II nearby, for examination. The coffin, which is of human shape, with a painted face believed to represent the features of the young king himself, is one of the most beautiful pieces of work discovered by Egyptologists.

The mummy, however, was found to be adhering to the sarcophaghs owing to liquids poured over it in the ceremonies whereby Pharaoh was dedicated as a godus.

OFFICIALS SAY THAT PLOTTERS AGAINST LIFE OF MUSSOLINI HAD PLANS MADE FOR ARMED REVOLT

Fascist Papers Charge That Plot Was Hatched in France.

MASONS INVOLVED.

Socialist Deputy Zaniboni is Said To Have Attended Sessions.

ROME, Nov. 12. — (Canadian Press).—The men behind the plot to assassinate Premier Mussolini planned to launch an armed revolt, if successful, in removing the head of the Fascist regime, it was officially announced to-day by the investigating authorities. The Fascist newspapers continue to charge that the plot against Mussolini and similar projects were organized in France.

Il Temere prints extracts from a recent publication tending to show that "the Garibaldian legions of the Seine" were prepared for military action Nominally, it says, they were under the leadership of Colonel Ricciotti Garibaldi, but in reality they were controlled by the former Socialist deputy, Alceste de Ambris.

Domizo Torrigian, head of the Masonic Grand Orient of Italy, went to Paris purposely to participate in the organization and to supply funds the account says.

The French deputy, Moutet, leader of Free Masonry, also is alleged to have participated in the meetings, and some of the sessions were attended by Tito Zaniboni, now in prison as the alleged would-be assassin of Mussolini.

MAN THOUGHT TO BE CHAMBERS WARMED HIS HANDS OVER FIRE ON FARM NEAR FIRST BRIDGE

But No Definite Trace Has Yet Been Found of Road Taken.

POLICE BUSY.

Chief Newhall Thinks He May Be Subsisting on Raw Vegetables.

While no definite news has been received by police authorities concerning the whereabouts of Walter Chambers, who disappeared mysteriously on Saturday, a telephone message came in last night, which may lead to locating him within the next forty-eight hours. According to the communication, a man answering to the description given in The Examiner was seen near Stewart's Settlement. He was in a field and was warming his hands over a small fire. The farmer, thinking nothing of the incident at the time, went in his house and when he came out again the man was gone. Police are now making inquiries in that neighbourhood.

According to Chief Newhall, Mr. Chambers was found last year in the same district, and he believes that the missing man has attempted to return there. He evidently went down the highway and, took the wrong turn at the populars, because, instead of arriving at the vicinity of the second bridge where he was found before, the new of his possible presence comes from the first bridge.

"A man in his frame of mind just wanders on until he drops from exhaustion," said the Chief. "He would avoid houses and all human contact, sleeping in stables or sheds and feeding probably on turnips of which there are still many in the fields. Farmers need not fear to approach him, as he is very mildly dispositioned, and of an exceedingly decent and respectable character." The Chief urges that people who obtain any information should at once telephone or communicate with him as speedily as possible.

No word has been received from outside places. The police in Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Lindsay, Oshawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Campbellford, Cobourg, Hastings, and Norwood are on the lookout, but have heard no news of the missing man. The Provincial police have also been notified.

Walter Chambers is 38 years of age; 5 feet 5 inches in height, and weighs 120 pounds; he has dark hair, is of a dark complexion, and is clean shaven. The Chief thinks it unlikely that he would get on a train as he is of a retiring nature.

Naked Man Promenading Lachine Street Detained

MONTREAL, Nov. 12—(Canadian Press).—A man who gave his name as Arthur Walton was found by the Lachine police yesterday morning, promenading in the street, naked, and blue from cold. His clothing was found two miles away with $100 in cash and a gold watch. Walton informed the police that some one had told him to disrobe and that he had to do it. Walton is being detained for examination.

PETERBORO' CITIZENS PAY MORE FOR THEIR ILLUMINATING GAS THAN PEOPLE IN OTHER CITIES

Chamber of Commerce Figures Shows Difference at Least Fifteen Cents.

SEEK REMEDY.

Mayor Turner Will Visit H.E.P.C. Headquarters To Ask Some Relief.

Figures compiled by the local Chamber of Commerce show that the citizens of Peterboro are paying more for the illuminating gas they consume than those of any other city of a similar size in the Province of Ontario. The Chamber of Commerce has had this matter in hand for some time, being successful some years ago in obtaining a reduction of ten cents a thousand cubic feet. At that time a further reduction was promised, but to date it has not arrived, in spite of repeated applications. The local Chamber of Commerce, realizing that this is a matter affecting the interests of the city at large, has arranged that one of its directors, in the person of Mayor Turner, shall interview the officials of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission in Toronto on November 18, with a view to obtaining some relief.

Birmingham Hampers Fair Terpsichores Ballet Chorus

BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 12. — In Birmingham there is an edict against female dancers appearing on stage with their limbs uncovered, except in cases of juveniles to whom the edict does not apply.

Madame Pavlowa's ballet dancers, who are now appearing in Birmingham, have gracefully submitted to the local decree against bare limbs on stage. Mademoiselle D'Arcy of Pavlowa's company usually performs a certain dance without the encumbrance of tights, but she is prohibited from doing this in Birmingham. She has done so in London and Leeds and in several cities in Scotland, however, without having GARIBALDI SEIZED.

Report of Arrest of Liberator's Kinsman Thought Untrue.

ROME, Nov. 12 (United Press). —Signor Quaglia, secretary of Tito Zaniboni, held on a charge of plotting against Premier Mussolini, has left for Spain. The Corriere Padano prints an unconfirmed report that Peppino Ricciotti Garibaldi has been arrested at the frontier while entering Italy.

Quaglia was released by the police after a brief detention since he had been instrumental in revealing the alleged plot to kill Mussolini.

It is conceivable that he is making the trip to Spain to safeguard himself after turning King's evidence.

The report of the arrest of Garibaldi, kinsman of the great Italian liberator, appears to be merely a repetition of earlier reports of this nature."

Garlibaldi is believed to be in America.

MERCY MURDERS ARE EPIDEMIC

Washington Man Confesses That He Shot Friend Who Feared To Kill Himself.

NUMBER SWELLS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (United Press).—Another "mercy murder" was added here today to the swelling number in the wake of the Blazer case in Colorado. Joseph A. Pickard, 25, confessed to the police that he had shot Joseph F. Stein, a fellow employe at a hospital here, to accomodate him because he wanted to die, having "wrecked his life." Pickard said Stein had wanted to die for some months because of despondency, but lacked courage to kill himself and finally asked Pickard to shoot him as a favor.

Stein was shot through the head and died instantly.

WINNIPEG STREET OF THREE VICTORIA CROSS WINNERS DEDICATED VALOR ROAD

Pine Street Produced Three Soldiers Who Won Highest Military Award in the War — Armistice Day Ceremony.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 12. — (Canadian Press)—Brave deeds and brave men were honored here yesterday in the dedication of "Valor Road," formerly called "Pine Street," on which three heroes, two of whom gave their lives for their country, and all of whom gained the highest military award—the Victoria Cross—lived before the war. The men honored were: Sergt.-Major Frederick W. Hall; Captain Robert Shankland and Sergt. Leo Clarke.

Captain Shankland won the coveted honor in 1917 at Gravenstafel Ridge, in front of Passchendaele; Sergt. Clarke at Courcelette in 1916; and Sergt.-Major Hall in the memorable battle of Ypres. Clarke and Hall were killed in action, the latter while rescuing a wounded comrade.

While hundreds of citizens stood in reverent silence, Sir James Aikins, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, attended by members of the war veterans' organizations, the local militia branches and many public associations, unveiled a tablet commemorating the brave deeds, and re-named the street "Valor Road."

HUNTER'S CANOE UPSET BY DOGS IN HALIBURTON

Hounds Start Fighting 400 Feet From Shore in Frigid Lake.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Henry Harrison, of Lochlin, Rescued After Long Fight For Life.

LINDSAY, Nov. 12.—(Special).—Battling for forty-five minutes in the waters of Redstone Lake, Haliburton County, was the experience of Henry Harrison, of Lochlin, last Monday. Harrison, who is a member of a deer hunting party, was out in his canoe with his dogs when they started fighting. The canoe capsized 400 feet from the shore, and Harrison was thrown into the icy waters. He had heavy clothing on and his fight for life was a desperate one. He endeavored to hang on to the canoe, but of course was unable to right it.

The accident took place in forty feet of water, and Harrison had given up hope of reaching shore safely when his son and another man came along in a canoe and rescued him. He was taken to the camp in an exhausted condition. His camp mates worked over him from four o'clock in the afternoon until midnight before warmth and feeling had been restored to his body.

Owing to the frigid condition of the waters of the lakes in Haliburton, their great depth and their rocky shores it is difficult at times for a man to save himself, once he is upset. A few years ago two young men, Laking and Sedgewick, of Haliburton, lost their lives when their canoe overturned. The canoe or the bodies of the two men were never found. Nothing was left to tell the story of the tragedy but the two paddles found floating on the lake's surface. Some years ago Constable Bond, of Port Hope, and formerly of Toronto, went on a hunting trip to Haliburton. His canoe overturned in one of the lakes and his body was never found. Two years ago a Toronto gentleman was drowned at Dorset and his body was never recovered.

GARBAGE LIMITS AND TOBOGGANS WERE DISCUSSED

Property and Parks Committees of City Council Met Last Night.

AREA EXTENDED

Two Blocks Added to Garbage Limits—Toboggan Slide for Jackson Park.

Garbage collection limits engaged the attention of the Property Committee of the City Council last night, and two of he requests were granted and two refused. A block on Water street, from the C.N.R. crossing to Anson street, with four houses, and a block of Stewart street from Smith street to Reid street, with six houses, were added to the collection district. The request of the City Trust for collection service to three houses owned by the city on Mill street was refused as a long stretch of Water street with many vacant lots would have to be covered to give this service. The request of Mrs. Rogers on Douglas avenue was also refused because it was the only house on one side of the street, and there was only one house on the other side, with a large number of vacant lots on each side of the two houses.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for tenders for garbage collection contracts.

The question of making the Isolation Hospital free, which had referred back to the committe by the council was the centre of a great deal of discussion and it was finally decided that the Board of Health would be recommended to have the Relief Officer pas on the patients the same as is done in the other hospitals.

Parks Committee.

Alderman Mel Turner and his Parks Committee folowed the Property Committee and thrashed out the question of building a toboggan slide at Jackson park. L. G. Clifford and John McCann of the H.E.P.C. Railway, and W. A. Richardson of the Peterborough Canoe Company were present at the meeting. It was finally decided that the City Engineer should build a three chute slide at a cost of not more than $400.00. Mr. Clifford suggested that the Hydro might let the city have the use of three or four of the old street cars which it is proposed to replaces by busses, and which he though would make suitable dressing rooms. The matter of selling the refreshment and toboggan renting concessions was left to the Chairman and Alderman Phelan, who were also charged with making arrangements for lighting and water services at the rinks, and of deciding whether the west end should be at Jackson park or on the Greene foundry property. Tenders for caretaking at the rinks will be called for and will be opened at a meeting to be held during the last week of the month.

T.N.O. TO SERVE ROUYN DISTRICT

Line Runs to Boundary and Sleigh Road Runs to Camp.

SERVICE RAPID.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Transportation service for the Rouyn mining district in Quebec is to be made available during the coming winter by the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, according to an announcement made yesterday by Premier Ferguson. The needs of the Rouyn territory were originally to have been served by the T. and N. O. spur built right into the camp, but Quebec opposition caused the Ontario government railway to stop at the Provincial boundary line.

"We will be operating right to the Quebec boundary. There is a sleigh road from there into the Rouyn that will serve the mining district. I understand that plenty of teams will be available to convey passengers and freight and as the roads are very good the service will be reasonably rapid."
